The sharp weather contrast was illustrated by a report from Climax, Sask., 275 miles west of Regina, of snow Wednesday; while in Toronto the suburbs were forced to put restriction on use of water for lawns.

The storm that produced snowing in other parts of the prairies and sent temperatures down to 32 in Prince Albert and 29 in Jasper was heading eastward.

Its centre 40 miles west of Lake Superior was moving toward Winnipeg, and cooler air over northern Ontario which was heading south [illegible] expected to retreat northward again.

That meant there was no immediate relief in sight for south-Montreal area. The mercury was expected to soar into the 80s in most parts of those districts again today.

The Maritimes which registered temperatures in the 60s during the night looked forward to some cooler air from Hudson Bay pushing across the St. Lawrence River.

ANTHONY EDEN GIVEN DIVORCE IN SHORT HEARING

London, June 8 (AP)—Former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden won a divorce decree today by testifying that his attractive brunette wife deserted him in 1947 to live in the United States.

Eden, whose political ambitions as Deputy Conservative leader may be jeopardized by divorce in strait-laced Britain, was granted a decree nisi in a five - minute hearing before Justice Francis Hodson.

The dapper, greying Eden — still handsome at 53 — told the court in a firm voice that his wife insisted on visiting the United States in 1946, that he accompanied her there and that she then refused to return to her native Britain.

Mrs. Eden, who has spent most of her time since 1946 in the U.S. and Bermuda, was not represented at the hearing. She did not contest the action.

A decree nisi becomes absolute in six weeks under British divorce law, unless there is an objection raised in court.

Eden, who wore a dark blue suit, was the only witness at the hearing.

Letters from Mrs. Eden were produced in court, but not read. The former foreign secretary refused to comment as he strode quickly from the courtroom after the verdict was announced.

Gossip over the domestic split of the Edens has been common in London for many months. But friends of the Deputy Conservative leader speculated that he would avoid divorce because of the probable effect on his political career.

As the recognized deputy to Winston Churchill, Eden was in line for eventual leadership of the Conservative party — and the post of Prime Minister when and if the Tories regain power.

May Have Ended Chances

Some observers predicted that his five-minute appearance in divorce court today virtually ended any changes he might have had of ever becoming Prime Minister.

They recalled that the stamp of divorce, regardless of cause, was practically an unsurmountable barrier to leadership in the British government. No person who has been a party to a divorce suit —severely frowned upon by the Church of England—has ever been Prime Minister.

Other observers said, however, that Eden's stature in Conservative politics might break that unwritten law of British political and social life.

Churchill Wednesday made his plainest reference to Eden as his successor. Speaking before a meeting of women Conservatives, the Wartime Prime Minister said Eden would "carry on the torch of Conservatism when other and older hands have let it fall."

Mrs. Eden is the former Beatrice Helen Beckett, daughter of Sir Gervase Beckett. She and Eden were married in 1923 and had two sons. One was killed during the war.

The Edens have lived apart most of the time since the war ended.

Milk Production In Quinte District Below Average

Although 95 percent of the cattle are now on pasture, milk production in the Bay of Quinte district is still far below the average, it is stated in the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Rains have vastly improved the hay and pasture.

In Northumberland county calves are being vealed or raised with a high percentage of milk being used for this purpose. Rye is in head and fall wheat looks well. Considerable acreage of silage corn still remains to be planted.

In Prince Edward County high prices being paid for cattle, coupled with poor hay and pasture prospects are contributing factors to the lower cattle breeding stock population. Good progress has been made with tomato setting.

Moira River Survey Report Recommends Dam in Lower River, Ice Blasting at Mouth

Construction of a low dam in the Moira River north of College Street to hold back ice and continued early ice blasting at the mouth of the river as a measure to avert spring floods in Belleville are two of the recommendations in a report released Wednesday evening on conservation in the Moira River Valley.

The report was presented by The Hon. William Griesinger, Minister of Planning and Development, at a meeting of the Moira River Authority members and interested persons held at the local Armories.

Other recommendations to assist in flood control and to regulate the summer flow of water is the construction of a dam and reservoir about a mile above Moira Lake, with an additional damsite for future consideration in the gorge section of the river near Thomasburg.

The report likewise recommends reforestation and soil conservation programs to check erosion in the Moira River watershed and also to restore wildlife and provide recreation facilities.

Drains 1,056 Square Miles

Draining an area of 1,056 square miles in Hastings and Lennox and Addington counties, the Moira empties into the Bay of Quinte at Belleville where periodic spring floods have occurred, the last flood being in 1936 when damage estimated at $250,000 was caused. Cost of the low College Street dam to hold back the spring ice is estimated at $140,000.

The report notes a declining population in the northern reaches of the watershed and urges that every effort be made to preserve and restore forest cover in the area. It also recommends that a Moira forest of about 95,578 acres comprising 18 areas of marginal and sub-marginal land in the southern portion of the watershed be established.

Conservation Program

A soil conservation program including a grassland improvement plan, pilot farms and a wide program of education through the press, radio, and schools, as well as research, are suggested as a means of counteracting soil erosion in the watershed.

Farmers are recommended to be encouraged to improve land for wildlife by elimination of grazing on woodlots and by selective rather than clear cutting of woodland. The muskrat production in the watershed could be increased by flooding many idle marshes.

Fishing could be improved by encouragement of owners to extend the range of speckled trout by planting alders along stream banks and constructing of water farm ponds.

Several recreational sites along the river are recommended, including Riverbend Park, near the remnants of Lazier's Dam north of the city; Foxboro Park near Foxboro, a Moira Gorge Park near Thomasburg and the Black River Rapids close to No. 7 highway.

Preserve Site Request

Of exceptional historic interest in the area is the O'Hara's Mill, north of Madoc, site of the oldest sawmill of the "Muley" type in Eastern Canada. It is recommended this site be acquired and preserved. Effort should be made to improve the condition of historic sites as they are a definite tourist attraction.

Photographs of the Moira River watershed and maps prepared as result of the government survey two years ago were exhibited in the Armories and following presentation of the report were viewed by interested members The pictures and maps covered all phases of the survey, including forests, hydraulics, recreation, wildlife, settlement and soils.

Up to Municipalities

Chairman of the Moira Valley Conservation Authority, Harry Harrison, Reeve of Thurlow township, told Authority members that the Department has spent thousands of dollars in doing the survey and preparing the reports. "It is now up to us whether recommendations are followed by actual work," he said.

Prior to presentation of the report Mr. Griesinger spoke on the functions and ramifications of the Department of Planning and Development, noting that it was an amalgamation of eight different departments. These included community planning, conservation, immigration, housing, trade and commerce, Ontario House in London, The Northland Railway, and Research Council.

The minister told what his department was doing in the way of assisting in community planning throughout the province and how, following the war 10,000 immigrants had been brought to Ontario by air. Now 100 electronic engineers were being sought for Ontario industry. He assured that only skilled mechanics were being brought into the province and that these were screened and picked by Ontario House in London.

Homeowners Assisted

As result of the province's housing aid program 15,000 homeowners had been assisted financially, the average loan being $1,100 with a total expenditure of over 17 millions. The department had also assisted in providing services for Central Mortgage houses with a grant of $300 per unit.

Through the efforts of his department 47 industries or branches of industries had been brought into Ontario in 1949. These industries now employed 3,300 and had an annual payroll of 10 millions. About one third of these industries had located in the Toronto district.

Population Growing

The population of the province was growing steadily with an annual increase of about 120,000 people, according to the minister.

Mr. Griesinger took great pride in the accomplishments of the Ontario Northland Railway which he said, contrary to the C.N.R. showed a profit last year. He noted that a dieselization program for the road had recently been announced.

The research council operated by his department had assisted many small industries and were constantly striving to solve various problems of provincial interest.

Referring to the conservation report Mr. Griesinger noted that the Moira Authority had been organized one year after the Conservation Authorities Act was passed, one of the reasons being the periodic flooding of the river at Belleville. Flood control was not the complete answer to conservation problems of the Moira area but it was evident at the mouth of the river that corrective measures had to be carried out throughout the watershed.

Asked to Study Report

He said that the Moira survey had analyzed the present status of natural resources on the area and indicated by maps, pictures and plans, how the people of the area may come to grips with these problems.

Asking members of the Authority to study their reports, the minister pointed out that the report was something which could not be acted upon in its entirety this year or next, but would provide a pattern for years to come, a blueprint, which could be used to bring back the fertility and beauty of the watershed so that it may be made just a little better for the future.

Introduced by Member

Roscoe Robson, M.P.P. for East Hastings, introduced the Minister to Authority members, while appreciation was expressed by Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P. for West Hastings. The Minister presented copies of the lengthy conservation report to members of the Authority and municipal officials.

Colored slides in reference to various aspects of the watershed survey were shown with W. J. R. Creswick commenting on each picture as it was shown on the screen.

Chief Conservation Engineer, A. H. Richardson, briefly addressed the meeting noting that a summary of the survey report was available for all members. He also urged members to take advantage of the opportunity of viewing the many pictures and maps displayed in the Armouries. Prior to the meeting officials of the Department, together with local Authority members, had dinner at the Hotel Quinte.

Grand Jury Says Court Room Facilities Antiquated, Inadequate

Notation that the Hastings County Court Room facilities are antiquated and inadaquate with recommendation that a plan be set up to completely renovate and modernize the furniture and furnishings with provision for sufficient chairs and benches for each branch of the court, was included in the report of the Grand Jury made to His Honor Judge J. C. Reynolds at the current sittings of the General Sessions of the Peace.

Following completion of their courtroom duties as Grand Jurymen, the jury Wednesday, according to custom, made an inspection of county building property and made their report to His Honor. The report was signed by jury foreman John M. Armstrong.

The Grand Jury noted in their report that previous recommendations of the Grand Jury had not been carried out and strongly urged that the cornice and eavestroughing on the courthouse be repaired and painted and all flashing be taken care of.

Called Public Hazard

It was noted that the main entrance columns and upper structure is badly in need of attention and should be repaired immediately, as it is a public hazard.

Other recommendations included repair of the back entrance steps at the courtroom; re-roofing of the side entrance; and that immediate action be taken to include the public wash-room which was said to be in a "deplorable condition.' Repairs to the heating system were also needed.

Installation of a drinking fountain in the main lobby as well as a public telephone was recommended.

In contrast, however, to the courthouse, jurymen found the gaol in perfect condition and all inmates satisfied with food and conditions.

Modernization Suggested

The county buildings and Shire Hall were found clean but modernization was suggested with a start in this direction by way of re-decorating. The stenographer's office at Shire Hall was again said to be in a "deplorable condition" and should be done over immediately.

The Grand Jury stated that the registry office was a credit to the county and the county council should be commended on the appearance of this building Purchase of a carrier for transportation of the heavy books was recommended.

Appreciation of the Grand Jury to His Honor for the very able, clear and explicit instructions in the law, was expressed with thanks also being extended to Sheriff Solmes for his kindness and also to the Crown Prosecutor, Col. B. C. Donnan for their assistance.

HOG PRICES

Toronto, June 8 — (CP) — Truck hogs were $31 at Stratford this morning.

At Hull, Que., dressed, grade A hogs, delivered, were up 25 cents at $32.25, and sales were made.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 8 — (CP)—Mining stocks encountered a wall of selling that pushed key issues steadily lower on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Leading junior and senior gold producers declined to the lowest average price levels of the year.

Senior golds dipped fractions and a wide list of juniors showed losses ranging to 15 cents. Losses more than tripled gains.

Base metal stocks also turned easier, largely the result of profit-taking on Wednesday's strong climb. East Sullivan, leader in that upturn, paced the decline.

Industrials overcame early downward pressure and moved up slightly. Papers, constructions, foods, steels and refining oils were fractionally higher as the list continued Wednesday's advance.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 8—(CP)—Cattle trade was dull on a plain quality supply, with prices about steady today at the Ontario stockyards. Receipts: cattle, 80; calves, 30; hogs, 120; sheep and lambs, none. Left from Wednesday were 200 cattle.

Common to medium light steers sold at $25-$27.75 with canners and cutters $15-$17.50. Bulls were $19-$22.50 and a few good stockers brought $25.

Calves were steady at $30-$31 for choice vealers.

PRODUCE PRICES

Three Months In County Jail On Jury's Verdict

Found guilty by a trial jury on a charge of criminal negligence involving the shotgun wounding last October of William Lambert, 67-year-old John Blakely, Trenton, today was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

In their verdict of guilty the jury recommended clemency for the defendant on account of his age and the provocation he was under at the time of the shooting. Blakely was tried before Judge J. C. Reynolds of Kingston at the General Sessions of the Peace.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan agreed with the jury in their recommendation for clemency but would not agree there had been provocation.

Suggests Verdict Improper

Defence Counsel Kenneth R. Ross suggested the verdict was improper and inconsistent and maintaining that provocation was a proper defence asked that the case be re-opened. This was refused by Judge Reynolds, who stated he was bound by the definite verdict of the jury. He said that even though, as suggested by the jury, there had been provocation the accused was under obligation to use no more force than was necessary to get Lambert from his house.

The charge of criminal negligence against Blakely was the result of a shooting affray which took place in the accused's home last Oct. 29th. Lambert, aged 33, of Wooler Road, Trenton, was shot in the leg with a shotgun.

Followed Argument

The shooting took place following an argument and scuffle between the two men on the lawn in front of the Blakely home and also in the house. Evidence was given to the effect that Blakely had ordered Lambert to leave the house and when he failed to comply had gone upstairs for the shotgun. Returning back downstairs Blakely had fired the shotgun through the hall door, the charge striking Lambert in the leg.

During the hearing the Crown called seven witnesses, while defence counsel called three witnesses to the stand.

In addressing the jury defence counsel Ross endeavored to show that his client had acted in self defence stating that Lambert had assaulted Blakely. He also drew the attention of the jury to the angle which the shot had passed through the door claiming this showed the gun had been fired to frighten Lambert.

Does Not Involve Intent

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan pointed out to the jury that the charge against Blakely did not involve intent. "The Crown charges that the accused failed to observe ordinary care in handling an offensive weapon and in failing to do so caused grievous bodily harm.

The Crown went on to add that Blakely had originally been charged with intent to do bodily harm but the question rose in his mind and the charge had been reduced to one of criminal negligence.

Indianapolis, June 8 — (AP) — Methodist Bishop Richard C. Raines stared at his May telephone bill Wednesday — it had a 70-cent charge for a long distance call to "Heaven."

Bishop Raines could recall no telephone conversation with the pearly gates. He did make a call to New Haven, Ind., May 8.

The telephone company said no, the call was to Heaven, though nobody knew just where that is.

RELATIVES EXCLUDED BY WILL

Edinburgh, June 8 (Reuters)—A court Wednesday upheld the will of Edward Cronin, Scottish millionaire uncle of novelist Dr. A. J. Cronin, excluding the writer and other relatives from all benefits. Judge Lord Burnam said that the uncle, who left estate worth £293,000 ($908,300), disliked his relatives and provided in his will that no nephew or niece should benefit.

City police are cracking down hard on motorists operating vehicles which are not up to requirements of the traffic act.

Today the blotter showed that two drivers had been charged for operating their cars with inadequate brakes, while two others are charged with operating cars without holding an operator's licence.

Yesterday afternoon two autos collided at the corner of Church and Victoria, causing damage estimated in excess of $100 to each vehicle. Frank Phillips, Madoc, was driving north on Church Street with Mary Yerrow, 287 Dufferin, proceeding west on Victoria, when the two vehicles collided.

Woman Finds $21,000 Worth of Jewels

Atlantic City, N.J., June 8 — (AP) — Crowds passed by a tiny tissue paper package on the Boardwalk yesterday, but a Rochester, N.Y., woman picked it up and found $21,000 in jewels. For her honesty in returning the three platinum and diamond bracelets, Mrs. Harold W. Nichols received a $500 dinner ring from Nat H. Yamron, owner of a Boardwalk jewelry store. An employee of the store had put the package in a coat pocket, where a lining was torn and the bracelets slipped out.

Pour in Water To Float Cow Wedged in Well

She fell through boards into a 20-foot-deep abandoned well in her pasture. Bossy was stuck fast.

Fernald sent for an automobile wrecker to hoist the cow but she was wedged so firmly that they couldn't get a chain or rope around her.

Neighbor Fred M. Horse saved bossy and the day when he suggested that the well simply be filled with water.

This was done and up she floated like a cork in a bottle.

Injures Self Badly For 19 lb. Sea Bass

He broke one ankle and injured the heel of his other foot.

Finally someone noticed his plight and helped him out of the water. He was taken to hospital where doctors said he would be laid up from three to six months.

The bass weighed 19 3-4 pounds.

EARL WAVELL'S OBSEQUIES

One of Britain's great military heroes of all time has gone to his great reward, honored by his countrymen and the peoples of many other lands which he and other leaders strove successfully to save against aggression. The historic Thames which has seen the endless movement of commerce and events in the long annals of British civilization was the scene of Wednesday's rites when the body of the great leader was taken by launch from the Tower of London to Westminster Abbey for service. Long ages of the history of the British race looked down on the Empire's and Commonwealth's farewell to the leader who won the crucial land battles in the early days of the war. Well might the thoughts of people in the British Isles and in the lands beyond the seas and many other races follow in their minds' eye the funeral cortege up the historic river along which grew up that marvel of British civilization which has profoundly influenced the world along the way of liberty.

Yesterday's funeral cortege recalled from history the similar scene one hundred and forty-four years ago when Britain's greatest naval hero, Lord Nelson, was borne along that mighty waterway. The spirit of Britain's warriors and defenders of the liberty of the people of many ages past might have hovered over that memorable scene when the body of the Field Marshal passed on the way to his last resting place in the cloisters of the old school where he learned the lessons of life and true greatness.

Blest is that nation whose shrines and places of memory are linked with the lives of her truly great figures of the ages. From these places has come inspiration to men and women who there grew up and who contributed much to the world's moral and material wealth and progress as well as defence of freedom and justice.

HOLIDAY TIME NEARS

Holiday time will soon not be just a vision to the hundreds of thousands of Canadian boys and girls who are at present in the schools of the land, but a reality. That happy time is casting its shadow before and holds before young Canada hopes of very happy holidays in one of the most pleasant and attractive lands on earth for the summers of this country are a time when there comes to youth and childhood the opportunity of enjoying the great healthy outdoors.

Children have been leading the way in placing the proper value on holidays — as a time for recuperation and revitalization of the body after the drawbacks of the winter and early spring. Now their parents think of holidays too. There was a time when many an adult did not think of holidays. Now industry, business and schools recognize the importance of the change which is as good as a rest, according to the adage of our forefathers. At the same time the parents in the home have adopted in their own way vacations for the motorcar has made possible the use of thousands of beauty spots which can be found in parts of the Dominion where in the healthiest climate of the world Canadians of all ages can enjoy the vast outdoors of the country which stretches from ocean to ocean.

It is common knowledge that the general health of the people is much better than it used to be. The age of humans is extending on the average because wisely the people have learned to take advantage of the health-giving climate.

HEAT WAVE AT LAST

News of a pleasant character came over the wires yesterday to the newspapers of the Dominion that the first real heat wave of the season was due and would raise the temperatures to the mid-eighties today.

It is a considerable length of time since the people have had weather news which could please everyone. So tardy has been the spring that up to now the temperatures have mostly been somewhat below temperatures of the same days in other years.

However now that spring is almost spent except for about two weeks and as summer will make its appearance then, the assurances of seasonable weather can be expected as likely to be fulfilled.

Despite the laggard nature of the spring temperatures this year, the countryside is showing a favorable state of affairs as to growth and observers of the crop outlook are impressed with it as eminently satisfactory from the standpoint of the growers.

True politeness requires humility, good sense and benevolence. To think more highly of ourselves than we ought to think, destroys its quickening principle. — Sigourney.

BEST SORT OF TROUBLE

She said: "We wanted trouble; to be summoned out of bed
To set aright the pillow for a little, tousled head,
And this is why we married: to do all the many things
Which comprise the sort of trouble a little baby brings.

"Are children too much trouble, as some people think and say?
Well, for just that sort of trouble to the Lord we'd often pray.
We wanted to be worried, to be bothered by such care,
And in the glad excitement children often cause to share.

"We knew that pleasure-seeking very seldom we could roam,
But we wanted all those evenings we should have to stay at home.
We knew if we had children, time to them we'd have to give.
Yes, at times, they are a trouble; but that's how we asked to live."

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

One of the shrewdest navigators in the meanest stretch of the Great Lakes says:

"It is impossible to know where all the shoals are. But it is possible to learn where they aren't."

As a piece of homely wisdom, this will take some beating. It makes a perfect little maxim for use in business, in social relations, or in life itself.

There are people who are timid about setting forth in a boat at all, for fear of the perils of shoals. There are others who feel they have mastered, by intense study, the location of every hazard in the whole sea of life. This is a large order, even for Ph.D's. But there are those, like my friend, the shrewd navigator, who elect to learn the channels in life where no shoals exist, and to steer confidently, full speed ahead, in those known waters.

It was on a lonely rock on the North Shore of the Georgian Bay that my friend, the shrewd navigator, and I engaged in the above homilies. The powerboat in which we had been travelling, was stuck high and dry on a shoal a few yards from the rock on which we sat. A fog had blown in from the Bay, catching us unawares.

"Yessir," said the old navigator, "when a fog blows up, it's no use knowing even where the shoals ain't.

What we should have done, of course, when the fog came, was stop the engine and wait. But good navigators look upon fog as a personal challenge.

An hour later, when the fog lifted, we were rescued by a city slicker in an expensive cabin cruiser who had never been in these waters before, and who relied on government charts. He pulled us off the shoal, and towed us into our destination.

Bell Aircraft Builds New Plane

Buffalo, N.Y., June 8 (AP) — The Buffalo Evening News Wednesday said the Bell Aircraft Corporation is building a supersonic X-5 which, unlike its rocket-propelled X-1, will be a turbo-jet plane.

Bell Aircraft officials declined to comment on the report.

The News say the new plane probably will be completed by September and will more closely resemble a tactical airplane than the X-1.

The speed of the X-5 will be about the same as the X-1, which has been flown approximately 1,000 miles an hour, the News said. Improved models, designated as X-1A's, have more efficient fuel systems and are designed to fly at 1,700 miles an hour.

Peace Outlook Better Now Than For Some Time

By CLARK BEACH
(Associated Press News Analyst)

(For DEWITT MACKENZIE)

Peace talk, from two widely divergent angles, has been a leading theme in Washington for some days.

Many top American officials, from President Truman down, have been saying that the outlook for peace is better now than for some time because rearmament is progressing so satisfactorily. They say the military strength which the Atlantic Pact countries are developing will act as a deterrent to Russia if she contemplates an attack.

But Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, in the proposals recently made public suggested that new negotiations be commenced to bring the armaments race under control.

Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, Wednesday expressed sympathy with Lie's proposals and gave assurance that the United States would continue its four-year effort in the United Nations to find some method for effective armaments control.

But in the following statement he made it clear that he does not feel that a reduction in armaments by the western powers at this time will promote the cause of peace:

"We must carry forward in our own determination to create situations of strength in the free world because this is the only basis on which lasting agreement with the Soviet government is possible. This in our judgment is the road to peace."

If any new disarmament negotiations were begun at this time, the view of diplomatic officials in Washington is that the Soviet Union would adopt its customary practice of using the conference as a means of promoting some purpose of its own. And real disarmament is unlikely to be that purpose.

Some observers wouldn't be surprised to see the Russians eagerly agree to any new disarmament conference which is proposed, although it is now estimated that they are spending almost three times as much on their military programs as the United States. They have been talking peace for four years and making a variety of proposals in the U. N. for armaments limitation. But whenever the western powers have pinned them down to a practical method of reducing armaments, they have lost interest or exercised their veto.

FAILED TO PREPARE LIST

Rouyn, Que., June 8—(CP)—Mayor Frederic Hebert of nearby Noranda, Que., Wednesday was fined $5 for failing to prepare an electoral list for the 1949 civic elections. He pleaded guilty.

Hebert, for 23 years secretary-treasurer of the city, was elected mayor by acclamation when no opposition appeared. He said he had not thought there would be any need for an electoral list in such a case.

The charge was pressed by former Rouyn Police Chief K. H. Turnbull, a political opponent of Hebert.

$500,000 in Bogus Bills Distributed In Dominion

Toronto, June 8 (CP) — A recently - smashed international counterfeit ring distributed $500,000 in bogus Canadian $10 bills a senior Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer said Wednesday.

The gang, with headquarters near Buffalo, also printed counterfeit U.S. $10 and $20 bills. It was broken up by the joint effort of the RCMP and United States Secret Service agents, who arrested a Buffalo engraver and a number of his accomplices.

"It is the biggest and most important counterfeit ring with which we ever had any experience," the RCMP officer said.

About $100,000 of the bills have been found in Ontario. The RCMP said about $40,000 in bogus money was recovered with the arrest at Guelph, Ont., of Frank Cipolla, 32; his wife, Edith May LaFrantiere, 24, of Brockville, Ont.

Charles Cipolla, 27, a brother of Frank, was remanded here Wednesday until June 14, charged with having $20,000 in counterfeit money. Charged on the same count are William Ignat, 33, of Winnipeg and Douglas Gordon 36.

RCMP officials said they are "fairly satisfied" the key figures in the ring are under lock and key.

Plan More Homes For Service Men

Ottawa, June (CP)— The housing problem for many army and air force personnel and their families will be eased somewhat this year.

The Department of National defence has plans for the erection of 551 new dwellings at the nearby Rockcliffe air station and at Petawawa and Barriefield military camps, at an estimated cost of $5,000,000.

Construction is under way on 733 housing units started last year at these points and they will be occupied within the next few months on the basis of need and size of families.

An original group of 220 houses at Petawawa military camp was finished last winter and occupied. Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is working on another 250 with construction well underway.

At Barriefield camp, near Kingston, Ont., 50 units have been completed and 283 more are under construction. A total of 207 more is planned with work to be started shortly.

The cost of these homes is from $9,000 to $9,500 a unit and includes water and sewer facilities as well as grading of streets and some basic landscaping.

Education is also coming in for some consideration by the Defence Department. About sixteen schools have been provided at the various army and air force camps and the authorities are seeing to it that qualified teachers are engaged.

INCREASING CHILD HEALTH AND INTELLIGENCE

Another thing that drives me to the bowling green many a time when I might otherwise remain here in my lonely cubicle pounding away at this thankless task, trying to teach you heedless people elementary physiology and hygiene, is the notion that a dose or more particularly a "shot" of this or that vitamin, or a shotgun mixture of vitamins, gives one "pep." This notion, too, is fostered, I find, by the charlatans who cater to the popular demand for "shots." You get just as much "pep" from that as you get from a plate of pork and cabbage or a hot dog when you are hungry.

If Dr. Harrell's experiment on the New York school children and the results she obtained from animal experiments with the entire vitamin B complex are heeded by physicians, nutrition and health authorities and educators it may increase the level of health and intelligence of future citizens.

Parents at least should know that we now have good and sufficient evidence that an adequate daily intake of at least one of the components of the B complex, thiamine, is not only essential for good general health and vigor, but, if child or youth has had the usual refined American diet with its excessive proportions of high calory carbohydrate items (items made chiefly from refined white flour and refined sugar or syrup) a daily ration of B complex or just B1 (thiamine) to supplement the diet will generally improve functional health and mental alertness as well.

This is nutrition, not medicine Such a daily ration of vitamins of minerals or both is not to be confused with medicine. It is simply the nutritional element or elements the daily diet should provide but, thanks to modern refinements, processes and habits does not provide in the quantities required by growing child or adult.

If the modern diet of child and adult were not so highly processed and refined, natural food would provide adequate amounts of these essentials of good nutrition Such a natural diet would be "protective"—that is, it would protect the individual against what we have lately learned to recognize as nutritional deficiency disease. And let me tell you 999 out of each thousand American children, youths and adults could do with more protection.

Take a hundred children ten, fifteen or twenty years old, divide them into two groups, feed one group only white bread or things made of white flour, and refined sugar or syrup or things containing it, and feed the other group only whole wheat bread or things made of whole wheat flour, and crude brown sugar or old fashioned (open kettle) molasses or things containing it—besides the usual milk, vegetables, meat, fruit etc.—for a season, say three months. At the end of the experiment the children who have had only whole wheat and unrefined sugar would be more efficient physically and mentally than the ones who have been restricted to white flour and refined sugar and syrup products—I'd give you ten to one on that.

If you are interested in the growth, physical development and mental alertness of a child first look into the child's nutrition.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Loosely Speaking

Have read some books by medical doctors who advise that one shouldn't eat starches such as bread and potatoes in the same meal with proteins such as meat, eggs, cheese. They claim such... (C. G.)

Answer—Shady near-doctors, long-distance "specialists" and queer doctors of various types may give such advice, but not reputable physicians. Eat your sandwich or your meat and potatoes and get a physiology textbook from the library to read instead of the phony health literature you loosely ascribe to "medical" doctors. Send twenty-five cents and stamped self-addressed envelope for the red book What to Eat and Why. It will disabuse your mind of a lot of mail-order bunk.

I am 55 and have never married. Now offered marriage to a man 70 who thinks we could be happy. Five years ago had hysterectomy. Now seem quite well. Would marriage be advisable? (C. K. O.)

Answer—You should consult the doctor who operated, or your own doctor, about the question. And your prospective husband should hear what the doctor has to say, along with you. If you both cherish no illusions the marriage may be a happy one.

Strength for the Day

SUSPENDED BY A HAIR

We often hear the expression, "The Sword of Damocles." This Damocles was a flatterer in the court of Dionysius I of Syracuse. The king got tired of his constant praise and of his never-ending stream of prophecy that happiness would always come to the royal house. Dionysius therefore seated this Damocles at a royal banquet with a sword suspended over his head by a single hair. Hence the expression when one expects troubles, that he is living under the sword of Damocles.

The constant flatterer, the never-ceasing prophet of happiness and prosperity! The purveyor of Pollyanna radiance and hopefulness! How these people get on our nerves! Nobody of course likes the wet blanket, the kill-joy. But the people who go to the opposite extreme, gushing out their happiness over everything that happens, their pleasure over life as it is, their confidence in the coming of the kingdom tomorrow or the day after—these are a trial to the hard-working, prosaic folk who have to meet life's realities every day and take them as they come.

A good round of applause for Dionysius of Syracuse, the king who got fed-up on Damocles. We can only hope that the sword suspended over the head of the apostle of sunshine caused him considerable apprehension.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BY PROXY

No matter how many friends, or acquaintances, we may have, the individual is a solitary figure, living the greater part of his life quite alone. It is his interests that keep him alive and enriched. Like a magnet, the things that he has learned to love are attracted to him and are melted into his personality.

There is but a handful of friends that any of us hold throughout life, and many of those drop away as we increase in years. Thus it is that much of our joy of contact must be only by proxy—the imagined ones before us only in spirit. And it is by this method that we have grown rich in mind and heart, through a proxy friendship with the great. This very evening I ate alone, but dined with Charles Lamb, who left this earthly habitation some years ago. But he left rich thoughts behind, and so became my friend.

I have often dined with the proxy figure of Shakespeare as my guest! And innumerable others, who have inspired me, entertained me, and advised me as well. Even my mother long gone, has come to me by proxy and I have sat and mentally talked with her, told her all about my life since we last said farewell. Thousands of the great are about me in my library, through their written books, who talk to me at will, by proxy.

There are so many people whom we would like to know personally. But even in a long life we are accorded the privilege but frequently. We have to be content with their friendship by proxy, in books that they have written, songs that they may have composed, or through some great public acts performed effecting our comfort or happiness.

We even accept God, by proxy, in the wonderful things that He has created, this proxy being none the less genuine, because represented in His great universe, and all that it contains—even man himself being created in His image, and every insect and flower emphasizing His wisdom. Take away our endless proxies and we would be bereft indeed!

Mayor Ken Couch Confident Well-Managed Hospital Will Not Add to Town's Expense

By DON SWAIN

Trenton (Special)—Speaking in support of the issue of $125,000 in debentures being asked to complete the Trenton and District Memorial Hospital, Mayor Kenneth Couch today stated that if the business of the hospital and the town's affairs were managed in a business-like way he could "see no reason why the town should be called upon to bear any additional expense.

Bearing out the mayor's contention that the town's finances were well able to afford the debenture issue asked in the by-law to be voted on by the people on Monday, June 12th is the fact that only last week two security corporations competed for Trenton debenture securities. At that time, clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry said, "This reflects an improved opinion by bond houses of the town's financial position." Mr. Larry reaffirmed this statement when he told the Ontario Intelligencer this week, "Trenton is in as good a financial position as it has been at any time in the past."

Still Below Safety Mark

The present civic debt is just slightly over the half million mark. If the voters consent to issuing the required $125,000 in hospital debentures, the amount of indebtedness will still be almost $400,000 below the $1,000,000 which experts in municipal finance consider to be the high water safety mark for a town the size of Trenton At the same there is almost $500,000 invested in the new hospital which will increase the corporation's assets by this amount.

Taxes will only be increased by $1.13 on each $1,000 assessment. On property with an assessed value of $1,000, this will amount to less than 10 cents per month. "This is not very much," commented Councillor C. V. Graham. "The hospital should be finished when we have gone as far as we have and I think the vote will carry," Mr. Graham added.

Council Favors By-law

The majority of council are in favor of the by-law and the two councillors opposing the issues, councillors Charles Allore and W. C. Saylor, justify their stand by pointing to the need for money to provide better educational and sewage facilities. In answer to this argument, W. H. Ireland, hospital board chairman said, "Is there anything more important to the general welfare of the community than a hospital? A great many who are opposing the referundum are not faced with the financial consideration involved in hospital care and are financially able to obtain hospitalization elsewhere. At least 90 per cent of the business men of Trenton are in favor of the by-law", added Mr. Ireland.

Should Present United Front

"The people of Trenton have been taken care of by Providence for so long without any effort on their part, that it is hard for them to rise to the occasion and put forth the united effort to pay for the essentials the town needs," declared Mayor Kenneth J. Couch when questioned on the matter. "In my 40 years in Trenton, this is the first time the citizens have ever been called upon to do anything of a real civic nature and it is most regrettable that we do not present a united front."

In reply to a direct question as to what would be the position of the hospital should the referendum be defeated, the mayor said, that he "could not conceive of the people of Trenton defeating a by-law to erect the first and only civic building that Trenton really has. Mr. Couch went on to say that one debenture has already been sold. "There will be interest and principle charges, and also heating and maintenance costs amounting to half the operating costs, even though the hospital should remain inactive."

In response to further questioning, the Mayor stated that "taking into consideration the speed with which an unused building deteriorates, it would be economical for the citizens of Trenton to complete and open the new Memorial Hospital."

By-law Will Pass

Emphasizing that he was confident the referendum would pass with a big majority, Mr. Ireland said that if the by-law should be defeated, the board could not legally and would not turn the hospital over to any other organization. It would, in the words of Mayor Couch, be "relegated to the role of silent spokesman, reminding us of our inability to present a united front" behind the only community project that Trenton has participated in during the last 25 years."

Mr. Ireland stressed the fact that the hospital board was appointed trustee by the charter granted to Trenton Memorial Hospital "which will be available to everyone without regard to race or creed. The board intends to stand by that proposition until the hospital is completed," said Mr. Ireland in urging voters to get out and vote in favor of issuing the debentures.

Addressing the Trenton Rotary Club Monday evening, the superintendent of Belleville General Hospital said that one of the "pitfalls" in hospital financing was the attitude of "let the government do it" when in reality the taxpayer always pays the bill in the end. The maximum Dominion-Provincial grant has already been received and invested in the hospital. The Federal government has had plenty of opportunity to extend further aid to municipalities like Trenton who have saddled themselves with the heavy financial burden of building much needed hospitals but so far it has failed to do so.

As Mayor Couch pointed out to this reporter, "The amount involved in these debentures could easily be spent through mismanagement in municipal affairs and the ratepayers never take the trouble to find out about such matters for themselves." Mr. Couch added that if the business of the hospital and the town's affairs were managed in a business-like way, he could "see no reason why the town should be called upon to bear any additional expense."

Fourth RCAF Open House Saturday Features Air Show Band and Sports Attractions

Trenton—(Special)— Saturday will be Open House at Trenton RCAF Station. This fourth annual Air Force Day promises to offer more varied attractions and entertaining features than any previous display. In fact, of all the 19 air stations across Canada who are staging similar programs, Trenton with the largest unit of Training Command, combined with No. 6 Repair Repot is in a position to put on the best show of all.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Ontario-Intelligencer had a grandstand seat for a preview of the air show from the observation tower on top of Number 3 hangar. If the airmen handle their machines with the same skill and precision on Saturday as they did at Wednesday's rehearsal, those who attend will be treated to an attention holding exhibition of formation and stunt flying together with a demonstration of precision dive bombing and rocket firing.

Mayor Couch Starts Events

When Mayor Kenneth J. Couch officially starts the afternoon's events at 1.30 by firing a Verey pistol, engines of 34 aircraft will come to life with a simultaneous roar. From then until 4 o'clock, when four Harvard trainers will fire rockets at a target in the bay, the various aerial events will proceed at three minute intervals.

There is no charge for admission to the grounds which will be open from 1 p.m. At 1.15, the massed bands of Trenton RCAF Station and 6 R.D. which recently won the Royal City Tatoo Challenge Trophy in competition with 20 other bands at Guelph, will start the afternoon off with military music.

Air Acrobatic Display

Two members of the CBC will be on hand to air the aerial display over the Trans Canada Network. Four jet aircraft from Air Defence Operational Air Force are flying up from Montreal to provide a thrilling exhibition of air acrobatics.

There will be free rides in a Dakota for 45 people holding lucky program numbers. As well as the jets from Montreal, three Trenton RCAF men will entertain the crowd with their daring aero antics. F.O. Knight will manoeuvre with a Vampire jet, F.O. F. D. Montgomery will perform with a Mustang and F.O. Lou Ayres will pull an exciting bag of stunts out of his Harvard trainer.

Many Types Participate

Heavy bombers, fast jet fighters and even a tiny Auster cub will take part in the various events on the program. Lumbering Lancasters, stubby Mitchel B 25's, sleek Vampire jets, Mustangs, Harvards, Ventures and Expeditors are a few of the many types that will be flying overhead.

A mock air sea rescue demonstration will be carried out by a helicopter, the ugly duckling of the airplane family. Hovering over a man in a dinghy, one of the crew will be lowered from the helicopter who will fasten a harness on the man in the dinghy. The helicopter will then lift the man from the rubber raft and carry him through the air to a nearby ambulance.

Also Sports Events

Two sports events are also scheduled. Trenton RCAF Station will meet Christie Street Warehouse T. Eaton Company Workers in a soccer match at 3.15. At the same time there will be a softball game between 6 R.D. and Trenton RCAF Station.

A fire extinguishing demonstration is another feature event as RCAF firefighters quickly smother a flaming gasoline blaze. In addition to the flying display, armament and training equipment will also be open for inspection.

F.S. MacKenzie Named Moderator Of Presbyterians

Montreal, June 8 (CP) — Dr. Francis Scott MacKenzie, noted theological scholar, Wednesday night was unanimously elected moderator of the 76th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Dr. MacKenzie, a native of Ontario's Huron County, is professor of systematic theology at the Presbyterian College, Montreal. He was chosen at the final session of a pre-assembly Congress here at which 400 delegates from most parts of Canada were gathered.

At Wednesday's afternoon session, Bamber M. Hannigan of Toronto, chairman of the Laymen's Committee on stipends, advocated formation of strong laymen's associations throughout all Presbyteries. He said the General Assembly could take a "bold step forward" by creating a national council of Presbyterian men.

"We must have in every part of our church an organized body of laymen fully as consecrated to the work of the church as they expect its ministers to be."

Only One Nomination

Rev. W. Lloyd MacLellan, of New Glasgow, N.S., nominated Dr. MacKenzie. Seconder was Dr. Henry Cousens of Brockville. There were no other nominations.

Dr. MacKenzie first won recognition in the church while he was a minister in Sydney Mines, from 1920-25. His work on Cape Breton Island was held to be influential in the organization of the continuing Presbyterian Church after many congregations had joined the Methodist Church in 1925 to form the United Church of Canada.

From 1929 to 1944 Dr. MacKenzie was principal of Presbyterian College here. He is immediate past president of the Western section of the reformed churches holding to the Presbyterian system.

Dr. MacKenzie, who succeeds Rev. C. L. Cowan of Hamilton as moderator, from 1925 to 1926 was minister of the Presbyterian Church, Paris, Ont. He is married to Alexandra MacLean of Lucknow, Ont.

Mrs. J. Aylsworth provided the wedding music, and Mr. Ray Smith, soloist, sang before the ceremony, "I'll Walk Beside You" and during the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly".

Tea and Sale of Home Cooking Sponsored by Tabernacle Ch. Clubs to Observe Anniversary

An unusually attractive and interesting anniversary afternoon tea and sale of home cooking was held yesterday in the Sunday School rooms of Tabernacle United Church under the auspices of the Keen-Age Club, the Comrade Club, and the Women's Association, commemorating the 25th year of the United Church of Canada.

Receiving at the door, were the presidents of the three groups Mrs. Chris Lockyer, Mrs. W. D. Embury, Mrs. W. Judge and Mrs. F. R. Harback, who extended a gracious welcome to the many guests, inviting them into a bower of loveliness and sweet fragrance.

Across the archway over the platform, were the silver figures, "1925-25-1950" while on the other three sides of the large auditorium, were sheaves of appliqued roses, which were again repeated on the tall pillars enclosing the rectangle where two rows of chairs were placed in an elliptical formation and round about, at various points, were baskets of purple and yellow iris, white spirea and mauve lilacs. Here, the program was held, under the chairmanship of the Reverend F. R. Harback. Immediately outside the rectangle, were the tables of home cooking and candy sales, presided over by Mrs. P. E. Kerr, assisted by the members of the Women's Association, and the members of the Comrade Club, with Mrs. E. Greenleaf as convener respectively. On the home cooking table, the delightful cakes and cookies and salads were displayed, bringing ready purchasers, as did the table of delectable 'sweeties'.

Lovely Tea Room

The tea room was situated in the ladies' parlor, and was a perfection of loveliness. Tall, white standards of tulips, white spirea, honey suckle and purple lilacs guarded the entrance. Inside, between the pink and white garlanded pillars, was the dreamlike tea table, with its glistening silver services, its three-branched candelabra with their white candles and in the centre a snow-white, three-tiered birthday cake, fairy-like in its ornamentation at each of the lower four corners of bottom tier, tiny sprays of fragrant lily-of-the-valley had been arranged.

Across the arch above the table, were festoons of palest pink and white, whose graceful loops met in the centre, joined by a large, pure-white bell, from whose top cascaded twisted loops of the same pink and white to the four corners of the white linen cloth, and above the loops, spanning the archway, were tiny, silver bells.

Presiding at the tea table were the W.A. presidents of 25 years ago, and the presidents at the present time: Mrs. Nora Gulliver of Trenton, and Mrs. W. Embury, Mrs. F. Lent and Mrs. W. Judge, those who served were those from the three groups sponsoring the anniversary tea.

The treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. F. Douglas and Mrs. S. Lethangue.

Special Program

Outstanding features of the afternoon consisted in the specially arranged program, under the leadership of Mrs. M. P. Duff, in which the participants took part, dressed in the costumes of 25 years ago. The historical events of the first five years were given by Mrs. G. F. Lent, who told of the accomplishments and aims of the W.A., that of the last five, by Mrs. F. Davidson, and the presentation of certificates by the Women's Association of Tabernacle United Church to those who had served during the past 25 years.

The wording on the certificates running: "The Women's Association of Tabernacle United Church present (name) with this token of appreciation, on the occasion of the Twenty-fifth Anniversary, 1950, in honor of faithful services for twenty-five years. "Let the beauty of the Lord, our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands, establish thou it. "Ps. 90:17"

During the whole twenty-five year period, the amount of monies raised by the W.A. had been $27,308.64, with the highest amount in any one year, $17,000.

Mention might also be made of three piece-work quilts, the work of by-gone years, which brought back many memories. One was a red and white block "Friendship Quilt", once the property of Mrs. Winnifred Farrow, of Colborne, Ontario, now owned by Mrs. C. A. Brown, of 30 Ridley Street. On each white block a scripture verse had been worked and the name of the donor. This quilt had been begun in 1884 and finished in 1907.

Names of Members

The other quilt was done in blocks of mauve and yellow, made and embroidered by the W.M.S. in 1931 and finished in 1932. Each yellow block bore the embroidered name of an officer of the W.M.S. in 1931. Of these officers but one surviving member remains to mark the 25th anniversary.

The third quilt was of different blocks and materials, some blocks were of rectangular shape, while others were circles. This was known as the "Friendship Circle", and was made by Mrs. G. Horton, and had been the medium of raising $119 for the work of the church.

Following the close of the program, a vote of thanks was extended by Miss E. Horton to the various organizations responsible for the delightful program, and anniversary tea.

MELROSE

Two Little People Celebrate Recent Birthdays

Melrose — Little Cheyanne Pascoe recently celebrated her first birthday. A birthday party was held for her at her home, and 25 little friends and cousins were entertained on the lawn from 3.30 to 5.30. Lovely gifts and money were presented to the little Miss.

Each child was given a balloon and on departing, a little colored basket of candy. Pictures were taken during the afternoon.

Dainty refreshments were served by Cheyanne's mother, and aunts, Miss Marjorie Pascoe, and Mrs. Gordon Clapp.

Little Wayne Pascoe, cousin of Cheyanne, whose third birthday was June 1st, was also honored on this occasion, with a nicely-decorated cake with candles.

The children spent a delightful afternoon and are grateful to Mrs. Pascoe for the jolly time.

Melrose — A group of local teachers attended the banquet of the Teachers' Federation in the Y.M.C.A., on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant McLaren, and Jean, with a party of friends in Madoc, motored to Algonquin Park, over the weekend.

Mrs. Fairman has returned to spend the summer with her daughter, Mrs. F. Jeffrey.

The W.M.S. are holding a special service in the church on Sunday evening.

The first ball game was played on the new ball diamond on Friday evening when Read was the visiting team.

Real Housewife Is Important Says Professor

Toronto, June 8 — (CP) — Housewives are a thing of the past, a university professor said Tuesday night.

Prof. C. H. Stearnus of McMaster University in Hamilton said the word has lost its real meaning.

"I hope you will not be satisfied by the vague term "housewife,' " he told the graduating class of Moulton College, a girls' school.

"Otherwise, the census men will hustle you into this category before you make up your mind."

A real housewife is really something, though, he said.

MARSH HILL

Young Couple Honored By Friends, Neighbors

Marsh Hill—Friends and neighbors gathered Tuesday night at the home of Col. and Mrs. Roscoe Vanderwater to honor their daughter, Alison, and her husband Mr. Bazil Kuglin.

Rev. F. Gilbert was chairman for the evening and wished the bride and groom much happiness, and joy during the coming years.

Mr. Fred Campbell led in community singing. Mrs. Charles Ross gave a humorous reading and Barbara Brown, and Winnifred Parks sang a duet "Fairies". Miss Joan Campbell played a piano solo, "Cruising Down the River".

Mrs. Harry Coulter read the address and Mrs. Berson Mitts and Mr. Farley Lindenfield, made the presentation of a coffee table and cushion.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuglin thanked their friends for the lovely gifts and invited all to visit them in their home at Toronto. The ladies served refreshments.

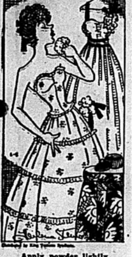
BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Pretty for the party.

Girls want to look their best but there are times when they'd like to look even better than that, if you know what we mean. It is the big date, maybe the first one with the new beau—who is so attractive and handsome. What must one do to look glamorous? One must be in tiptop form—no tired lines around the eyes, no lagging spirits. So the first step in the program of making oneself gorgeous is to have a refreshing bath.



Distributed by King Features Syndicate

Apply powder lightly

Nothing like it to take the kinks out of your nervous system, weariness out of your bones. Wash your face and spread on a heavy cream. The warm moist air in the bathroom will make it sink into the flesh, and it will do exhilarating things to your face. Give yourself at least five minutes of relaxation in the tub. Go limp as a rag. Relax to your little pink toes.

So far, so good. Scrub with a heavy brush, have a cold shower and a brisk rubdown, then go over your body surface with a fragrant bath lotion.

You'll want a high-style make-up, complexion decorations according to the latest beauty mode. Apply a foundation preparation that is the precise tint of your skin; it will give it a certain porcelain-like delicacy that will survive the entire evening.

These preparations come in cream and liquid powder form and in various tints. Read directions carefully; don't use too much. If your formal is the bare-top type, you will need to carry this treatment down over your neck, chest, shoulders, back and arms, so there will be no dividing line.

For blushes that are to endure, cream or liquid rouges have it all over the compact. The creamy kind is particularly effective. Put it on in little dots, then blend the dots together. The higher the application, the brighter and younger you will look. Coloring around the eyes makes them carry a sparkling, dewy appearance and brings out their coloring.

Apply powder lightly. Addition is better than subtraction when laying on the dull finish, though, if you put on too much, you can fluff it away with a powder brush—which should be a party of every young woman's beautifying equipment.

Perhaps you will indulge in eye shadows. Be careful with them. A light film will impart an interesting, mysterious look, but a bit too much will make you appear lithagraphic and that would be breaking our present-day pulchritude laws. If your eyebrows need extending at the far ends, use a crayon. If you would darken them, use the crayon with tiny strokes. The last touch is the lip tint.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

What makes a girl popular?

If I knew the sure-fire answer to the question of just what makes a girl popular; how it is that some have more dates than they can manage while others sit home night after night; and why certain ones are peppered with proposals and certain other ones never get the chance to say either "Yes", or "No", I'd certainly make myself a fortune as a matrimonial consultant.

I'd be able to steer such a girl as the following letter describes straight toward the husband for whom she's longing.

This girl writes of herself:

"I'm 26 years old, and considered rather attractive by some of my friends. I have been in love and engaged three times, and three times my heart has been broken. Each time the boy fell in love with some other girl and married her.

"Now I have a few admirers, but no special one. I like most sports, and belong to a church club. But like all girls, I want to settle down and have a home of my own. I go out on very few dates because the boys I've been out with some way or another, let me know that they don't want a steady girl friend. Of course this hurts, but I never let them know. I have never been lucky with boys, even when I was in school. I'm not very popular, and never have much to say. I work in an office."

Now while it's pretty difficult, as I've already suggested, to say just what enters into the tricky question of popularity, it's sometimes easier to discover the things that may keep a girl from it.

And in this particular case, I'm wondering if one trouble may be that the writer of this letter has unwittingly given the boys a feeling that she's pretty eager to get married. Without realizing it at all, she may have scared them off by appearing to take them too seriously. That might explain why, when she goes out on dates, the boys, as she says, let her know "that they don't want a steady girl friend."

And the second thing that occurs to me in diagnosing her difficulty is the handicap she mentions of never having much to say.

So here, taken right from her letter, are two things on which she can go to work immediately to better her situation. And let's put them this way: In the first place, she shows, or may show, too much interest in men. In the second place, she doesnt' show enough interest in other people and other things. And it's the second point on which she should concentrate, because if that's taken care of, the first is very likely to take care of itself.

In other words, getting interested in lots of people and lots of things will not only give her plenty to talk about, but will keep her so busy that she won't have time to worry so much about having steady boy friends and getting married. She'll be having so much fun she'll enjoy life anyhow.

The point is, she should learn how to have good times with anybody who comes along, to make good times for herself. For the girl who radiates the exuberant vitality that comes from enjoying life in general, always attracts others, both male and female. If she's fun to be with, they want to be with her, and the first thing she knows, she's got a romance on her hands.

Welldressed Mermaid

By PRUNELLA WOOD

SUMMER beaches will get their usual fair garnishing this season, a typical newcomer being this terry cloth sand wrap which has big new sleeves, and a newer, shorter length. Big pockets are part of the design, big enough to carry everything needful for a beach date except, perhaps, a beach umbrella.

The swim suit is a sleek number of white elasticized fabric, handsomely fastened down the front with big gilt hooks and eyes, self fabric tubing for belt and halter. This costume was easily the beachcomber's favorite at the recent Waldorf-Astoria fashion luncheon which paraded mermaid getups.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Who pays for wedding flowers and cars

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Ours is to be a church wedding, with large reception afterward in a hall that specializes in wedding receptions. We are uncertain as to who provides transportation from the church to the hall, and as to who provides flowers for whom.

1. What is the groom's responsibility as to providing transportation and flowers?

2. The bride's mother and father have no car. What cars are they expected to provide? And whose flowers do they provide?

3. What cars does the best-man provide? And whose flowers does he provide?

E. C.

1. The groom provides transportation for his best man and himself from his home to the church; and he provides the car in which he and his bride leave the reception.

And these are the flowers the groom provides: bride's bouquet and her going-away corsage; corsages for both mothers; and boutonnieres for best man, ushers, and for both fathers.

2. The bride's parents provide the cars for the members of the bridal party, from the house to the church, and from the church to the reception. (Very often relatives and friends lend these cars, sometimes the attendants' families offering their cars.) The bride's mother drives in the first car, either alone or with one or two bridal attendants; and in the last car are the bride and her father.

These are the flowers the bride's parents provide: the flowers in the church; the flowers for the reception; the flowers for the bride's attendants.

3. The best man has absolutely no responsibility to provide any cars. . .although of course he may, if he wishes, offer to lend his own car. And he has absolutely no responsibility to provide any wedding flowers for anyone . . . although, alas, he is very, very often made to feel that it is his duty to provide transportation for various members of the bridal party, to provide flowers for all or some of the members of the bridal party (often the bride's bouquet too!), and even to provide various items of the reception, such as the wedding cake and the champagne.

A best man has only two financial responsibilities concerning the wedding: (1) he provides his own wedding attire, and (2) he send a wedding present to the bride-elect.

Hungarian Woman, Raised in Slums, Is Mill Director

By PETER HURST

Budapest — (Reuters) — From Budapest slum to director of the largest Hungarian textile mills, the Goldberger Factories, is the success story of Mrs. Joseph Vegh.

Mrs. Vegh, mother of two boys, has been at work since she left school at 15 after six years of elementary schooling.

Her three sisters, like herself, became workers in their early 'teens, the two oldest in a weaving mill, the third in a shoe factory. She herself received a wage of slightly more than two cents an hour during her first years of work.

At home, the family lived in a single room — her own family of six and a sub-tenant who rented sleeping space for himself, his wife and a child in a corner of the room.

"On Sunday," she says, "we used to go to the movies. For 20 fillers (about four cents) we were able to enjoy Tom Mix. I believe this was my only spiritual nourishment at the time. I never read books, except perhaps one of the paper-backed trashy novels translated from German."

Married in 1941 to a woodworker, she, with other women of her neighborhood, set up dairy kitchens, nurseries and kindergartens for neglected children wandering the streets in the early months of 1945 in search of their parents.

For a year, she was a cashier at a movie house, then a telephone operator in an export-import company. Later she became a worker in the ministry of agriculture.

Made Director

But her heart was in work with women's organizations. Finally, last year, largely as a result of her successful work in the democratic front of Hungarian women she was made director of the Goldberger textile plant, where 80 per cent of the workers are women.

This was something entirely new to her. She knew little of management, of the problems facing the administration of a large factory.

She enrolled in the correspondence branch of the Economic and Technical Academy, which was specifically established to train workers for management positions.

She spent long weeks and months, all her leisure time, becoming acquainted with the factory. Fellow workers took her through every inch of the plant on Saturday afternoons and Sundays, explaining the various workshops.

Today, she spends only a quarter of her working time in the office and the rest at the two plants belonging to the Goldberger concern.

"On weekdays," she says, "I am a mother from 6 a.m. until a quarter to eight, washing, dressing and feeding the children and taking my bigger boy to school. I now have two boys, one of them eight, the other four. And when I get home at night, I invariably find the older boy's copybook on the table because I have to correct his exercises."

Canon J. G. Sparling Commends Parish Guild on Good Work

The Parish Guild of Christ Church met on Tuesday, when about 50 members sat down to a delicious luncheon in the Parish Hall.

Canon Sparling and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Smith were special guests. A resume of the work of the Guild so far this year, under the leadership of Mrs. E. Hickey, was given showing splendid accomplishments.

Canon Sparling addressed the ladies and commended them on their good work for the Parish. He wished them to remember that the Guild's influence, as church people, goes farther than one realizes and he hoped that, during the summer months the Guild would not neglect the church attendance, whether at home or on holidays.

Mr. Everett Smith spoke on the important role of the Parish Guild. Mrs. Sparling also spoke, asking for aid in a project she is undertaking for a children's Bible School to be held in July.

New Moscow Cafe To Spur Rivalry In Choice Foods

By TOM WHITNEY

Moscow — (CP) — The finest new restaurant to be opened in Moscow since the end of the war started business a few days ago.

It is called "The Ararat" and is operated by the government of the Armenian Republic of the U.S.S.R.

The opening of this new restaurant began a heated competition in the field of Middle-Eastern foods. Moscow already has a large number of restaurants which specialize in Georgian, Armenian, Azerbaidzhan and Central Asian dishes.

They include several outstanding eating places opened in the last year, such as the "Uzbekistan" and "The Baku."

However, the outstanding place where Muscovites could get the best "shashlyk" (broiled spitted lamb), "pilaf" (a dish of lamb and rice) and the like has always been the Georgian restaurant, "The Aragvi."

That restaurant, which derives its name from a famous fast-flowing river of Soviet Georgia, occupies a fine establishment just off Moscow's main stem — Gorky Street.

Georgian Orchestra

"The Aragvi" has a fine Georgian orchestra and several times each evening presents a Caucasion male dancer in the traditional Caucasion uniform in a dagger dance. It has been visited by many famous American guests in the Soviet capital.

Now, however, it seems "The Aragvi" is going to have to share its laurels with "The Ararat."

The Armenian Republic has made strenuous efforts to see that its restaurant in Moscow will be in no way inferior to "The Aragvi" in the service of Armenian and Middle-Eastern foods and wines.

The best Armenian cook in Erevan has been engaged, according to report, to take charge of the kitchen of "The Ararat," and the cream of Armenia's select wines and its famed high-quality cognac were brought in to stock the wine cellars of the establishment.

On the other hand, "The Aragvi" is prepared to meet the new situation. It is improving its already excellent cuisine and service and is counting on the loyality of its old and favored customers.

Muscovites who love Middle-Eastern foods stand only to gain from the competition. The prospects are that there will be plenty of customers to keep both restaurants full.

Former Resident Wished 'Bon Voyage' By Friends

Tweed — An enjoyable afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. S. B. Rollins on Tuesday. The occassion was to do honor to an old friend, Mrs. A. C. Stokes, formerly of Tweed, but now of Edinburgh, Scotland and her daughter, Jean, wife of Dr. R. Pringle of Winnipeg, Man.

After a social time together, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. McCarey, Mrs. Hyedman and Mrs. Luffman. Later, several pictures were taken on the lawn by Mrs. McCarey.

Mrs. Stokes will leave for her home in Scotland on June 23rd. Her many friends will wish her bon voyage.

Among those present were Mrs. Jack Wilson, and son, George, of Belleville.

St. Paul's S.S. Holds Silver Anniversary And Flower Service

Stirling — On Sunday last St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, was banked at the altar rail with baskets of white and mauve lilies and variegated tulips. The flowers were brought to the church on Saturday by the children and were arranged by Mrs. Walter Elliott, Mrs. Robert Patterson and Mrs. Wells. This large array of flowers was a vision of beauty.

The church was filled with worshippers with several visitors in attendance. Mr. George Carlisle seated the Sunday School teachers at the left while the junior choir occupied the front right pews.

Mrs. A. E. Baker accompanied the music which included selections by the church choir, junior choir and senior choir, with Mr. Doug. Pyear giving the solo parts while Mr. Ted Reynolds rendered "The Lilies, They Grow," and nine girls of the senior choir gave a delightful number. Suitable children's hymns were used also.

Churchill Says Socialism Soon Erased, Expunged

London, June 8. (AP)—Winston Churchill predicted Wednesday that State Socialism in Britain soon will be "erased and expunged" by the electorate.

He said the February National election proved that Britain's voters "don't want socialism" as represented by the Labor government.

"Mr. Clement Attele's majority makes him the only Socialist figurehead holding the office of Prime Minister in the free and civilized world outside the Iron Curtain and Scandinavia.

"This blot of our being the only Socialist government in the English-speaking world will soon be erased and expunged."

The Labor party rolled up an over-all majority of 147 in the House of Commons in 1945 to succeed Churchill's Wartime Coalition government. As a result of losses last February, it now has only six more seats than the combined opposition.

28 FEARED LOST TO SHARKS AFTER ATLANTIC AIR CRASH

Floating near the rescue ship, the destroyer Saufley, are some of the life-rafts from which survivors of the C-46 crash were picked up. Of 65 persons aboard the ill-fated non-scheduled airliner, 27 are believed to have perished, one devoured by sharks before the eyes of those in life-rafts. With man-eating sharks numerous, little hope is held for survival of the 28 unaccounted for. — Central Press Canadian.

One of 37 survivors of the plane crash, 270 miles off the Florida coast, waits to be picked up by the U.S. Navy destroyer Saufley. The big twin-engined plane operated by the Westair Transport Company of Seattle was on a non-scheduled flight with 65 persons aboard en route from Puerto Rico to Wilmington, N.C., when it crash-landed into the Atlantic Ocean. — Central Press Canadian.

Mother Believes Girl Kidnapped

Quebec, June 8. (CP)—Mrs. Lorenzo Renaud, mother of little Nicole Renaud who was reported to have walked into the woods near her Chateau Bigot home Saturday and disappeared, yesterday said she believes her daughter was "kidnapped".

"My little girl was stolen", Mrs. Renaud said in an interview.

About 25 men continued to scour the woods at Chateau Bigot, eight miles north of here. At one time up to 800 men, including army patrols, provincial police and volunteers, covered 10 square miles of forest. An airplane assisted the searchers.

All the search turned up so far were bear tracks, a blue piece of garment and a shoe.

The bear tracks gave rise to the belief among searchers that the little girl was devoured.

As for the piece of cloth and the shoe, the mother yesterday said they did not belong to her little girl.

Quick Frozen Minnows May Be Shipped

Saint John, N.B., June 8. (CP)—Members of the Saint John Branch of the New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association may send "quick frozen" minnows to Peterborough in an attempt to prove they can be shipped alive otherwise than in water or dry oak leaves.

The possibility is under consideration following the oak leaves method of shipment from Halifax to Ontario.

One member of the Saint John Branch of the Fish and Game organization expressed the opinion Wednesday night that minnows could be quick frozen, shipped alive and returned to normal after being placed in water at the end of their journey.

Smelt, he said, had been bought frozen in stores and "came to life" when put into water. He thought minnows were just as hardy, if not more so.

If they are shipped to Ontario in a frozen state of suspended animation, they will go either to the Peterborough Industrial Fair or to Cy Hopkins, Kawartha District baitman.

Yugoslavia Protests Russ Manoeuvres

Belgrade, June 8 (AP) —Yugoslavia has protested that Russian naval manoeuvres oh the upper Danube are blocking commercial shiping on the important Central European waterway.

A Yugoslav note to Russia said the naval movements—carried on four days a week since May 16—violate the 1948 Danube convention guaranteeing free navigation on the river.

The Danube flows through Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Romania. Russia maintains river patrol boats in its occupation zone of Austria.

Final Earthly Tribute is Paid Late Bishop Kidd

London, Ont., June 8. (CP)—With all the rich pageantry of the church he had served as priest and bishop for 48 years, Bishop John Thomas Kidd was paid a final earthly tribute by his fellow priests and nearly 2,000 Londoners at St. Peter's Cathedral on Wednesday.

Pontifical Mass for the 82-year-old Bishop who forsook a business career to enter the service of the Roman Catholic Church, was celebrated by James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto.

In the tribute to Bishop Kidd, Roman Catholic dignitaries from across Canada joined with civic, military and government leaders of all faiths and hundreds of local members of the laity.

A former Londoner and long time friend of Bishop Kidd, Most Rev. R. H. Dignan, Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie, said in the funeral oration that death had come on the eve of celebration of Bishop Kidd's silver jubilee of his consecration as a bishop.

In contrast to the color of the solemn Requiem Mass at the Cathedral, the committal service at the St. Peter's Seminary Crypt was almost austere in its simplicity, only members of the clergy and relatives attended.

Study Mystery Of Milky Way

Bloemfontein, South Africa, (CP)—A group of astronomers led by Dr. Bart J. Bok of Harvard University will soon start taking thousands of photographs of the Milky Way through a special telescope. Their research is expected to clear up a number of the mysteries of the tremendous number of stars which comprise the Milky Way.

The centre of it, believed to be the great star cloud of saoittarius passes directly overhead at Bloemfontein each night, according to the South African Journal of Science.

"Many astronomers," says the Journal, "now believe that the milky way galaxy, resembled a vast spinning wheel. The solar system (the sun, earth and other planets) is considered to be a minor speck along the outer rim of the wheel, some 30,000 light years distant from the centre. (One light year is the distance that light, moving at a speed of 166,000 miles a second, would travel in a year.)

"So huge is the circumference of this galactic 'wheel' that it takes the sun, whirling in a roughly circular orbit at a speed of about 150 miles a second almost 200,000,000 years to make one complete round to centre."

Interest in the Milky Way was recently whetted by discoveries in America, Britain and Australia, that strong radio "noises" are emanating from here. Nobody yet knows the origin of this cosmic static.

Four-Year-Old Child Drowns At Lake Mazinaw

Falling into two and a half feet of water, four-year-old John VanWyck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. VanWyck, R. R. Cloyne, was drowned Wednesday afternoon in Lake Mazinaw, 70 miles northeast of Belleville, despite a mile-a-minute race from Belleville with an inhalator.

The little lad had been playing in a sandpile while the father, a summer resort operator, was building a cottage nearby. He was not missed until late noon when the mother called that dinner was ready, and a frantic search found the lad lying in shallow water at the lake's edge.

Placed in a neighbor's car, the boy was taken 15 miles to Northbrook to a doctor, the father applying artificial respiration in the auto. A call was then put through to Belleville for the inhalator and Fire Chief Gerald Vance and Fireman Roy Wardle drove the 55-mile distance in as many minutes. They worked for 90 minutes on the boy without response.

The VanWycks have two other children, a baby six months, and a girl older than the drowned boy.

Canadians Trade Bassoons For Bathing Suits

Bournemouth, England, June 8 (AP)—A Canadian band, its music muted by a local strike, traded bassoons for bathing suits today at this south coast seaside resort.

Instead of fulfilling scheduled engagements at the Bournemouth Winter Gardens, members of the Kitsilano Boys' Band of Vancouver went swimming in the English Channel.

"The boys promised not to play a note in public while the local strike is on," said Mrs. Arthur Delamont, wife of the band's conductor. "But they're loving every minute of it. You can't get them out of their bathing suits."

The band arrived in Britain last Friday for a four-month visit, which includes appearances in some 25 cities and towns. They were to have performed three times in Bournemouth, but cancelled all engagements because of a dispute involving a musicians' union here.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 8, 1950.

King George Creates 7 New Barons in Birthday Honors List Amid Pomp, Pageantry

London, June 8. (CP)—London sparkled with pomp and pageantry today as the King marked his official birthday by creating seven new barons and bestowing honors on distinguished Britons.

Around the world British diplomats and governors-general entertained at annual King's birthday receptions though the Monarch was born December 14, 1895, the anniversary officially is celebrated today.

Within the capital the high spot of the day's ceremonies was the trooping of the colors by crack army units dressed in colorful uniforms dating back to the Napoleonic wars.

Those named by the King to his birthday honors list, published today, included political figures, actors, musicians, factory workers and Britain's ace steeplejack who was awarded the Order of the British Empire.

Sidney Parkins, the steeplejack, was called on last November to remove a policeman's helmet that had been hung on top of the 130-foot spire of the House of Commons. Police still are looking for the culprits who risked their lives to carry out the practical joke.

Parkins' decoration, however, was an award for his general competence as an industrial worker during a venturesome career, not for the single exploit of removing the bobby's helmet.

Air Marshal Philip Clermont Livingston, native of Vancouver Island, who is director-general of medical services for the R.A.F. and an honorary surgeon to the King, was made a Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Made B.E. Member

Flt.-Lt. Peter Borden St. Louis of Ottawa, the R.C.A.F. pilot who rescued stranded British scientists from Stonington Island in the Antarctic last January, also appeared on the list.

He was made an ordinary member of the Military Division of the Order of the British Empire.

A Field Marshal's baton was presented to Gen. Sir Thomas A. Blamey of Australia. Lt.-Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, commander of the British Army on the Rhine in Western Germany, was created a Knight Commander.

Among the new barons entitled to sit in the House of Lords are three whose elevation solves political perplexities for the Labor government.

Lewis Silkin, 61, former Minister of Town and Country Planning, is one. No Labor party district organization would accept him as a candidate in the general election last February and he was left without a constituency.

D. R. Rees-Williams, a former junior minister defeated in the general election, also was made a baron.

Among a dozen new Knight Bachelors, the lowest rank of Knights, was Capt. Bruce S. Ingram, editor of Illustrated London News.

Frederick Ashton, dance arranger of the Sadler's Wells Ballet, was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

George Wilson, 96, believed to be Britain's oldest film actor, was made an officer of the Order of the British Empire.

Strike Ballots Are Distributed By Brotherhoods

Montreal, June 8—(CP)—Fifteen International Brotherhoods involved in a wages-hours dispute with Canadian railways announced today that they are distributing 90,000 strike ballots and the returnable date is July 24.

The announcement came from Frank H. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee of the unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The unions sought a 40-hour week in place of the present 48-hour week plus a seven-cent hourly general wage increase. A federal conciliation board in April was accepted by the carriers but recommended a compromise which rejected by the union executive.

The strike ballots being distributed today will ask union members whether they wish to go on strike to back their executive.

Mr. Hall said the reason the returnable date was set at July [illegible] was to allow time to cover many remote areas and enable the members, in many cases where desirable, to have lodge meetings."

The railways involved are Canadian Pacific, Canadian National, Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo and Ontario Northland.

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.C.L.), whose 30,000 members are also involved in a dispute with the railways over similar demands, has also announced that it intends taking a strike ballot.

France Proposes Coal, Steel Pool

Paris, June 8 — (Reuters) — France has proposed to Italy, Germany and the Benelux countries that negotiations for forming a European coal and steel pool begin June 20, an official announcement said today.

Paul Henri Teitgen, Minister in charge of information, announced this at today's meeting of the Council of Ministers, mainly devoted to a policy statement by Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Teitgen emphasized that the setting up of a common high authority to administer the pool was the key idea of the French plan.

To achieve a result, he added, the plan should be examined among "convinced" partisans of the usefulness of this high authority.

"A relative agreement was finally reached with Great Britain" on this basis, he added, emphasizing that Britain would be kept informed at every state of the negotiations.

"The French government continues to hope that, thus informed, Great Britain will be able to adhere one day to the conclusions reached, or even that Britain may join in the work on the way."

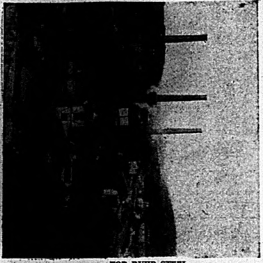
SCHUMAN COAL-STEEL POOL PLAN "TO REMOVE ONE CAUSE OF WAR"

FRENCH COAL . . .



. . . FOR RUHR STEEL

ROBERT SCHUMAN
His plan

Six European nations have announced negotiations will begin on a plan to pool their coal and steel production under a central authority whose decisions would be binding on all six. The countries, France, Western Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, will begin their discussions some time this month in what is hailed as the first concrete proposal to bind each other in an alliance which, they say, would remove the causes of war. The plan fostered by Foreign Minister Schuman of France, has not attracted Britain's Labor government, but Opposition Leader Winston Churchill has openly announced his sympathy with the plan without committing his Conservative party to it. — Central Press Canadian.

Finland Will Sign Biggest Trade Pact With Russia

Helsinki, Finland, June 8 — (AP)—Premier Dr. Urhm Kekkonen was on his way to Moscow today to sign the biggest trade agreement ever concluded between Finland and the Soviet Union.

He was accompanied on the trip by the Russian envoy to Helsinki, General Gregory Savonenkov.

The new five-year trade agreement, which is expected to be signed in Moscow near the end of the week, is the result of seven weeks' negotiations between Russian authorities and a Finnish delegation headed by Trade Minister Sakari Tuomioja.

No specific information about the agreement has been released but informed sources said it is many times bigger than the last Soviet-Finnish treaty which amounted to a total exchange of goods worth about $60,000,000.

Observers in Helsinki believe the new agreement marked the beginning of more friendly relations between the two neighbor countries.

$2,000-Week Radio Star on Legit Stage For $14.66 Night

Hollywood, June 8 — (AP) — Marie Wilson, who makes $2,000 a week playing a dumb blonde on the radio, is a legitimate stage actress now at $14.66 a night.

One of Hollywood's most famous cheesecake artists, Marie had plenty of chances to display her shapely form. Her gowns looked as if they were designed for a movie epic but were cut lower than the budget for a quickie western.

The show is the work of the Circle Theatre, an experimental group of Hollywood players. Housed in a onetime corner drugstore, the remodelled theatre seats only 150. The first nighters were mostly drama critics and Hollywood celebrities.

Miss Wilson said she is doing the part for a five-week run at the lowest wage scale, "but I never had more fun in my life."

Relatives, Friends of O.S.D. Pupils Attend 'Open House' at School

Yesterday was visitors' day at the Ontario School for the Deaf and the ideal weather brought many parents, relatives and friends to the spacious school to view the teaching methods, and to inspect the results of these methods, which were on exhibition in the Recreation Hall.

Promptly at 1 o'clock, upon arrival, the visitors were formed into groups of four and taken by senior girls to the various classrooms where the classes were in session. These classrooms were for junior, intermediate and senior instruction. Approximately 15 minutes being allowed for each inspection. Those instructing in arithmetic, Mr. Clare; in reading Miss Case; art and nature study, Miss Van Allen; in language, Mrs. Wannamaker, and in speech, rhythm and dancing, Mr. Alec. Gordon.

Following the inspection of the classes, a fashion display was put on in the assembly room; with the small children modelling the styles suitable to their ages. These modelling the intermediate and senior styles made the garments worn, which consisted of teen age sport styles, hair styles, interspersed with numbers by the Rhythm band, including popular numbers and waltzes.

Exhibits Outstanding

The exhibits in the girls' gymnasium, the results of the teaching in vocational and academic work, was an honor both to the pupils and to the teachers. The vocational showed splendid specimens of wood-working, lawn chairs; Queen Anne coffee tables; end tables; wardrobe boxes for bedroom use in which could be placed the shoes and oddments of the wardrobe. An aluminum dinner wagon with four shelves was well constructed and was of fine workmanship, showing what could be done at small outlay.

Another articles that drew considerable attention was a trunk fashioned by a lad from Gowganda who had had only a paper sack in which to carry his belongings. This was beautifully constructed with brass end-bindings, fleur-de-lis hinges, and lock. Nicely painted and varnished in a dark maroon color. A work-bench and tool-chest, made from cast off angle irons from an iron bed was another fine article. Other articles included hose reels, kitchen ladders, metal flower holders, and agricultural assets such as feeding hoppers, wheelbarrows, and tools.

Care of House Plants

The care of house plants, the cross pollenization of various flowers, to reproduce other varieties, were also shown.

In the sewing department, there were splendid samples of the seamstress art including aprons, blouses with embroidered initials on pockets; little dresses, towels, and apron clothes-pin bags, and many others too numerous to mention. Little books with sewing hints and examples of the different types of seams, tucks, and darts were nicely assembled.

The industrial arts displayed fine examples of craftsmanship in copper ash trays, serving trays candle holders, book-ends, bread boards, hanging baskets for flowers.

Samples of art work in the intermediate department consisted of paper mache modelling, showing life-sized ducks in color, and tiny flower brooches. Among the color art were samples of the new 'self expression' which showed a vibration of color, which in turn was used to make attractive note book covers. Landscapes were done in crayon, and were of exceptional quality showing "winter scenes" and life sized butterflies in glistening tints.

Examples Displayed

Arithmetic was shown, with examples of division, fractions, subtraction and addition, differing in the lay out of old time addition and subtraction, but arriving at the same result. Geography, depicting the explorers' map of the British Isles, notebooks of the same, nicely written and neatly compiled.

In the Home Economics department, preserving, showing jams, and other varieties of preserves as well as dainty place cards of little ladies made from pipe cleaners, with black skirts, and white angels, made from paper filters and other gadgets, all showed what might be accomplished by little willing fingers under skilful teaching.

At the evening performance, in the boys' gymnasium an exhibition of Scotch dances, square dances, mat work, tumbling and pyramids were enjoyed by the delighted audience.

Afternoon tea was served in the Home Economics room, and attended by many.

A worthy demonstration, deserving of the highest praise to the teaching staff, who give so unstintingly of their time and sympathy to the less fortunate of the boys and girls from far and near, who are surmounting their handicaps, and fitting themselves for the future.

THREE FIRE HALLS RESPOND

Toronto, June 8 — (CP) — Firefighters took no chances early today when they received a call to pier 7 on the Toronto waterfront, adjoining the pier at which the Noronic burned last September with loss of 119 lives. Fire equipment from three downtown halls rushed to the docks shortly before 5 p. m. They found only a minor blaze.

36 PERSONS DROWNED

Teheran, Iran, June 8—(Reuters)—Thirty-six persons were drowned and 16 missing in floods which have half submerged Meshed, capital of Kohorassan province in eastern Iran.

Delayed reports reaching Teheran today said the floods caused by torrential rains last week washed away 932 houses.

When waters reached the jail, 13 prisoners attempted to escape. Guards killed three and others were injured.

Minimum Price Of Strawberries 17 Cents Quart

Hamilton, June 8—(CP)—Minimum price of strawberries this year will be 17 cents a quart, one cent below last year's minimum, G. F. Perkin, chairman of the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board, announced today.

The minimum price was the unanimous decision of processors and growers negotiating here Wednesday.

There will be an open market for raspberries. Mr. Perkin said it was anticipated demand would exceed the supply of raspberries this year.

The strawberry minimum is the factory delivered price. As in other years, crates and boxes are to be returned to the grower.

Repesenting processors on negotiations were W. I. Drynan, Hamilton; J. S. Dunlop, Guelph; and Quinten Shiriff, Toronto.

Growers were represented by E. Slacer, Clarkson; B. M. Wallace, Simcoe; and A. Rittenhouse, Vineland.

ACQUITTED ON CHARGE

Sudbury, June 8—(CP)—Raoul Laviolette, 32-year-old Montreal postal clerk, was acquitted Wednesday of a charge of wounding his wife and the man with whom police said she had been living with for 18 months.

Laviolette was charged with stabbing his wife Marie, and Leo Lafreniere last Jan. 15. The jury deliberated one hour before bringing in its verdict. Judge Edmund Proulx told Laviolette he was lucky the jury had taken a lenient view.

Federal Govt. Ready to Allow Indians to Drink in Lounges If Province Doesn't Object

Ottawa, June 8 (CP)— The Federal government is ready to allow an Indian to drink in beverage rooms and cocktail lounges if the government of the province in which he resides does not object.

Under existing legislation the Indian is barred from all public drinking places. He is not allowed to buy or possess alcoholic liquor or beer.

But under the terms of a new Indian act, introduced in the Commons Wednesday, the right to drink in public places will be extended to the Indians in any province where the provincial government is prepared to grant that right to the descendants of Canada's original inhabitants.

Indians still will be barred from purchasing liquor or beer from government-owned stores.

The change in the legislation went part way toward meeting one of several recommendations made by a parliamentary committe recommended that Indians be allowed to drink off the reserve.

Given First Reading

The new legislation was given first reading. Further study will be delayed for about two weeks to give representatives of the Indians a chance to study the proposed changes and to make representations.

No change is made in provisions covering the franchise for Indians. The vote will be extended only to Indians applying for it. Once they are enfranchised, they will lose their rights as Indians.

In an interview, Mr. Harris said that the new legislation will give Indians a more active role in the administration of their affairs on reserves. The consent of band councils will have to be obtained before money from Indian funds are used for a wide variety of works.

Improvement in the way of electing chiefs and band councils is provided for and all Indians 21 and over, including squaws, will be allowed to vote.

A re-registration of Indians will be undertaken. Those of quarter blood or less will be struck off the register and denied the rights according to Indians. Those struck from the register will have the right of appeal.

J. Albert Guay Granted Stay Of Execution

Quebec, June 8 (CP)— J. Albert Guay, convicted of his wife's murder in the time-bomb destruction of an airliner, Wednesday was granted a stay of execution and will be available to the court when crippled watchmaker Genereux Ruest appears next Wednesday on a charge of murder.

At Ruest's arraignment Wednesday, the Crown alleged the 51-year-old watchmaker manufactured the time-bomb which caused the destruction of an airliner at nearby Sault Au Cochon Sept. 9, killing all 23 aboard including Mrs. Rita Guay.

The charge also stated that Ruest put the time-bomb together "with the purpose of aiding" Guay murder his wife.

Guay, 32-year-old jeweller, was convicted March 14 and sentenced to be hanged June 23. The execution now is scheduled for Jan. 12.

Ruest's arrest Monday night followed an announcement last week by Premier Duplessis, Quebec's Attorney General, that Guay had made a statement in his death cell at Montreal where he was awaiting execution.

Guay's statement was reported to have implicated other persons in the case.

However, Solicitor-General Antoine Rivard said "there will be no further arrests for the moment."

Ruest said nothing when arraigned. His lawyer, Irennee Simard, agreed to a three-day verbal remand which sent Ruest to police cells for further questioning.

When Ruest testified at Guay's trial he told the court he had manufactured the time-bomb at Guay's request after the jeweller had told him it was to be used to blast some tree stumps.

Dollar Controls Handicap Trade With Fiji Islands

(Written For The Canadian Press)
(By Margaret Ecker Francis)

Suva, Fiji, June 8—(CP)—Canadians who once thought of the Fiji Islands as merely a romantic tropical part of the South Pacific, peopled by frizzy-haired natives and beachcombers are awakening to the importance of the Crown Colony to Canadian trade and business.

Since the end of the war, trade with the Fijis has increased steadily until in 1949 Fiji did 17 per cent of her total trade which amounted to £13,835,000 ($38,738,000) with the Dominion. Only two other countries exceeded this: the United Kingdom, 32 per cent; New Zealand, 18 per cent.

Canadian trade with Fiji in 1945 was £405,501; in 1947, £830,056; in 1948, £2,212,593; in 1949, £2,315,748.

Six Times As Great

At present Fijian exports to Canada are approximately six times as great as Canadian imports to the colony. In 1949 approximately five per cent of the Islands' imports, valued at £330,172 came from Canada. Items imported included fish, machinery, motor vehicles, metals, lumber and whisky.

Fiji exported to Canada goods valued at £1,985,491—31 per cent of the colony's total exports. Items included sugar, fruits and fruit juices, rubber and curios.

Lack of balance in trade is due to rigid control from London to the islands' dollar credits. Fiji is now one of the few parts of the British Empire with a dollar balance. British government policies however, prevent the country using them to purchase much-needed Canadian motor vehicles and machinery.

"Fiji is starving for the things Canada has," said a leading Suva businessman, head of one of the large copra companies, naming cars, machinery, tinned fish and lumber.

"If controls go," he went on, "there will be a large volume of trade between Canada and Fiji. It is unfortunate we cannot use dollars we have earned. Some of our industries are seriously hampered by lack of mechanical equipment."

Need Mining Machinery

Discovery of gold on Viti Levu, largest of the Fiji Islands, in 1931, Fiji economy and now the export of bullion is second in trade importance only to sugar. The colony exports annually about £1,013,000 in gold, mostly to the United States. Efficient operation of the rich mines requires at present thousands of dollars worth of machinery which the country is prevented from purchasing.

In 1949 Fiji imported from Canada machinery of various types, including oil engines, mining machinery and machine parts, valued at £13,889, which was only a fraction of its needs.

Coal Largest Import

Coal, 17,386 tons valued at £120,178 was Fiji's largest import from Canada in 1949. Second was 30,921,120 board feet of timber at £94,869, which businessmen point out is less than half of what they could use. The £19,099 worth of motor vehicles and parts purchased from Canada was only a fraction of what could be absorbed.

Other imports included newsprint and paper products, fish, electrical goods, clothing, agricultural tools, drugs, manufactured drugs, whisky and one fire engine.

The present low value of the Fijian pound, $2.80, has given Canadian consumers price benefits on goods exported, by the colony to the Dominion. In 1949 these included sugar valued at £1,968,552; pineapples, canned and as juice, £14,827 and bananas £1,795. Smaller quantities of ginger, rubber and curios were also expots.

Woman Made History In 1888 Canoe Trip

Nipigon, Ont., (CP)— A man still needs a strong body and a cool head to travel by canoe through the wilderness of Northwestern Ontario, where the advances of civilization have left no imprint on the white paper and long portages.

The difficulties and hardships of the canoe journey have decreased little since the summer of 1888—when a frail woman of 32 travelled the Nipigon River—a trip that would daunt many a man toughened by years of bush life.

Elizabeth Taylor, a soft-voiced bespectacled little woman, had ambitions of travelling far down the Mackenzie River in the Canadian Northwest. The Nipigon trip was a tryout for the Mackenzie journeq, which she took four years later.

13 Days in Bush

..Miss Taylor, whose hometown was St. Paul, Minn., and whose father James W. Taylor, was then American Consul at Winnipeg, spent 13 days in the bush country. Her companions on the trip to the mission included a missionarys wife, and Indian woman, the missionary's son and two Indian guides.

She ran the rapids with the Indians in canoes, braved fatigue and blackflies on the portages, fished with a fly-rod and caught a trout. Towards the end of the return trip, she took a chill while crossing a lake during a storm, but recovered after the bushmen treated her with several slugs of whisky.

Later, she wrote to a friend in Connecticut:

"I am proud of the fact that I successfully accomplished the longest trip made by a fisherwoman on the (Nipigon) River at any time and saw the beautiful Lake Nipigon and the River from its head to its mouth. . . I had a perfectly beautiful time: I never spent a happier 13 days in my life."

Longest Air Race Planned for 1953 In Australia

By J. C. GRAHAM
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Christchurch, N.Z. June 8—(CP)—An air race from London to Christchurch, scheduled for 1953, will be the longest race in aviation history. It is likely to provide an entirely new conception of the possibilities of long-distance flying.

Sponsored by the Canterbury International Air Race Council of this city, with the assistance of the Royal Aero Club, London, the race will be divided into two sections—speed and handicap. The handicap section is unique in that the entrants will probably be chiefly leading world airlines which will send fully loaded passenger airliners over the route.

Experts are already speculating whether, with the present rate of improvement in aircraft speeds, the race will be won in a single day. It is estimated that existing jet fighters, equipped with special fuel tanks, could cover the distance in 30 hours, flying time. New types developed by 1953 are likely to cut the time considerably.

Already provisional entries have been made by British Overseas Airways Corporation, British European Airways Corporation, Royal Dutch Airlines (K.L.M.), and Qantas Empire Airways. American Airlines are also showing interest in the project and there are prospects of a Boeing stratocruiser and an American jet airliner being entered.

British Entries

Among British manufacturers, the Armstrong Whitworth Company has provisionally entered its Apollo II turbo-jet air liner powered with four Armstrong-Siddeley Mamba 8 gas turbine units. The De Havilland Company has entered but has not yet stated whether its entry will be its record-breaking comet jet airliner or a new aircraft in the speed section.

Other airlines and manufacturers are likely to make entries when the full rules and conditions are announced. Already a great deal of preliminary work has been done and representatives of the organizing comittee have discussed the project with civil aviation authorities, airlines and manufacturers in Australia, India, England, many European countries and the United States. The route will be via the middle east—from England to Basra, Calcutta, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand.

Prizes will be $30,000 for first in both the speed and handicap sections, $9,000 for second, $3,000 for third and $1,500 for fourth. However, in an event of this magnitude the prestige of winning is of far greater importance to the firms concerned and the prize-money is likely to be a fairly minor consideration with most of the entrants.

Turkey Every Sunday Is B.C. Man's Goal

Surrey, B.C., (CP)— A scheme that could revolutionize the turkey-growing industry in North-America — production of first grade birds at half the normal cost—has been initiated by Clarence Landstrom here.

Instead of following the usual procedure of buying turkey poults in the spring and getting them ready for the Thanksgiving market, Landstrom keeps his broders going the year' round and maintains a steady output.

A keen student of market conditions, he produced 6,300 birds last year and his 1950 goals is 8,000.Thereisnod etao 8,000. There is no danger of overproduction for some time to come, he says.

A $10,000 outfit of modern killing and freezing equipment enables him to turn out a bird ready for the market any time of the year.

Refuses to Pay Fine, Then Changes Mind

St. Catharines, June 8. (CP)—William Huluska, Merritton, said yesterday he would rather go to jail than pay a fine of $9.50 for allowing his dog to run at large.

"I can't give you a jail sentence," replied Magistrate Harley Hallett, "but if the fine is not paid, I shall issue a warrant of distress."

Under a distress warrant, Huluska's goods and chattels could be sold to raise the $9.50.

Huluska agreed to pay the fine by Friday.

Kingsridge

By Alice Ross Colver

Alicia had said she was going to Reno. That meant Nevada. Las Vegas was in Nevada, too, and Sam Strunsky was there. Sam had money. Sam had told him to come out and they might do some thing together. "The town is wide open," he had said. "Plenty of chances."

He dropped a hand on Alicia's thin ringless one on the wheel.

"Hell," he said, "you were right about everything long ago." He looked at her and on his swollen torn face there was the excitement of new, beckoning and alluring idea, the reckless eager anticipation of a fresh adventure. An adventure that would hold no constraint for him, no vain striving and strain.

"We'll buy a night club," he said. "You and I will buy the major interest in it, I mean. How do you like that?"

She nodded. "I like it."

"You'll sing," he said. "You'll have charge of the entertainment. But I'll do the hiring and firing." He grinned at her suddenly, a lopsided, rakish, crazy-looking grin.

• • •

When Gerry left her, Susan went back into the house and up to her room. She did not want to talk to Donald and Jane right now. Let them think she had gone with Gerry.

She dropped onto her bed and lay there staring into the dusk trying to sort out her thoughts and her emotions. But she could not do it. Everything was too mixed up.

Presently she rose and went into her mother's and father's room down the hall, and from there telephoned to the Brandt's. She did not know what she was going to say exactly, but she wanted to speak to Gerry. She wanted to hear his voice.

"That number does not answer," Central said in her precise way. "Do you wish me to keep on trying?"

"Yes—No. Never mind."

She hung up and went back to her bedroom. Perhaps half an hour passed when she heard a car coming up the drive and she ran downstairs quickly thinking it was Gerry returning. But Timothy stood on the other side of the screen door.

"Hello, Susan."

"Hello, Tim."

"Are you busy tonight?"

"Well, eh, not right now. I'm expecting Gerry but," she moved through the hall toward him, "won't you come in for awhile?"

"I'd like to."

They went together into the living room where she turned on a lamp. She was wondering what brought him.

"Are you all right, Susan?" he asked.

She turned in surprise. "Yes. Of course. Why?"

She dropped down on the davenport but he remained standing above her.

"I was in the village just now at the drugstore. I was sitting there getting a soda when I saw Don's car go by." He hesitated. "I thought at first, naturally, that Don was in it. But it wasn't he at the wheel." He hesitated again. "Do you know who it was?"

"Don loaned it to Gerry," she told him quickly. "It was Gerry." She laughed a little. "You look so odd, Tim! But Gerry often borrows it."

"Then who in the world. . ." She stopped.

"It was some woman," he said with slow reluctance.

"Some woman?" Her throat felt dry. But Jane was here. Jane was with Don right now. Out in the summer house. She waited, her eyes big on his face.

"You know something," she whispered. "What is it?"

"I don't really know anything. I just saw this car, Don's car, go by with a woman at the wheel."

"Was Gerry with her?"

"I couldn't make out. It was too dark. But someone was with her."

She said "he went up to see Alicia. On business. He was here for dinner and he told me he was going. Perhaps—perhaps he took her out for a little ride. Perhaps Lester was there and, well, they might have thought they could talk better away from him. It was rather private business," she ended.

"But why was she driving then?"

"I don't know."

Timothy sat down beside Susan, his manner infinitely gentle as he leaned toward her and said "what all this about Sue? Do you want to tell me?"

She clasped her hands. "Yes," she said, after a moment, her voice tight. "Yes, I—I think I do. I know I do. Everything's so. . ." She gestured helpfully.

"Go ahead."

So she told him. She told him everything about that evening. When she had finished, he said abruptly, "I've just thought of something."

"What?"

"Tonight the Council meets. And Lester's a councilman."

"You mean they wouldn't have had to leave the house to talk?"

He nodded.

"Tim."

"What?"

"Which way were they going when you saw them?"

"Toward the Inn."

"They must have gone there then because they were afraid Lester might come back." She stood up. "Let's go to the Inn and meet them!"

"You want to?"

She nodded.

"Okay."

They stepped into the darkness of the night and she called out to Don in the summerhouse. "If Gerry turns up before I get back, tell him I've gone to the village for some ice cream. Tim's taking me!"

"Okay." Don answered, "Get plenty. Chocolate."

END SEARCH FOR CHILD

Convinced Nicole Renaud, 3, who disappeared in a patch of woods eight miles north of Quebec June 3, is a victim of a bear, Quebec Provincial Police late Monday night called off an extensive search for the child. This photo shows Provincial Police officer instructing searchers just before the search was called off. Leopold Renaud, father of Nicole and seven other children is at extreme right. — (CP Photo.)

"I know. But I don't like what he's doing, either."

He dropped his hand on hers and squeezed it briefly. The next moment the engine was purring and they rolled down the drive to the hill road.

Susan sat without speaking. She had suggested this on impulse, thinking vaguely that it was a protective measure for Gerry, because if Lester really didn't like him and ever found out that he and Alicia had been at the Inn together, it would be better if she could say that she and Tim were there too. Anyway there was relief in doing something rather than nothing. And there was solid comfort in Tim's calm, quiet companionship. Suddenly, she realized how much she had missed him.

They came to the Inn and stopped. There was no car in the driveway. Susan said "they must have gone back to her house then."

He nodded. "Now what?"

"I don't know."

"Do you want to telephone from here and find out?"

"I guess so."

She felt curiously bereft of all power of thought. Whatever Tim decided was all right. She, herself, was living in a state of suspension. It was very queer.

He got out with her and they went up the steps and into the Inn. Herman, as usual, was not around. But on the deck were two white envelopes, both in Gerry's handwriting, one addressed to Herman, the other to Susan. She ripped it open with trembling fingers, then thrust it into Timothy's hand.

"You read it. Please!"

He took it nearer the light. Susan followed and stood like a statue listening.

"Dear Susan,

"I don't know how to tell you this but here it is. I'm going away with Alicia. We're borrowing Don's car to get to New York and will leave it and the key in at the parking lot on 57th street near 8th avenue. I'll mail the claim check back as soon as possible.

"Everything's finished for me here, Susan. You were right that I shouldn't have gone tonight. But I did go. And Lester found me there and we had quite a fight but I won."

"He was was hurt," Susan interrupted. "That's why she was driving."

"Perhaps."

"—but I won. Lester's knocked out but he'll be all right. And you musn't worry about me because I'll be all right, too. Alicia is very good to me. And good for me.

"But you, little Susan, are too good for me. I guess I've known it all along. Anyway, it's clear to me now what Dr. Morgan meant that Sunday morning in the chapel at your school when he said something about love's 'crucifying' you and at the same time 'crowning' you. I can't remember the exact words. But I do remember there was that — and something about though love teaches you pain, it also gives you —no, heals you, with new understanding.

"Well, loving you has crowned me Susan, I'll never forget you. But giving you up has healed the fever you were in my blood.

"Think kindly of me if you can.

Gerry.

There were tears running down Susan's cheeks when Timothy finished.

"Oh, Tim!" she said her voice broken. "I never helped him at all. I wanted to so much. And I never did!"

He put his arm around her and led her out to the car. In the darkness there, with his arm still around her, he answered her.

"You did help him, Sue. You helped him find his own level, his own life, his own way of happiness. It might not be the level or the life or the happiness you would choose for him, but it's his and so you have helped him a great deal."

She looked up at him uncertainly. "I never thought of it like that."

"Well, think of it like that now. Without you, he wouldn't have risen as far as he did. He might easily have sunk back. But because of you, and now with Alicia he will be all right."

"Do you really think so?"

"I know so." He took out his handkerchief and dried her tears. Don't you see? You helped him discover your true value and his own true desires. You gave him vision. It was a wonderful gift, Susan."

In the starlight she saw his steadfast eyes and his firm mouth and the devotion that illumined his whole fine face, and she put up her hand and laid it along his cheek.

"Thank you, Tim," she said softly. "Maybe—maybe he gave me vision, too."

The story that Lester told spread like wildfire of course. And the Kings and Parks came straight home from the Poconos to be with Susan through this trying time.

"I always knew he was no good," Elizabeth said with vindictive triumph in her voice. "I always knew Ella was easily hoodwinked. As for Alicia—well, I must admit that was a surprise, though I've never trusted her. Anyway, she's got about what she deserves, I guess."

Frank said nothing thou light had broken in his mind

Audrey looked at her daug and ventured uncertain com "Darling, you may be proud happy that you lived up to beliefs. I know I am proud you."

Campbellford Trebles Rink Wins Cavalier Trophy

A Campbellford rink composed of Fred Rutherford, Walter Wiggins with Ernie Sloggett as skip won the Cavalier Trophy at the Trenton Bowling Club on Wednesday afternoon from the other 22 district rinks that were competing. This is the first time that the trophy has been competed for and was donated by the Caverhill, Learmont wholesale hardware company of Toronto of which W. H. J. McKeown is general manager and C. A. L. Carter is local representative. Along with the trophy were given three pop up toasters of the latest design as individual prizes to the winning rink.

This tournament is a district one in honor of the president of the district and is played in the home town of the chairman. Ross Hubbell, president of the district, in opening the tournament yesterday welcomed the bowlers and hoped for them a winning afternoon. Mr. McKeown made a brief address expressing the hopes of his company, that the trophy would result in keen competition and that annual prizes would be given by the company to the rink winning it each year.

Greens Excellent

The greens were in excellent condition and showed the work that has been put on them by members of the bowling club. There were 22 rinks in the tourney with five rinks from Belleville, six from Kingston, two each from Campbellford, Brighton, Madoc and Trenton and one each from Havelock, Colborne and Stirling. Harold Mathieson of Havelock won the second three-game high, Charlie Smart of Kingston the two-game high and James Rutherford of Kingston the one-game high.

Sidney Religious Education Council Holds Meeting

The executive of the Sidney Religious Education Council met recently in Rose-Lowery Hall in Frankford. The various offices were quite well represented. The main item of business at the meeting was to make plans for the annual convention.

The President, Mr. J. A. Warren, assumed the duties of chairman. The minutes of last year's convention and executive meeting were read by the Secretary, Mr. Clarence Copeland, and approved.

A motion was passed to change the name of the local council. There were two motives behind the change, first, to keep in line with the Ontario Council and secondly, the inclusion of Trenton in the organization. Originally the local council was set up to serve the Protestant denominations in the Sidney township area. But last year Trenton churches were invited to join and accepted. In recognition of both, the organization will henceforth be called the Sidney and Trenton Council of Christian Education.

The balance of the meeting was given over to the actual details of the program. The annual convention for 1950 will be held in Grace United Church, Trenton, on Wednesday, June 14th. Representatives from the host church were present.

The afternoon session begins at 2.00 p.m., EDT. A supper will be served by Grace W.A. after which the evening session will be held. A very distinguished speaker has been obtained for both sessions in the person of Rev. E. R. MacLean M.A., B.D., of Toronto, General Secretary of the Ontario Council of Christian Education. The purpose of the convention is to study and discuss problems in the work of the Sunday School.

The local council asks that each Sunday School in the area send two delegates and as many more who are interested in Sunday School work and are able to attend either or both of the sessions. It is only by large representations from the schools that the work of the local council can be made a success.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

NEEDS A NEEDLE!

They screamed in Toronto when the Maple Leafs of the village were losing hockey games in a row, "What's wrong with the Leafs?"

The same applies to this neck of the woods as far as baseball is concerned.

It is very definite that this city and district and that includes Batawa, has nothing to crow about insofar as baseball teams and players are concerned.

Yesterday the Shoemen took it on the chin from a mediocre Picton team by an 8-5 score. Last night at Exhibition Grounds a Belleville Cub team bowed to the rampaging Sixardee team from the Trenton RCAF North Station by an 18-7 count. And none of the four squads as far as baseball is concerned warrant more than two paragraphs with the exception perhaps of Sixardee. And apart from the airmen's team spirit and fighting ability plus their opponent's shortcomings, they should not exactly write home and tell mamma and poppa they are potential world's champions.

* * *

After all, it makes one stop and think. What's the answer? The baseball hereabouts, and that goes for all concerned is far from what it is cracked up to be. The COBL teams in this district, so far, are not what the general conception of what senior baseball is, or is supposed to be. The District League, after Picton's aromatic show of sportsmanship evidenced in their treatment of the Napanee squad the other day, seems to be mayhap on the skids. There seems to be little co-operation, especially with the press, and more so with the executive or does that galaxy of gentlemen still exist?

* * *

The only one of that illustrious group who shows any life is President Jack Carson, and the bloke can't do it all. Jack, as far as this desk is concerned is trying to make some order out of what seems to be a chaotic condition.

* * *

In the Belleville District League the Picton entry has dropped out — and promptly joined a county set-up. We do hope that "Spanish" County League is not affiliated with the OBA for one reason, and that is, this unsportsmanlike Picton squad might find the going perhaps a bit tough when their actions have been reported to one William Snyder et al. And that is, what will be done by the remnants of the B. and D. executive?

* * *

We are not in the mood to pull punches. The Picton squad that dropped out of the B and D League with no notification and allowed the Napanee entry to travel there to find no team, no crowd, no nothing and then refused to pay the visitors their rightful travelling dues, should be dealt with and dealt with severely. And from what Prexy Carson of the B. and D. League has said, that will be done. Mo' power to yuh, Jack.

* * *

There should be some sort of a shake-up in this Batawa team if it expects to go places. Its hurling staff should be augmented. Yesterday afternoon in Picton the Shoemen took it on the chin by an 8-5 count to give the Picton Athletics first victory of the season, it blew a comfortable lead in a game it should have won. We're not discriminating against the Picton team. It took full advantage of the opportunities offered it. But it, too, should not worry too much about being beaten four times by other COBL teams. There is a good reason. It has not shown the same class. And as far as that goes Batawa is not much better. Both squads can use a few good baseball players.

* * *

MORE POWER TO YOU!

Allen Kelleher, signed with the Ottawa (Border League) Nationals and recently farmed to the Smith's Falls team of the Central Ontario Baseball League started off auspiciously in the senior loop. In his first game with the Falls against the Brockville Memos, the big fella lashed out five hits for five including the team's first triple. He was awarded a new sports shirt by a Smith's Falls store.

Again in Smith's Falls on Tuesday, playing against the Kingston Leafs, Kelleher smashed out a hit with the bases loaded to give the Falls a lead they never relinquished. They wilted the Leafs by a 5-4 score.

* * *

THE FIRST?

Lo and behold, another umpire has been born into the world. That was discovered yesterday when Harold "Twigg" Woodley, former well-known mask-and-pad official of the old halcyon days of baseball when players got paid under the table instead of over, became a grandpoppa for the first time in his life. Yup, to "Twig's" son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ken. Woodley was born a bouncing baby boy. Mother and the little Umps are doing fine thank you. Pop is expected to recover, and "Twig" is due to land on earth somewhere around July 4th.

(With apologies to the composer of "Grandfather's Clock")—

"Grandfather "Twig" was too large for the shop
So he stood all the day by the door,
Chest bigger by half than before a grandpop,
Smile lessening his age by a score.
He was gay since the morn of the day the boy was born,
When 'twas hinted cigars he should buy;
He stopped — short — never to crow again
'Till the sweet by - and - by."

Free-Hitting, Error-Tinged Game Features Picton's 8-5 Victory Over Batawa Shoemen

In a free-hitting, error-bulging game the Picton Athletics won their first Central Ontario Baseball League game last night in their backyard when they defeated the Batawa Shoemen by an 8-5 score.

It was the first win for the Pictonites and the second defeat in a row absorbed by the Batawans.

It wasn't baseball of the first water. In fact departments of both teams leaked in a more or less mediocre display. Both squads chalked up four errors, with bobbles of omission excluded.

Batawa took a more or less commanding lead in the first three innings, grabbing four runs against Picton's one. The best they could do was one more run in the fifth and that was that.

The homesters drew within striking distance in the fourth when a single by MacDonald and Fitzgerald's scorching double sent home 2 runners. They tied the score in the 7th on hits by Jackie Wardhaugh and Perry and a walk to make the score five-all.

Game Blows Up

The game blew up in the eighth as far as Batawa was concerned, when three Picton smashes combined with a walk and a Batawa error sent three homester runners scampering across the plate.

Starting pitchers of both squads failed to go the route. The Picton ace, Frankie Dyer lasted exactly two innings being yanked after he yielded seven hits accounting for a brace of runs chalked against him. He whiffed three and walked as many.

Gordie Muffitt of Batawa suffered a near similar fate although he was not in physical condition. Muffitt gave up six hits for three runs in four innings and Art. Wright took over to be nicked for another half-dozen clouts for five runs in the remaining four chukkers.

Vic Downs, who was hailed as a product of a Kitchener senior team, took over the duties for Dyer of Picton, and restricted the Batawans to four hits for two runs over a seven-inning job. He struck out three and did not issue a free ticket.

Five Double Plays

On the other side of the fence there was some smart defensive work on the part of both teams. Picton pulled three double plays with Batawa being credited with a pair.

On the hitting side of the galaxy of 23 clouts, Duetta of Picton hit the only triple of the game. Bridgeman, Muffitt of Batawa, and Fitzpatrick, Perry and Carson hit two basers.

Peacock of Batawa was tops for his team with a pair of clouts and two outs. Bridgeman did likewise with Johnny Aquino getting a brace as well.

For Picton Duetta was the big gun with a triple and two singles. Fitzpatrick got a double and single and Jackie Wardhaugh got a pair.

7-Man Lacrosse More Popular Than 6-Man Style

(By The Canadian Press)

Other than the absence of one man, is there any difference between six and seven-man lacrosse?

"Lots," says the Mann Cup champion Vancouver Burrards.

In an effort to give the game more spectator appeal, the Inter-City Lacrosse League cut loose the rover, or seventh man. This produced a hopped-up version of the old game with emphasis on the individual player rather than the game.

Rookies, most of whom are fast and long on stamina, are all for the new game, while veteran players, such as make up Burrards, want a return to seven man.

Effects of the "new" game have produced a tighter, more interesting league. Clubs well stacked with good players can no longer overpower weak teams with substitutions. With only five men to substitute, the weaker clubs are finding it easier to spread their talent.

Bill Gregus, former Southern Conference all-star fullback with Wake Forest College, has been signed to a contract by Hamilton Tiger-Cats Senior Football Club, coach Carl Voyles announced Wednesday.

Bert Lee Can, Oscar Norton's steady-going pacer from London captured the featured 2.16 pace here at Rodney, Ont., Wednesday in staright heats and paced the fastest heat of the day, a 2.08 4-5 mile, to take the spotlight in the annual race meet sponsored by the Aldboro Agricultural Society.

Well-filled events, fast times and a good crowd gave the annual meeting a big day. Close to 3,000 fans were on hand.

The Cincinnati Hockey Club Wednesday announced it had signed a working agreement with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League. It provides that the Rangers will loan the local team at least six players during the coming season, and that it will get first choice of the New York surplus.

Hustled from the start by the veteran Eddie Arcaro, Brandywine Stable's four-year-old Cochise clipped four-fifths of a second off the track record while humbling B. F. Whitaker's My Request by four lengths and A. G. Vanderbilt's Loser Weeper by 4 1-2 in the $25,000-added Massachusetts handicap Wednesday at Suffolk Downs.

Promoter Jack Solomons said Wednesday that Lee Savold will defend his British and European slices of the world heavyweight title in London, probably in September.

"I don't know who he will fight," Solomons said, "but I guarantee you that the man we get will be a worthy opponent.'

One of the unluckiest cricketers in Wednesday's big county program was Fred Gardner, 28-year-old Warwickshire opening bat, who failed by only two runs to register his third consecutive century. Gardner and R.T. Spooner, test trial wicket-keeper batsman, laid the foundation of the big Warwickshire total against Yorkshire by adding 129 for the first wicket.

Allen Shelton, leading jockey at Fairmount Park, Illinois, with eight victories, was suspended Wednesday for the balance of the horse race meeting at Fairmount Park, a representative of the Illinois Racing Commission announced. The Evansville, Ind., jockey was cited for violation of Illinois rules and regulations governing betting or acceptance of gifts by jockeys.

Middleweight champion Jake Lamotta and challenger Rocky Graziano both said Wednesday that they would like to fight Sugar Ray Robinson, and both declared they can knock out the welterweight king. Lamotta and Graziano will meet in a 15-round title bout in New York's Polo Grounds June 28. Lamotta, who won only one out of five bouts with Robinson, said "I'd like to fight him again, but in a 20-round bout. I'd knock him out for sure."

A Montreal all star soccer player Wednesday night helped the famous English first - division club, Manchester United, to a 2-1 victory over his own club. With the score tied 1-1 in the first half, left-half back Willie Gammon accidentally scored against his Montreal mates when a cross shot from Jim Delaney, the visiting outside right, hit Gammon's head and caromed into the net off the post.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

At Picton Bay, on Lake Ontario, the shark-nosed Miss Canada IV eased into open water. It was Oct. 2, 1949. The sleek, 33-foot racer was out to bring Canada an international speed boat record.

With twin engines roaring, the craft hurled over the measured mile . . . then thundered back for a second run. Times were tallied. Miss Canada's speed had averaged 138.648 m.p.h. —a new North American record!

Skill and teamwork have won many firsts for Canadian sportsmen. And teamwork, with sportsmanship, helps you, too—in work and play. Together they keep your scope for opportunity in Canada ... unlimited.

Cooling Off Hot Clubs Old Yank Custom; Now It's Tigers That New York Club Dunked

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cooling off the hot clubs is an old Yankee custom. Now it's sizzling Detroit that New York has dunked in chill water.

Red Rolfe's Tigers strode into Yankee Stadium with seven straight victories and an .02 edge on first place in the American League. Unbeaten since they left home, the spirited Detroit club boasted a dazzling road record of 20-3 or .870.

Wednesday the Yankees put the freeze on Detroit 5-4 in the opener of an important three-game series.

Home-run power from the bats of Joe Dimaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Billy Johnson swung the balance of power in a tight battle between Lefty Hal Newhouser and Vic Raschi.

While the Yankees and Tigers wrestled through the hottest afternoon of the New York season, Boston piled up a staggering 20-4 score against St. Louis.

The Red Sox blasted 23 hits off Brownie pitching while Joe Dobson coasted to his seventh victory. In the last five games, Boston scored a total of 64 runs better than 12 a game.

Vern Stephens and Clyde Vollmer, each hit two homers and Walt Dropo hit one. Roy Sievers and Leo Thomas each homered for St. Louis.

Bobby Shantz pitched the Athletics to their first shutout of the year, a 5-0 night victory over Chicago. Ray Scarborough was the victim.

Snap Losing Streak

Washington snapped its seven-game losing streak, nipping Cleveland 5-4 on Johnny Ostrowski's eighth-inning homer following Irv Noren's single.

Once again Brooklyn took over undisputed possession of the National League lead, whipping Pittsburgh 9-0 while St. Louis took a bad 10-2 licking from Boston. Both were night games.

Stan Musial joined the other St. Louis cripples during the loss to Boston's Warren Spahn. Stan suffered a cut between two fingers of his left hand, taking a throw from Al Brazle. He will be out for a day or two.

Sid Gordon with his 12th homer a double and single, and Spahn with three singles paced the Braves' 16-hit attack. Spahn struck out 10.

Rookie Bob Miller lifted Philadelphia Phils into second place—ahead of St. Louis and only a half-game behind Brooklyn—with a 4-0 victory over Cincinnati.

Folks will have to take New York Giants seriously soon if they continue to roll up scores like Wednesday's 13-4 romp over Chicago.

Relief Hurling Of Ronnie Lee Bright Feature

(By The Associated Press)

The relief pitching of Ronnie Lee, 21-year-old lefthander, continues to be one of the outstanding features of Montreal Royals' drive for the International League pennant.

Lee received credit for his sixth relief victory against two defeats Wedneday night as the Royals thumped Baltimore Orioles 11-5 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Royals also took the nightcap 10-4 to move to within a half game of the pace-setting Rochester Red Wings. The Wings blanked Springfield Cubs 4-0.

Lee relieved Pat McClothin in the third inning when the Orioles scored a run to tie the game at 4-4. The youngster held the Orioles to six hits and a run the rest of the way and gained the verdict when his mates scored twice in the sixth and five times more in the seventh.

Clyde King scattered 14 Oriole hits in the nightcap to gain his fourth victory in five decisions. The Royals collected 12 hits but made them count off three Baltimore pitchers.

Young Tom Poholsky shut out Springfield on eight hits in picking up his fifth victory for Rochester against one setback. The Wings scored all of their runs off Bob Kelly in the first two innings. Bill Moisan blanked the Wings on two hits from the third inning on.

Toronto Maple Leafs turned back Jersey City Giants 5-3 wrapping up the game with a four-run blast in the third that was featured by home runs by Johnny Mayo and Bud Heslet. Jocko Thompson allowed the Giants only four safeties, including Pete Pavlick's two-run homer.

The scheduled game between Buffalo and Syracuse was postponed on account of the death of Syracuse President William F. Hoffman.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 8 (AP) — Audie Murphy, "fed up" with being the most decorated U.S. soldier of the Second World War disclosed today that he has given all his medals away.

"I've been fed up with that 'most decorated' business for a long time," said the soft-spoken young Texan. "I realize that it is an honor, but only because it symbolizes the work done by a lot of other guys, too. But it has never meant much to me."

I asked what has happened to all the medals.

"I gave them away, mostly to kids."

"He's not ungrateful for the honors, but he's a modest man with no pretense about his own achievements. He feels deeply the loss of his comrades who didn't come back from the war.

He's equally unassuming about his film career. Although he is playing his fourth leading role in "Kansas Raiders," he still considers himself more of a farmer than an actor.

Frustration

Ray Milland is so frustrated at not being able to direct a picture that he might even do one under an alias of Joe Doakes or his real handle, Reginald Truscott-Jones.

Milland has urged producers all over town to give him a whirl at a megaphone. "They all have the same answer,' he lamented.

"They tell me that once I direct a picture, I lose my value as an actor. I'm supposed to wait until I no longer want to act."

So now he has the idea of directing a picture incognito and using another name. "Then, believe me, if the picture turned out to be good, people would find out who 'Joe Doakes' was," he added.

FISH IN COMFORT

Fredericton—(CP)—Fire Chief Paul Heintz of New Haven, Conn., and three companions were especially comfortable on their annual fishing trip to New Brunswick this year. They travelled in a converted bus with electric lights, folding beds, stoves and a refrigerator.

HOME. SWEET HOME

Montreal — (CP) — Oscar the canary has decided that his cage is safer and more comfortable than the world outside. He disappeared for a week recently and his owners never expected to see him again. He finally turned up, however, without a clue to his adventures, walked wearily into his cage, took a bath and settled down to a long sleep.

Little Benny's Note Book

Today in school I sneezed sutch a fierce loud sneeze it made everybody laff except Miss Kitty and she said, Benny, was it absiliutely necesserry to sneeze quite so violently?

Mam? No mam. I said, and she said, Then why did you do it?

I made a slite mistake, I said.

Making everybody but her laff again, the result being that I had to stay after school and write a composition about mistakes. Which I did, being

MISTAKES

If you are always making mistakes in arifmetic, the werst mistake you ever made would be to decide to be a bookkeeper or a cashier.

A lot of mistakes are caused by being absent minded. Some are just imbarrassing, sutch as walking into a candy store with only 3 cents when it's a place that dont sell less than a nickel's werth, but others are realy serious, sutch as getting married and then suddinly remembering you alreddy have 2 wives.

Many people who sound perfect when they talk, would make mutch werse impressions if they had to spell as they went along.

Even if you forgot your history dates after you leave school and go in bizzness, you'll probably get along all rite if you can remember a lot of telefone numbers.

When you write in pencil with a rubber on the other end you feel less strane, but on the other hand when you write in ink you're libel to be more careful. This proves if things are too easy for you, you may not be as lucky as you feel.

FAR FROM TORONTO

At the 54th Netherlands Industries Fair held at Utrecht, Holland, there were 1,530 Dutch participants and 2,408 foreign exhibitors.

165 Top Golfers Tee Off for 50th U.S. Open Test

Ardmore, Pa., June 8 (AP) — Sam Snead's putter, Ben Hogan's legs and the weather were the chief topics of conversation as 165 top golfers teed off today in the 50th United States Open championship.

The first of 25 threesomes set out over the well-trapped, 6,694-yard Merion course this morning.

Contenders will be swinging until almost dark in the opening round of this rugged 72-hole test that has broken the hearts of champions. The tournament winds up with a double-barrelled 36 holes Saturday.

The weather rated top billing along with Snead and Hogan, who have been established solid favorites.

Two days of near-90 temperatures have left the broad, undulating greens hard as concrete and slick as glass. Each carpet was packed by a 300-pound roller Wednesday night to make sure they'd be lightning fast.

Unless there is some relief by showers, most of the pros agreed, four rounds of 71, one over par, will be sufficient to take the prize.

The fairways, broad enough, are lined by thick, matted grass grown to near knee-high length. When a drive lands in this wilderness it takes a shovel and hoe to get out.

Snead, golf's No. 1 capitalist who has played in nine U.S. Open tournaments and never won one, has not been bothered by the roughs—so sound is his booming tee game. The White Sulphur Springs, West Va., shotmaster turned in a 71 in practice Wednesday.

Hogan who is essaying a comeback after a near fatal automobile accident 17 months ago, has not played 36 holes in one day since his mishap.

Geneva Robins Has New Manager

Geneva, N. Y., June 8 (CP)—Geneva Robins, of the Border Baseball League, Wednesday named Clyts Theriault, veteran right-handed pitcher, playing-manager, and appointed Charlie Small coach of the club.

Club President Beverley Chew said the move had the "full blessing of President Ward of the Border Baseball League." He said it was made to enable the Robins to carry eight veteran players along with the other five clubs in the circuit.

A new regulation, instituted this season, limits the clubs to seven veterans plus a playing-manager. Robins are the only club in the league with a bench manager.

C.A.H.A. Grosses $160,000 From Playoffs in '49

Banff, Alta., June 8—(CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association grossed more than $160,000 from all playoffs during the 1949-50 season, secretary-manager George Dudley of Midland told the opening session of the association's annual meeting Wednesday.

Of this total, about $85,000 will be returned to the clubs in playoff bonuses. Figures will be announced in a few weeks.

The financial statement also disclosed that the association spent $18,000 for operating its various branches last season. Another $5,000 was donated to the British Empire Games Association while $6,000 was awarded in scholarships to various persons.

A lengthy discussion was held on a proposed "master card" for signing hockey players. The new card, if adopted, will detail each players record from the time he starts in midget hockey.

The card will prevent any player from performing in junior ranks when over-age and will ensure that professional teams reimburse the right clubs if a certain player signs a pro contract.

The general meeting today is expected to consider the rule governing the icing of the puck and whether players in junior and senior ranks will be signed to contracts.

The Alberta Amateur Hockey Association plans to suggest that all senior and junior players be signed to contracts. If the move goes through it is expected to give teams and the association a better hold on players and put a partial curb on bidding for amateur players.

Sixardee Clubs Cub Hurlers For 18-7 Win

The blasting bludgeons of the Sixardee baseball squad swept aside the Belleville Cub opposition at Exhibition Grounds last night, winning their fourth straight victory by an 18-7 score.

The win gives the air force team the imposing record of scoring 76 runs for 68 hits for four games. It has yet to meet defeat in the Belleville and District Baseball League.

"Cuffer" Noakes started on the mound for the Cubs but he went to the showers after yielding 12 runs for nine clouts over four and one-third innings. "Chuck" Barriage went to the rescue but his offerings were those of just another pitcher as far as the powerful Sixardee bats were concerned and when the smoke had cleared the venerable "Chuck" had been nicked for thirteen clouts for a half-dozen tallies.

The Sixardee players had a track and field day around the bases. Ellis, who went the route for the airmen on the mound struck out 17 Cubs and walked three.

Raciclot, Sixardee centrefielder hit a home-run, triple and double. Ellis got four for five; Hastings grabbed four for six and Maracle helped himself to a pair of doubles and a single to lead the rampaging airmen at the bat.

The teams:—

Score:—

6RD	304 233 021—	18	22	5
Cubs	112 100 002—	7	7	3

WILL BE GUEST SPEAKER

Toronto, June 8—(CP)— Alan Pitt Robbins, news editor of the London Times, will be guest speaker Saturday night at a dinner tendered by the Toronoto Mens Press Club to winners of the 1949 National Newspaper Awards.

Mr. Robbins, a past president of the Institute of Journalists, is a delegate to the Imperial Press conference which opens today at Quebec City and continues next week at Ottawa.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Ardmore, Pa., June 8—(AP)—A favorite topic of conversation around the practice green at the Merion Country Club where the U.S. open golf championship is being played is Freddie Haas' new crosshanded putting grip. . . Fred insists it gives him better control of his club and some of the other pros are copying him. . . but when someone sinks a long putt in practice, you'll hear: "Was that cross-handed?"

Most of the guys remain strictly orthodox, but there is one left-hander in the open, Loddie Kempa, and he also uses a wood-shafted putter, probably one of the few that remain. . . The fans are trying to work up a sartorial contest between Jimmy Demaret, whose penchant for loud clothes is well known, and Dale Morey, who has been tabbed the "Demaret of the Amateurs". . . Morey was reinstated as an amateur a couple of months ago, so it could be he decided he couldn't compete against Jimmy. . .

End of Line

When 19-year-old Horace Rawlins won the first United States open championship (beating 10 rivals) 50 years ago, he received a gold medal and $150 in cash. That probably wouldn't pay the winner's caddie these days. . . and the average age of the last 10 winners has been 30. . . Hobart Manley, the young Savannah, Ga., amateur, took a bit of ribbing when he outdrove Craig Wood, Gene Sarazen and Bill Campbell from the first tee. . . Then on the green a photographer wanted to snap him sinking a putt and Manley obliged him by dropping three sight-footers in succession. . . as the third rolled in, Sarazen cracked: "Put that one on file for Saturday afternoon' (when the open final will be played.)

WATCH FOR BEAR BELIEVED KILLER OF QUEBEC GIRL

Belief that three-year-old Nicole Renaud has been killed by a bear has caused a 2,000-man search party to disband after a foot-by-foot examination of the woods around her home at Chateau Birot, Quebec. Numerous bear tracks near where the little girl was last seen are taken as proof that she toddled into a bear's lair. Watchers hope to spot bear. — Central Press Canadian.

TIGHTENING OF TAX

Ottawa, June 8 — (CP) —The government gave assurance to a skeptical opposition member yesterday that the Income Tax Act has been tightened to prevent alleged charitable donations being used to evade income tax fraudulently.

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, told A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West) the Act has been buttressed to prevent Canada experiencing the "alarming" development of such evasions in other countries.

36 More Minnows Die in Tests With Oak Leaves

Peterborough, June 8 (CP) — Thirty six more minnows have made the supreme sacrifice in an unsuccessful attempt to prove fish-wise Maritimers know what they're talking about.

The 36 shipped from Halifax in dry oak leaves in time-honored Nova Scotia fashion, were dead on arrival at the Peterborough Industrial Fair today.

It was the second such shipment in less than a week. Of a dozen minnows, three survived the Halifax-to - Peterborough jaunt, two more died later. The lone survivor, nicknamed Herkimer, is thriving in a goldfish bowl.

Although Maritime fishermen have packed live minnow bait in dry leaves for 25 years, Ontario sportsmen now are trying it for the first time. The story is that the leaves insulate the little fellows enough to keep them alive for 24 to 36 hours.

Bad handling may have contributed to the death of the latest 36. They left Halifax by airplane Tuesday morning, missed a plane connection in Montreal, finally reached here today by train via Belleville. L. L. Maguire, to whom the shipment was made, said he thinks the packaging did not contain enough dry leaves.

Cy Hopkins, well-known Kawartha district baitman, plans to reverse the minnow-shipment procedure. He said he'll send Kawartha chub and shiners to Bev Piers of Halifax, a sporting goods store proprietor, possibly this weekend.

LONG HOME RUN

(By The Canadian Press)

Most dramatic of the circuit clouts was Andy Garbas' mammoth 370-footer at London. It came in the top half of the 14th inning and gave Galt Terriers a 5-4 win over London Majors.

At Stratford, Billy Flick poled an inside-the-park homer in the third inning, driving in three runs for Nats in their 7-4 conquest of the league-leading Waterloo Tigers.

T-Shaped Piece Of Land Brings $1,229,500

New York, June 8 — (AP) — A T-shaped piece of land no bigger than a cornpatch was sold Wednesday at auction for $1,292,500.

A part of the world's third tallest office building, the 66-storey "Sixty Wall Tower" in the heart of the Wall Street district, stands on the T-shaped tract and pays $58,000 a year rent to whomever owns the land.

A buzz of conversation died abruptly when auctioneer Daniel J. McElveney, Jr., banged his fist on the lectern and roared out the traditional opening.

"Nine hundred thousand," a voice barked.

McElveney seemed hurt.

"One million . . . one million fifty . . . one million two hundred thousand . . ."

Up and up the price jumped.

"One million hundred eighty-seven thousand five hundred!"

McElveney called another halt. Then "all right," he said. "Going one . . . going twice . . . going for the third and last time..."

"Two-ninety," said a quiet voice, meaning $1,290,000.

"Ninety-two-fifty," said another voice.

McElveney's fist slammed down again — and the sale was made, by the New York Trust Company, as trustee for the Cortlandt F. Bishop Estate, to the Demov, Callahan and Morris Law Firm for an undisclosed client.

To everyone suffering from stomach disorders, constipation, nervous irritability, fatigued rundown feeling, backache or rheumatic aches and pains this message will be of special interest. It is typical of the many men and women who have suffered the same way and who have found relief by taking Syntona Herbal Compound. Mr. William R. Cushing, Broughdale, London, Ontario, said in a recent report:

"For years I have been troubled with indigestion and constipation. No matter how careful I was in eating I would get pains and gas in the pit of my stomach. This would give me an awful distressed, full, heavy feeling in my chest and I would belch up hot, sour liquids. I became very rundown, nervous, and couldn't get sound sleep at night. I was subject to frequent headaches and dizzy spells.

"After reading in the paper about other people getting such good results by taking Syntona I decided to try some and now I am only sorry I did not get it before. In a few short weeks this medicine has done more for me than anything I ever took before. It has rid me of the headaches and dizzy spells, my nerves are quieted down so I sleep well and I am certainly glad to be relieved of the gas, pain and distress in my stomach, which troubled me for years."

GOVT. GRANTS $12,500,000 FOR FLOOD RELIEF

Thugs Make Cabbie Drive 60 Miles

Four Toronto Men Charged With Robbery With Violence

Toronto, June 9 — (CP) — Police today arrested four Toronto youths on charges of robbery with violence in connection with the early-morning kidnapping of taxi-driver Russell Chapman.

The suspects were identified as James Crosben, 21; Robert Bickle, 18; Robert Gilmour, 20, and Ronald Evans, 19.

Chapman was driven 60 miles north to Hillsdale, Ont., tied to a tree and robbed of his wallet, watch, hat and cab and $7.50 in cash.

Chapman, a Commando during the Second World War, said a knife was pressed into his side during the ride north. The thugs bound him to a tree with electric-iron cord and with his own belt.

He said he "screamed myself hoarse" trying to attract the attention of motorists. Gordon Thompson, a farmer, finally spotted Chapman and summoned Constable James Freeman of Elmvale, who released the cabbie.

Driver Tied to Tree

Four youths, clad in brightly-arrested at Wasaga Beach. Cpl. A. colored zoot suits, later were Ayers of the Ontario Provincial Police said they were to be held until Chapman saw them.

The youths told police they hitch-hiked from Toronto and arrived at Wasaga at 7 a.m.

Chapman, 30, had been tied to the tree for three hours when freed. He was nearly exhausted and badly bitten by mosquitos.

He said he believes his captors were former prisoners at the Ontario Reformatory in Guelph. He heard them talking about Guelph and about an escape that had been made.

He picked up the youths outside a hotel in downtown Toronto about 2.35 a.m., he told police. They asked to be driven to a north Toronto street. When they were near the address one youth pressed a spring knife against Chapman's neck and told him:

"Keep on going and don't try anything funny."

After they passed the city limits, the youth took over the wheel. Another youth climbed into the front seat. Chapman was placed between them and a knife was held against his ribs. Near Barrie, the youths stopped for gasoline.

Warned Against Giving Alarm

"They warned me before we stopped that I would get it good if I tried to give an alarm to the service station attendant," said Chapman. "One thug was all for cutting me up, but the others quickly shut him up."

The youths said little during the rest of the drive.

"Just before we came to Elmvale, they stopped the cab and made me get out. They took me into a field about 50 yards from the highway and tied me to a tree. They used an old piece of electric cord I had in my cab.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN BLAZING TRAIN, JEWELRY MISSING

Beattock, Scotland, June 9 — (CP) — Police today were investigating a theory that fire which swept three coaches of a Birmingham - Glasgow express train Thursday night, killing five passengers and injuring several others, may have broken out after train robbers had been at work.

The theory was based on a report that jewelry worth £10,000 ($31,000) was missing from the locked baggage car after the accident.

Detectives questioned survivors and members of the train crew seeking to discover whether the jewelry had been lost by accident or whether it had been stolen.

The jewelry, belonging to a Birmingham firm, was contained in several packets consigned to Glasgow. A director of the firm travelled to Lanarkshire to help trace the jewels and salvage men were brought in to dig in the debris of the burned-out coaches.

The fire victims were identified this morning after anxious relatives and friends of the train's passengers had streamed to the scene of the fire. They included a Glasgow mother and her two children, aged 4 and 2. All the dead were found in a compartment in the first coach behind the engine.

Fire broke out in the coaches as the express roared northwards towards Beattock Summit on the borders of Dumfries and Lanarkshire.

Fanned by the speed of the train, the flames swept through the first three coaches. These were ablaze when the train ground to a halt near this village, 60 miles southeast of Glasgow.

Lanarkshire fire brigade headquarters said all three of the cars "that caught fire were burned out."

The bodies of the victims were found in the third compartment of the second coach.

Adam Moffatt, a truck worker, spotted the blazing coaches as the train roared toward Beattock. He ran down the track toward the train, waving his arms to attract the engineer's attention. As the train halted, Moffatt ran to the coaches and pulled open the doors.

The fire eventually was completely extinguished and the train left for Glasgow.

Britain's worst train disaster occurred near Beattock in May, 1915, when 224 people were killed and 246 injured in a collision between a troop train and a passenger train.

B-29 Bomber Which Crashed Into Sea Shot Itself Down Say Officials

London, June 9 — (AP) — A four. United States B-29 bomber which fell in flames into the North Sea Wednesday with a loss of at least three lives shot itself down during gunnery practice, headquarters of the 3rd Air Division said today.

Bullets from the plane's .50-calibre machine-guns struck the right outboard engine during a firing run on a gunnery range off the Norfolk coast, setting the plane on fire.

The 11-man crew was ordered to abandon the burning plane at low altitude. Four were rescued. three were recovered dead and search is continuing for the other

An Air Force spokesman said failure of normal safety devices with which the big plane was equipped permitted the gunfire from its own turret to strike the outboard engine. Normally automatic controls cut the fire of the B-29's guns should they be turned toward any part of the aircraft.

The heavy bomber, in Britain on a training mission, crashed flaming into the North Sea after the accident.

All day Thursday British and American planes and surface craft combed the crash area, 23 miles off Great Yarmouth on England's Norfolk coast.

NO NEW MILITARY COMMITTMENTS UNDER THE PACT

Defence Minister Makes Announcement in House

Ottawa, June 9, (CP)— The Commons, opening a wide-ranging debate on defence, heard Defence Minister Claxton declare Thursday that Canada has undertaken no new military commitments under Atlantic pact arrangements.

He told the Chamber the pact's policy of balanced collective forces is "implicit in collective defence" and will have "no immediate effect" on Canadian forces or planning.

At the same time, the country was ready to sit down and discuss her part in planning the best possible total pact defence. If commitments came, they would be made by parliament and the government.

The opening phases of the debate brought criticism from opposition members and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, called on Mr. Claxton to produce a detailed statement of units and establishments of the Army, Navy and Air Force, including an outline of expenditures for each item.

Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East), speaking as an individual, suggested Canada should take the lead in urging the rearming of Germany and proposed that Franco Spain be brought within the framework of the Atlantic pact.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, protested the discharge of a Regina man from the R.C.A.F. for allegedly having a communist background, and Mr. Claxton replied that the man, a radar and electronics experts, had been a member of the young communist league in the late 1930s.

Abandonment of Post-Marshall Aid to Western Europe Would Be Disastrous Says Truman

Columbia, Mo., June 9 (AP)—President Truman said today that abandonment of aid to western Europe after the Marshall plan is finished would be disastrous to peace.

In a world "full of dangers," he said, the United States must continue its contributions to free countries lest "the communists move in."

He made it clear in an address prepared for graduation exercises of the University of Missouri that he is convinced "our vital national interest in a healthy world economy" will not end when Marshall plan aid stops in 1952.

"You hear a lot of talk these days to the effect that the world is full of dangers, and that our civilization is heading straight for disaster.

"Of course, the world is full of dangers—the world has always been full of dangers, for people in every country and at every period of history."

But in spite of these dangers, he added, "our civilization need not wind up in disaster."

"It can go on to greater heights. Those who are frightened and dismayed do not have faith that men will use scientific advances for good ends. They see only the dangers in the world—not the opportunities.''

Truman cited American foreign aid to the democracies after the last war when it "became clear that one nation did not want to help world reovery."

Overthrow Tradition Plan

"Instead, that nation wished to prolong and intensify the misery of others, so that it could gain domination over them. The plain intent of that nation was to overthrow the tradition of freedom which is shared by our country and many others."

He said the United States chose to work with other countries to build up strength to withstand aggression rather than to abandon the rest of the free world and "try to become strong enough all by ourselves."

The program, Truman said, calls for a community of nations which can resist communism whether its aggression takes the form of "internal subversion or external attack."

Truman devoted a major part of his address to a discussion of the economic measures under way and to follow cessation of the Mashall Plan to keep Western Europe strong.

Study Being Made

He told the studies now being made by Gordon Gray, former secretary of the army, to find a substitute for Marshall Plan aid and to offset a situation in which U. S. imports run $5,000,000 less than exports.

He said $12,000,000,000 of U.S. exports last year were financed in part by $5,000,000,000 of aid under Marshall-Plan and other foreign-aid programs.

Truman said Gray's recommendations to reduce the dollar gap between imports and exports will be submitted later this year. He said reduction of tariff and other import barriers must continue. There must be principles for fair trade established by the International Trade Organization.

He said the program of aid for underdeveloped countries is "full of promise for a better future.

Above all, he cautioned, "we must be willing to bear the temporary costs of defensive armaments as well as those of constructive development."

Beef and Lamb Prices Show Slight Increase

Toronto, June 9—(CP)—Beef and lamb prices here have risen five or six cents in the last week but packers said they probably have almost reached their peak.

Round steak which sold last Thursday at 79 cents a pound was advertised Thursday at prices ranging from 79 cents to 85 cents. Cheaper cuts of new spring lamb which sold last week for 70 cents were 75 cents a pound. Loin and leg roasts were unchanged at 93 cents.

Packers attributed the price rise to an increased demand for Canadian cattle in the United States. The June market, however, is usually the best of the season when the last of the fed cattle appears. Prices likely would decline within one or two weeks when grass-fed cattle reached the market. The price of live beef rose one-half cent a pound here during the last week.

WOMAN RECEIVES BOUNTY

Guelph, June 9 — (CP) — A farmer's wife, Mrs. Doris Fuller of Acton, Thursday was paid $25 bounty for the pelt of a wolf she shot recently. She bagged the animal as it stalked her husband, who was plowing a field.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 9 (CP)—Synopsis: Temperatures zoomed to 90 Thursday in Hamilton and Malton Airport, near here, as the first major hot spell of the season moved into its third day over the southeastern quarter of the continent.

Friday and Saturday will be hot and sunny again in Southern and Central Ontario and no relief is in sight, though isolated thundershower activity may develop at night. Cool showery weather will continue in Northern Ontario today, but the warm air will edge northward.

Death Sentence Meted Out to 4 Czech Officials

Prague, June 9 — (AP) — Czechoslovakia wound up its big treason trial Thursday night, meting out death sentences to four persons and life inprisonment to four others on charges of spying for western powers.

A state court convicted all 13 defendants at the conclusion of the eight-day trial. The remaining five received prison terms ranging from 15 to 28 years.

One of those condemned to death was a woman—Mrs. Milada Horakova, former national-social party deputy in parliament.

The prosecution described Mrs. Horakova as "the criminal organizer of the whole plot" and said: "She is and remains an incorrigible opposer of our regime."

The court found all 13 accused had been in contact with foreign powers and charged that the defendants gave away state secrets and acted as spies. All had pleaded guilty or "basically guilty" to the charges.

They also were charged with organizing a fifth column with the aid of the embassies of several western powers.

Those sentenced to death, besides Mrs. Horakova, were Jan Buchal, Dr. Oldrich Pecl and Zavis Kalandro.

The prosecution had demanded the severest punishment for Buchal who was assuced of sending out information about targets for bombing.

Work Out Program

The prosecution charged that Hejda, a former factory owner, had worked out the program to combat communism of the country.

The state said Preucil headed a spy ring that collected data about munitions works and other state secrets Nestaval was referred to as a "leading figure of the criminal underground organization."

U.S. COMMUNISTS GO UNDERGROUND SAYS F.B.I. CHIEF

Subversive Activities Highest Since War

Washington, June 9 — (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover has told Congress that American communists are going underground, and that there are more subversive activities in the United States than "at any period during the last world war."

"Communism today is at a greater height in the United States than either Nazism or Fascism was" during the Second World war, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said.

What's more, he added, it is centred in strategic areas and in strategic industries. In testimony before a Congressional Committee, Hoover said:

"Forty-eight per cent of the party is in the basic industry of this country. In this manner they would be able to sabotage essential industry in vital defence areas in the event of a national emergency.

Heavy in Industry

"Our investigations disclose that communist activities are most pronounced in such strategic industrial areas as New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, California and Michigan.

"Communist efforts toward infiltration have been intensified in basic industries vital to our security such as steel, heavy machinery, mining, communications, transportation, the electrical industry and maritime industry."

Hoover's statements were made to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee in testimony released Thursday night.

He reported that the recent trial of 11 communist party leaders in New York prompted party members to institute a security program of their own — even including an investigation of the party's own executive committee.

FOUR MONTHS SENTENCE

Toronto, June 9—(CP)— Although he was in Europe when fire destroyed his one-storye toy plant in east Toronto, Alexander Beck today was sentenced to four months for criminal negligence.

An employee, Mrs. Nancy Bracklin, died when the flash fire was touched off by workers who had been smoking near celluloid toys.

"There is far too much laxity in industrial buildings where combustible material is stored," said Judge Robert Forsyth.

Dominion Will Bear 75 P.C. of Diking Cost Says Abbott

Statement on Quebec Fires Announced Next Week

Ottawa, June 9 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott announced in the Commons today that the federal government will grant $12,500,000 to the Manitoba government as an "initial payment" for Red River Valley flood rehabilitation.

He announced also that the Dominion will bear 75 per cent of the cost of diking and other remedial measures, as was done in the Fraser Valley floods in 1948.

Turning briefly to the disastrous fires at Rimouski and Cabano, Que., he said the federal government has not yet had a chance to discuss with Premier Duplessis of Quebec the report of the commission which investigated the fires.

It is anticipated a statement will be made on the fires next week.

Mr. Abbott, just back from a trip to the flood area where he had conferences with provincial officials, tabled an interim report by the joint federal-provincial commission appointed to investigate the extent of flood damage.

26 Million Total Cost

The commissioners reported that "in the aggregate and subject to necessary further detailed investigations, excluding intangibles personal effects and crop losses," the total cost of the Manitoba flood was $26,631,880.

This included damage "in the neighborhood" of $16,424,646, cost of flood fighting, cost of emergency relief $618,178, cost of emergency precautions to guard against recurrence of flood conditions $2,500,000.

The 21-page, 6,000-word report stressed that municipalities such as St. Boniface, St. Vital, Fort Garry, East and West Kildonan—whose streets, sidewalks, sewers, bridges and water systems suffered heavily—would need "substantial aid." They did not have the resources in equipment, cash, taxation potential or credit to deal with the problem themselves.

795 Barns Submerged

The R.C.M.P. reported by actual count that 795 barns had been submerged and damaged and 67 barns destroyed. It was impossible as yet to get an acurate count of granaries, workshops and other farm buildings affected.

The commission said it "would not quarrel" with the estimate of the provincial deputy minister of agriculture that the necessary repairs of farm implements, trucks and automobiles would cost $400,000.

The commission felt the provincial figure of $375,000 for stock killed in the flood was a 'reasonable figure" and accepted the provincial estimate of $400,000 damage to seed grain, seed potatoes and vegetable transplants. Value of commercial grain destroyed by flood waters was placed at $600,000.

FLOOD CRIPPLES FISH INDUSTRY AT FORT FRANCES

Fort Frances, June 9 (CP) — The lucrative Fort Frances fishing industry has been cripple by Rainy Lake's spring runof industry officials said today.

The lake, already 4 1-2 fe above flood level, at some poin is higher than the all-time 191 mark. Experts say it may n drop to the bench mark —first flood stage —until Sept. 1.

Conservative estimates toda placed damage to the entire lak area, 200 miles east of Winnipe in Northwestern Ontario aroun the $1,000,000 mark.

George C. B. Smith, Preside of the Rainy Lake Commercia Fishermen's Organization, sa members have lost $150,000 production alone so far. Ninety five percent had lost their wi ter ice packs — vital to preser ing the summer's catch for shi ping —and all ice stores woul be gone within 15 days.

Most of the concentrated tou ist-resort area, west of tow along Rainy River and the Lak of the Woods area, was in danger. But tourist and priva cottages east of here in the poi Park area are deep in water.

Fixtures Swept Away

Docks and outdoor fixtur have been swept away. Wh islands have disappeared a others been created by the sur ing waters.

Indians on the nearby Red Indian reserve are hard hit. T families have already evacua and water is up to the windo on some dwellings.

A 50-acre "island"—trees all-floated down the lake Thu day and rested against bridge. A floating bog, it was d lodged from the mainland.

A few miles east of Fort Fr ces, American homes on the la shore have been damaged to estimated $500,000. Many w evacuated.

Drilling Companies Move in as Oil Exploration Speeds up in Sask.

Prince Albert, Sask., June 9—(CP)—Oil exploration in northern Saskatchewan is gathering momentum as drilling companies enter the area.

A survey Thursday indicated more than 5,000,000 acres of land within about a 150-mile radius of Prince Albert have been leased by oil companies.

J. W. Churchman, assistant Deputy Minister of Natural Resources, said in an interview that the increasing interest in oil in that area is a result of preliminary survey work last year.

"They are doing actual drilling to prove the information they got last year from geophysical surveys," he said.

Asked whether oil might be discovered here, Mr. Churchman said:

"Oil companies don't usually drill unless they have some sort of evidence."

About 40 holdings have been leased from the provincial government by various oil companies and legal officials for oil companies.

The Hudson Bay Oil and Gas Company holds a total of 590,000 acres southeast of Prince Albert. The company has seven holdings.

National Petroleum Limited has six holdings south of Prince Albert totalling 493,000 acres. Directly north of Prince Albert, R. E. Pickney holds petroleum and natural gas permits for more than 30,000 acres.

Other companies hold similar leases on land. All are required by law to begin within 60 days to "carry out and complete such operations for the purpose of ascertaining the probability of discovering petroleum and natural gas within the area described in the permit."

The ever-widening search for oil now has reached the Strong Pine, Nipawin, Hudson Bay, Blaine Lake, Crooked River, Helene Lake and Battleford areas.

SCOUT NEWS

The 8th Belleville Ladies' Auxiliary recently held their regular meeting at Queen Mary School. Ten members and one visitor were present. Mrs. Cooke, the president, presided.

Mrs. Haire, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $33.74 and moved the adoption of her report. It was seconded by Mrs. Sinfield.

The visiting convener gave her report and Mrs. Sinfield reported on the sale of home cooking which took place on April 29th, reporting a profit of $11.98.

Some items of business were discussed and a suggested menue for scout camp was read, this never having been compiled at an executive meeting which was held previous to the meeting.

A "guessing contest" was then conducted by Mrs. Enright, the winner being Mrs. McDonald.

An extract from "Scouting for Boys", was read by Mrs. Enright. Mrs. Lee gave a reading entitled "The High Cost of Living."

After the benediction was pronounced, a game of bingo was played and much enjoyed by all.

Ross Sweet Acquitted On Perjury Charge

On a directed verdict by His Honor Judge J. C. Reynolds, a trial jury at the General Sessions of the Peace today acquitted Ross Sweet, 34, McAnnany Street, on a charge of perjury. Acquittal of the accused came as result of a statement given by him to police being ruled inadmissible as evidence.

Sweet was one of five originally charged with perjury as result of evidence given last December at the trial of Floyd Wood, Sidney township when Wood was acquitted on a car theft charge.

Four Pleaded Guilty

Previously four others pleaded guilty before Magistrate T. Y. Wills and were given jail sentences of one month, while Wood pleaded guilty to a charge of perjury and also to car theft and was given five years in Kingston penitentiary. Sweet pleaded not guilty to the perjury charge and elected trial by judge and jury.

The Crown's entire case in yesterday's hearing before Judge Reynolds rested on the admissibility of the statement given by Sweet to police following the Wood trial last December. The jury was excluded for most of the hearing while evidence was taken with respect to the admissibility of the statement.

Three Witnesses Called

Three witnesses were called by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, including Sheriff T. Solmes, court reporter, Don Coghill, and Police Inspector J. C. Hayes.

Floyd Wood, now serving five years in penitentiary, was brought back to Belleville as a crown witness but was not called to testify.

Judge Reynolds ruled the statement given by Sweet inadmissible on the ground that it had not been entirely voluntary. Police Inspector Hayes told the court the statement had been taken on a statutory declaration form in the charge of perjury against Wood. Before the statement was taken, however, the Inspector said he had told Sweet he would be charged with perjury.

Pupils Enjoy Kingston Visit

Last Friday grade 7 and 8 pupils of the Cannifton-Corbyville public school, Mrs. Dier's school, Miss Rose's school, Miss Walsh's school and Mr. Drew's school, together with grade 7 and 8 pupils of the South Thurlow School Area, journeyed by buses to Kingston. Many places of interest were visited including the Aluminum plant, Nylon factory and the penitentiary. The children were fortunate in seeing a boat being loaded at the grain elevator. Leaving Kingston the tour continued to Gananoque and to the International Bridge at Ivy Lea by way of the scenic highway. Much time was spent on Centre Island for dinner, buying souvenirs and viewing the beautiful St. Lawrence from atop the Canadian span of the bridge.

On the return trip a visit to old Fort Henry proved most educational and brought early Canadian history to life. The buses returned by way of the Bath road, a beautiful drive along the waterfront.

The weatherman graciously provided a perfect day and the trip was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 9 (CP) —Industrials and western oils suddenly jumped ahead in mid-session on the Toronto stock exchange today. The market was narrow in early dealings with some signs of easiness showing.

A wide list of market leaders added fractions as the industrial list climbed further into new high price territory. Papers, utilities and financial institutions led the upturn.

Western oils were also at new peak price levels. Almost every issue trading pushed into the plus column.

Golds opened lower but showed signs of recovery as the session progressed. Junior producers slowly reduced early losses as support appeared following a sharp decline to new low ground Thursday.

Base metals were about evenly balanced. Anacon Lead, a feature Thursday, gained 10 cents at a new high at $3.15.

Farmer Tells Of Arson Plot To Steal Funds

Napanee, June 9 (CP) — A Magistrate's Court Thursday heard Shelby D. Martin, 34, a Gananoque farmer, tell how he set fire to his father-in-law's mill in order to rob him of $1,680.

Martin, convicted of breaking and entering, was remanded to June 22 for sentence by Magistrate J. B. Garvin of Kingston. The robbery took place May 31.

He told the court that he and a man said to be Ernie Miller, 40, whom he met in Kingston plotted the robbery. After "casing" the Odessa home of Martin's 70-year-old father-in-law, Freeman Wright, the accomplice reported the cash could not be taken without diverting the attention of those living in the house.

They decided to burn down a mill near the home, setting a fire with newspapers and gasoline. While the mill blazed, Martin stole a cash box from the basement of the house.

The nominating committee presented the slate of officers for 1950-51 and this report was adopted.

In assuming his new office President Lundy thanked the members for their confidence and expressed the opinion that with the co-operation and support of the members, the year ahead should be successful. Tribute was paid to past president Murphy who had carried on under very difficult conditions.

Build up Membership

The new president, with the assistance of his executive, hopes to build up the membership and finances. Every effort will be made to continue to bring speakers of high calibre to dinner meetings.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved expressing the appreciation of the Association to Past President Murphy.

Hawryliw ended the scoring a few minutes later as he booted in his second goal for the all-stars. The teams battled on even terms for the rest of the game with neither side scoring again.

EASE UP ON STRAIN

The present century with its stress on speed is parly responsible for much of the heart trouble, says the ional Health Association in an article designed to assist ple to protect their hearts by easing up on the strain. tates, "consider the average working citizen; he usually a very mediocre meal, probably taken hurriedly, is ler nervous tension, and as a rule allows for too little p. In an effort to escape from the daily strain, he may ulge in a sport which tends to be emotional rather n relaxing. It is not surprising then, to find so many sons in the younger age bracket suffering from heart ible."

Some notion of what a load the heart carries is given. s estimated by scientists that the perfectly relaxed rt uses in 24 hours the same amount of energy equivnt to the feat of lifting a weight of 90 tons to a height ne foot; or throwing a weight of 2,000 pounds a distance 0 feet. If this is the minimum amount of work accomhed by the heart, one can easily wonder to what limit an go where the continually overworked person is conhed. The question arises — what is there to do? Must live a purely sedentary life in order to protect the rt? Evidently not, it is possible to give sensible care and ntion to the heart by observing the following simple s, suggested by the National Health Association:—

"Protect the heart from overwork by avoiding illnessparticularly those accompanied by fever; exaggerated letics which might cause enlargement of the heart and gestion which may also interfere with the proper funcing of the heart.

"Avoid or treat all infections, especially throat infecs which are frequently associated with acute rheumatic r and which sometimes damage the heart consider. It is advisable always to keep in mind no matter ther young or old influenza and sore throat should ive immediate attention."

The next bit of advice is to control the food and to get icient rest. One should eat well but avoid over-eating ch needlessly increases the heart's burden. It is advised, ssible, to take a rest after each meal.

Sleep is of great importance since it is then that the t works less. One should relax during rest periods foring all everyday worries. Physicians and health and ical associations are doing a great deal in this day to the public to ease up the tension of living and thereby making it possible for people to preserve their health extend their years in an age when the trend is towards ter longevity and better health.

WHERE YOU FIND IT

Miss Gracie Fields, the actress, was asked by a reporter n The Windsor Star where she found the material for jokes. "Where does a joke come from? They're the y-day little ordinary things that people tell me about," replied.

There's a world of truth in that reply, and it can be lied to almost any aspect in life. Gracie Fields is a t humorist because she sees the humorous aspect of conversation and incidents that take place about her. is able to adapt them to her own use, to enjoy them to convey enjoyment to others.

Most of those who are unhappy are unhappy because do not enjoy the simple but important things and ts about them. A fine day means little to them; they no thrill from the patter of rain upon the roof. They no beauty in a tree, or in a flower. They take no humor of a humorous situation. Because they lack a sense of nor, or are too prim, they never have known a real y-laugh.

Real happiness is not bought or acquired. It comes urally to those who have the capacity to enjoy the enble things of day to day life. Too often we look afar for happiness, when it is right under our nose — like jokes Gracie picks up. — Windsor Star.

COWS LOOK MUCH THE SAME

Cows today look much the same as they did in Noah's e — same number of legs, eyes, ears, etc. They are a e larger and certainly better fed, but they come with same standard equipment, says Financial Post. But a d milk cow today would flick her tail with proud disn at the miserable half-gallon buckets that held the k of one of her ancestors. A two-gallon pail is, on an rage, the size of the pail today, and in some 1950 comcial herds a four-gallon container is closer to a single 's capacity. Carnation Ormsby Madcap Fayne, a Holn with a milking record of 41,943 lbs. in one year, ts a daily milk output that would have frightened her bears entirely out of the milk business and into some competitive line of production(or caused them to prounfair tactics to the bovine union.)

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

In cities and towns most people would cheerfully trade their home for a better one.

But you might search the country from end to end without finding anybody who would trade their summer cottage for anyone else's. Each thinks his summer cottage is the best in the district, if not in the world.

It may be a dreadful old mouse trap. It's roof may have patches set on by two generations. Its doors and windows may show the handiwork of fathers and sons at various stages of their lives and skills. It can even have fungus sticking out of its sills and foundations. But it couldn't be better. It's the best.

It may be situated alongside a swamp. It may stand, as if on stilts, on some rocky pine hummock, like a frowsy old packing case. But there is not another location like it, as far as its owners are concerned, for a hundred miles round.

What is it that gives a summer cottage this curious grip on the affections of its owners? Fond associations is the answer, without a doubt. City and town homes are identified with the whole lives of their families—the woes as well as the weals, the troubles and expenses as well as the good times. But the summer cottage is identified with joy and rest and holiday. Year by year, it becomes saturated with memory of fun and frolic. When a man tries to remember his children when they were little, nine times out of ten the setting of the memory will not be in the city, but at the summer cottage.

In cities and towns, families move about from one house to another in the course of a couple of generations. But they all go to the same old summer cottage, generation after generation. Though only for a few weeks of the year, it is home in a sense that no other place is. Those aren't fungi on it, brother. Those are flowers, can't you see?

Chicago, June 9—(AP)—A man who crowds 36 cats into two crates deserves punishment, Judge William V. Daly said Thursday while fining Leslie J. Elmendorf, 50, $50 and costs for cruelty to animals. Allen A. Glisch, of the Animal Welfare League testified that Elmendorf had crowded 17 cats in one crate and 19 in another April 14. He was taking them to a biological supply house for killing and use in research, Glisch said.

The report, published in the English-language Hong Kong Standard, said they would be forced to attend regular classes on the "new democracy". The Chinese communists began indoctrination courses for Buddhist priests about three weeks ago.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By Billy Rose

THE O. HENRY TRYST

From time to time I mosey down to the 42nd Street library to check on this or bone up on that, and on the terrace in front of the entrance I often see a neatly dressed old geezer passing out crackel corn to the pigeons. According to the librarian who briefed me on him, he usually shows up around noon, spends several hours in the main reading room, and then takes up a position on a bench facing Fifth Avenue where he plays chef to his fantail buddies.

A stereotyped character, you say? A little patience, please. The librarian told me an odd story about him, and if this gent is stock stuff, it's the kind of stuff that used to be O. Henry's stock-in-trade. . . .

One evening last April along about 8 oclock, a prettyish girl appeared on the steps of the Library and began to pace up and down between the two stone lions which flank the entrance. Our elderly hero was on his bench as usual, and about an hour later when he saw the girl dabbing at her eyes with a handkerchief, he went up and asked if anything was wrong.

"I had a date," the girl confided, "and it looks as if he stood me up."

"Maybe it'll help if you tell me about it," said the old man.

The girl's story was pretty much soap opera. She was from Ohio and had been keeping steady company with a fellow named Eddie. A week before, he had writen that he thought it would be better for them not to see each other for a while. She had phoned his rooming house several times but never found him in, and so she had wired him to meet her in front of the Library at 8, adding if he didn't show up she was going back to Ohio and he'd never see her again.

"Are you sure he got the telegram?" asked the old man.

"If it hadn't been delivered," said the girl, "Western Union would have notified me. Guess the only thing to do is go on home and pack."

"I suppose you're right. But by the way, doesn't it strike you kind of funny that you're making this big decision with those two stone lions looking down at you?"

"How do you mean, funny?"

"Well, from all the way back the lion has played an important part in the mythologies of nations. Did you know, for instance, that the Sphinx has the body of a lion and the head of a woman?"

"I think I'd better be going," said the girl.

"There's a legend that a lion won't harm a sleeping pilgrim," the old geezer went on, "but I'd hate to test it out. Another interesting thing: Livingstone, the explorer, once said you could hardly tell the difference between the roar of a lion and the mating call of an ostrich."

The girl looked at her watch, but the old boy kept right on rattling off all the loony lore he could remember about lions. At 10 o'clock he was still going strong, explaining that "People have an atavistic fear of the lion, both as a beast and as a symbol. Even in the presence of these stone statues they're often so ill at ease that—"

He never finished the sentence.

"Eddie!" the girl suddenly exclaimed, and a moment later she was hugging a young man who had come up the steps three at a time.

"Everything's all right now, honey," the old man heard Eddie say. "I wrote you that letter because I'd lost my job and didn't want you to know I was broke. The last three days I've been locked out of my room, but this afternoon I got a job in a gas station up in Bronxville and half an hour ago when I went back to tell my landlady the good news she gave me your telegram."

"Just goes to show you," said the old coot. "People who arrange to meet in front of these lions dont' always wait long enough, 'specially at night. The lions seem to scare them, somehow, and- -"

The girl turned to him and there were wet spots under her eyes. "I don't know how to thank you, Mr., er - - "

(For DeWitt MacKenzie)

The western Allies' position in Germany has been strengthened by a new boundary agreement between the Soviet-dominated governments of Poland and east Germany.

Politicians in western Germany have had one fairly solid club to wield in their tussles with the occupation authorities: The implied threat that if the Allies do not treat them right, their people might swing over to the Russian side.

But now that the Russian puppet governments have agreed to slice off from Germany 40,000 square miles of territory east of the Oder-Neisse River line, the Germans will be permanently alienated from the Soviet sphere. It is about as unforgiveable a blow as the highly-Nationalist Germans could have been dealt. Any more Soviet talk about the unification of Germany under the new conditions will have a hollow ring to German ears.

The United States State Department Thursday took full advantage of the situation, denying the legality of the land transfer. The American position since the Potsdam agreement of 1945 has been that the Poles should administer the territory temporarily, that they should acquire some of it eventually, but that the permanent boundary between Poland and Germany should not be settled until a peace treaty has been negotiated.

Appeal to Instincts

Thus the appeal to the nationalistic instincts of a country threatened by communism becomes again one of the strongest arguments on the side of the western democracies in their fight against communist imperialism.

The mystery about the new land deal is why Russia chose to antagonize the Germans at this time by settling the issue, which she has used for her advantage ever since the war by playing off the Poles against the east Germans.

The region has been in German hands for centuries, although the Poles held some of it in the middle ages. The Poles were given administration of the area after the war, when Russia took a slice of territory from eastern Poland.

About 5,000,000 Poles were removed from that territory and resettled in the new German section, called by the Poles "the recovered lands." Since then almost 9,000,000 Germans have been expelled from their homes east of the Oder and Neisse and have been thrown on the charity of occupied Germany.

One good guess as to Russia's motives is that she has concluded she will never win the allegiance of the Germans and that now is the time to salidify her position in Poland.

TRY AND CATCH ME

Authorities of the Bronx, N.Y., zoological park are trying to trap three large gibbons on one of the park's islands. They managed to snare one with bananas for bait but the other two just flit from tree to tree and chatter their derision. The would-be captors get glimpses such as this as the gibbons propel themselves through the air with the greatest of ease. Central Press Canadian.

SACKED FOR SALUTE GIVEN

Berlin, June 9—(Reuters)—The chief of the Leipzig fire brigade "has been sacked for giving the Hitler salute by mistake" at a fire brigade festival, the West German News Agency reported today. Other officers of the fire department who objected to the firing have also been dismissed, the agency said.

THE DENTIST CONTRIBUTES TO VITE

Few physicians and fewer laymen have higher regard for the health importance and value of the service of a good dentist than I have. Even you gullible customers of quacks who have to canvass the public constantly to lure new customers, since their old customers prefer not to recommend them, must be aware by now that every sound or functioning tooth (your own or an artificial one installed by your dentist) is worth at least $1,000. That is no flight of fancy, either. As an expert on health I would give my opinion in any case that $1000 would be the minimum compensation for the loss of a tooth.

Plenty of health-ignorant people lose one tooth after another from disease or accident and continue to limp along without the necessary dentistry to replace the missing tooth or teeth with a functionally efficient denture. These misguided ones may try to condone their negligence by pleading that they can't afford the expense just now or by kidding themselves that the vacancies do not show if only back teeth have been lost.

Both of these notions are specious. The very ones who "can't afford" dentistry generally afford radios, television receivers, expensive automobiles, refrigerators and other luxuries. And even if a cripple can remember in all circumstances to hold his or her mouth so the vacancy won't "show" it is only a matter of time until the contour of the face alters to conform with the atrophy or shrinking of gum and jaw bone and muscle. You can't conceal this premature aging, wrinkling, sagging of features after it has developed. You can prevent it if you are not too dumb to avail yourself of the skill of the dentist before irreversible changes in mouth, gums and jaw bone and facial muscles have occurred.

But the cosmetic side of the question is incidental. The principal reason why every useful (functionally efficient) tooth, your own or a denture made and installed by your dentist, is worth at least $1000 to any one is that good digestion depends upon normal mastication of food and nutrition.

Tick off on your fingers the people you know who have retained the characteristics of youth to an advanced age. You will find that they have all retained good teeth or functionally efficient dentures. On the other hand, think of the people you know who are prematurely old or even decrepit. You will find that they have lost most of their teeth and have neglected to have good dentures installed to replace them. The typical old geezer regardless of chronological age gums his food or converts it into soft pap so he can gulp it with little or no mastication.

If you have only a little knowledge of this important health question you may consider it an Hibernicism for me to say that the condition of the teeth depends on nutrition and good nutrition depends on the functional condition of the teeth. Having visited Tristan da Cunha to see for myself the condition of the 265 or 270 people who live there — people who have the finest teeth in the world—I am glad I quit brushing my teeth many years ago. These people have no more use for toothbrushes or dentifrices than they have for liver pills or salts.

The early decay and loss of teeth is a sign, mark or manifestation of physical degeneration. But it is no paradox to say that prompt treatment, repair or restoration by the dentist is the best way to prevent further impairment of health and vite from malnutrition.

STRAIN OF MODERN LIFE

One-third of the budget of the state of New York goes to support the state's mental hospitals. Governor Dewey made this statement in an address given at Princeton University on April 3, 1950.

It is almost unbelievable. Of course no one would conclude for a single moment that conditions in that line are any worse in New York state than in any other state. We have conquered typhoid fever and are fast conquering pneumonia and tuberculosis. The medical profession believes it is closing in around cancer. But mental disorders—that is another matter. One-half of all the hospital beds in the United States are occupied by mental patients.

Why? Undoubtedly because we live too fast and too hard. Also we are drinking too much liquor. In the old days when society was not under the terrific strain it is at the present time, people could endure certain abuses of mind and body without plunging into nervous breakdowns. But modern man walks along a precipice. One misstep, and he plunges into something very dreadful.

"Slow down, slow down," is the slogan we need to heed. Let us not try to live five lives in our three score years and ten. Let us not try to get all the exciting pleasures of life for ourselves. And above all, let us steer clear of the habit-forming narcotics which only add fuel to an already roaring flame.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE POWER OF CONCENTRATION

Having a worthy aim, and concentrating upon it, never being diverted, is one of the most important secrets for success. Want for success, in the thing most desired, so deeply and with such enthusiasm, that nothing can keep you from your objective.

The scientist never tries from repeated tries. Every time that he has a failure he knows that there is one less attempt to make. We must put our heart into a thing to make it an outstanding success. The thing that we should centre our life upon should be the one thing we love most to do, regardless of material compensation.

It is far more advantageous, for one's peace of mind, to aim at something most desired, even though that aim is missed, than to aim at nothing and get something that you don't want! There is spiritual satisfaction at least in the former plan.

In America, as in no other country in the world, have men and women risen to high positions, from the humblest of occupations, solely through concentration upon the thing at hand, and then, step by step to something higher [illegible]

There are examples all about us. None of us ever know the extent of our talents and ability until we concentrate upon bringing them to light.

The late W. C. Fields was a born comedian, but he got his first attention from the public by his remarkable ability to juggle. He would practice, concentrate, and work, until he would fall back upon his bed exhausted. He had to concentrate his mind upon his act every second, without exception.

Simon Bolivar, South America's great "George Washington," known by all today as "The Liberator," determined while upon a European visit, to return to his native land of Venezuela and free his people of the Spanish yoke. To do so he gave up friends and fortune, but he never relaxed until he had won! Today he is the great hero of half a continent and the inspiration behind the freedom of all South America, from Spanish rule.

My early friend, Bion J. Arnold, once told me that he wanted success to the point where "it hurt". He became one of the great engineers of America. Concentration did it. It will do wonders for

It is estimated that 8,000,000 people see documentary films and new reels produced by the Indian government.

Dog Catcher Hired For Summer Months

Trenton. (Special.)—No change is contemplated in the dog by-law as the result of the town's hiring a full time dog catcher. "The by-law has always been adequate, it's just a question of effective enforcement," said Councillor C. V. Graham this morning.

The corporation has employed Dick Seeley, Wooler Road, as full time dog catcher from Monday, June 12, until the end of October. Mr. Seeley will operate a pound on his own property.

It is hoped that with a full time dog catcher to enforce the dog by-law, the nuisance caused by dogs running at large on the streets will be eliminated.

She was assisted by Mrs. Heard who wore a redingote ensemble of navy blue crepe with navy and white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Jubilee Evening Auxiliary Celebrates 25 Years of the Union

About 63 years ago, in 1887, a number of young women of Bridge Street Church met together to form a mission circle for the study and furtherance of missionary work. As this was the year of Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee, they called themselves the "Jubilee Mission Circle".

Of this original group only Miss Annie Tickell, Church Street survives.

On Tuesday evening, a large group of members and friends met to pay tribute to the past, and to the future, and to celebrate 25 years of Union.

Among the honored guests was Mrs. Harris, of Peterborough, who is the Bay of Quinte Branch president of the W.M.S. To her fell the duty of welcoming 22 little girls of the Explorer Group as affiliated members of Jubilee Evening Auxiliary. She challenged them to think seriously of becoming full time missionary workers. They would soon be the W.M.S. as those now working would all too soon be too old to carry on.

A review of the past was given by past presidents from 1925-50.

Miss Ethel Morden told the story of the society from its formation in 1887. It is not surprising, that with such a history, members feel a good deal of sentiment for the past.

Mrs. Ralph Morden told how changes came slowly from meetings planned entirely by the president, to the system where each member is in a group and expected to help on, at least one program, a year.

She also spoke of the days when at least half the money was raised by teas and suppers. These had the value of cementing friendships as all worked toward a project.

Systematic Giving

Miss Grace Tucker told of the struggle for systematic giving and free will offering of all money raised. It was slow to win but is now used successfully.

Mrs. R. D. Arnott and Miss Grace Houston spoke briefly of their terms of office. One point of interest was, that in 1943, during the food shortage of war years, it was almost necessary to give up supper meetings. Also in 1943, the prayers for the safety of Miss Claizie and her two companions in Japan, were offered.

In 1949, the W.M.S. of the United Church of Canada raised over $1,000,000 but increased costs make this still insufficient.

Mrs. Morley Davidson, former member, and now secretary for Mission Circles of Belleville Presbyterial, was present and favored with a beautiful solo.

The meeting closed with a dedication to "advance".

Food is Fun if Flavor Right

Some people in this world eat just from habit. Others swallow food from a sense of duty, just to get the necessary quota of calories, vitamins and minerals. Most people, however, eat because they like food and they like it because it tastes good. To such people food is fun. When you come down to fundamentals it is the flavor of food that tempts the appetite and keeps people eating the right amount of the right foods. That is why laboratories are set up to test foods and do research on methods of cooking which preserve natural flavors. Food laboratories also try out combinations of food which will bring new flavor treats. The homemaker who thinks of the interesting things she may do in her own kitchen also finds pleasure in food.

Every home cook should consider the matter of saving flavor. Certainly every thrifty homemaker takes considerable care to prevent the loss of good flavor and to be sure that her cooking methods do not produce flat or unpalatable foods.

As citizens of a country which produces an abundance of good food we are often careless. Every day in many homes, flavor leaves food in escaping steam from the cooking pot or in water poured down drains. Sometimes it is spoiled by too long cooking or too much heat. Then it is necessary to pep up these spoiled foods with seasonings and sauces. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, say this is an expensive and unsatisfactory way. It is much better to keep the natural flavor and texture.

The first point in keeping flavor is to look after foods before cooking. Many vegetables and fruits lose their freshness very quickly in a warm store or kitchen. If these products must be stored they should be moist and cold. The natural sugar in fresh peas, beans and corn changes in a few hours in a warm atmosphere. Sometimes the flavor comes from volatile oils. These are also easily lost before and during cooking.

A prejudice against vegetables is almost always the result of poor cooking methods. Over-cooking always spoils that fresh-from-the-garden flavor. Cabbage, cauliflower, turnips and onions are excellent examples of the result over-cooking when they come to the table with that strong "boarding house" odor and taste instead of with the freshness of color as well as flavor which they retain when properly cooked. The phrase "strong smelling vegetables" has passed from general usage with our modern knowledge of cooking methods.

Baker potatoes and baked apples are always popular because the unbroken skin holds in the flavor. Pears, peaches, onions and beets also have a special delicious when baked in their jackets.

In roasting meat it is important to develop flavor by controlling the temperature of the oven. Browning the surfaces of a roast develops a rich taste and makes both meat and gravy appetizing. This browning develops evenly when roasts are cooked at low temperature, 325 degrees F., to 350 degree F., but if the temperature is high the outer portion is over cooked and dry and the meat shrunken. Browning meat for stews before adding the water also develops best flavor.

Starchy foods have an undesirable flavor if they are undercooked. Good flavor in all cereal foods depends on thorough-cooking.

The fine delicacy of a fresh egg is elusive and needs special protection. It may be lost by storage at room temperature or by contact with other more odorous foods. On the other hand the blandness of eggs makes them an excellent base for well seasoned dishes.

ZESTY BAKED EGGS

1-4 cup salad dressing
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1-2 teaspoon spicy meat sauce
1-2 cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
6 eggs
Paprika

Combine salad dressing, salt, pepper, parsley, and spicy meat sauce. Beat in milk and grated cheese. Pour sauce into a well greased baking dish. Break eggs into sauce and sprinkle with paprika. Place in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until eggs are set. Yield: six servings.

MARIO ... in his distinctive feature about Food ... What's Cooking?

Don't feed coal to hogs. They may appear to like it, but it isn't the best fuel for their diet.

Although hogs will crunch coal like kids eating popcorn, this food doesn't help their growth, according to a University of Wisconsin study recently completed.

Hogs, the squeal specialists say, seem to prefer soft coal to hard coal for obvious reasons. But the coal is a waste of money, although many farmers engage in this practice regularly. A hog on a coal diet will need more feed to gain weight than an animal given normal feed.

No packer has ever advertised coal-fed pork. You'll do best in your kitchen by sticking to corn-fed hams.

The flavor of smoked ham is not only good in itself but can be used to step up the flavor of many other foods. A slice of grilled ham with a single lamb chop, chopped ham in an omelette, or slivers of ham in green split pea soup give added lustre to these foods.

A shrimp and ham pie may be baked in individual casseroles or one large baking dish as in the recipe below.

Shrimp and Ham Pie—Serves 4.

Drop one pound fresh shrimps into rapidly boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt, 1 small bay leaf and the juice of a half lemon have been added.

Boil shrimps 8 minutes. Drain. When cool enough to handle, remove shells and black vein running through back of shrimps.

It shrimps are very large, cut in half. If medium size, leave whole.

In a saucepan melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add 1-4 cup chopped onions and 1-4 cup chopped green peppers. Simmer over a slow flame until onions are yellow. Add 1 can of undiluted cream of celery or cream of mushroom soup and 1-2 cup water. Bring to a boil slowly.

Add shrimps. Add 1 cup of cooked ham cut into 1-4 inch squares. Simmer 10 minutes. Skim off any excess fat. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Prepare a biscuit dough using your favorite mix or any standard recipe calling for 2 cups flour. Roll dough. Cut into small squares. Place biscuit squares on top shrimp mixture.

Bake 15-20 minutes or until biscuits are brown.

'World Citizen' May Buy Castle As Headquarters

By HORACE CASTELL

Rocca Sinibalda, Italy, June 8 —(Reuters)—A wealthy Boston-born woman has begun her plan to make this tiny village a world citizen centre by renting a huge medieval castle.

She is Mrs. Caresse Crosby, owner of the Washington Publishers, Black Sun and Company, and a fervent "World Citizen".

Her castle, built in the 16th century, rises from the top of a craggy rock in the centre of this poverty-stricken little village. Its 230 rooms have been sealed up for 30 years and bats swoop back and forth through its vaulted corridors.

Mrs. Crosby has said she is ready to buy the massive stone structure for 15,000,000 lire ($23,000).

Then, she said, she will turn it into the Italian headquarters of The World Citizen Movement. At the same time she plans to make the village Italy's first "World Citizen Village" and rename it "Rock of the Word."

Her plans call for the mass conversion of the 600 peasants who live here and she hopes to enlist the peasant women in her "Women Against War" peace organization.

In Love With Castle

Last summer she came to Rocca Sinibalda, together with movie star Myrna Loy and Miss Loy's husband, Gene Markey. She said she fell in love with the ancient castle and recently came to buy it.

The village sits on a dusty pile of rocks 100 miles from Rome, with fertile valleys falling away on all sides. Officials hope to convince Marshall Aid chiefs of the need to subsidize public works, such as increasing the water supply (which at present comes from wells and a sluggish, muddy stream,) and bringing some industry to "The Rock."

Mrs. Crosby, who returned to Europe almost immediately after the armistice with Germany (she thinks she was the first American woman granted an entry visa by a European country after the war), said the World Citizen Movement can boast such adherents as writer John Steinbeck, scientist Albert Einstein, violinist Yehudi Menuhin and British economist Lord Beveridge.

She herself is leader of a new movement of World Citizens, called "Women Against War", which she hopes to make the spearhead of the World Citizenship Movement.

In Rocca Sinibalda she is gathering the women of the village under her banner. She hopes they will sway local opinion—including the three local communists—into make "The Rock" "The Rock of the Word."

Election Will Highlight Session Of Liberal Women

Ottawa, June 8 (CP) — The election of a new president will highlight today's events at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Liberal Women.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges of Victoria is retiring after heading the federation for the last three years. She is speaker of the British Columbia Legislature.

Wednesday night the 200 delegates heard what women Liberals from coast to coast are doing to further Liberalism in Canada.

Among the speakers was Mrs. C. R. de La Vergne of Brooks, Alta., who reported that women's Liberal clubs in her province have grown from three to 22 in the last two years.

"In the political field there is a marked increase in votes where women's clubs flourish," she said.

Mrs. H. Perry of Regina reported that Liberalism once again was taking its place in Saskatchewan.

Mrs. J. W. Caldwell of Winnipeg said 10 women's clubs were active in Manitoba. There also were several study groups.

Others who spoke included Mrs. C. G. Atkinson of Westbrook, N.S. and Mrs. M. J. Pourpore, of Skead, Ont.

Speaking at an earlier session Mrs. Hodges didn't mince words about the part women play —or rather don't play— in Canadian politics.

For many years men had been paying "lip-service" to the help women gave them in politics — without handing out any of the honors.

"One of the biggest disappointments of the National Election was that we didn't get one woman in the House," said Mrs. Hodges.

Sidney School Area Question Thoroughly Discussed at Meeting

At a meeting marked with several spirited exchanges, the Sidney School Area question was discussed in Wallbridge Orange Hall last Friday. This meeting had been arranged by the Board in accordance with the replies from questionnaires sent out earlier. Answers from these had indicated a desire for a meeting to discuss general and local school problems.

The chairman, Mr. J. W. Sargent, in his opening remarks, gave a brief summary of the replies from the questionnaire. He pointed out that the meeting had no connection with the council's notice of holding a plebiscite on the question, as arrangements for holding the meeting had been made several days previous to the notice. The main objection voiced in the replies had been the tax rate. The chairman pointed out that it was not the Area which had caused the taxes to rise, but the increased cost of teachers' salaries, operation, school supplies and equipment, and that single sections are faced with the same problems.

As an example he compared the Sidney Area school rate with the average of those in Rawdon (public school only) and showed there was very little difference. The tax rates in almost every case in Thurlow would be as much or more than Sidney Area's estimated 6.6 mill school rate this year. Also education costs in every municipality have been increased greatly as borne out by newspaper reports.

Outline Duties

Several felt that if there was no school area there would be no need of a supervising principal, and that he was doing the inspector's work. Mr. Sargent read a copy of the duties as outlined in the contract and pointed out that the supervising principal and secretary-treasurer was the servant of the board while the inspector was the representative of the Department of Education. In no way were the duties similar. The principal's duties included correlation of subjects, organization of special activities, testing and remedial work, general supervision of school properties besides the regular duties of the secretary-treasurer.

A third charge was that the Area was too large and unwieldy. Some had suggested dividing it into two or three smaller areas. While this would not be as satisfactory as regards efficiency and unification, he felt that these would be better than going back to the single sections. He said he saw no reason why a five-man school board could not look after the education in a township the same as a five-man council looks after municipal affairs.

Before throwing the meeting open for general discussion, the chairman then outlined the favorable replies, which included equal distribution of costs, cheaper method of purchasing supplies, opportunities for more specialized subjects, uniform courses, and a supervising principal to aid new teachers and co-ordinate subjects.

Many of the suggestions were especially good and where possible the board plans to adopt them to make a more efficient system. In closing he said the board had put a great deal of work and energy into solving the problems of the Area.

Lower Pupil Cost

In reply to questions, the chairman stated there were eighteen schools in the area handled formerly by 14 school boards, there having been four schools in No. 2 section and two in No. 6. At $300 per former section the special Area grant mounted to $4,200 beginning this year. Last year's special grant had been $2,473. The cost per pupil of average attendance figured out at slightly over $100 which was considerably lower than many adjacent sections.

The question of Board members being paid was brought up. Mr. Sargent pointed out that only since April of last year had Area board members been paid $5 for each regular monthly meeting and mileage to and from the place of meeting. This he said was little enough in comparison with the amount of work to be done and the many special meetings for which no pay or mileage was allowed. Before that time only mileage for ten meetings a year had been allowed.

A second speaker brought up about the overcrowded condition at Avondale stating that this condition had existed for ten years and all they had gotten were promises. The Area board could not see how they could be blamed so much for that as they had had charge for only two years and by transferring some pupils to Quinteview had eased the situation last fall. He also spoke of the poor condition of the school. Mr. Harry Brown, a former member of the Area board replied to this statement to the effect that when the Area board had made its first tour, Avondale school was one of the most poorly kept schools in the whole area. One of the first things done the following holidays had been to have the toilet system overhauled and a new furnace put in in the fall. The chairman also pointed out the amount of work that had to be done in the Bayside school, and that still was not in as good shape as they would wish. Land had been bought at Avondale to provide enough room for an extension which had been planned but which had been delayed by the present uncertain conditions in the Area. However, at present he said the board was considering continuing it.

Favors Area System

Rev. A. E. Baker of Stirling who was present asked permission to speak, although he said he was not a ratepayer. He strongly urged the people to put the welfare of their children first and adopt the system which would give their children the greatest advantage for the type of education needed in the more complicated industrial and social conditions of today.

Several speakers were given an opportunity to speak with different opinions for and against being expressed. One felt that since the Board members were ratepayers they would do what they considered best for all.

Jas. A. Warren, supervising principal and secretary-treasurer, gave a brief outline of his work and the various activities which had been planned for the schools. He thought that the unity which had been achieved among the pupils through their festivals, sports, unified courses, attendance and competition, had given the children a broader outlook and an interest in the township as a whole. Some extra copies of the 1949 financial statement were put out for the benefit of any who might not have gotten them at the nomination meeting.

Mr. Macklem, Inspector of South Hastings, who was in the audience, offered, if it were wished, to reply to some of the statements made regarding his part in the formation of the Area and to state that he had been carrying out the policy of the Department of Education in forming Areas where there seemed to be distinct advantages for them. He mentioned some of the difficulties, including loss of special grant this year, that would be encountered if the Area were dissolved.

In closing Mr. Sargent thanked the audience for their interest and hoped that the meeting had cleared the air of many of the misunderstandings that seemed to exist. The members of the Board, he said, were always willing to discuss any school matter at any time and would welcome any suggestions for its smoother operation.

Nine Arrested In Gambling Raid

Toronto, June 9 — (CP) Nine men were arrested Thursday as Toronto police carried out one of their biggest raids of recent years on suspected bookmaking centres.

Raids were carried out on two barbershops and a tobacco store in the west - central College Street-Spadina Avenue area.

Charged with bookmaking were: Morris Zeldon, 41; Abe Bernstein, 58; Max Goodman, 44; were Morris Zeldin, 41; Abe Louis Bornstein, 38; William Copnick, 43; Abraham Rayson, 44; Joseph Applebaum, 31; Joseph Pilsmaker, 50, and Max Morrenstein of Oshawa.

Police said that sidewalk men, or runners who solicit bets, were among those arrested. Two telephones allegedly used to register bets and two radio sets were seized.

CBC Would Like To Provide More Trips for Staff

Ottawa, June 9 (CP)— The Commons Committee on radio broadcasting, continuing a study of the financial affairs of the CBC, was told Thursday the CBC would like to provide more business trips for members of its staff.

A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, said that for the good of the corporation he would like to see members of the staff working on the same thing in different regions brought together every so often to exchange views.

For instance, he said, he would like to see those handling farm broadcasts meet. Budget limitations restricted such trips.

He made the statement after Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) noted that the CBC's travelling expenses for the 1949-50 fiscal year amounted to $147,000. He considered it fairly large. Mr. Dunton said the figure also covered the travelling expenses of the CBC Board of Governors.

Allistair Stewart (CCF-Winnipeg North) noted that the CBC paid $144,000 in 1949-50 to news agencies for their daily reports of world and Canadian news. He asked Mr. Dunton for a breakdown.

Mr. Dunton said that he was in the hands of the committee, but he would prefer not to give a breakdown because the CBC had to bargain with two or three agencies. Mr. Stewart withdrew his question.

Then he asked if the CBC was satisfied with the news service it is getting.

Mr. Dunton said the CBC thought it was "pretty good," but "sometimes we would like to see something a little better still." As other customers, the CBC was in the position where it was paying money for the service and it made suggestions to the services from time to time. Not all of them were accepted, but some times improvements were made.

He said the CBC receives the reports of The Canadian Press, Reuters, Associated Press, British United Press, United Press and Agence France Presse.

FRANKFORD

Flight Lieut. White, R.C.A.F., Shows Interesting Films

Frankford — The bi-monthly meeting of the Frankford Lions Club was held in the Community-Memorial Hall Wednesday evening, with an excellent turnout of members and guests.

Following the usual fine banquet, items of business at hand were dealt with. Secretary Bill Berscht read a letter of thanks from the Manitoba Flood relief chairman for a donation of $25 from the Frankford club, which was sent a short time ago.

Most important item was the election of a treasurer and two directors. Several of the candidates had prepared an extensive publicity campaign, to add to the interest and amusement of the race. Each in turn was called on for a one minute stump speech. When the ballots were finally counted, Lion Floyd Ketcheson was re-elected to the treasurer's post, and Lions Arnold Stickle and Jim Johns were given the director's offices.

Lion Gene Lohnes, scoutmaster of the 1st Frankford Scout Troop, asked for transportation to take the boys on their annual camping trip this summer. The response was splendid, and the boys are now assured of transportation both ways on the trip. The Lions Club, sponsers of the troop, have co-operated excellently since being given a complete outline on the duties of a sponsoring group by the District Commissioner, some time ago.

Highlight of the evening was a film shown by Flight Lieutenant White of the R.C.A.F., showing the work and preparation connected with a large scale bomber operation in the battle of Europe. This was much enjoyed by all present

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

Practical Atheism

By ROY L. SMITH

It is only very rarely the case that one meets a person who is completely convinced that there is no God. Real atheists are very scarce. But modern life is full of those who, whatever their beliefs, live as though there were no God.

Ancient Sin Was Social

The Hebrew prophets were forever condemming the sins of their nation. True, they talked about thievery and exploitation, but they did not seem to address their remarks to thieves or exploiters. They were concerned with the fact that the nation, through its government and official rulers, permitted injustices.

It was not until the time of Jeremiah, almost at the very close of the little nation's life, that sin began to be attacked as an individual problem. Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, Micah, Zephaniah — all of the great prophets preached against national sins and nations that sinned.

They seemed to feel that in some way the individual citizens shared in the sins of the society of which they were a part. In our day we hear it said quite frequently that the church, and preachers, should have nothing to do with social sins, but that they should confine their preaching to the subject of individual sinning. People who take that attitude would have found themselves in a strange situation if they had listened to the Old Testament prophets who were at all times battling social sins.

Community Sins and Sinning

As Zephaniah looked over the scene in his day he saw Jerusalem as a city in which all classes were corrupt. The princes and high officers of the government were insolent and brutal; the courts were corrupt and the judges were avaricious, the religious leaders were indifferent to the sufferings and troubles of the people.

But They Were Religious

It is altogether likely that if we could have interviewed some of the priests and professional prophets of the day they would have indignantly denied the accusations of Zephaniah. They would have pointed with pride to the altars piled high with sacrifices, and the sanctuaries crowded with worshippers.

> The Sunday School lesson for June 11: "Zephaniah Calls to Repentance," Zephania (1:12-18; 3:1-5, 16-20).

It was, however, a religion without a conscience and a worship devoid of moral concern. And against such callousness the prophets preached with all their might.

God Does Care

The evil of the situation as Zephaniah saw it was the popular delusion that God did not care— that He could be satisfied with smoking altars and intricate rituals when injustices went unrebuked and immorality was popular.

Zephaniah was one of those very few — perhaps the only one in his day — who recognized the fact that the moral law is as inflexible as the law of gravity. Of course no one in that day had ever heard of either, but Zephaniah grasped the principle even though he may have lacked the scientific terminology or vocabulary.

He believed that the moral law of God operated in every nook and cranny of the nation's life, and that immorality anywhere meant tragedy everywhere.

It is so easy to assume that God has overlooked our evil doings just because He does not strike us down in the midst of them. Millions of moderns are making that false assumption today.

It is impossible for any nation to make drunkards out of its future mothers, and then survive the strain of modern civilization. It is impossible for any nation to create or allow bitterness between groups within its citizenship without paying for it in moral decay.

Despair Is Pagan

Just as indifference toward God is a mild form of atheism, so despair is a mild form of paganism.

"I have read just enough history to be skeptical of despair," said a wise old Christian to his young pastor. "I have made the discovery that every crisis through which the world has ever passed came out in a way that was to the advantage of the common people. I know our day is filled with confusion and terror, but so have other days, but we would not have had them come out in any other way than the way they did. In the long run we may discover that God has suffered some reverses but He has never given up in despair. If He is not discouraged, then I am not going to be."

Be Not Deceived

Zephaniah preached to a generation that believed God would not do anything about it, no matter how evil the world became or how corrupt life proved to be. The wicked had no fears because they had no historical perspective.

The God of history has never allowed humanity to get completely out of hand. He has used nations, cataclysms, revolutions, and global conflicts to work His will, but He has always been working!

There is a double significance in the preaching of Zephaniah for our day. The righteous are encouraged never to give up, and the wicked are warned that they will never get away with it.

PARATROOPERS AT STRENGTH

Ottawa, June 9 (CP) — Canada now has more paratroopers than Germany dropped on the Low Countries of Europe in the spring invasion of 1940, Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday.

He gave no figures but added that the army's regular airborne bridgade is 80 per cent up to strength. Its target strength has never been announced but has been reported around 7,000 men.

The training of three airborne infantry battalions has been about completed and many other soldiers from various units also have taken the prescribed five jumps at the Rivers, Man., training babse. That would mean somewhere beyond 2,000 men.

U.S. COMMUNISTS

No Cards in 1949

"The trend has been toward the perfection of a highly-developed underground apparatus and decentralization of communist party operations," Hoover said.

"As a securtiy measure, no communist party membership cards were issued in 1949. The maintenance of membership records has been discontinued. Members speak in a jargon of double talk and use codes in correspondence. . .

"Public meetings are maintained at an absolute minimum. Party records have been destroyed or removed to clandestine hiding places.

"Secret printing facilities and supplies have been secreted for future underground operations. . . The party today is in the process of selecting individuals for secret leadership of its underground apparatus."

All this, Hoover said, has made it more difficult for the F.B.I. to slip its own operatives into high communist party positions.

In his testimony, which was taken by the committee several weeks ago, Hoover linked American communism with foreign espionage.

Definite Objectives

F.B.I. investigations, he said, show that foreign spy activity has some definite objectives, including:

"Information on atomic research; identities of atomic scientists in the United States; radar; jet propulsion; topographical maps of the United States coastal areas, including airports and military landing fields; data on biological warfare; industrial and military resources; and biographical data concerning leading personalities in the United States."

Hoover put the number of actual communist party members in the United States at 54,174. However, he said:

"The fact remains that the party leaders themselves boast that for every party member there are 10 others who follow the party line and who are ready willing and able to do the party's work.

NO NEW MILITARY

One Other Discharged

The minister indicated at least one other man had been discharged for similar reasons.

He disclosed that federal and provincial authorities will meet within the next few months to work out plans for civilian defence in Canada at the provincial level. The planning has been completed at the federal level by Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, co-ordinator of civil defence.

Mr. Claxton reported also that the army's airborne division is 80 per cent up to strength, that 405 Canadian servicemen now are abroad (most AST students) and that Canada now has more trained paratroopers than Germany dropped on the low countries in 1940.

Dealing with Atlantic Pact decisions, he said the only immediate effect the policy of balanced forces would have on Canada would result from surpluses of certain equipment, such as battleships. As for equipment purchases, Canada always had to decide the best ways to spend limited funds.

Criticizes Expenditures

Mr. Drew suggested any development of the new concept of balanced collective forces means Canada should concentrate on building up her air force and a swift armored force which would be sent quickly into action in Europe.

He criticized Mr. Claxton for not explaining how Canada would play her part under the pact. Parliament, he suggested, should not be asked to vote $623,000,000 for defence—the amount of the estimates under study—without specific detail.

He also criticized the handling of the reserve forces and said that while many reserve units are in training they are far from ready to take the field. Canada had the widespread terrain needed for the training of armored units.

32,000 B.C. Coastal Loggers Grid For Industry-Stifling Strike; Deadline June 15th

Vancouver, June 9 (CP) —British Columbia's 32,000 coastal loggers today girded for an industry-stifling strike. Only a last-minute settlement will keep them in the woods and mills when the deadline comes June 15.

Partial returns from Thursday's government supervised strike vote show around 70 percent of the workers in favor of walking out to back demands for a union shop and pay increases.

Vancouver and New Westminster locals, with some 100,000 members, voted about 75 percent in favor of strike action. The other 22,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) are scattered in camps and mills up the BC coast and on, Vancouver Island. Incomplete returns from Vancouver Island showed 3,075 for strike action, 913 against.

Union officers considered the strike vote a formality. A "straw vote" earlier in the week showed nearly 85 percent ready to go out.

"We will listen to and discuss any reasonable proposal until the 11th hour of strike action," said union president J. Stewart Alsbury Thursday night.

Clog Entire Economy

A strike would knock out B.C.'s major industry and clog her entire economy. The $360,000,000-a-year industry provides 45 percent of the province's income.

Main demand of the I.W.A. is for a union shop. A conciliation board recommended a "maintenance of membership" clause. This means that all workers who are members of the union retain their membership during the term of the agreement. Under the union shop, all workers must be union members.

The board also recommended a wage increase of nine cents an hour. The union asked 17 cents above the current basic wage of $1.06 an hour.

The union membership rejected the board's report. Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., spokesman for 163 operators, accepted it.

Last big tie-up in B.C. logging was in 1946, when more than 30,000 men hamstrung the industry for 36 days, they went back for a 15-cent-an-hour increase.

A nine cent hourly increase now would cost the operators about $4,500,000 yearly.

TEACHER TO RETIRE

Brantford, June 9 — (CP) — Ann Heaman, who has handled more than 2,000 kindergarten students in 40 years of teaching, will retire at the end of the term. Graduating from Toronto Normal School in 1909, she has taught the same class at King George School here since 1914.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Toronto, June 9 — (CP) — A divorce decree has been granted Mrs. Helen Bohozuk of Hamilton, against Robert William Bohozuk, who was jointly charged with Evelyn Dick in the spectacular John Dick murder trial in 1946. Bohozuk was acquitted of the charge.

E. German-Polish Border Permanent Agreement States

Berlin, June 9—(AP) — Communist Poland and Soviet-occupied east Germany have announced a broad economic-political agreement under which both parties will regard the new postwar Polish-German border as permanent.

The border in question is the line formed by the Oder and Neisse Rivers. It gives Poland large and rich territories which formerly belonged to Germany. This made up to Poland for loss of territory taken over in the east by Russia.

The western powers have not regarded the Oder-Neisse line as final, insisting that the final disposition of German territories must await a German peace conference, but Russia has backed Poland's claims.

Potential Fire Hazard Created By Spilled Gas

A potential fire hazard was created on Coleman Street Thursday when the tap of a passing gasoline truck in some manner got turned allowing considerable of the contents of the tank to run out onto the pavement. The block between Catherine and Henry on Coleman was sprayed with the gasoline.

Realizing the danger of fire, residents of the street called the fire department when they saw the gasoline. Members of the department covered the gas with dust and dirt and stood by until it was evaporated.

TWO OF THEIR SISTERS DIED IN FIRE

Saved from a fire which took the lives of two of their sisters, these children of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Waugh, Stamford Centre, Ont., anxiously await news of their mother and two other children in hospital with serious burns. The fire started in the living room of their four-room bungalow, getting out of control before the parents and 11 children could stop it. Arline, 16, was trapped, died while trying to save the life of five-year-old Fanny. — Central Press Canadian.

Died of Burns In Flaming Oxygen Tent, Probe is Told

Halifax, June 9 (CP) — Because Martin Driscoll craved a cigaret, he died from burns suffered in a flaming oxygen tent May 18, an official inquiry was told here Thursday.

Mr. Driscoll, a patient in Victoria General Hospital, died three hours after his oxygen tent caught fire.

Dr. Fred Barton and Miss M. K. Miller, superintendent of nurses, testified Mr. Driscoll replied "yes" after the accident when the nurse asked him if he had lighted a cigaret. Other attendants said the patient had asked for a smoke earlier.

The hearing concluded after hearing seven witnesses. No decision was given immediately.

Surgeons Cut Away Faulty Pouches On Human Heart

Los Angeles, June 9—(AP)— Surgeons at Wadsworth Veterans Hospital have successfully cut away portions of the hearts of three patients, Dr. Thomas Barrett, chief of medical services, reported today.

Clots were found to be forming in cretain pouches of the hearts. A specially-designed clamp was applied in each case. Members of the department of surgery at the University of California Medical Centre here cut away each of the faulty pouches (auricular appendices) and stitched together the openings into the heart.

The main chambers (auricles) of the heart have appendices that help pump blood. They appear as bulges on the heart's surface, and not as a dangling tube as in the intestinal appendix. In some types of heart disease stagnant blood accumulates in the auricular appendix, clots and eventually moves into the bloodstream. If carried to vital spots, such as the brain, death results.

Says 'Arsonists' Try Sabotage Coup in Red Zone

Berlin, June 9 —(AP)— The Russian, army's newspaper here charged today that arsonists and "other enemies of democracy" were attempting to sabotage the harvest in the Russian zone of Germany, especially on the collective farms.

Newspaper Taegliche Rundschau also accused the "big farmers" of hoarding machinery parts to the detriment of the general economy.

These accusations, made in the paper's editorial, appeared to presage new communist pressure to reduce private farming in East Germany and force more farmers into collectives.

An incidental aim might be to find scapegoats in advance for a possible harvest failure. In this connection it reiterated the widely ballyhooed communist charge that American planes have been bombing the Russian zone with potato bags to ruin the crops.

Britisher Shot By Terrorists

Saigon, Indo-China, June 9 — (Reuters) —A.K.W. Evans, English inspector of the British American Tobacco Company, was shot dead Thursday night in Saigon by Vietminh Terrorists, who also shot and killed a Vietnamese policeman.

Evans 47, who arrived in Saigon last month, was driving Maurice Lebas, French assistant manager of the tobacco company and two friends from the factory at Cholon.

They were stopped by a group of four Vietnamese including a girl. The men in the group opened fire with automatic pistols.

The killers sped away in a waiting car, were challenged by a Vietnamese police patrol and exchanged shots, killing one policeman.

Two Farmhands Die on Gallows On August 25

Valleyfield, Que., June 9 (CP) — Two young farmhands will die on the gallows Aug. 25 for the hammer-slaying of a Huntingdon, Que., taxi driver Dec. 11.

Gervin Patenaude, 19, of Huntingdon was convicted and sentenced Thursday. His companion in the murder, Kenneth Bevin, 18, was sentenced last week.

Evidence at their trials was that they hired the cab of Lucien Brunette on the night of Dec. 11. When he had driven them to a lonely road, they beat him to death with a hammer for his money — $40.

The lads later were trapped by police while they were hiding under a haystack on a farm near Huntingdon, about 35 miles southwest of Montreal. Both youths were farmhands in the district.

Less than half an hour was required Thursday by the jury deliberating on Patenaude's case. Patenaude was calm and showed no nervousness as sentence was passed.

"No doubt the prisoner is guilty of murder," said Mr. Justice Francois Caron in his charge to the jury.

Patenaude and Bevin are serving four-year penitentiary sentences for robbing a bank at Ormstown, Que., of $1,400 the day after they murdered the taxi driver. They pleaded guilty and were sentenced last January.

B.M.A. Favors Patenting New Medicines

London, June 9 (Reuters) — Scrapping one of its most cherished ethical standards, the British Medical Association has declared itself in favor of patenting new medicines invented by qualified practitioners.

A report by a special committee of the B.M.A. published in this week's British Medical Journal claimed that patenting medical inventions would protect the British research worker from foreign exploitation.

An editorial in the same issue states that "users of penicillin in Britain, the home of its discovery, are in the deplorable position of having to pay royalties to American firms for penicillin manufactured in Britain."

Appearing before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in city magistrate's court for sentence on a charge of "joyriding" Robt. Mondeville, 17, of this city, today was sentenced to four months definite and two months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory. Mondeville pleaded guilty to the charge last week and was remanded for sentence.

Mondeville was given concurrent sentences on three other charges, two of stealing auto batteries from parked cars on used car lots, and one of shopbreaking.

Scotland Yard Probes Allegation Bribery in Radio

London, June 9 (Reuters) — Scotland Yard is to probe allegations of bribery in British radio.

The director of public prosecutions has ordered the investigation after studying a secret report —said to name well-known British radio personalities — submitted recently by Sir William Haley, director-general of the BBC.

(Sir Valentine Holmes, British lawyer who investigated similar allegations for the BBC governors in 1947, reported then that there was "no solid foundation for any charge of bribery, corruption, or partiality against BBC staff.")

Mrs. E. Roosevelt Names Most Remarkable Woman

Stockholm, June 9 — (Reuters) — Asked to name the most remarkable woman she had ever met, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who is on a three-day visit to Sweden, decided she was Mrs. Vijaya Nehru, India's Ambassador to the United States, and sister of India's prime minister, Pandit Nehru.

The widow of the American president defined as her reasons for naming Mrs. Nehru:

1. "She always says all the things a man would say and uses all her woman's wiles to say them."
2. "She always looks lovely in her long colorful Indian robes in the United Nations."

US Won't Have Strong Enough Armed Forces To Fight Major War Until 1951 Says Bradley

Washington, June 9 — (AP) — United States armed forces won't be sufficient to fight a major war even by July, 1951, Gen. Omar N. Bradley has told Congress.

The chairman of the joint U.S. Chiefs of Staff added, however, in testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee, that he feels the U. S. is on the way to attaining "the necessary forces to prevent a disastrous attack from crippling this nation."

"I also believe that our forces in being and our mobilization base will be sufficient, together with the forces and potential of friendly nations, to win a war if it comes, Bradley said in testimony released by the Senate committee.

Bradley, testifying in support of a $13,000,000,000 military budget for the year beginning next July 1, said the aim is to build up forces which, in the event of an attack, "can strike a retaliatory blow that will be strong enough to slow down the aggression while we mobilize."

"Beyond that point," he said, "we must rely on the tremendous power of our industrial potential, our reserve forces, our military educational system— in fact, what we term our mobilization base — ultimately to win a war if it is thrust upon us. That is a risk that we take."

Bradley said that if Russia goes to war the Russians probably will move in the Far East as well as in Europe.

Bradley added that since it became known last September that the Russians have "solved the atomic bomb," he has been more concerned than ever before over defence of Alaska. He said any increases in military outlays ought to go first to the ground forces and air forces in Alaska and to the radar warning net projected for that area.

$54 in Bank Notes Cut to Shreds

Endicott, N.Y., June 9 (AP) — William Johnson doesn't mind cutting green stuff, as long as it's grass.

But Thursday, his wallet dropped unnoticed while he was operating a power mower in a park.

Patrolman Martin Dardis turned up at Johnson's home later with a handful of shredded bills, about $54. Dardis had discovered several persons scrambling for the pieces. He traced the money to Johnson through a sliced up pay slip.

Woman Scorns Life of Ease For One of Adventure

Capetown, June 8—(CP)—Mrs. Esme Lowands—known as "Tess of the Bushveld, the only woman ever to have served as an active game warden in South Africa—sailed from Capetown recently on a six-month lecture tour of Europe.

Now in her early 50s, Mrs. Lowands has led a life of adventure in an area of the Transvaal teeming with game, which few of her city sisters would envy.

Mrs. Lowands, after qualifying as a teacher, married the warden in charge of the 160,000-area Sabi game reserve on the western borders of the Kruger National Park. This reserve consists of 25 farms with nine camps and is favored by poachers, Europeans and native alike, who invade it in organized gangs.

Mrs. Lowands' duties were, until the Second World War began, largely domestic, with anything from baby mambas confronting her when she stepped into the dining room armed only with a duster.

Took Hubby's Job

Then her husband went on active service. Rather than give up the life in the wilds, Mrs. Lowands stepped into his shoes.

As the only woman in the huge reserve, and often the only white person, Mrs. Lowands, accompanied by native assistants, regularly patrolled the reserve by motor truck.

"You can keep pretty busy by patrolling a game reserve like that. You have to when there's nobody around to talk to," said Mrs. Lowands,

"But when it is night in the jungle and you hear the throb of the native tom-toms in the Kraal nearby and you know by the vibrating roars of the lions and the barking of the jackals that you are surrounded, then your nerves must be good."

Mrs. Lowands stayed in the reserve on her own for more than two years until her husband was invalided out of the armed forces.

Then she went to Johannesburg to help organize the Wild Life Protection Society, and later became the first woman member of the town council of Barberton where she was born.

Dummy Baby Used To Trap Child

London, June 9 (Rtuters)—A golden-haired six-year-old girl sat smiling and playing with her doll in a juvenile court here Wednesday as a detective told how she had attacked babies in their baby carriages. One baby, four months old, was clawed from forehead to chin. Another baby attacked by the girl was only four weeks old. A dummy baby placed in a carriage as a decoy trapped the child. The case was adjourned pending a medical report.

Woman Indicted Accused of Concealing Her Russian Birth

San Francisco, June 9. (AP)—Dr. Bertha Barkan Luthy, a biochemist doing Nuclear reseach at Stanford University, was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury, accused of falsely concealing her Russian birth. She is charged specifically with stating falsely to an immigration inspector Feb. 13 that she was born in Chicago, Oct. 4, 1916. The immigration department says she was born in the Russian Ukraine in 1912, and entered the United States with her mother in 1917.

Hacker Keeping Springfield Cubs In Thick of Fight

(By The Associated Press)

The pitching of Warren Hacker, 26-year-old righthander, is keeping Springfield Cubs in the thick of the International League pennant race.

Hacker won his sixth victory against one defeat Thursday night as the Cubs walloped Rochester Red Wings 10-3. The victory moved third-place Springfield to within 2½ games of the first-place Red Wings.

The Cubs pounded three Rochester pitchers for 15 hits, with Ben Taylor contributing three hits. Hacker scattered five safeties.

Russ Bauers limited the second-place Montreal Royals to eight hits as Baltimore Orioles chalked up a 6-1 victory. Three Royal pitchers were reached for 11 hits, including a homer by Russ Kerns. Montreal remained a half game out of first place.

In the first game the unbeaten Blake allowed only four hits. The second game was settled by Al Rubeling, who unloaded a two-out homer in the ninth inning with the bases full.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Jersey City Giants split a doubleheader, Toronto winning the first 5-4 and the Little Giants taking the nightcap 4-1.

Canada Cement Squad Downs Ramsay Paints

A rejuvenated Point Anne Cement team, with a home - run punch, nailed down their first win in the Commercial Softball League season last night at the Alemite Field when they downed Ramsay Paints 8-4.

The game was one of the better ones seen to date in the Commercial League with errors accounting for only one run. Both teams played a snappy brand of ball and there were plenty of thrills.

Canada Cement opened the scoring in the first of the second frame with Finlan cashing two runs on a line drive home run to right centre field. A walk to Logue, a single by Doug Sword, and a double by Hunter added two more in the second. Everett's fourmaster with no one on in the third gave the Cementmen a five run bulge. Logue made it 6-0 in the fourth, coming home on a double by Doug Sword.

Score Three in Fourth

Ramsay Paints came to life in the bottom of the fourth to score three runs. Ross Empey led off with a single. Wannamaker singled and Scanlon walked to load the bases. Symons popped out to the shortstop and Young went down swinging. Then pitcher Frank Baldwin smashed a triple to cash the runners. He was left stranded when Carl Marsh struck out.

A single by Lawrence Horwood and a double by Perry Everett gave the Cementmen a lone tally in the fifth and they finished off their scoring in the eighth when doubles by Doug Sword and Hunter went for another run.

Hunter Starts

Big Jim Hunter started on the mound for the winners. In five innings he walked two, struck out four, and gave up seven hits for four runs to claim the win. Maracle came in in relief and handcuffed the Painters over the rest of the route with one hit, five walks and six strikeouts.

Frank Baldwin toiled five innings in defeat for the Painters, giving up one walk, striking out three, and being tagged for nine hits, seven runs, and the loss. Jack Reid gave up six hits and one run in relief.

Everett, with two singles, a double, and a home run in five trips, led the Cementmen at the plate. Doug. Sword and Jack Hunter each had two doubles and a single in five tries.

Neil Colville May be New Ranger Coach

New Haven, Conn., June 9 — (AP) — The New Haven Register says today that Neil Colville is slated to replace Lynn Patrick, who resigned recently, as coach of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

Sports editor Charles W. Kellogg says hockey sources here—where Colville served as coach-manager of the recently disbanded New Haven Ramblers — and in Canada have told him that Colville will take over as boss of the Rangers before the end of this month.

Shortly after the close of the American Hockey League wars, Colville, 36-year-old native of Edmonton, told him, Kellogg says, that he would be retained in the Ranger organization "either in a coaching or scouting role." At that time no final decision had been made on the disposition of the Ranger farm team in this city.

New coaches for next season are also to be chosen for Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins. Chuck Conacher resigned at Chicago and Buck Boucher was released in Boston at end of the season.

Rumors have 1949-50 American Hockey League coaches in line for those jobs. At Chicago such noted stars as Ott Heller, former Ranger and now coach of Indianapolis Capitols; King Clancy who directed Cincinnati Mohawks last season, and Ebbie Goodfellow of St. Louis Flyers are being mentioned prominently.

THIS FROM SPORTS COLLEGE

A national Sports Development Plan guaranteed to lift Canada from the second division in international athletic competition was submitted today by Sports College to the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, the British Empire Games Association and the Canadian Olympic Association.

* * *

Lloyd Percival, Director of Sports College, asked for an immediate start on a program to utilize $14,000 now in the Olympic fund. He discussed the British Empire Games viewpoint with its President, Lt.-Col. George C. Machum in Montreal on June 3.

Designed to produce noticeable effects by the 1952 Olympic Games, the plan was scheduled to provide contending teams in all sports by 1954, when the British Empire Games will be held in this country. The program of training and development must be sponsored by the A. A. U. and Olympic and British Empire Games Committees to be effective, Percival said.

* * *

He proposed first to survey and analyze Canada's needs and problems, draw up a list of potential Olympic athletes, and then provide through the A.A.U., coaches and other groups with which the athlete is associated, technical information for training. Such data is already available, Percival added. Athletes and coaches would receive special instructions in area coaching clinics at least once a year, and up-to-the-minute records of progress would be maintained.

* * *

Developed through studies and surveys conducted by Percival at the Olympic Games and by discussions with sports authorities in 15 countries, Sports College training methods have already made their impression in international circles. Eighteen year old Rich Ferguson of Toronto, currently the fastest schoolboy in the world at distances from one to three miles, is a direct product of Sports College training. He is now touring Europe and England, competing against some of the world's greatest runners.

Others who have benefited are Don Scott McEwan of Ottawa, Michigan University's great distance star, George Lynch of Toronto, outstanding Illinois University freshman, and Don Stonehouse of Hamilton, now at Georgetown University.

* * *

"By making practical use of the money now available in the Olympic fund, we can develop the potential of Canada's athletic resources, and raise her from 18th position in the Olympic standings to the first division," Percival said.

SIC 'EM!

The wrestlers in tonight's feature match at the Memorial Arena are both exponents of outstanding specialty holds of their own. Yukon Eric, the ambling Aleutian, has racked up a remarkable number of wins with his back-breaker Kodiak Krunch. Rapid Ray Villmer, who will oppose the amazing Alaskan in this return bout, has built up a terrific reputation from coast to coast with his dizzying airplane spin. Consequently, when these two collide in this all-out clash, it will be a demonstration of which grip is the more effective. Whichever man wins, it will greatly enhance the prestige of his pet grip. The semi-final would be a show-stealer except for the important headliner. For sparkling, flying Pat Flanagan, who knows more holds and counter-holds than many an older veteran of the game, will be up against Sky-Hi Lee, the rambunctious, rampaging Ozark hillbilly giant.

Boston Red Sox Virtually Rewrite Major League Record Book in Walloping Browns 29-4

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Stephens, Williams, Dropo, Doerr;

Fans will long remember the devastating 29-4 romp of June 8, 1950. How the muscular Boston Red Sox humbled the poor little boys from St. Louis. A few lines in the record books will note the rout for posterity.

Not since the gay '90s has a major league club rolled up such a total. All scoring marks, except an ancient 1897 symbol, were smudged from the books by the Sockers.

But before you rush World Series orders to the Red Sox front office remember that Boston still is third in the American League, four games behind the leading New York Yankees. And precedent is all against them.

Not a single club that ever hung a scoring record in the book won a pennant. Not even the Chicago team that scored 36 runs against Louisville, June 29, 1897 in a National League game. When the season was over, Chicago nestled in ninth place in a 12-team league.

Take the modern records, smashed by the Sox Thursday. The majors' old modern (since 1900) mark was 28 runs scored by the St. Louis Cardinals July 6, 1929. The Cards wound up fourth as the Cubs won the flag.

Bobby Doerr hit three home runs and drove eight runs in Thursday's slaughter. Ted Williams and Walt Dropo each had two. The total of seven homers was only one short of the record.

Byrne Wins Seventh

Following Wednesday's 29-4 wrecking of St. Louis, the Sox boosted their scoring total to 104 runs in seven games in the last week. That's almost 15 a game.

The Yankees, meanwhile hung a loss on the Detroit Tigers, blasting Art Houtteman in a seven-run inning, to 11-4 before 62,-624. Now New York leads Detroit by 2 1-2 games. Tommy Byrne took his seventh victory.

The Yank's Phil Rizzuto's 58-game errorless string, an American record, was broken when he fumbled Bob Swift's grounder in the sixth.

Alex Kellner survived a shaky three-run first inning to pitch Philadelphia to a 5-4 nod over Chicago.

All Scrambled Again

The National League race is all scrambled again with St. Louis and Brooklyn once more tied for first and the Phillies back in third place, a half-game away.

St. Louis went on a spree against Boston. After the Braves pushed home four in the first, the Cards came back with eight in their half and went on to an 18-6 triumph. Each team collected 17 hits.

Brooklyn lost to Pittsburgh 4-3. Cliff Chambers, Clyde McCullough and Ralph Kiner hit homers for the Bucs.

Ken Raffensberger, crafty Cincinnati lefty, ruined the Phils' chances of taking over the league lead as he pitched the Reds to an 8-4 victory.

New York Giants won another one 6-5 from Chicago, making it six straight. The sizzling Giants, setting a wicked pace on the road, are only 5 1-2 games behind the leaders.

Joe Yosurak Best Pitcher In International

(By The Canadian Press)

Righthander Joe Yosurak of Waterloo's rampaging Tigers is rapidly shaping up as the number one pitcher in the Intercounty Baseball League.

Yosurak won his fifth straight game of the year for Tigers Thursday night, blanking Galt Terriers 2-0 with a masterful four-hit pitching job. It was his third shutout.

The game was strictly a pitchers' duel between Yosurak and big Jim Bagby, former major-leaguer. Bagby also threw a four-hitter at Waterloo. But his teammates committed seven errors behind him.

Yosurak won his own game in the sixth when he doubled in both Tiger runs.

At Guelph, the last-place Maple Leafs got a much-needed shot in the arm from dookie Billy McCarthy, making his first start. McCarthy held the second-place Stratford Nationals to five hits as the Maple Leafs pounded out a 12-0 win.

Leafs garnered 12 hits off two Stratford pitchers. They started early, scoring two runs in the first inning on a single and two National errors. From then on it was clear sailing for McCarthy.

Walt Jeffries, Leaf first-baseman, sparked the tail-enders at bat with two singles and a double in four at bats. He performed spectacularly in the field in taking 17 chances without an error.

The rest of the league was idle Thursday. Four games are scheduled for Friday, Waterloo at St. Thomas, Guelph at Stratford, London at Brantford and Galt at Kitchener.

Waterloo's league-leading Tigers also have another first. Playing Manager Alex Kvasnak tops the league's batters with a .463 percentage, statistics released today show.

Syndicate Offers To Buy Athletics If For Sale

(By The Canadian Press)

James P. Clark, trucking executive and president of Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, said Thursday at Philadelphia he has organized a syndicate to purchase the Philadelphia Athletics "if and when they are for sale."

"I talked with Connie Mack, Jr., today," Clark said, "and I plan to have another talk with him or members of the Mack family tomorrow."

Clark said the syndicate is composed of members of the 100-man group which owns the Eagles and others.

"We have not reached that stage," he said. "I just told Connie, Jr., we would be interested in purchasing the club and Shibe Park if and when it is sold."

Clark said dwindling attendance induced by unfavorable weather and the team's disappointing performance so far prompted the syndicate to approach the club owners.

Terry Allen, holder of the British and European versions of the world flyweight title, said Thursday at London he plans to meet Dada Marino of Honolulu in August for the undisputed world crown.

Allen won his share of the crown by outpointing Honore Pratesi of France in 15 rounds at London April 25.

Rinty Monaghan of Ireland, who had held the title, retired because of ill health. British and European boxing authorities recognized the Allen-Pratesi bout as a world championship fight. However, both the National Boxing Association and the New York State Boxing Commission withheld title recognition on the grounds that Marino had not been given proper consideration as a challenger.

Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden which owns New York Rangers, said Thursday the National Hockey League club would not operate the New Haven Ramblers next season.

Kilpatrick would not comment on any other phases of the breakup or on the announcement from Cincinnati that the Rangers would send players to that American Hockey League team in the 1950-51 campaign.

Since early March there have been reports that the Rangers would not continue their New Haven farm next season.

At Lloydminster, Sask., Delisle Thursday walloped Edmonton Oilers 10-0 in the finals of the $4,600 Lloydminster baseball tournament to collect first prize money. It was a repeat performance for the Delisle team which won the tournament championship last year against Kamloops, B.C.

The Saskatchewan team, featuring Max, Doug, Bev, Reg, Roy and Jack of the Bentley clan and Dick Butler of Tulsa of the USHL gained a shot at the $2,000 first-prize money by winning once in opening play Wednesday and following up with two victories Thursday.

Kid Gavilan, 151, Cuban welterweight champion, Thursday night earned a unanimous 10-round decision over Mike Kokalla 151 1-4, Pittsburgh, on the opening program at New York's Dexter outdoor season.

Goalkeeper Will Receive More Protection

Banff, Alta., June 9 (CP) — The amateur goalkeeper will receive more protection in the 1950-51 hockey season, it was revealed here Thursday as the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association completed the second day of its 37th annual convention.

The association passed unanimously a proposal to give the goalkeeper a three-foot crease from all points.

In the past a goalie had a crease extending three feet in front of the net but only six inches on each side. The new crease will be a partial circle and will prevent players from standing beside the goal and interfering with the netminder.

The C.A.H.A. also fell in line with the National Hockey League by deciding to give a misconduct penalty to any player guilty of banging his stick on the boards to attract the attention of the referee or in protest of a decision.

The penalty for the infraction will be a 10-minute misconduct.

A coach or trainer guilty of the infraction will automatically be removed from his team's bench for the remainder of the contest.

Another new rule will be a minor penalty for any player committing what is called "slipping," deliberately falling in front of an opponent and knocking his feet out from under him.

The icing-the-puck rule was left intact. The only change provided that a player must make an attempt to trap the puck or it will not be classed as icing. Also, a player on the same side as the team icing the puck will be eligible to take the puck if he is onside. The move is ex- prevent unnecessary whistles. pected to speed up the game and

Rank Outsider Blazes Around Ardmore in 64

Ardmore, Pa., June 9 (AP) — Big time golf, ever on the lookout for a new and magic name, gazed at boyish Lee Mackey, Jr., today and wondered.

Could this grinning young man with the crew haircut and tremendous faculty for fine golf shots prove the electrifying stimulus the old sport needs?

"He'll read those headlines and blow sky high tomorrow," commented one leather-faced pro as the crowd gathered around the club house and jabbered about one of the most astonishing rounds in golf history.

"Don't bet on it," countered somebody else. "That boy is as cool and relaxed as an old dish rag."

True, Mackey, a 26-year-old from Birmingham, Ala., seemed the least concerned about the blazing 64 that set old Merion on its ear Thursday in the first round of the U.S. Open tournament.

It was the best round of golf ever played in the 50-year-old fixture and most of the wise men of the links agreed it probably was the best 18 holes ever shot by anybody, anywhere, in major competition.

Certainly the 33-31—64 over Merion's myriad sand traps, weedy roughs and lightning-fast greens—six under par for the 6,694-yard layout—set the folks to buzzing.

Mackey, out of work and skimping on pocket change, came to town to outshoot, even if for just a day, the greatest shotmakers in the game.

He went into today's second round with a three-stroke lead over his closest challenger, Al Brosch, 38-year-old pro from Garden City, N.Y., who had a 67.

Ottawa, June 9 — (CP) — One of Canada's greatest all-round athletes collided with some of the country's worse Thursday night. The result was devasting.

Lionel (Big Train) Conacher, Resources Minister Bob Winters and Wilfred (Bucko) McDonald slammed out a total of four homers to lead the House of Commons to a lop-sided 15-6 softball victory over the Parlimentary Press Gallery.

Proceeds from the annual game between the members and the press, played on the lush front lawns on parliament hill, were turned over to the Manitoba Flood Relief fund.

Rev. Dan McIvor, manager of the Commons team, announced following the game that the collection taken from spectators including a large number of Senators and members, totalled $263.

Conacher, liberal member for Toronto Trinity, and former hockey, football, and lacrosse star, drove out two homers and a triple. McDonald, former defence star with Toronto Maple Leafs and now liberal member for Parry Sound-Muskoka, added another four-bagger as did Winters and George Hees (L—Toronto Broadview.)

McDonald, on the mound for the Commons team, limited the Gallery to 10 hits, including two-baggers by D'Arcy (Canadian Press) O'Donnell and Denys (Montreal La Patrie) Pare.

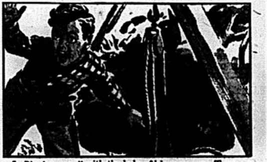
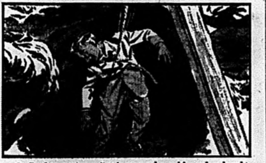
HEROIC DOCTOR HAULS MAN FROM GAS-FILLED WELL

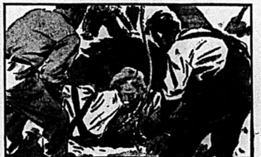
Dr. N. A. Stewart, of Davidson, Sask., completes rescue after twice losing consciousness



1. Digging a well with the help of his young son Tony, Adolph Shymko had reached a depth of about 40 feet when he was overcome by toxic gas fumes. Seeing his father unconscious, young Tony screamed for help. However, rescue attempts by two men failed . . . and Dr. N. A. Stewart was called to the scene.



2. Dr. Stewart immediately secured a cable and ordered the others to lower him to the bottom. He lost consciousness about two thirds of the way down, but regained it at the bottom long enough to fasten a rope to Shymko's inert body. He then called to the men above who started to haul both of them to safety.



3. Courageous Dr. Stewart lost consciousness again when he was being pulled up, but recovered when he reached the surface. Shymko came to on the way to the hospital. Dr. Stewart's deed is in keeping with the highest traditions of his profession. We are proud to present him with THE DOW AWARD.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge gets more followers by the minute. The game, including its whist ancestors, is now more than four centuries old. It still is the most popular indoor pastime outside of kissing.

Each decade or score of years brings forth some noted expert of his time. As his following increases, so does interest in the game. So does his brand of ideas whether accurate or not.

The sadness of it is that each master of the past has missed the boat in one important phase. Instead of developing toward simplicity his trend was toward foibles to match the most adept.

This called for experiments adaptable to the few. These led to frequent changes that prevented standardization. Sooner or later were great masses of players discouraged thereby.

As a result, bridge has had its depressions. But not for long. Always it bounced back to remain the card game that lasted longer than any other. A tribute to its undying basic appeal.

More bridge is now being played than ever before. The last few years saw it take an amazing spurt. At the moment it is leaping in recruits from the ranks of newlyweds since the war end.

The newer players will be better bidders than those of the old school. But oldtimers got hard training in play during auction days and still have an edge in that department.

An experienced player in south will save his five diamond contract if opponents take first two heart tricks, even if the second heart is won by east. An east spade return is grabbed by south ace.

A trump round is pulled. Two club ruffs and two heart ruffs will set up the fifth north heart. On it shed south's small spade.

At times a losing act is due to lack of practice.

Movie Column

Hollywood, June 9 (AP)—The girls on television have gone too far with their low-cut gowns, says Ann Sheridan, of all people.

What's more, she predicts the next trend in feminine fashions will be toward concealment.

"Women have gone to extremes in nudity," said the former Texas school teacher. "They have lost the art of glamor, which is concealment, not revealment.

"Most of the offenders are the TV gals who vie to see who can wear the lowest gowns. That, coupled with the fad of French bathing suits, has worked to eliminate whatever mystery existed about the feminine form."

The glamor girls fo Viedo (notably Faye Emerson) have been featuring gowns cut to amazing new lows. But Miss Sheridan indicated this trend will be stopped.

Eyes Have 'It'

A woman's eyes are her greatest attraction," she expounded. "She can create much more attention with her eyes than being half-dressed.

"Women will have to learn to use their eyes and their voices again, because television must eventually be censored."

Miss Sheridan made it clear that wasn't knocking cheese-cake. "Every man likes sweater pictures of Lana Turner or bathing suit pictures of Joan Caufield," she said. "But there is such a thing as going too far."

No Surprises!

She was reminded that she first found fame as the exponent of "oomph." She said she never liked the word because "it sounds like a man stooping over in a telephone booth"

"But at least 'oomph' was an expression of surprise. How can a girl surprise a man today? It's getting to the point where a girl in a tight sweater won't get a second look from a man."

Little Benny's Note Book

I was wishing my homewerk was all done alreddy instead of not even started yet, and ma said, Really, Benny, I mean really, I wonder how long it would take you to get that homewerk started if you were left to your own dawdling devices. I wish I could make you realize that laziness is the werst of the 7 dedly sins, because time once waisted can never be regained, she said

Aw G, ma, I was just going to start, I said, and pop said, I beleive he was at that, my dear. I saw a resolute glint just about to come into his eyes, he said.

Now William, you're the last person to excuse him, because you're the very one he gets that dawdling streek from, ma said. Look at that book-case with the books all in helter skelter order with no regard for the alfabet. I left you starting to arrange them, and an hour later I came back and you were still in the same spot and so were the books, she said, and I said, Well jimminies, ma, he wasn't just standing there. He was bizzy as anything. The ferst book he happened to pick out was that old blue Spannish school book, and he opened it in the middle and started to see how mutch Spannish he could still understand. And that's what he was doing the whole time, delibritly trying to improve his education, I said.

That was very noble of him, I'm sure, but it's your own shiftlessness that happens to be in question, ma said, and pop said, My dear, let justice be done. For the passed 20 minutes the boy has been extreemly bizzy trying to reed his comic book unobserved. I never saw sutch industrious twisting and squerming in my life, he said.

Oh hush and keep quiet, you're just 2 berds of a single feather, ma said.

Which we are.

Only Unmarried Missionaries In China Suggested

Montreal, June 9 (CP) — A policy of sending only unmarried missionaries into China was suggested at the closing sessions of the United Church General Assembly Thursday.

Rev. D. E. B. Copeland, a missionary recently returned from China, made the suggestion during presentation of a report on overseas missions.

He said the presence of missionaries in China with their families tends, under present-day circumstances, to emphasize a difference in standards of living and educational facilities for children between the Western and Chinese Christians.

In answer to questions as to freedom of religion in Communist dominated China, Dr. Copeland said conditions vary in different parts of the country.

The communists follow the "usual communist practice" of regarding all religion as superstition and discouraging its practice.

However, he said, they do have a law guaranteeing freedom of worship and, up to the time he left the country about four months ago, there had been no official attempt to suppress church services.

Re-entry Permits

Dr. Copeland said missionaries in China were generally not permitted to travel outside their districts and that re-entry permits for missionaries who left China or new entry permits were almost impossible to obtain.

Earlier Thursday, the meeting debated a recent incident at Shawinigan Falls, Que., in which the meeting house of the Christian Brethren Sect was attacked by a mob. Delegates discussed the stand the conference could take on the "threat to civil and religious liberties" involved in the incident. The debate was cut short by lack of time.

However, a general resolution was passed expressing concern at all threats to freedom of religion and speech and asking the United Church's General Council to appoint a commission to enquire into the whole subject with special reference to the province of Quebec.

Finds Elephant In His Barn

Stanley, N.D., June 9 (AP)—When Julius Eastvold walked out to the barn on a farm Thursday morning, he wasn't sure whether he was awake or still dreaming.

In phoning authorities here, he learned that the pachyderm was one of two belonging to a circus which played here Wednesday.

The elephant had broken loose and sought refuge in the barn, evidently an old hand at opening barn doors. The circus attendants retrieved the animal.

Try to Stamp Out Widow-Strangling

Stephen Lonergan, Australian representative in the Trust Territory of New Guinea, told the U.N. Trusteeship Council Thursday that Australia intends to allow the New Guinea natives to preserve the best features of their customs.

"However, there are certain bad features, one of which is the wife strangled after her husband has died," he said. "Such customs the administration doesn't want preserved."

STILL POURING LAVA

Honolulu, June 9 — (AP) — The volcano Mauna Loa on the island of Hawaii, which erupted one week ago, still was pouring a river of lava today into the ocean 25 miles away. Capt. Charles Eggers of Hawaiian Airlines said the river of red-hot rock, with branches like fiery fingers, still was a spectacular show.

Drops Suitcase For Airplane

Mobile, Ala., June 9 (AP) — Clause A. Smith, gazing skyward at a passing bomber, saw a large object drop from the ship.

The object hit ker-plop near his house. But no explosion.

It turned out to be a suitcase belonging to Pte. Homer Ruiz, a soldier returning to his base here.

The bomb bay door had accidentally opened and the bag slipped out. A mirror and picture inside were undamaged.

ANNOUNCING THE OPENING OF QUINTE DURACLEANERS

More Beautiful to live with ...
Duracleaning

For economy and convenience ... have your upholstery and floor coverings Duracleaned by experts, right in your home. Watch the unusual care with which these craftsmen beautify your furnishings.

Duraclean means your fabric lasts longer because this modern, safe cleaning process avoids strong soaps and chemicals which so often harm the dyes or fabric. Longer life too, because there is no wear, no breaking of fibers caused by machine scrubbing.

It cleans by absorption!

Embedded dirt and grit are first removed by "deep suction." Many cleaning methods leave enough dirt-laden soap in your rugs and upholstery to cause "matting" or "rapid resoiling." Duracleaning avoids this.

The mild aerated Duraclean foam loosens and absorbs sticky soil and stains, holding this grime in suspension above the surface until removed.

No inconvenience! Duracleaned fabrics are dry in just a few hours. Special ingredients re-enliven wool fibers. Rug pile unmats and rises. Colors revive. Your fabrics are left clean, fresh, enlivened ... your home is more beautiful to live with.

Duraproof—If you wish, you may at the same time have your floor coverings, upholstery, clothing or furs Duraproofed. You have 4 years protection against damage from moths and carpet beetles. Also protects against mildew. The annual cost is lower than applying less effective moth solutions yourself. Have your fabrics Duraproofed today—before damage develops.*

ROSSMORE

Rossmore — Mrs. W. Broad, and Mrs. L. Gerow, of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. F. McCutcheon of Napanee, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vandewater.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Parkinson have moved into a new house on the Bay Shore, all wish them happiness in their new home.

Mrs. J. Empey entertained the Ladies Aid at her home Tuesday afternoon. A pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by a fair attendance. Mrs. B. Clapp was extra lucky and won both prizes. The next meeting is to be held at Mrs. Charles Reddick's home.

Tennis is a Racquet Game But Racquets Another Game

Tennis is a racquet game because it is played with a racquet but racquets is another game altogether. Racquet players use a racquet too.

Tennis, which is an Englishman's massacre of the French word 'tenez', had a history that some enthusiasts like to carry back to Nausicaa, (a gorgeous thing that Odysseus met during a lighter moment in his ten trial-filled years returning from Troy, another rhubarb caused by a dame as you may remember.) However it is unlikely, and it seems that the game was first picked up by the English from the French who had modified a more rugged type of predecessor which the Irish played in the 10th century. The game prospered in France and in the 13th century there were about two thousand indoor and outdoor courts, although no one seems to know just what was going on as there is no record of any rules, methods of scoring, or style of dress. It was a very popular sport, denied the French clergy by royal edict.

Racquets, on the other hand, got its start in an English debtors prison. From this unlikely beginning it captivated the rich and famous and many thousands of dollars were spent on indoor courts, six of which are still used, spasmodically, in the United States.

A Fascinating Game

Today, tennis is a game, I think that is supposed to get the population out-of-doors into the bright, sun-filled arena when the temperature is in the nineties keeping company with the humidity.

Now tennis is a fascinating game for the truly ardent investigator. Take yesterday for instance. Sitting on the club house steps was a mob of eager enthusiasts picking up the latest on tennis.

For instance. Tennis is a game played by two or four fetchingly clad young ladies, who run back and forth in a space enclosed by white lines swinging at a ball with racquets, (how did that word get back in here). Anyway, they keep this up, shouting endearments back and forth, such as 15 love, 30 love, and so on, while all the time they seem to be loving one another less and less, and perspiring until they look like parboiled lobsters.

How Game Played

The whole object of the game is to smash an inoffensive little white ball over a net which is placed midway between the two end lines, where it is most likely to trap the ball and keep the game from getting too strenuous.

The players take turns at being the first to take a crack at the ball, and this is called serving. This serving is as unlike serving, as most people understand it, as a recipe is to roast turkey. An umpire is supposed to supervise all games from a high seat placed at the net but off to one side. He is protected in this way from the players who think twice about attacking a man out in the open where all the members can see him. Most players prefer to play without an umpire for obvious reasons.

After this sort of ill-concealed hypocrisy goes on for about two hours or whenever one side seems to have had more or less success in tiring out the opposition, they all call it quits and let somebody else use the court. Tennis is not confined to girls though. No sir. Men play it too. They come out of the clubhouse swinging their racquets rather self-consciously as the gallery expresses its annoyance at not seeing the girls.

After everyone has said that it is too bad that he has not played in years and therefore will not be able to give his opponents a good game they start to play. There is nothing different in the way men play and the way the girls play except that they do not keep stopping to fix their hair and to look at the clubhouse to see who is watching them.

They dress the same way as the girls, in short pants and shirts, but they are at a decided disadvantage in this respect.

Sometimes a fellow and a girl will play on the same side and at this point the purpose of the net becomes obvious. It is there not only to tell you the height of a tennis racquet with another tennis racquet held on top of the first one, but also serves to keep the opponents apart. Also it comes in handy at the end of the game for the men to jump over and show the girls how athletic they really are.

And that is about all there is to tell about tennis. Don't confuse tennis with racquets though or this little treatise will have been wasted.

HEROINE OF STAMFORD CENTRE FIRE

Heroine of the fire at Stamford Centre, Ont., in which two lost their lives, was Arline Waugh, 16-year-old high school girl. She died in a vain attempt to save her sister Fanny, five, from the flames that consumed their small bungalow. Eleven others escaped. — Central Press Canadian.

One Killed and Four Injured When Freight Train Strikes Motor Car Stalled on Tracks

North Bay, June 10 — (CP) — One man was killed and four other persons were injured Friday night when a westbound freight train struck a stalled automobile on a crossing at nearby Corbeil.

Killed was Louis Roy, 62. Most seriously injured was his wife, Mrs. Valeda Roy, 61. She has a double fracture of her left forearm, fractured clavicle, multiple cuts and bruises to head and body.

Driver of the car, Louis Roy's son, Robert Roy, 22, of Sudbury, was uninjured. Wife of the driver Mrs. Patricia Roy, 22, escaped with bruises and a severe shaking up.

Mrs. Rudolph Lemieux, 25, of Sudbury, and her 10-month-old daughter, Mary Louise, also were injured. The baby suffered a 3 1-2 inch gash in her neck and bruises. The mother suffered multiple cuts and bruises.

Hospital authorities said the injured spent a "fair night."

Eyewitness Leo Voyer, sitting in front of a store when the accident occurred about 8.45 p.m., said that warning flashes and bells were working at the crossing.

He rushed to the wrecked car, which was carried 60 feet down the right of way, and found that only driver Robert Roy and his dead afther had been thrown clear. Mrs. Robert Roy managed to free herself. Crow bars were used to pry the baby, its mother and the dead man's wife from the upturned car.

Engineer S. Donaldson of North Bay, said he first saw the stalled car "about 10 boxcar lengths away" and applied the brakes but it was too late to halt the long freight.

An inquest likely will be held, police officers said today.

LOVELORN MAN SLAYS DIVORCEE THEN KILLS SELF

Pontiac, Mich., June 10 (AP) —The middle-aged and lovelorn admirer who killed socially-prominent Mrs. Thelma Clark came to his own death as he had promised.

He had been shot in the heart. The deer rifle which police said he had used in killing Mrs. Clark, 39, women's city golf champion, lay between his legs.

Gesch's death, which a friend said he had foretold after the shooting of Mrs. Clark, was declared a suicide by Prosecutor Clyde D. Underwood.

Mrs. Clark, a divorcee and mother of a 12-year-old son, was slain Friday in front of the home of her father, a General Motors Corporation official.

Police said it was an evident case of jealousy.

In the gunfire Mrs. Clark's mother, Mrs. Hettie Gorsline, 58, and Charles Moore, 38, an automobile salesman, were injured A chip of concrete ripped from the sidewalk by a bullet struck Mrs. Gorsline in the chest.

Mrs. Clark and Moore had just returned from a tavern visit when Gesch appeared, began an argument and fired at them, police said.

About midnight his body was found.

GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Peterborough, June 10—(CP)—John Zahodnik, Toronto, and James Zahodnik, Hamilton, Friday were found guilty by a jury of assaulting James Hogan, restaurant proprietor, last Nov. 13. After the jury had returned its verdict, James pleaded guilty to assaulting and beating Mrs. Hogan during the same rumpus, which occurred in the restaurant.

James was fined $200 for the charge of assaulting Mr. Hogan and $100 for the charge of assaulting and beating Mrs. Hogan. John, whose offence, the judge said, was less serious, was fined $100.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 10 (CP)—Synopsis: After three days of sweltering heat in Southern Ontario, relief is on the way. Dryer, cooler air is pushing southeastward to replace the warm, moist tropical air that gave local severe thunderstorms on Friday.

Sunday should be sunny and a little cooler in southern regions, and mainly cloudy and cooler in northern regions.

BANDITS GET $12,000

Woodbury, Conn., June 10 — (AP)—Two bandits robbed the Woodbury bank Friday and fled with a loot of about $12,000. Oddly enough, the bank was used by Connecticut state police nine months ago as the subject of a movie showing how they could halt a bank robbery.

SCORES INJURED HEAVY DAMAGE IN WINDSOR STORM

Trees Uprooted, Roofs Lifted by Strong Wind

Windsor, Ont., June 10. (CP)—Strong, gusty winds which at times approached a velocity of 60 miles an hour caused heavy damage in parts of Windsor and Detroit late Friday.

The storm lasted only 15 minutes. But in that time several persons were injured, trees were uprooted, roofs were lifted and high-tension wires blown down.

Damage, confined for the most part to the East Windsor suburb of Riverside and that part of Detroit directly across the river, is expected to run into thousands of dollars.

Most of the injuries — none serious—were caused by flying glass pane shattered over a group of poduction workers and most suffered cuts.

Lighting and rain accompanies the wind. A hydro substation was struck by a bolt and firemen were called to put out the blaze.

Several Power Failures

Power failed in four of the city's main east-side hydro districts and linemen worked all night to restore it. Extra police were called out to prevent people touching live wires which were blown down.

On Belle Isle, Detroit's large island park, officials said 1,000 trees were destroyed.

In Riverside, the roof of a beauty shop was torn off, gasoline pumps were torn from their foundations and garages shifted several feet.

The storm was little more than local, Weather Bureau officials said. Only slight damage was reported in Essex county, Leamington and Kingsville, 25 to 30 miles away.

Though damage was extensive, reports showed that it was not nearly as severe as that caused by the tornado which four years ago this month took the lives of 16 residents in the Sandwich area of Windsor.

Claim Blasting Damaged Buildings As Well as Land

Toronto, June 10 — (CP) — A legal battle between a Manitoulin Island couple and a mining company has moved into Ontario Court of Appeal.

Canadian Silica Corporation is appealing against an injunction which restricts its blasting operations in a quarry on land it leased from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rolston. The injunction was granted last December.

The firm is restrained from causing injury to the fences, trees, lands, cattle or sheep on the Rolstons' 500-acre farm. The Rolstons claimed blasts in the quarry shook their house and barn, damaged both buildings, killed sheep and made 20 acres of their land unsuitable for agriculture.

"They built a fine home and are entitled to the enjoyment of it," remarked Chief Justice R. S. Robertson. "They are entitled to work their land at times convenient to them and not to the defendants."

The case is continuing.

World's Prized Zoo Animal Gravely Ill From Arthritis and Heart Disease

Chicago, June 10 — (AP) — Bushman, a massive, ugly-faced gorilla who is regarded as the world's prized zoo animal and probably has more fans than a movie star, is gravely ill.

The famed ape, Chicago's biggest single attraction for 20 years, was reported suffering from arthritis, heart disease and old age.

"He might die in the next five minutes or he may live a year," said Dr. Wesley Young, head veterinary at the Lincoln Park Zoo.

The veterinarians attending Bushman diagnosed his illness from a distance. They said that even in his weakened condition it would be impossible to enter his cage to examine him.

No one has entered the huge gorilla's cage since 1936. The ban was ordered after Bushman, then weighing 150 pounds, pulled his 185-pound trainer down a flight of stairs.

Bushman is 22 years old and said to be the oldest gorilla in captivity. He weighs 550 pounds and is six feet, two inches tall. The strength of his hands is immense, veterinarians said, and even if he were unconscious his reflexes might seriously injure a man.

The veterinarians are giving him digitalis — a heart stimulant — in his food. But he is not getting his normal daily diet of 20 pounds of food and three quarts of milk. It has been reduced to some fruit and milk. Guards maintained a 24-hour vigil near the big ape's cage.

Bushman was captured in the French Cameroon country of West Africa.

The zoo paid $3,500 for Bushman. Zoo officials have said because he is irreplaceable, it was impossible to estimate his value in money.

But the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums in 1946 tabbed him as "the most outstanding animal of any zoo" in the world and the most valuable."

U.S. Seen Likely to Boost Rather Than Cut Own Defence Spending For Several Years

Washington, June 10. (AP)—By dovetailing its military planning with that of Western Europe, the United States is more likely to increase than to cut its own defence spending for several years.

This is the view of U.S. defence officials who are working to translate the concept of a western pool of defence resources into fighting units equipped with atomic-age weapons.

U.S. military spending may run higher, they say, because (A) the U.S. has the most to contribute to the Atlantic Pact pool, and (B) it has additional military responsibilities in other parts of the world.

Defence Secretary Louis Johnson has warned Congress against cutting "by one nickel" the $13,000,000,000 military budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, saying that nothing in the country's European commitments justifies any cut in its own defence program.

He is known to feel that the military budget should continue at the current level for several years.

Other defence officials have hinted that this level may rise.

Top military planners generally concede that it will take time—perhaps two or three years—for the 12 Atlantic-Past Allies to work out details of how best to put the accepted principle of collective defence to work.

This will involve some compromises with national pride.

For instance, France, might agree to spend less on her navy if the United States shows that it is ready to increase its naval force in the Mediterranean. Belgium might be called on to spend more on development of uranium deposits in the Congo and less on her armed forces.

Worst Red River Flood Officially Ends in Winnipeg As Water Level Reads 18 Ft.

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

Winnipeg, June 10—(CP)—The Red River flood of 1950, worst of a century, ending officially today in greater Winnipeg.

At 7 a.m. CDT a voice at James Avenue pumping station, where the river level is read, announced: "Eighteen feet—exactly."

That is the point where all flooding in the sister cities of Winniog and St. Boniface stops.

The muddy Red still was more than 10 feet above its average level through the year—but it was more than 12 feet below the peak of 30.3 feet, reached three weeks ago.

Just Escaped Mass Evacuation

Greater Winnipeg then was within an ace of army-directed mass evacuation that would have slashed its normal 350,000 population to a mere 75,000 "fit males and working females."

At 31 feet, electricity and gas supplies probably would have failed. At 32.5 feet most of the downtown area would have been under water. Operation Blackboy, the army's emergency plan, would have gone into effect.

Blackboy was pigeonholed as the river dropped. Brig. R. E. A. Morton's flood-control headquarters in the legislative buildings were closed June 1 and civil governments took over the multi-million-dollar job of rehabilitation.

April 21 the river went above flood stage in greater Winnipeg. By May 6 civic authorities had thrown up their hands, admitted they could do no more alone. Premier Douglas L. Campbell called in the military.

Five thousand servicemen and perhaps 50,000 civilian volunteers worked on the sandbags, threw up 20 miles of solid dikes, but before the Red stopped rising, fed by melting snow from its huge watershed in North Dakota and Minnesota, much of the metropolitan area and almost 700 square miles of southern Manitoba were inundated.

Highlights of Flooding

These are some highlights of six weeks of flooding:

1. A dozen Red River valley towns from Emerson, at the International boundary, to St. Norbert, just south of Winnipeg, were under water, isolated and almost abandoned.

2. The river covered one-seventh of the greater Winnipeg area, though the business sections of the sister cities were unaffected except for flooded basements. The suburb of St. Vital was wholly flooded. Fort Garry, across the river, was almost as badly affected. Other low-lying sections on the river were inundated.

3. An estimated 80,000 persons were forced from their homes. Perhaps 100,000 persons left greater Winnipeg at Brig. Morton's urgent request to "thin out" the population in case emergency evacuation became necessary.

4. Damage was 26,000,000 in the estimate of a two-man federal-provincial commission; $50,000,000 according to Premier Campbell. Ottawa announced Friday an initial rehabilitation payment to the province of $12,500,000 to meet immediate needs.

5. Fifteen per cent of greater Winnioeg industry was affected by the flood. Most of it now is back to normal.

7. Ten thousand homes suffered flood damage. Many still are uninhabitable. Repairs will not be finished for months.

Sudden Speed-up Of Cool Air Ends First Heat Wave

Toronto, June 10 (CP)— A speed-up of cool air masses over the northewestern United States today brought southern and central Ontario relief from a three-day heat wave sooner than anticipated.

Dominion public weather office officials Friday morning forecast hot, sunny weather for the region, counting on a continued slow eastward movement of the cool air. Later in the day, when the movement started speeding up, they revised this to "cloudy with scattered showers and thundershowers and not much change in temperature."

This was the weather which greeted most residents of central and southern Ontario when they arose today. A thick blanket of cloud brought some relief from the heat.

The cool, dry air which was over the Dakotas yesterday has not yet reached Ontario, but is expected to do so by tonight. This should bring comparatively clear weather Sunday, with top temperatures of around 75 degrees.

Two Housewives Rescue Four Tots From Playhouse

Lindsay, June 10 — (CP) — Two housewives Friday ripped boards off a flaming shack with their hands to rescue four children whose path to the only exit was blocked by the fire.

Patricia Martin, 5; Terry Grozelle, 3; Carol Chambers, 3; and John Emrie, 2, were in a shack they used as a playhouse when it caught fire. One youngster was said to have been playing with matches. The only exit was a tunnel under the floor and the children couldn't reach it because of the flames.

Mrs. Arena Snelgrove heard their screams. Mrs. Mildred Elliott heard her call for help and the two pulled off enough boards to get the youngsters to safety. The children were taken to hospital for treatment of burns and shock.

FISHING RESORT BURNS

Copenhagen, Denmark, June 10 (AP)—A gale-whipped blaze laid waste to the centre of the fishing resort of Hundested today and caused damage estimated at $175,000. The town has a population of 4,000.

DREW ALARMED AT SMALLNESS CANADIAN FORCES

In Verbal Battle With Defence Minister

Ottawa, June 10 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, told the Commons Friday that every Canadian should be alarmed at the smallness of the Army Canada has available to meet a sudden attack.

In a verbal battle with Defence Minister Claxton over the state of preparedness of Canadian forces, Mr. Drew said only 4,000 of the 20,000-odd men in Canada's regular army are in the airborne brigade group that is its striking force. Every Canadian should be alarmed over this "serious disproportion".

Mr. Claxton said that in the opinion of his advisers the Canadian Forces and those planned by the United States for Alaska would be sufficient to deal with an attack on the northwest part of the continent on the scale that might be anticipated as part of a total war.

In any attack from the northeast the Americans had forces in Newfoundland that would be available and Canada had reserve units which "are in good condition indeed".

Mr. Claxton's statement, coupled with reports from Washington, indicated that the United States and Canada intend to have about 20,000 men ready to defend Alaska and the Canadian Northwest.

Upward of 5,000 would be Canadians organized in an airborne brigade group ready to be flown to any threatened area. More than 4,000 already are mobilized in the brigade's components, scattered across the country. At least 2,200 are trained paratroopers. Behind these are two regular fighter squadrons that will be increased to at least five.

Only 4,000 Ready

Mr. Drew said that if only 4,000 men are ready for action tomorrow, it is a disproportion that should alarm the country. This was not in balance with the task facing the country.

Mr. Claxton had stated that the Reserve army stood behind the active force ready to take the field after "varying times" to prepare. In the last war it took up to 2½ years to prepare them.

Mr. Drew doubted if one of them could take the field in less than six months this time.

He called for a disclosure of Canada's actual fighting strength and said the only people who would be misled by failure to give that information would be the Canadians, not the Russians who had 160 division.

Canadians would respond to any challenge. They would meet any demand rather than stoop to the "criminal folly" of unpreparedness again.

Mr. Claxton said Winter training is being stressed more and more, that only 8.7 per cent of 47,000 permanent force service men are stationed at headquarters and that every effort is being made to get more and more men into operational and other non-headquarters units.

Weary Work Crews Strive Doggedly To Hold Blaze From Nfld. Town

St. John's, Nfld., June 10 — (CP) — Sweating and begrimed, weary fire-fighting crews worked doggedly today in an attempt to control Newfoundland's worst forest fire eating towards the fringes of the northern paper town of Lewisporte.

There was almost a flat calm as the men made a desperate effort to stop the blaze which could devour their town of 1,500 and reach its big gasoline depot supplying nearby Gander airport.

It was a race against time because the weather office predicted "freshening winds late this afternoon. If the fires are not controlled by that time, rangers said, the situation might easily become hopeless.

All Lewisporte businesses were closed and everyone physically able was on the fire front, slashing a wide break between the fire and the town or working on the pumps.

Red Cross Headquarters in St. John's is prepared to handle any evacuation that might become necessary. The Canadian National coastal ship Springdale is standing by to help.

Roy Forward, Lewisporte businessman, reported there was no panic in the town and no move was being made to evacuate. He was confident that if the wind did not freshen, the crews would be able to get the fire under control.

The Lewisporte fire was the most serious of eight throughout the island province. Here are brief reports from other areas:

Heart's Content — Fires running wild through the barrens in bush and turf. But the town is not threatened.

Heart's Delight — Fire burning in dried-out turf but crew of 100 men have it under control.

Sandy Brook — Crew of 100 men still haven't controlled a fire which reached serious proportions when it was fanned by a high wind.

Guard, Between 17 and 22 Horses Burned to Death

Lightning Strikes Racing Horse Barn; $700,000 Loss

Chicago, June 10 — (AP) — A watchman perished and between 17 and 22 racing horses burned to death Friday night in a fire which destroyed the huge barn on the Emil Denemark Farm near suburban Hinsdale.

Denemark estimated the loss at $700,000.

Among horses that died in the fire was Curtice, which last year won the $57,850 Futurity at Washington Park race track.

Denemark said he recently refused an offer of $100,000 for Curtice.

John Cooney, 38, a watchman who lived in the barn, said the flames spread rapidly and dense clouds of smoke were soon billowing from the 320-foot long, 40-stall wooden structure.

Cooney said he and Frank Nemecek, 48, the watchman who died in the flames, attempted to rescue some of the frightened animals but were driven back by the intense heat.

He said Nemecek apparently was overcome by smoke and died inside the barn. His body was recovered later by firemen.

MISSING GIRL BELIEVED SEEN AT TOURIST HOME

Hamilton, June 10 — (CP) — A girl believed to be Mabel Crumback, 19, missing from her home in suburban Toronto since May 28, was seen Friday at a tourist home in nearby Ancaster. Accompanied by a man, she left later, travelling west.

Mrs. Wesley Jenne, who operates the Highland Cabins Tourist Camp, Friday night identified a photograph of Miss Crumback as that of a girl who stopped at the cabin with a man earlier in the day.

The girl appealed to her for help, saying she was being held by the man against her will. The woman said she paid no attention to the request at the time.

Acted as if Drugged

Mrs. Jenne said the girl had bleached blonde hair—Miss Crumback had dark wavy hair when she disappeared—and acted as if she had been drugged.

She said that, during a few minutes when the man was not watching, the girl pleaded with her to tell police that she was being forced to accompany him.

Police expressed belief that the girl's hair might have been dyed.

A search of the London district was launched Friday night by provincial police but it was unsuccessful.

Miss Crumback, clerk in the office of a steel-fabricating company, vanished from her York township home during the night after a late date with a boy friend, James Bryan. Her parents had gone away for the weekend, but her brother, Gary 8, was at home.

The brother said later he was awakened during the night by what sounded like "a dogfight downstairs." He said he heard a dog barking, voices, and what he thought was Mabel's high-pitched laughter.

Neighbor Heard Scream

A neighbor heard a scream about 2 a.m. Another neighbor told of hearing men's voices in the Crumback kitchen and still another reported seeing three strange men in a parked automobile in the neighborhood.

When the girl's disappearance was discovered, nothing was missing from her room or her wardrobe but a checked shirt, a blue skirt, a pair of black suede shoes and a comb. Her purse and money were found in her room.

Mrs. Jenne did not connect the request for help with the Toronto girl's disappearance until later in the day.

Build up North's Air-Rescue Squad

Edmonton, June 10 — (CP) — Canada soon will have another 15—to make 36 in all—men qualified in the arts of para-rescue, bush-and-wilderness survival, first aid and general air search and rescue work.

The class of 14 R.C.A.F. members and Chief Petty Officer Hugh Clark of Dartmouth, N.S., are more than half through a five-month course here at Northwest Air Command.

The idea of air rescue personnel is said to be the brainchild of famed northern flier Capt. W. R. (Wop) May who started para-rescue instruction when he was in charge of wartime training here. The R.C.A.F. picked it up in 1945.

Air rescue bases have been set up at Trenton, Ont., Greenwood, N.S., Sea Island, B.C., Fort Nelson, B.C., Whitehorse, Y.T., and Edmonton.

Before being qualified each student must take seven parachute jumps in the open and three satisfactory jumps in bush country. He must be a first-class woodsman; know how to survive Arctic cold and exist on its bare supplies. He must be experienced in first aid; be able to splint a broken limb, administer a transfusion or give a shot of "dope" to deaden pain.

SIAMESE KITTEN WANDERS FROM HOME

A six-months-old Siamese kitten is pining at the home of his mistress on John Street for his lady love which has left him like the peeved young bride who has "gone home to mother."

Some weeks ago the pair of Siamese kittens, male and female, had been sent out from England. Thursday the female kitten disappeared and has not been seen since. The owner would be especially grateful if anyone finding the kitten would call at 208 John Street or phone 249W.

Y's Men Visit Moira Lake Boys' Camp

Y's Men paid a visit to the Moira Lake Camp for their regular meeting Thursday night. It was a fine night for everyone as well as an inspection of the camp as a phase of Y.M.C.A. program in which the Club has taken considerable interest.

Ronn Cass and Ed Littlejohn, the newest members, were inducted into the club, the ceremony being performed by president Gerry Hyde, and Y's Men Don Amos, Don Williams, Archie Boyd, Ross Booth and Past President Governor Bud Trill.

At the previous meeting of the Club, Clifford A. Holmes of the staff of the O.S.D. addressed the members on the topic of Adult Education through films. Mr. Holmes, who is chairman of the Belleville Library Board and active in the local film council was introduced by Les Reid. He reviewed the history of the Film Council which had its origin in the Y.M.C.A. five years ago. In those days the speaker said the "Y" and the Y's Men's Club had done much through financial assistance and promotion to get the film council duly launched. He indicated that a chief purpose of the showing of films should be a stimulation to action as well as a stirring of enthusiastic discussions and the expression of personal views. The speaker was thanked on behalf of the club by Linton Reed.

Announcement was made that the final meeting for the season would be held on June 15th when the County Council would be the guests of the club. The speaker will be the Hon. H. R. Scott, M.L.A.

Drawn Shingles 95 Years Old In Fine State of Preservation, Ancient Trade is Recalled

Twenty - year bonded roofs guaranteed by present day roofing contractors had nothing on the drawn pine shingles of the type that grandfather helped to make when he was a lad.

Just this is indicated by the roof of an old building recently torn down by Arthur Ketcheson in the Marmora district. The building was erected by Ebenezer Alcan in 1855 and was purchased by Mr. Ketcheson's grandfather in 1862. The shingles on the old building were the original ones and were in remarkable state of preservation.

The shingles were the old drawn type split from 20-inch some of the shingles had blown drawing knife. They had been laid with old cut iron nails and laid seven or eight inches to the weather. Many of the iron nails had rusted away completely and some of the shingles ahd blown off with the wind but after 95 years they were still in surprising shape.

The old building was situated on the 8th concession of Rawdon where for a time it had been used as a residence and for the last 65 years as a workshop.

Letters to the Editor

CITY AFFAIRS

The Editor,
Dear Sir,

As an interested citizen may I make some suggestions regarding matters of public interest?

Regarding the contract for the new school I suggest that new tenders be called as the matter is urgent. This can be done by advertising, open to all comers or by "invitation" to certain approved firms.

It is too bad that money is being spent to repair that old Police Station. It makes a shameful picture, like an old patchwork quilt. It should be razed and a new one built elsewhere. The space is badly required for market and parking facilities. Also on the subject of parking, this is a matter that will require the attention of every municipality. What is the use of every person owning a car and wherever he goes being told to take his car some other place and there is no "other place." The public demand roads, sewers &c and get them. They must also have parking space.

We have never favored subsidized housing and the taxpayer is now finding out who does the subsidizing. He is also finding out who pays for that old obsolete "old peoples' home" which cost us $300,000 and should have been bought for one third that amount. How any council could do this is difficult to understand. Surely it could have been expropriated for a much smaller sum or allowed to stand and rot.

Since writing the above, I understand that the Minister of Education favors calling new tenders for the new school.

Yours very truly,
Jamieson Bone.

Likes Bancroft

To the Editor,

In your issue of June 7th I read an article under the caption "White Criticizes Standard on Bancroft Story" and I think he is certainly justified in doing so, and to soothe the hurt feelings of the people of Bancroft I would like to add something to what he has said.

I spent a week of my vacation in Bancroft last summer and decided I could retire there and be quite happy. I have lived and worked in the City of Montreal and after six months I was glad to leave.

Bancroft has a new Composite School that is second to none, and of the very latest design in every way. Bancroft also has a new hospital that is an architect's dream, and is in an ideal spot on the banks of the York River, away from traffic noises and surrounded by beautifully wooded hills.

Last but not least, Bancroft has a swimming pool and also a bathing pool for the non-swimmers, where the water is ever changing alongside the York River, where there are picnic tables and swings for the children, and which I enjoyed to the full. They also have aCommunity Hall and library; the latter might be enlarged and improved and kept open every night instead of two nights a week as at present. Bancroft has a number of good shops, including a very nice Gift Shop. The Bancroft Hotel is clean and serves good meals.

One feature that needs changing is the bridge across the river leading from the main highway to the hotel and main street. This was built for the old horse and buggy days and is so narrow that it is dangerous for pedestrians. This matter should be brought to the attention of the Department of Highways before they have any accidents there. Perhaps Mr. White could use his good influence there.

Montreal is the last place in the world to throw dirt on any other place, and I would like to tell Mr. Mackenzie Porter who wrote the slanderous article in the Montreal Standard that when I think of Bancroft I think of those words of the 23rd Psalm "I will look up unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

Yours very truly,
Mrs. B M. Stettebo.

Roslin's Chapel is Unique

The village of Roslin with its chapel, and interesting collegehill house is hidden away in a delightful corner of Midlothian, says the Scottish publication "Take Note!" The fact that it stands a mile from the Edinburgh-Peebles road has been both fortunate and unfortunate in its effect. Fortunate in that Roslin has retained a deal of its ancient character even in the rush of modernity; unfortunate in that the village with the loveliest chappel in Scotland is still too little known to Scots people generally.

September Event

This year in September Roslin Chapel celebrates with appropriate religious and secular ceremony the 500th anniversary of its foundation. Surely this year the village will entertain more visitors that it has ever seen in its long history.

The chapel was founded in 1450 by Sir William St. Clair. Today it is still in the possession of his descendant the Earl of Rosslyn, who is interesting himself actively in planning this year's event.

Almost certainly the chapel was originally intended to be a handsome, cathedral-like collegiate church. All that was completed was the choir, but how perfect is that fragment. The founder, by his generosity, made sure of securing finest carvers and sculptors to work on the building. The result is that, inside and outside, Roslin Chapel is a fantasy of frozen poetry. Superlatives have been used in describing the mass of ornamentation. Some have called it exuberant, extravagant, or flamboyant. But none of the adjectives is fitting if it fails to convey the fact that the impression is completely satisfying.

No Set Style

The chapel belongs to no particular style of architecture. Nothing is known that even colorably resembles it. Someone has coined the excellent phrase that Roslin is "the Bible in stone." There is justice in that.

When it is remembered that the chapel came into being before printing was known, it seems feasible that the intention of the founder was to give the people religious instruction through the pictorial medium. At all events the chapel is profusely decorated with carvings. One can trace finely-hewn illustrations of sacred history from the Creation of Man to the Ascension. It is interesting to speculate that the whole mass of carvings may have once had a pattern of meaning, the key to which is lost.

Roslin's lovely Prentice Pillar is world-known. It is invariably the first thing the visitor asks to be shown. Of itself the pillar is a piece of exquisite workmanship, and the romance of the legend concerning it enhances its interest.

Drawing of Pillar

The story is that the founder, during his travels abroad, sent to the master mason in charge of the work at Roslin, a drawing of the beautiful pillar he had seen. Sir William ordered that one of the Roslin pillars should be decorated in similar style. The master mason feared to begin work until he had personally inspected the original. He went (it is thought to Italy) to see it. In his absence, one of his apprentices, a lad of genius, dreamed that he himself had completed the work on the pillar. On awakening he decided to obey his vision and carry out the work as we see it today, a perfect marvel of craftmanship. The master, on his return, seeing the lovely piece of work already completed, was visited by such an excess of jealousy, that he seized a mallet, struck savagely at the apprentice, and killed him.

Ancient legends are often too easily dismissed as tales to catch the credulous. The story of the Prentice Pillar has several things to recommend it to one's belief. If you search the chapel carefully you will find three carvings that appear to confirm the tale.

Head Shows Scar

First there is the head of the young apprentice bearing a deep scar; then one can see the face of the elderly, bearded, angry master mason who struck the mortal blow; you may see also the head of a sorrowing woman who is thought to represent the apprentice's mother. These heads are believed to have been carved by his fellow workers to commemorate the unhappy fate of the young man.

Incidentally John Taylor, F.S.A. curator of the chapel, has found in the course of his researches that the shedding of blood in the chapel was discovered to be a bar to its consecration. This obstacle could only be removed by an act of Reconciliation, which privilege was duly obtained by the then Archbishop of St. Andrew's. These facts would tend to show that there is at least the possibility of substance behind the moving story of the Prentice Pillar.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

WANTING PUBLICITY

Display is important in the life of a male bird, especially when advertising for a mate or trying to intimidate his rivals. The gorgeous Peacock loves to show off his magnificent tail; the gay plumaged male pheasant puts on a regular performance. Note how the hens in the barnyard lack the attractions of the cocks.

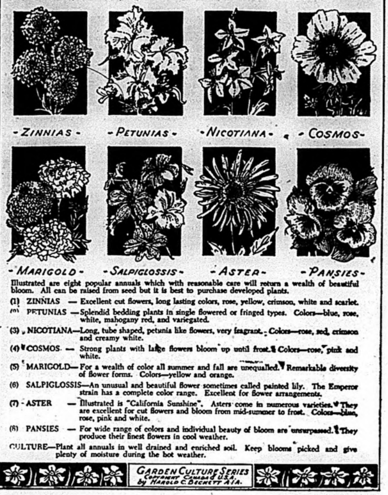
Not without reason, nearly all mother birds are drably dressed while the fathers often wear very bright colors. The showy male courts publicity, which would never do while incubating eggs. The male redstart, black with flame colored patches, dares not draw attention to his home. For that reason the building of the nest and hatching the eggs must be left to his wife, that is putty color, with pale yellowish patches. The fact that we seldom see her is proof that she is well camouflaged.

The hard-working wife of our little green hummingbird has no ruby throat as has he. Mr. Mallard of the bright green head expects his brown-headed spouse to do the chores. There are numberless examples of males with vivid spring plumages whose wives are sparrowlike in appearance. The wonderful rose-breasted grosbeak in his costume of black, white, and deep pink, the red-winged blackbird whose plumage is offset by scarlet epaulets, the bobolink with strangely arranged black, yellow, and white, these are but a few with greyish brown wives.

The leaf green color of the brilliant scarlet tanager's mate blends into her surroundings. It matters not that Mr. Cowbird is iridescent black with a bronze head; but it is important that Mrs. Cowbird should be dull grey, so that she can deposit her eggs in nests of other birds, then slink off and let foster parents nurse her children. However, when the male is housekeeper, as is the case with phalaropes, the female has the brilliant plumage, and is also largtr.

Singing is another method of gaining attention, and so, with few exceptions, this is done by males only. While little Mr. Yellowthroat shouts, "Witchity-witchity-witch", on your right, probably his gentle wife on your left is quietly, and unnoticed, attending to her infants' wants. Were it not for the clear, happy voice of Mr. Song Sparrow we would scarcely know him by sight. How often do we see him before we hear him, so unpretentiously is he dressed? Very seldom. He attracts our ears rather than our eyes.

- SOME POPULAR ANNUALS -



Illustrated are eight popular annuals which with reasonable care will return a wealth of beautiful bloom. All can be raised from seed but it is best to purchase developed plants.

(1) ZINNIAS — Excellent cut flowers, long lasting colors, rose, yellow, crimson, white and scarlet.

(2) PETUNIAS — Splendid bedding plants in single flowered or fringed types. Colors—blue, rose, white, mahogany red, and variegated.

(3) NICOTIANA—Long, tube shaped, petunia like flowers, very fragrant. Colors—rose, red, crimson and creamy white.

(4) COSMOS — Strong plants with large flowers bloom up until frost. Colors—rose, pink and white.

(5) MARIGOLD—For a wealth of color all summer and fall are unequalled. Remarkable diversity of flower forms. Colors—yellow and orange.

(6) SALPIGLOSSIS—An unusual and beautiful flower sometimes called painted lily. The Emperor strain has a complete color range. Excellent for flower arrangements.

(7) ASTER — Illustrated is "California Sunshine". Asters come in numerous varieties. They are excellent for cut flowers and bloom from mid-summer to frost. Colors—blue, rose, pink and white.

(8) PANSIES — For wide range of colors and individual beauty of bloom are unsurpassed. They produce their finest flowers in cool weather.

CULTURE—Plant all annuals in well drained and enriched soil. Keep blooms picked and give plenty of moisture during the hot weather.

Some Thoughts on Father's Day

It is still a pretty long toss to Father's Day, but already father knows what he is going to receive as a gift on that day. He is going to get a tie, comments a New York Times columnist.

The people who write advertisements have been engaged for several weeks in a quiet campaign designed to remind mother, son and daughter that good old Dad's Day is coming around again and that they'd better be ready for it. This operation began with the insertion of little notes which read, "Remember Father on Father's Day," or something of the sort. These messages now are moving upward toward more conspicuous positions and the type in which they are set is growing in size. Soon they will occupy large portions of the space devoted to the presentation of shirts, socks, cuff links, belts, watches, luggage, handkerchiefs and, of course, ties. The tie people were on the job early this year with little Father's Day reminders, and they will no doubt be busy right up to the time when the appearance in stores of "Father's Day Specials" serves notice that the campaign's end is near, for they know, and father knows, that come the third Sunday in June a tie is what dad will get.

Surprise for Dear Old Dad

It is possible father needs a tie, but it is more likely he is still enjoying the Christmas harvest and that he is reserving from it two or three dazzling examples of the tie maker's art to be worn at Belmont Park where most persons present will have their eyes focused upon the horses' necks and not his. There are, after all, other things in addition to ties, he might find useful on Father's Day. A new pipe, for example—but only if he were permitted to choose it himself, since a wife's interpretation of her husband's likes and dislikes in pipes is subject to greivous error. But it will be said that if he is allowed to make his own selection his gift will not be a surprise. And so, on Father's Day he will be surprised with a new tie, tastefully decorated with hand sewn trout flies, none of which he will be able to identify.

Why Not Something Useful?

If father is a gardener it ought to be a simple matter to find for him an appropriate Father's Day gift. There are a number of items related to the exercise of gardening father might not buy this season for himself but the unexpected appearance of which he would welcome. If his long-handled shovel has begun to show a small incurving crescent at the tip where a broad point ought to be, it is time he had a new shovel; if his old gardening trousers have assumed a shape and an accumulation of stains that are an affront to the eye, he might welcome a new pair. But it is not likely that those to whom is entrusted the weighty responsibility of obtaining a suitable gift will present father with either a shovel or trousers. Father ought to have something nice, they will say, and father will receive a pure silk tie with a picture of the Grand Canyon painted upon it.

Another Suggestion Discarded

Someone will observe that father seems to spend more of his time sitting down than he used to, and that perhaps a good book would do for a Father's Day gift. But an observant member of the family surely will note that on the table next to father's chair there are already seven books, representing gifts or his own purchases, which he has not read. The bookmark in one of these tomes — acquired in July, 1949—indicates that father to date has read all of ninety-six of its seven hundred and seventy pages. It is decided that a book will not do. But why not a tie on which proudly rides upon a purple sea, a ship in full sail, silhouetted against a tinted sky?

Coming Up: The Tie

It is possible father wo quite happy to be the recipi a newly sharpened lawn m He would not be too put he were to find, on Father's two new front tires on the car, or if he were presented a receipted bill representi valve-grinding job on the ol Perhaps he would settle for consecutive nights at home the television set turned off, the privilege of deciding w advice from any quarter he and the family will go his summer vacation. Any those would make an ex Father's Day gift. It will be however, in the event any these things are mentioned donors' council (which, as well knows, is not probable) father deserves something prosaic. A tie, say, with a thread curling and uncurli an elaborate script along smooth fabric, misspelling name as it goes.

HEALTHY SIGN

It is a healthy sign of this age that people who are oying the results of a time which has surrounded man h all manner of inventions to ease the burdens which man beings carry have not failed to hear and respond to call of human necessity. The general thought for hers who have been distressed is a proof that the age of ention has not weakened the human sympathies. Man s not been dwarfed by the machine he makes.

To pessimists who would picture the world as off tre there is the answer on all sides to the call to ist and co-operate with the people who have been tims of two modern forms of misfortunes, the fires in ebec and the flood which came down upon the Red er valley area.

As long as people will as a mass rise to the assistance victims of disasters there is the assurance that the man heart has not been spoiled with the great developnts of this period and that the human heart is still in ne with the feelings and emotions of the people not only their own area or country but of the rest of their world.

There is too the cause which is being carried on by encies for improvement of conditions in order to pro- le opportunities which will bring to the young and to hers benefits in local enterprise and social activities such the project of the swimming pool offers.

WESTERN SCRIPT WINNING

It is a fact long recognized that British commerce has ne far to open up new regions of the world, especially in Orient. Now there comes word that an exhibition of glish handwriting through the ages is being sent to ina at the request of western universities in the East. stern script is meeting increasing favor because it is ter and easier to write than the old characters of ina.

The exhibition destined for the East dates from about year 100 A.D. down to the present day. These exhibits nge from Latin inscription on stone down to the present y handwriting and vary in type from the legible copper- te of the nineteenth century to the handwriting of Wil- m Shakespeare of the sixteenth century.

People who write with their fine fountain pens of this y or with the older style pen nib might well be surprised know that early handwriting on wax tablets was done h the sharp-pointed bronze stylus and these inscriptions re all in capital letters for smaller letters were not in- ted until centuries later when they were dveloped as iters tried to write fast with the quill pen. A change me with the period of the New Learning which was devel- ed from early Irish and English script and influenced ch of the Continent of Europe.

Queen Elizabeth in the latter sixteenth century wrote very fine example of the Italian hand. Recent hand- iting sprang from the influence of a Scotsman, Edward nston.

The Chinese have practised the art of writing for ny centuries and look upon English scripe as quite mod- , whereas it has an honored and long history.

When the Orientals come to writing with typewriters will be of interest to note what the trend will be, whether will follow the British and Western style or seek a new velopment.

In the Eastern world writing has been very conserva- e down the ages and naturally has not moved as fast as dern inventions in the Western World have moved.

The world is witnessing an amazing development in ny lines. The upheavals of two Great Wars released rces which have produced great changes in the scientific tlook in the past generation. Will the present day hand- iting or script continue to be used or will it come under e influence of the typewriter and more and more take to at means of writing their communications, expressing eir thoughts?

THEY LEARN ENGLISH

In an Ontario school there are two boys about ten ars old. They recently came to Canada from Europe. nd, each one stands head of his class in English. The boys ve been anxious to learn the language, so they can play th others and know what is being said. They have plied themselves so diligently they have been taking the ghest marks.

That has happened before. The boys and girls born in nada speak English and they think they do not have ything to learn about their native language. So, they ver get the high marks like those secured by boys who el they have to buckle down and learn English to get ong. — W. L. Clark in Windsor Star.

This will be a year of travel, so think the British ople. There may be as high as 200,000 from Canada and e United States paying visits to the British-Isles. From e Continent and other parts it is expected another 300,- 0 will take in Britain on their summer vacation.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

This is a bad week for cat owners and cats. This is the week that their neighbors suggest, more or less amiably, that they either tie a bell around the cat's neck, or else keep the blame thing in the house.

For this week the young birds are tumbling from the nests all over the city gardens and parks. And on lawn and fence post, they are feebly and yet violently advertising themselves to all cat creation.

Letters to the editors are appearing in the papers. Radio commentators on the homelier aspects of life are uttering appeals to cat owners. Newspaper columnists, even, are writing little pieces, it is tough to be a cat this week.

One of my neighbors is the type of city man who, though he wants a drug store two blocks distant, likes to preserve a little oasis of the country at the back of his house. And he has hedges and apple trees to wall out the city from his view. His garden is rustic. And he loves to entice wild birds to nest, with boxes and shelves cunningly hidden amidst his greenery.

He is definitely anti-Feline. He is guilty of the grossest discrimination against cats, even to keeping a pile of things on the garden table to throw at them if they come near his sanctuary. He is an ardent cat-bell man, and even buys cat bells to give to his neighbors who own felines.

But he does love a cocker spaniel which he has trained to do everything except leave baby birds alone. I am sorry to report that one of his cat-owning neighbors, having detected the cocker in the act of scoffing off a baby oriole the other day, sent my friend a cow bell on a nice big blue ribbon.

The fact is, wild birds should be discouraged from nesting in cities. Besides cats and dogs, they have traffic to contend with. And more infant birds are probably killed by garden insecticides than by all the cats in Christendom.

WHEW!

Winning Pool, Western Australia—(CP)—This town claims the title of the warmest spot in Australia. Between Dec. 1, 1949, and April 5, 1950, temperature in the shade rose above 100 degrees fahrenheit on 116 days. There was one run of 54 consecutive days of more than 100. Highest temperature was 117.

Auckland, N.Z.—(CP) — Resumption of conscription in New Zealand has brought beds in army camps made "as mothe makes them." But recruits are novices in the art of bed-making and tough sergeants have been reduced to giving lessons in elementary housework.

Gibraltar Has Weak Economy

In 1936, at the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War, the population of Gibraltar was 19,000; today it is 29,000. The natural increase of the civilian population of 23,000 is 200 a year, with the result that numbers of Gibraltarians have overflowed across into La Linea, in Spain, whose population of 33,000 includes some 2,000 Gibraltarian subjects.

Barren Rock

Gibraltar's 20,000 people live at the foot of a precipitous rock which has no natural springs, no pasture, no agriculture, no raw materials, and virtually no industry. It is kept alive by produce from the surrounding area and from rain caught in special catchments on the rock.

Paradoxically, in spite of these shortages there is temporarily, because of a housing program, a labor shortage. The total labor force is about 19,000, of whom 13,000 are Spaniards and another 1,000 expatriate United Kingdom subjects. The Gibraltarian has an innate objection to manual work, preferring the "white collar" or the "white apron." By present-day Spanish standards the Spanish industrial worker is earning good money—the minimum wage for a 4-hour five-day week is 56s. For this they are enabled to shop in Gibraltar and increase their earnings by purchases of tobacco and coffee which they smuggle out for resale in Spain.

Supports 100,000

So much for the gainfully employed; but the surrounding area contains some 100,000 persons, almost all of whom indirectly or directly depend upon the existence of the British administrative and economic system. In the main these people have come from other parts of Spain, either voluntarily or driven there as a result of the Spanish Civil War.

Half the Spanish population of La Linea is housed on the outskirts in hovels built of beaten petrol cans and uncemented stones; many live in caves. They have 'appropriated' little strips of land, and no one has stopped them. These they cultivate, and take the fruit and vegetables together with brandy and sherry (the latter smuggled) into Gibraltar.

Like Gibraltar's Spanish dockyard employees, they buy with their earnings cigarets and coffee and smuggle them back, trudge north to Seville, resell the smuggled goods, and on their return pick up a new supply of vegetables. As one put it, "Why should we worry when the sun and fish are free?"

Wage Rates

The Gibraltarian has a minimum wages of 72s, made up of a basic 40s. and 32s. cost-of-living allowance, and tied to an index with which (subject to certain conditions) it fluctuates, for a five-day 44-hour week. The discrepancy between the Spaish and Gibraltarian rate is explained as being due to the Spaniard's not being resident in Gibraltar; the real reason is financial, in that the Spaniard increases his earnings at the frontier, and the fundamental outlook of the local authorities is to regard Spanish labor as 'cheap."

There is no real poverty in Gibraltar, but great disparity of wealth. There are a number of millionaires, and most adult males earn above the minimum. Families are very compact, and, on the average of four to five persons, most homes have 10 to 12 pounds a week coming in. The pauper is really the government, for while the people may not be poor many are living in slums, and the government's energetic re-housing program is very expensive.

Cuts Into Surplus

To meet the cost of postwar capital expenditure it has been necessary to run down the surplus balances from some £1,500,000 to an estimated £350,000 at the end of this year. The government has also borrowed over £1,000,000 and has received financial assistance from His Majesty's Government. This against a background of virtuallly no taxation and an annual revenue of some £800,000 35 per cent of which comes from customs duties on coffee, tobacco, and spirits, over the supply of which the government has no control.

The only practical solution is to regard the surrounding area and Gibraltar as one economic unit. Economically Gibraltar is indivisible from Southern Spain. If it ever again became Spanish, Southern Spain would collapse economically. If, however, Gibraltar does not ome to some agreement over economic conditions with the Spanish authorities, then Gibraltar will either be subsidized from London or deteriorate into a distressed area.

Farm Spring Cleaning For Two Days of Misery

(By Grace Luckhart, In The Vancouver Daily Province)

We don't realize the changing time until we tackle an old institution such as spring cleaning. Or at least I didn't. On the old farm, we had two days, usually of complete and unabridged misery. When the furniture was outside mostly; when the whole place was given a good whitewashing with lime, and a little bluing; when every place that wasn't whitewashed was scrubbed; when every corner in the house, even the dark fearsome pothole under the stairs was turned out and cleaned.

Then the straw ticks were filled with good, clean straw, the feather beds aired and sunned on the back fence, even the wooden slats that held the ticks up were scrubbed with water and homemade soft soap.

• • •

I always loved filling the straw ticks. Ripping them open and dumping the straw, that after a long season of being slept on, looked like chopped macaroni. Then we hauled the ticks up to the straw mow in the barn and stuffed them full of fresh, fagrant straw, with a weather eye out for thistles. After all, it was the children who slept on them. We'd tried to sleep on thistles before.

Then the ticks were taken upstairs and put back on the beds. I must say the first few night's sleep was more or less an adventure. It took a few nights to find our places in the hills and valleys But we soon got used to them.

I'd hate to think what a straw tick would do to me today!

• • •

All this was brought to my mind by my experience this week in trying to get some help in Spring cleaning my very small and very modern house. I've finally decided the way to do it is to plan a year ahead. I'm sure if I started laying my lines now, I'd manage to get somebody to help me for the Spring season of 1951.

I thought all I had to do was answer some advertisement; just call the number and there I'd be. I've been answering ads for a week and have decided that everybody else must be doing the same.

When I do track somebody down, usually the friend of a friend's weekly helper, she doesn't show up. Not a word. Nothing. Then I start all over again. Finally after waiting at the telephone like a cat at a mousehole, I got through to a number that advertised they had girls who would do Spring cleaning.

The girl turned up all right, a good, husky looking specimen.

She would do Spring cleaning for 75 cents per hour, plus bridge tolls, carfare in town, etc. That was all right. I didn't mind any of that. But she would not wash, paint nor wax floors.

• • •

Perhaps, after all, that isn't women's work. So I solved the whole thing by calling up professional window cleaners and polishers, who also advertise, until I got hold of a firm who would do anything I wanted them to do. (Some only work under commercial contract.)

They are wonderful. They washed my windows, washed paint, moved rugs and furniture around, hung some pictures for me, and gave me complete satisfaction. And they were through with the whole business before I could turn around.

And they didn't charge any more than one of these high priced women who only do a limited amount of Spring cleaning.

• • •

I asked this girl who did turn up, why she didn't want to work at housework, she having told me the first thing that next week she was going to work in a laundry. I couldn't find out why. With me, I'd pay them what they asked, so it can't be the money end of it.

But fewer and fewer women are available for housework of any kind. So I suppose the answer is the professional cleaning firms such as I had, managed and staffed by men.

As for myself, the next time I want help I'm not even going to try to get a cleaning woman. I'll stick to the professionals. After all, they seem to need the work.

Flock of Owls Attacks Couple

Detroit, June 10 (CP)—A flock of embattled owls kept Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sheppard of suburban Detroit virtually prisoners in their own home Thursday night.

The couple was entertaining friends when the incident occurred. The guests started to leave shortly before midnight, and the Sheppards walked out on the porch with them.

Suddenly a squadron of owls attacked, clawing a gash on Sheppard's head, and driving the others into the house.

It took the riot gun of a deputy sheriff to bring one of the owls down, and liberate the shut-in Sheppards and their guests.

THE PROSPECTIVE FATHER IS THE BUTT OF SHOPWORN HUMOR

May a grandfather get into this argument about parents remaining together when their children arrive and about babies being born at home? asks a New England reader, and without waiting for permission tears off 2 1-2 pages of single-space comment, to wit:

His wife had been a maternity supervisor (graduate nurse) in a large hospital before marriage and she had a firm conviction that the prospective father should stand by not out in the monkey cage with the rest of the ......but at the bedside. But he was far away when their first baby was born. When the second was born they were living with his parents, who insisted on the prospective mother entering a hospital. In the hospital the expectant mother repeatedly asked for her husband's presence; the head nurse each time pretended to call him but actually came out and said "Your wife does not want you in there yet." So once more circumstances kept the parents separated at this most sacred hour of married life.

I (Brady) believe this wretched Yankee custom of encouraging the husband to shirk his responsibility is a common contributing cause of divorce.

The third baby was born in Boston where most doctors who accept maternity cases insist on hospital deliveries, the New England reader continues.

This time however, the expectant mother found a fine physician who delivered the baby at home, and as her husband says, she achieved Pleasant Childbirth, thanks to the wisdom and common sense of the doctor.

When they were ready to welcome the fourth baby they were able to have things their own way. But when it became known that the baby was to be delivered at home all the good souls in the community became concerned. Delegations even called on the prospective father to try and shame him into making his wife go to the hospital. Why, think of the effect on those innocent young ones! He was ignorant, inconsiderate of his wife's welfare, subjecting her to unwarranted risks, etc. Still his wife preferred her home to any hospital. This time the delivery was easiest ......

Then the New England reader begins his history of the second generation—officious hospital maternity supervisor told his wife she simply could not stay with her daughter....she stayed and lucky it was for the daughter she did, for the obstetric specialist was not to be found when the patient needed him—the baby was born with only an intern in attendance. The baby's father, of course, had been sent home (the poor sap) with the promise "we'll call you when the time comes."

The New England reader bids me keep up the agitation to keep couples together at this supreme moment, and to encourage people to have their babies at home.

Well, I'll try. But, tell me, have you ever had a nightmare in which you are in dreadful peril and desperate need for help, and you yell bloody murder, help, police as loudly as you can, without avail, and a year later your wife shakes you and asks what you are muttering about?

Every time I sound off on having your baby at home, the reaction is almost wholly negative. Doctors, tick specialists, head nurses, hospital superintendents, politicians, and eke the wise-acre customers openly censure me or use whatever undercover or indirect influence they have to convince editors or publishers that I am out of step with the medical profession.

Doctors and laymen who share my belief are evidently afraid to say so, that is, except in confidential communications, which are pleasant to receive but not the sustenance required to carry on the battle.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Alcoholism

If more doctors would state frankly the moral responsibility of those people who choose to drink it would help stop this propaganda. (———, D.D.)

Answer — Trouble is that so many of us doctors are fond of liquor ourselves. As it happens I don't like it. Neither do I like morphine or cocaine. People who do like these drugs may think my views and teachings are prejudiced just because I cannot handle my morphine, alcohol or cocaine.

Combined Treatment

I owe you my thanks for the fine results I have had...... my case certainly proves the wisdom of your advice.... stomach trouble for eight years....some doctors said it was ulcer. First chapter in your booklet on indigestion should be a must for everyone with chronic stomach trouble. It cost me about $400 to have my teeth put in good working order, but I know now that it was the best investment....and magnesium and chalk as antacid gave immediate relief. (A.C.W.)

Answer — Thank you. The booklet which the correspondent refers is titled So You Have Indigestion? For a copy send twenty-five cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. If your teeth are not all working you had better have 'em put in working order before you squander any more time or money on trick diets or nostrums.

Strength for the Day

CAUSE FOR GOOD CHEER

There can be little doubt that moral conditions today are worse in some respects than they have been in many years. Two world wars have damaged behaviour disastrously. This is particularly true in the field of sex morality and temperance. There is a widespread disregard of moral standards in these two fields which shocks everyone who makes a serious study of present-day morals.

Yet undoubtedly anyone who makes this study is also cheered by the realization that the people who today maintain high moral standards are such as would shine with transcendent luster in any age.

Among the young people it is especially to be noted that the fine young people today are finer than any we have had for many a long year. Right in the midst of the most deplorable moral conditions one finds a group of young people today more wholesomely moral than were even the best of those among their parents' generation.

Conditions among young people are bad, but let us not despair. No recent generation has had a worse example set it by its middle-age and older mentors than has this generation. It is the opinion of this writer that he has in recent years encountered among young people of college age certain individuals who give promise of being outstanding moral and spiritual leaders.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE TRIED AND TRUE

We live in a restless age. Too greedy, too much in a hurry, too attached to materialism, and too far away from the tried and true. I am reminded of a wonderful letter that Charles Lamb sent to his friend Henry Crabb Robinson, in which he described the passing of an old friend. "To the last he called me Charley. I have none to call me Charley now." And then he went on to comment: "In him seem to have died the old plainness of manners and singleness of heart."

We, who have lived out a full experience, can well understand the feeling of this friend for another, for we, too, have had a like experience. The tried and true, whom we have known and loved, are of the substance of ourselves, so that we, too, die a little when they are no longer of this world a part.

I engaged a carpenter to make a new railing around the sun porch of my home recently. His estimate was a third higher than the other, but when he talked to me in his quiet, sincere manner I knew that he would do a fine job and he did. The least detail was sound and beautifully executed. He put himself into the work he did, and so I think of him every time I look upon that railing. He was the tried and true type of workman.

Why do we not look upon this "plainness of manners and singleness of heart" in the selecting of all of our friends? They are the only kind that last and upon whom we can depend to the very end.

One of my favorite short stories is that one by John Galsworthy, called "Quality." It was about a man who made good boots, so good that they never wore out! And so his business declined, and people who bought the quality boots remembered and revered the man who made them!

Our forefathers lived simply, worked hard, and put a solid foundation under our free way of life. They had none of the endless comforts that we today enjoy. They were the tried and true, and they left [illegible] should honor—and defend.

Town in Enviable Financial Position Department Official Tells Club at Civic Night

By DON SWAIN

Trenton, (Special) — "Trenton today is in an enviable financial position in that municipal improvements are being conducted on a gradual basis," declared J. W. P. Carter, supervisor of the Department of Municipal Affairs of Ontario in an address here Thursday night.

Mr. Carter was guest speaker at the Lions Club annual Civic night which was held in the Queensway hotel.

"With an assessment of approximately $7,000,000 and a debt of less than one-half million, I think and the department considers that Trenton is very well off, as compared with other municipalities having similar commercial, industrial and residential facilities," Mr. Carter continued.

No Foolhardy Risks

He said the main problems in his department's dealings with Trenton had been "in following out the red tape and routine proceedings encountered in spending public money. There have been no foolhardy risks or expenditures." Referring to the pre-war years when Trenton was under the supervision of the Department of Municipal Affairs for a time, Mr. Carter said, "If Trenton's position then with respect to debentures in relation to assessment had been the same as now, the difficulties would never have occurred.

Commenting on a statement made earlier this week by Henry E. Langford, president of the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association, to the effect that municipalities must exercise more caution in administration if they are to avoid financial difficulties in the future, Mr. Carter said that if all municipalities used the same discretion as Trenton and several other Eastern Ontario municipalities, Mr. Langford's remarks would not have been permissible.

Must Interest Ratepayer

Mr. Carter said he felt that something should be done to stir up the interest of the ratepayer who took little interest in civic matters unless they are kicked in the pocketbook. The speaker backed up this statement by pointing out that only 45 per cent of those eligible voted at the last municipal elections in Ontario.

"Every ratepayer has a responsibility to himself and his fellow ratepayers. He should at least get out and vote on election day and make a decision on those who are going to look after his interests in the community."

Turning to provincial subsidies and grants, Mr. Carter drew attention to the increasing aid given Trenton by the province since 1943. Citing the provincial capital building grant of $33,500 for the Trenton and District Memorial Hospital, Mr. Carter predicted that "undoubtedly if the ratepayers see fit to increase the accommodation of the hospital, similar assistance will be provided by the province on a per bed basis."

Depends on How Vote Goes

In reply to a question from the audience as to whether the Municipal Board would "squelch" the $125,000 hospital debenture by-law if it received the approval of the voters on Monday, Mr. Carter replied, "I can't see anything in the town's financial structure where the board would be justified in refusing it. The outcome of the vote is the crux of the matter, the board will merely rubber stamp it I can't see how any factor would cause them to reject it."

Emphasizing that "community pride is worth dollars", Mr. Carter went on to say that "debt should be staggered so as not to cause a fluctuation in the tax rate. Hospital, sewage, road and school bodies" should be acquainted with each other's plans and carry them out as a long term development program.

Lauds Hospital Board

Commending the Lions Club for their interest in civic projects, Mr. Couch paid tribute to the club for originating the idea of a hospital in Trenton. Praising the hospital board for their "efforts in bringing the hospital to its present state of completion, Mr. Couch added that "unfortunately their reward from some quarters has been besmirching remarks and worse still even their character integrity is being questioned."

Mr. Couch deplored the fact that five years after the hospital was started "we are debating whether we are going to complete that memorial." Mr. Couch stated he could not understand the present objections to the hospital debenture by-law because only recently council passed a similar by-law without a referendum and nobody "bothered to issue an injunction or find out why."

In conclusion Mayor Couch said, "I hope that we can go out on Monday and keep faith with those who gave their all for the town of Trenton. We have gone three quarters of the way, I don't think we can turn back."

"Mr. Trenton"

Introduced as "Mr. Trenton by Lion Pete Aziz, Senator William A. Fraser said, "I don't think anyone can have a more exalted title than Mr. of his own home town. If I could inoculate the same feeling of civic loyalty in 75 per cent of the people of Trenton for the town that has given them their home, it would be a great thing for Trenton," he added.

Bruce Jandrew, Warden of the United Counties told the gathering that the only debt his township of Murray had incurred was $12,000 donated to the Trenton and District Memorial Hospital. In reply to a question from Mayor Couch as to what he would think of Trenton if the by-law is turned down on Monday, Mr. Jandrew said, "I have no fear of that happening."

Should Limit Debt

During the question period that followed his address, Mr. Carter said that a municipality should not incur a debt of more than 15 percent of general assessment which in the case of Trenton would be about $1,000,000. In reply to another question regarding school construction, Mr. Carter said that "on the municipal level, councils cannot say anything about legal school expenditures. If the school board is adamant, the council must grant the request, give two readings to the by-law and apply to the Municipal Board for the required debentures. Ability to pay being the only consideration in determining the board's decision on the matter."

Mr. Carter added that plans for new schools must be approved by the Department of Education in order to receive the provincial construction grant.

$20,000 Per Room

Questioned with regard to the Municipal Board's recent approval of $42,000 for a two-room addition to North Trenton Public School, Mr. Carter said that the cost of constructing a classroom is $20,000 per room. This figure includes the necessary halls and basements.

The speaker warned that pollution of Ontario waters soon must cease and official notice to this effect has already been given." He called attention to the fact Trenton has no sewage disposal plant. "While it may be some years before the town must have one, this matter must be kept in mind."

In his remarks following Mr. Carter's talk, Mayor Ken Couch said "this is the most educational and enlightening gathering that I have ever attended in Trenton and I say this without reserve."

Reeve Frank George of Brighton Township who was chairman of the program planning committee thanked the speakers for their remarks.

The councils of Trenton and Murray townships were guests of the Lions Club and Reeve Frank George represented Brighton township. Four members of the Lions Club entertained with some fine tonsorial harmony. Another quartet billed as "Our Civic Pride" and featuring Senator Fraser, Mayor Couch, Warden Jandrew, and Reeve Frank George, ended up as a 13-man chorus including members of Trenton and Murray counties, and clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry. Lion Pete Aziz introduced the various guests. William C. Browne thanked the guest speaker, who was introduced by clerk-treasurer Larry. President Colin Crews was chairman.

Crop Prospects In East Ontario Are Exellent

Toronto, June 10—(CP)—Grain crop propects in eastern Ontario are excellent and in some sections "have never looked better," the Ontario Agriculture Department said Friday in its weekly crop report.

Most countries in the dairy districts reported milk flow is increasing and in most cases is about normal.

Some rains about a week ago have improved crops in western, southern and central Ontario, the report said, but general dryness this spring still is delaying the progress of most crops. Northern Ontario crop still are being held up by cool weather, with seeding not yet completed in most counties. An exception is Timiskaming, where farmers report seeding finished and say that growth has been "remarkably good."

Bride-Elect Honored By Girl Friends

On Monday evening last, a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. C. Young, Bettes Street, in honor of Miss Kathleen DeGenova, bride-elect of this month. Twenty-five girl friends were present.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with white bells, streamers and summer flowers. A chair, fashioned in the shape of a pink and white throne, was arranged in the centre of an archway of wedding bells. Two white balloons filled with confetti were tied above the chair.

Just as Kathleen touched the first gift in the beautifully decorated pink and white basket, the balloons were cut by her sister, Mrs. Pat Tomaso, sending down a shower of confetti upon the bride-to-be, completing this lovely scene.

Mrs. Anthony DeGenova, sister-in-law of the bride-elect, assisted in the opening of the many gifts. When the last gift was opened, Kathleen expressed her thanks to all present for the many lovely and useful presents.

Candles were then passed to the assembled guests by little Ellen Huffman, Georgina Armstrong, and Nadine Young. The remainder of the evening was spent playing bingo. The winners receiving small prizes.

Lecture, Study Club Suspends Activities

The annual meeting of the executive of the Belleville Lecture and Study Club was held Wednesday evening, at the home of the president, Mr. A. C. Cole.

The treasurer gave the financial statement showing a bank balance of $70.39.

The Club was formed about fifteen years ago primarily to fill a need amongst some of the more interested citizens to study world affairs and to discuss them. Mr. P. C. MacLaurin was its first chairman.

This club has been instrumental in bringing to the city some outstanding lectures during the past seasons, and it is with deep regret that the present executive has had to make the decision to discontinue the club's activities.

It was decided that the reasonably small amount of funds should be dispensed locally in the interests and aims of adult education, so it was decided that the treasurer, Mr. Robt. McCulloch, be the representative to present the club's donation to the Corby Public Library.

Working Mothers Create Problem, Children Suffer

By MURRIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Leamington, England, June 10. (CP)—Working mothers are a new problem for British schoolteachers.

Children who arrive late for lessons, untidy and without their dinner money, are generally those whose mothes go out to work.

"In nearly every case we find it is these children who are generally the most unsatisfactory," Miss C. M. Scott of Liverpool, told a conference of head teachers.

The trouble simply is, said Miss Scott, that in many cases women prefer work outside the home. They'd rather do office jobs than look after junior.

"Many children leave home in the morning without having seen their mothers. They have to get ready for school themselves and prepare their own breakfasts."

"Bless the clean clinic which weighed me with care,
"And the nursery school teacher who toothcombed my hair,
"And the youth movement leaders, so careworn for me,
"But my mother, God bless her,
she never sees me."

Five Little People Add Thetr Quota To Manitoba F. R. F.

Three little girls and two little boys, Pauline Gibson, Katherine Connolly, Janie Lattimer, Billy Lattimer and Malcolm Gibson, have, through their own efforts contributed $4.81 to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, by giving a delightful little play, entitled "Rhyming Operetta".

This play was written by one of the cast, Pauline Gibson, and played amid the floral surroundings of her home garden, on the King's birthday. Several little friends attended.

ROSARY INSTITUTED

The devotion of the Rosary is said to have been instituted by St. Dominic.

Liberal Women Want More Share In Politics

Ottawa, June 9 (CP)—Canada's women Liberals scored juvenile delinquency and "intimate romantic comics" and took a poke at living costs in a battery of resolutions approved at Thursday's meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women.

As the fourth biennial convention continued its morning-to-night sessions, delegates elected a new president, Mrs. W. T. O'Regan of Ottawa, and found time for a brass-tacks debate on woman's position in Canadian politics.

They reached the conclusion that it was high time women slipped out of their political cocoon and took their rightful place in the public eye.

"Political immaturity," was the way past-president, Mrs. Nancy Hodges of Victoria, described the present condition of the fair sex. "Women have not yet evolved from within the four walls of their home."

Mrs. Henri Vautelet of Montreal said she would like to see all women—whatever their politics—realize they have no right to enjoy democracy unless they take their full "50 per cent" share in the running of democracy.

Merely playing a "handmaid's role" in elections and political organization wasn't enough.

Turn Critical Eye

Among their recommendations was one urging the government to appoint a woman senator from every province with two additional from Quebec and Ontario.

It was further resolved that each provincial Liberal women's association be asked to be prepared "to recommend an outstanding and public-spirited woman" should a vacancy from their province occur in the senate.

There now are two women senators, both from Ontario, in the upper chamber They are Iva Campbell Fallis, a Progressive Conservative, and Cairine Wilson, a Liberal.

On the home front the convention recommended that the Federal government be urged to about a lowering of the cost of essential commodities "in order that a decent standard of living may be maintained by all classes of Canadians."

It was generally recognized that "since our government dispensed with price ceilings, the cost of food items, clothing, and rentals, has increased to such proportions that despite higher wages and children's allowances, the cost of living is causing grave concern to the majority of our citizens and especially to those in the low income brackets and on pensions."

Presbyterians Warmly Greeted By Other Churches

Montreal, June 9—(CP)—United Church, Baptist and Anglican clergymen Thursday night extended warm fraternal greetings to the Presbyterian Church in Canada as it officially celebrated its 76th anniversary in MacVicar Memorial Church.

The service climaxed opening sessions of the Presbyterian General Assembly which will last for another week. Dr. F. Scott Mackenzie, professor of systematic theology at Presbyterian College, Montreal, is the new moderator.

Today, a special convocation of Presbyterian College will grant honorary degrees to delegates from non - Canadian Presbyterian churches.

Thursday night's ceremony was started off by Rev. John Mackay, of Quebec, president of the Montreal-Ottawa conference of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Mackay brought greetings from his conference and from Dr. Willard Brewing, United Church moderator.

Dr. J. A. Johnston, Westmount, Que., Baptist Church minister, spoke on behalf of the Baptists of Canada and brought greetings from the Baptist World Alliance.

Anglicans Bring Greetings

Right Rev. John Dixon, Anglican Bishop of Montreal, presented for the primate of all Canada, Archbishop Kingston of Halifax, and for the people of his own diocese "our friendliest greetings and heartfelt wish that this historic assembly may bear rich fruit."

Bishop Dixon said he had asked all ministers in his diocese to pray last Sunday for God's blessing and guidance upon the Assembly's deliberations.

"The body of Christ is tragically weakened by our many unhappy divisions" he said said. "The sin of disunity rests terribly lightly on the Christian conscience."

The General Assembly voted to increase pensions, and the allowance for widows and orphans, by one eighth. The maximum pensions for ministers after 40 years of service now will be $700 per year, and for widows of minister $350 per year.

Stay As Long As Possible

Rev. G. Deane Johnston, Brantford, speaking as chairman of the General Board of Missions, said that his board had determined to leave Presbyterian male missionaries in Formosa as long as possible.

The Mission Board overspent its allocation by $46,000 last year, and Mr. Johnston repeated his warning of a year ago, that the church must either curtail its mission activities, or raise the funds to carry them out.

He will continue with the mission board report today.

The assembly granted the request of Hamilton Presbytery to divide its area and form a new Presbytery at Niagara. This Presbytery, which will include Niagara Falls, St. Catharines and 15 rural churches, will be constituted June 20 in St. Andrew's Church, Niagara-on-the-Lake, with Rev. Stuart Woods of Beamsville presiding.

Nurse-to-be Will Find Much Of Interest in New Booklet

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa — (CP) — The girl with her eye on a nursing career will find most of her questions answered in "What You Want to Know About Nursing," a 40-page booklet recently produced by the Health and Welfare Department.

What courses she should take in high school and the requirements of the various schools of nursing are told in this handy guide, produced for the Canadian Nurses Association.

Brightly illustrated, it endeavors to answer such important questions as what kinds of jobs are open and the range of salaries.

It predicts work "in abundance" for Canada's future nurses.

To begin with, there is an "ever-growing" trend toward hospitalization, caused in part by the spread of prepaid hospitalization plans which makes it financially possible for more persons to go to hospital.

Secondly, public health services are expanding and "more and more nurses are required to provide such services."

Thirdly, new fields are opening which, within a few years, will "provide thousands of additional jobs for nurses."

The nurse-to-be should make certain that chemistry is one of the subjects she takes in high school. She should also fit as many other science subjects into her course as possible, plus a foreign language as well as the basic subjects, English, history and mathematics.

As for fields of nursing opportunity, the booklet lists association administration (a job in a nurses' association) as among the most highly paid. Here salaries range from $200 to $350 a month. Opportunity is limited, however, because of the limited number of positions.

Another likely spot is as assistant in a doctor's office. Salaries here range from $125 to $150 a month. While several such positions are available, there is not much opportunity for advancement.

In hospital staff nursing, where salary ranges from $80 to $190 a month plus maintenance, there are all kinds of opportunity for advancement to head nurse, supervisor or superintendent. In this field, "demand exceeds the supply."

A liking for travel and for meeting people is one of the qualifications necessary for the registered nurse seeking a job as airline hostess. Basic salary is between $110 and $200 a month and while there isn't much opportunity for promotion, there is "wonderful opportunity to go places and see things."

To enter a hospital school of nursing everp prospective student must have a doctor's certificate of health. There are no specific requirements regarding height or weight if general health is good.

Correspondence, consisted of a letter from Mrs. McNabb, retiring Synodical L.M. Secretary, advising the auxiliary of the appointment of Mrs. E. C. Reynolds, Toronto, as the new secretary.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

Is there anything like a moustache to make a man look manly or effeminate, brave or weak, romantic or unromantic? The man with weak, insignificant facial characteristics merely weakens his appearance by the addition of a moustache, while the male of firm countenance accentuates his strong qualities by a bold upper lip . . . Today, young men like moustaches. Old men shave them off, to look more youthful.

Canadian girls go for moustaches on their men, providing those moustaches are conservative and well-mowed. They would not be seen ten paces mind you, from one of those wartime monstrosities which many Canadian servicemen took a fancy to overseas.

It is said that moustaches became compulsory among the soldiers years ago because a nerve in the upper lip was believed to be connected with the eyes. It was thought that if the upper lip was protected by hair, it would be less likely to twitch and affect the soldier's ability to hit his target when shooting at the enemy.

Man's willingness not to go to extremes in upper lips has eliminated the existence of such items as moustache cups, holders and make-up. In the old days, it was the men who went in for mascara and waxes to keep their moustaches fashionable. At night, they used to clamp a stiff, wirey gadget over their faces to protect the moustache and prevent it from getting bent while sleeping.

If you can get hold of a couple of fresh pineapples, why not do up a few sealers for the cellar shelves. There is a way to can the fruit without cooking, which turns out delicious pineapple for fruit cups and cocktails .... It has been known to keep for more than two years. Here's our recipe for those who want to try something different and easy:

6 cups diced pineapple; 3 1-2 cups fine granulated sugar; 1 cup hot water.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Perplexed about choice of a "best man"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am going to be married in a few months and have run into a trivial yet perplexing problem. I have always been slow in making friends, and although I am a member of a college fraternity and well known in my own circle, there is only one fellow with whom I have associated long enough so that we could be called close friends.

Although this lad is socially acceptable and of good character, he has the reputation of being a "drag" that is to say, he is considered very dull, is last to be considere by the girls, and is often the butt of friendly humor among the boys.

Now that I must think of choosing a best man for my wedding, and have no brothers or male cousins to fill the position, it would seem that this lad would be my choice. I do not, however, want to have his unfortunate personality mar the smoothness of the occasion.

L. H.

Dear L. H.:

Since you have no close relatives or friends who would be natural candidates to act as your best man, I certainly agree with you that this friend would be your logical choice to stand beside you at your wedding. If the guests on this occasion cannot be polite and gracious enough to accept him as he is, and be nice to him, then I think the criticism should fall on them and not on either him or you.

Have the courage of your convictions, and stick by your friend, rather than allow yourself to be dictated to by any false standards of convention. It might well happen that this chap will be so pleased and flattered to be asked to have a part in such an affair that he will surprise you by making a special effort to be sociable.

Doesn't want to "go steady"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

How can I write a boy in a nice way to tell him that I don't want to go with him anymore? I also correspond with his sister, and I don't want to break that up.

He seems to care quite a bit for me, more than I want anyone to do while I am still so young. At one time I specially liked him, but I refused to go steady because I am only 16. Now if I tell him I would rather go with another boy, he will think I am going steady with him, but I'm not.

B. M. B.

Dear B.M.B.:

If this boy is so far away that most of your contact with him is through correspondence, I can't see why you have such a problem. After all, a girl of 16 can't be expected to give up all her friends for someone who is not even on the spot!

I always think the best way to tell a person something is to come righ out and say it. As kindly as possible, of course, but still so clearly that there can't be any misunderstanding. In this case, it shouldn't be too hard for you just to say that because you are so young, you want to be free to go with whomever you please at any time. There is no need whatever to mention anyone else, so there will be no reason why he should think you are planning to "go steady".

BEAUTY

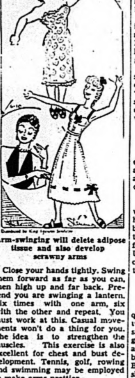
By HELEN JAMESON

Arms and the woman

Sleeveless days are here again! Your arms are out in the open. Do they qualify? Pretty arms are a rare quality of beauty, mainly because they receive practically no cosmetic attentions. They have their griefs, too, like the complexion, the hair and the fingernails. They can be too fat or too skinny. They can show elbows that are grey, skin of coarse texture. They can be speckled with goose flesh, which is no beauty bargain. Take a survey of yours. No doubt you never gave your elbows a look-see. But other people see them and may wonder why you don't do something about them.

It is possible that women do not realize that the arm invites as much attention as the hands that usually receive tender care all the year round. Arm beauty is seldom discussed when women gather together and deplore good-looks worries. We should get the best possible returns on all physical features, even though it may take a little more time when the go-beddy period arrives and the creams and lotions are in action.

You can build up or tear down fatty tissues. You can massage and exercise arms so that the flesh will be firm and shapely. You cannot do these transformation acts overnight, but if you will work diligently for a few months you will regain attractive contours. Arm swinging, done with plenty of muscle pull, will snake off adipose tissue and develop scrawny arms. This exercise is normalizing.



Distributed by King Features Syndicate

Arm-swinging will delete adipose tissue and also develop scrawny arms

Close your hands tightly. Swing them forward as far as you can, then high up and far back. Pretend you are swinging a lantern. Six times with one arm, six with the other and repeat. You must work at this. Casual movements won't do a thing for you. The idea is to strengthen the muscles. This exercise is also excellent for chest and bust development. Tennis, golf, rowing and swimming may be employed to make arms prettier.

In beauty shops you can have a hand and arm treatment that is well worth the money it costs—which isn't much.

First comes a rousing scrubbing with soap and water an a heavy brush, to remove dead skin scales and to make the flesh glow. After a rinsing and, drying, a heavy cream is applied and a brisk message follows. There are up-and-down strokes from fingertips to shoulders. The operator makes bracelets of her fingers and thumbs, encircles the arm as her hands move upward.

While the cream remains on, almond meal is sprinkled over the flesh, forming a pack. Steaming hot towels are applied, half a dozen or more. The pack is removed with a moist towel and borated talcum is tapped into the flesh.

Women Bowlers Hold Weekly Tea and Bridge

A large number of bowlers and bridge enthusiasts turned out Thursday afternoon at the Bowling club, when the women's section of the club staged their weekly affair. The weather was most delightful, the greens in excellent condition and the clubhouse tastily decorated with spring flowers. A large number of bridge tables were in evidence, the winners being Mrs. Elvidge, Mrs. R. A. Backus, Mrs. Al Hitchon and Mrs. J. Ingram.

Mrs. Harold Cross skipped a rink of Mrs. Edgar, Mrs. J. Black and Mrs. Gordon Vince to a win in the bowling contest on the greens.

The hostesses for the tea and bridge were Mrs. J. Legault, Mrs. B. Humphries and Mrs. Addison Lloyd.

Formal graduation invitations

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct to write on the inside envelope the name of the person to whom the formal graduation invitation is to be sent? Does the same apply to a wedding invitation.

Reader

It is seldom that there are two envelopes used for graduation invitations. But if there are two, the recipient's name would be written on the inside envelope, the title and the surname—Mr. and Mrs. Richmond, or Miss Graham. (This is the correct form too for the name on the inside envelope of a wedding invitation.)

Plans for informal reception

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My daughter is being married in church, the ceremony to be followed by an informal reception at our house. Should we have a receiving-line? If so, when?

2. The wedding is to be at four o'clock. Is it correct for both mothers to wear street-length dresses, hats, and gloves?

3. Is it permissible to have a buffet supper?

Mrs. C.

1. It is quite correct to have a receiving-line, even if the reception is to be more or less informal. The line is formed at once when the bride and groom and their attendants arrive, and then they are ready to receive the guests as they arrive. You, as hostess, stand first in the line; then your husband, the host (or he may prefer to mingle with the guests); then the groom's mother and father (or his father too may prefer to mingle with the guests); then the groom with the bride at his right; at the bride's right, her maid of honor; and then, the bridesmaids.

2. Yes . . . unless the wedding is strictly formal, and then the mothers would wear long dresses. But with either long or street-length dresses, they wear hats and gloves.

3. If the refreshments are served at about four-thirty or five o'clock, this wouldn't be called "supper", but there could be served either a simple tea-menu or a more elaborate buffet service.

A girl, a boy, a school dance

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I've invited a boy to be my escort at our senior dance. I already have the tickets. Have I any other responsibilities, financially I mean?

Sallie B.

No. Give the tickets to the boy when he comes for you, and he'll hand them in. It's his responsibility to provide transportation to the dance, and to paw for any refreshments after the dance. Usually the boy sends the girl a corsage, though now sometimes this is forbidden by the school.

Baby-congratulatory cards

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please answer our question, to settle a discussion between my neighbor and me? She says that when one sends a congratulation card to the parents of a new baby the envelope should be addressed to the mother only. But I maintain that the envelope should be addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." What's the proper way?

B. I.

The envelope should be addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." . . . it's father's day as well as mother's day; (Of course, if the card is sent to a hospital, naturally it's addressed only to the mother, with the card inside having a message for both.)

STRIKE AT DRUG ADDICTS

Washington, June 9—(AP)—The Senate struck at the underworld's drug traffic Thursday by passing a bill to empower the United States government to seize ships, boats, automobiles or airplanes used by narcotics rings. The measure now goes to the House of Representatives. The treasury asked for the new law as another means of attacking the dope racket by seizing the transportation used in the business.

Be Ready For That Sunshine

Avoid painful sunburn this summer by applying a protective lotion before you go out on the beach or the tennis court. Then tan gradually.

By HELEN FOLLETT

HAVE YOU fortified yourself against the ravages of old Mister Sol by getting your sun tan oil? Whether or not you intend to get yourself well-toasted, you should use it. It is nice to be a sun worshipper, to enjoy the highly energizing rays, but it is no fun getting a leathery-looking face. And how terrible it is in the Autumn season when that golden glow goes piebald! Have a weather eye on the future, my children.

One summer of drastic exposure can add five years to the calendar age of your complexion, so take no chances. The idea is to take your sunlight in small doses so your skin won't get red. Sunburn, like any other burn, can be extremely painful, may lead to infections. If the skin surface is oiled, the lubricant will keep your face from getting broiled. Nearly everyone is more sensitive to sunlight right under the eyes, where the cheek begins to get full, so use your oil or cream lavishly over those areas.

Blondes are more susceptible to sunburn than are brunettes because, as a rule, their skins are thin and delicate, of fine texture. Redheads, also are in this class.

You run less risk of getting sun-scorched when you exercise in the sun than when sitting idly on the beach. Sweat and oil glands are busy sending off their exudations that serve as a protective element. If you are a mermaid, enjoy swimming during the sunny season, apply a particularly heavy coating of cream. Water acts like a mirror; the reflected rays of sunlight are more powerful than the direct light itself.

When you come into the house after exposure to sunlight, use a cream. It is bad policy to use soap and water on a skin that is warm and glowing. The pores are relaxed by the heat and an emollient will soothe them. If the redness persists fluff on some borated talcum which can be removed in half an hour or so with a thin oil.

MADOC

Public School Holds Annual Field Day

Madoc—The first annual Field Day held by the Madoc Public School students took place on the school grounds, Friday last. It was officially opened by the Reeve of Madoc village, Mr. Jack Kincaid, who gave a short address as to the merits of field days and sportsmanship.

The day proved, beyond doubt, that there are definite athletic possibilities among both the boys and the girls, and it will be interesting to observe their development along these lines.

Cups will be presented to the outstanding junior and senior girl and the junior and senior boy athletes at a later date, and these cups will remain in the school on display with the names of winners of the above mentioned awards inscribed annually. Miniature cups will also be given to the champions to be retained by them.

It was very gratifying, indeed, to observe the interest displayed by the parents and their attendance was instrumental in making the day a big success.

MARIO ... in his distinctive feature about Food ... What's Cooking?

Although rhubarb roots were first used by the Chinese for medicinal purposes, rhubarb is now called pieplant because the stem is used for making so many pies. We enjoy the tart cool flavor of rhubarb in the Spring and Summer months. But the perennial plants grows best in Northern climates where it gets a long Winter's rest.

If you use the pink tender hot house rhubarb, you won't have to peel it. If you use the large field rhubarb, you should peel it before cooking to remove the tough stringy surface.

At the market look for rhubarb with stalks that are firm, straight and crisp. Don't buy rhubarb if the leaves are wilted or spotted.

Rhubarb bavarian cream is a combination of rhubarb, gelatin and whipped cream. You can serve it in glass dessert dishes, as in the recipe below, or use is as the filling for a baked pie shell. This latter would be the equivalent of rhubarb chiffon pie.

Rhubarb Bavarian Cream
Serves 6

Cut off the leaves of one pound of fresh rhubarb. Cut off stem ends. Wash well. Cut rhubarb into 1 inch pieces. Place in a saucepan with 1-4 cup orange juice and 1-2 cup sugar.

Bring to a boil and simmer slowly, keeping saucepan covered, until rhubarb is tender. Young rhubarb may cook in 8-10 minutes. Older rhubarb may take 20-30 minutes. Taste for sweetness. Add more sugar if necessary.

Add 1 tablespoon plain unflavored gelatin to 1-4 cup cold water. Let gelatin soak for 5 minutes.

Add gelatin to hot rhubarb mixture. Stir well to dissolve. If rhubarb is not hot, gelatin should be placed over hot water until dissolved and then added to rhubarb.

Beat 1 cup heavy cream until thick. Add 2 tablespoons sugar. Fold whipped cream into rhubarb mixture.

Turn gelatin mixture into individual dessert dishes. Keep in refrigerator until firm.

Part of the whipped cream may be reserved and used as a topping if desired.

PICTON

ravel Minister Louis Cecile, redicts Successful Tourist ear in Speaking to C. of C.

Pict[illegible] think that I am able predict that in 1950 we in tario will see our fifth suc- sful travel year. All indicans point that way,' stated Hon. uis Cecile, K.C. M.P.P., minister Travel and Publicity for Ontario, in addressing Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce, Thursday night. 'Our own inspection staff has just completed a survey designed to find out how reservations have been coming in at various resort. It is a fair sample across the Province every district reports more advance reservations than ever before', stated the Minister.

Tourist and Ladies night was observed by the Chamber with 125 in attendance. Members of the Quinte Isle Tourist Association recently formed, are automatically members of the Chamber, and they were largely represented at the dinner held in Picton United Church hall.

'Today travel is big business. In this province alone all indications point to our intake of tourist business reaching $200 millions in new money this year. In all Canada there is only one industry which tops tourism as a producer of American dollars and that is the export of pulp and paper,' the minister said.

All Share in Dollars

'More people share in travel dollars than in any other revenue which comes to us. The industry should not be taken for granted. Just as a salesman is not born, but made, the tourist industry thrives on advertising, and the most important advertising is the satisfied customer. The tourist business is everybody's business. The money which tourists spend for good and services are spent again and again,' Hon. Mr. Cecile pointed out.

The speaker stressed the importance of the tourist trade in the economy of the country and how conditions would be drastically affected did it not exist. He referred to strong competition for visitors from other sources, and urged that special effort be made to please visitors. Hon. Mr. Cecile urged that accommodation be up to standard, that towns and villages be made attractive, that historic landmarks be featured, that conservation of game and fish be carried on, that courtesy be practised.

Tourists Mean Money

"Tourists mean money and profit for all. Tell your story in such a way that you will attract them, then see that your product is as good as you say it is and that it is backed up by service and friendliness," the speaker urged.

Let us be distinctively Canadian, Hon. Mr. Cecile urged. Let visitors come into a new country and see the way we live, the way we work and the way we entertain. Let us take pride in our county's history, its scenery and its many fine features. If we know it ourselves, and take pride in it, we may be sure that others will learn to appreciate us as well,' concluded Mr. Cecile.

The speaker was introduced by James deC. Hepburn and thanked by Dr. L. Mackle. Donald Baxter, M.P.P., also spoke in appreciation of the work of the minister.

Dr. Slack Presides

Dr. C. Slack ably presided. Colin Carter proposed a toast to the ladies. Chairman of memberships John Arnaud reported close to 200 members with the canvass not yet complete. Treasurer Ken Mitchell gave the treasurer's report, receipts being $1,007. Secretary Phil Dodds spoke in appreciation of the Tourist Association and the value of the Chamber of Commerce, and gave a report of the holiday observance survey.

A quartet composed of Miss Florence Barber, Miss Shirley Pickering, Earl Holt and Ralph Pickering, and A. A. Benvie at the piano, gave two fine numbers. W. C. Hicks led in a sing song.

Wedding Shower Ends Suddenly As House Burns

Forbes, Ont., June 10. (CP)—A shower in celebration of a forthcoming marriage ended suddenly Friday night when flames destroyed a two-storey frame dwelling in this village, about five miles east of Ottawa.

Guests were gathered in a lean-to kitchen at the rear of the house and on the grounds nearby when they suddenly saw flames shooting out of an upstairs window of the front of the dwelling. They scattered.

The fire, causing damage of $5,000, left a family of five homeless. They are Dosithe Lalonde, who occupied the house, together with his wife, his daughter, Aural and two sons, Henri, and Dosithe, Jr. The party was in honor of Aural. Some 40 guests were in attendance.

Ontario Hydro To Increase Rates By Five Per Cent

Bigwinn Inn, June 10—(CP)—Effective Jan. 1 next the Ontario Hydro Commission will increase its rates to municipalities by five per cent, it was announced Friday night by Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission.

The increase is on the wholesale price of power sold to municipalities, the chairman explained to the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities meeting at this Muskoka resort.

Mr. Saunders said the increase will not affect Toronto's domestic rates to consumers, nor will it affect communities where increases in rates were recently allowed.

The Ontario Commission late last year announced a 12 per cent increase in wholesale price to municipalities, retroactive to Nov. 1. Following that increase various municipalities increased their rates to domestic consumers.

Travel Long Way To Visit Scenes Of Younger Days

Nine hundred miles is a long way to travel to visit a ghost town but Mrs. Nelson Rushford, Iron Mountain, North Michigan, her daughter, Mrs. Norman Raisanen, and son, Cecil Rushford, and their families have done just that.

In 1914 the little town of Bessemer in Central Hastings was as bustling as its blast-furnace name implies. Today the only home still standing is the old Rushford homestead. Last Tuesday a visit to what used to be Bessemer disclosed that the only inhabitant is James Nichols, a co-worker of the late Mr. Rushford.

Other friends of thirty - six years ago had long departed. Mrs. Oscar White, the former Vicia Bruce, and a schoolmate of Mr. Rushford was located at Detlor. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moffitt of Coe Hill and Mrs. L. Bruce of 158 Church Street, Belleville, were the only other former friends who could be found.

The Rushfords, having visited the scenes of long ago, will start back to their home, on the final lap of their 900-mile round-trip.

WANT A NEW CAR

Cardiff, Wales, June 10—(AP)—You can order a new car now in Britain, but you may have to wait 12 years to get it.

That was the estimate Friday of Donald Harrisan, sales directetor of the Nuffield Organization, makers of Morris, Riley and M. G. automobiles.

He said his firm alone has more than 300,000 home orders on the books, about 30,000 of them dating back to 1946.

Three out of four cars made in Britain are exported.

Presbyterians Dedicate New Chinese Church

Montreal, June 10 — (AP) —A new Chinese Presbyterian Church will be dedicated here today with delegates to the 76th general assembly of Presbyterian Church in Canada leading in the ceremonies.

"Four new churches have been erected in Montreal alone in the last two years," Rev. Edwin J. White of St. Matthew's Church, Montreal, told a session of the assembly last night. He said that similar building is going on across the country and suggested that this may be "the beginning of a great expansion."

Meanwhile churchmen anxiously watched for reports on the condition of a former moderator, Dr. A. C. Stewart, 74, of Midland, Ont. Dr. Stewart elected moderator in 1944, suffered a stroke Thursday while preparing to attend an assembly session. Friday night he was reported in serious condition in hospital.

Dr. Fank Baird of Fredricton, another former moderator, Friday night traced the history of the Canadian Church from its founding in 1875. Four Presbyterian organizations united at that time to form the present church.

Traces Church History

Dr. White picked up the thread of church history at 1925 and traced it through to the present. In 1925, many members of the Presbyterian Church joined with the Congregationalists and the Methodists to form the United Church of Canada. The present Presbyterian Church is made up of members who chose to continue their original faith.

Dr. John McNab, editor of the Presbyterian Record, outlined the church's link with reformed churches throughout the world.

At a business session, church treasurer E. W. McNeill of Toronto announced a surplus of $32,000 in his 1949 financial report. He said that Presbyterians last year raised $50,000 more than in 1948. The assembly voted $21,000 of the surplus to pay bills of the general board of missions.

Col. McCormick To be Speaker At Convention

Montreal, June 10—(CP)— Representing newspapers of Canada and the United States, more than 400 members of the International Circulation Managers' Association sail tonight for Murray Bay, Que., where they will hold their annual convention.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, will be the speaker at a luncheon next Wednesday.

During the meeting papers will be read on many subjects touching newspaper readership.

Canadian newsprint supplies will be the subject of a speech by Vernon Johnson, of Canadian International Paper Company, who will appear at the convention as a representative of the Newsprint Institute of Canada.

Round table discussions will be a feature of the meeting and delegates will split into two categories: those representing newspapers with more than 50,000 circulation and those with less. Joint chairmen of the latter category will include H. B. Cowan, Jr., of the Kingston Whig-Standard, Kingston.

Federal Franchise Favored for Indians Waiving Exemption

Ottawa, June 10 — (CP)—Extension of the Federal franchise to Indians waiving their income-tax exemptions was recommended Friday by the Commons election committee.

The committee adopted a resolution to this effect proposed by Citizenship Minister Harris. It is expected to be considered by Parliament before the end of this session.

At present, Indians living on reservations — except for war veterans and their wives — cannot vote. They enjoy tax exemption on that part of their income earned on the reservations.

Under the proposed new provision in the Elections Act, they would be given the right to vote by yielding that exemption. They already pay tax on income earned off the reservation.

Avon Jewellers Set Some Kind Of Loop Record

Avon Jewellers set a new Commercial Softball League record last evening as they won the highest scoring game on record, 25-15, in downing Energetic Club in a regularly scheduled B game.

Energetic Club shuffled their men around like a checker player manoeuvring for a grand coup, but they were jumped at every turn and wound up cancelled while the Jewellers turned out to be kings.

Arch Bellis went the distance for 20 hits and fifteen runs, as his walking three and being nicked for 2 hits and fifteen runs, as his mates kicked in with a dozen errors to add to the general hilarity.

Middleton worked seven innings in defeat for the energetic Club, walking six, striking out three, and giving up 14 hits for 23 runs as his team committed 14 errors behind him in a shoddy effort at support. Stickle pitched the last two frames giving up two hits and two runs.

Connell cf; Ethier 1b; E. Cowan, doubles and a single in six tries, led the winners at the plate. Moynes with two doubles and two singles in five trips, led the losers.

School Teacher And Trustees Found Liable

Toronto, June 10 (CP) — A school teacher and a group of township trustees Friday were held liable for $9,208 damages as the result of a fire in which a pupil was seriously burned.

The Ontario Appeal Court was told that 11-year-old Charles Gray, son of the caretaker of a school in Leeds in Lansdowne Front township was burned when asked to light a gas stove. The township is in Leeds county.

The teacher, Hazel McGonegle, and the trustees claimed that, under the Public Authorities Protection Act, they were not liable for the boy's injuries.

There was no fuel for the wood stove, the teacher said, so she instructed Gray to take the gas stove into the yard and light it so the children might have hot soup.

However, the court ruled that the boy had stated he did not know how to light the stove, which had been stored in a closet for 14 years.

FRANKFORD

Canadian Legion

Frankford — The regular bi-monthly meeting of Branch 387, Canadian Legion was held in the Club Room at 9:00 Wednesday evening, with a fine turnout. Comrade president Holt Madill, called the meeting to order, with the observance of a period of silence in memory of the fallen comrades of the two wars.

The business of the evening was discussed. A work parade was called for Friday evening, and Saturday in order to pour the footing for the Legion Club Room on King Street. The Legion ball team was discussed, and the coming schedule outlined to the members.

Leo Durocher, Who Finally Has "My Kind of Team" is Burning up Loop With Giants

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Now Leo Durocher can say "I told you so." With "my kind of team," Leo is turning pre-season predictions topsy-turvey in the National League.

New York Giants drew nothing but boos and catcalls in April and May. In June, they're the darlings of Broadway. Since Leo's gang moved west, they've been red hot.

With seven straight victories the Giants lifted themselves by their bootstraps fom seventh to fifth place.

Only one game under .500 and just 5 1-2 behind the leaders, the Giants command new respect in the pennant race.

The ninth inning is their specialty. In nine games they scored 64 runs, 17 of them in the ninth. Coming from behind to snatch a victory is becoming a habit.

It turned out they didn't need Friday's five-run explosion in the ninth at Chicago but it nailed down a 9-3 decision. The result boosted the Giants past the Cubs into fifth place.

A Perfect Day

Ed Stanky slashed Johnny Schmitz and Frank Hillier for four singles, a perfect day. Wes Westrum chipped in two homers, helping Larry Jansen home with an eight-hit victory, his fourth.

Despite the commotion to the rear, Brooklyn and St. Louis continued to match steps in a first-place tie. The Dodgers squeaked past Pittsburgh 9-7 in the afternoon but St. Louis came right back to take an 8-5 night verdict over Boston.

Manager Burt Shotten called in Don Newcombe, his ace, when the Pirates staged a threat in the ninth. Big Don made Danny Murtaugh hit into a game-ending double play. Roy Campanella's two-run homer in the eighth and Pee Wee Reese's homer in the ninth led the Brooks home safe.

Home Runs Not Enough

Home runs weren't enough for the Boston club at St. Louis. Two by Walker Cooper and one each by Earl Torgeson and Sam Jethroe, all off winner Max Lanier, fell short of victory.

Detroit Salvaged the last game of three at New York, crushing the Yankees 13-7 in a game marred by an injury to the Yankee's Bob Porterfield.

The Tigers mauled Yankee pitching for 16 hits, pulling within 1 1-2 games of the league-leading New Yorkers.

Red Sox True To Form

Boston Red Sox ran true to form following a record-breaking 29-run day Thursday by losing to the last-place St. Louis Browns 12-7.

Even so, the Sox tied a record and broke another. Homers by Ted Williams (his 17th) and Bobby Doerr matched an old New York Yankees mark of 15 homers in four games. The seven-run total made it 56 in three games, four more than the old high.

Sam Zoldak pulled a "Joe Page" with a fine relief job to protect Cleveland's 8-7 edge over Washington. Zoldak, fourth Indian pitcher, needed only two pitched to stop a Washington rally and give Bobby Feller his fifth victory.

Chico Carrasquel scored an unearned run off Bob Hooper in the eighth inning for Chicago's 3-2 edge over Philadelphia A's.

Owners of Cards Will Ignore Order Of Commissioner

(By The Canadian Press)

The owner of the St. Louis Cardinals said Friday he will ignore an order by baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler to cancel a Sunday night game until the club is given a hearing on the matter.

Fred Saigh, the Cardinal owner told Chandler in a sharply-worded telegram that until he is given a chance to present his case the scheduled night contest with Brooklyn July 16 "will remain in status quo."

Ford Frick, president of the National League, also ordered Saigh not to play the game. Frick said an amendment to the National League rules adopted last winter prohibits Sunday night games.

"That's not so," Saigh declared. He told a reporter the rule plainly states that a game may be re-scheduled on a Sunday night if consent is obtained from the opposing club.

"That's what it says," Saigh insisted.

The Cardinal owner contends that owner Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Club gave such consent orally. He said Rickey had not withdrawn his agreement to play the Sunday night contest.

At Philadelphia, Connie Mack, for the first time in his 50 years as boss of the Philadelphia Athletics, said Friday that his American League club is for sale—"for the right offer."

Mack's statement followed by less than 24 hours an announcement by James P. Clark, president of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, that he and a 100-man syndicate plan to make an offer for the Athletics.

"If he makes the right offer," said the 87-year-old Mack, now in his golden anniversary season as manager of the A's, "we'll sell.

Roy Mack, business manager of the A's and one of Connie's three sons who hold sizeable shares in the club, was asked what price tag he would put on the A's.

"I think," said Roy, "$5,000,000."

Bobby Riggs, the defending champion, chopped his way into the semi-finals of the United States professional tennis championships at Cleveland Friday with a 6-4, 6-1, 7-5 victory over Jack March of Cleveland.

Frank Kovacs of Oakland, California, and Welby Horn of Philadelphia, top seeded in the upper bracket of the doubles, gained the semi-finals with 6-3, 6-3 triumph over Billy Doeg of Pittsburgh and Martin Buxby of Hollywood, Fla.

Kovacs and Pancho Segura of Ecudor already have earned berths in the singles semi-finals.

At Exeter, N.H., Ledell (Cannon Ball) Titcomb, a New York Giant pitcher in the dawn of big league baseball whose fans said he had a fast ball that split plants died Friday at the age of 83.

His playing career stretched from 1884 to 1892 and he was with the Giants for three years including their 1888 pennant season.

He quit baseball in 1892 because of an ailment in his arm while playing with a Toronto club.

They said the only man who could catch "Cannon Ball" was the late Wilbert Robinson who later went on to manage Brooklyn Dodgers.

Yukon Eric Slow-Motion Has 'Bunny-Hug' Way to Win Over Villmer in Main Bout

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Eric the derrick did it again.

"Yuke", the duke of the frozen tundras of the Alaskas, torsoed his way to a victory over agile Ray Villmer in their return match at Memorial Arena last night.

Perhaps the thunder of the main bout was more or less stolen when a newcomer to Belleville, one Timmy Gehagen, "The Strongest Man In Ireland" demonstrated in no small way, his weight-lifting and strength in a show that heralded the main bout.

A Broth of a Bhoy

This fellow Gehagen is good. He not only twisted by sheer strength a strip of iron two inches in width and ½" in thickness into a pretzel-like formation, but ripped a half-inch piece of steel about his neck and to finish off the performance carried Referee Bunny Dunlop, weight 267 aloft in a chair. And he carried him while holding the pachydermic "Bunny", chair and all, in his teeth.

S'help me, that is what happened. Eleven hundred of the wrestling faithful will testify to that.

But to get back to the main bout. Gallant Ray Villmer, it seems, just has not any luck. He pitted his agility again against the mighty slow-motion antics of the "Yuke". Again he lost out.

The Yuke, for the moment, disregarded his famous "Kodiak Krunch" hold. Instead he favored a "bunny-hug" sort of grip that well-nigh eased the innards out of La Villmer.

He nailed the agile lil fella after eleven minutes of pachydermic activity, a sort of anti-climax to the antics of that "broth of a lad Gehagen," with the pressure putsch that wilted Villmer.

Referee Bunny Dunlop awarded the second fall to the dynamic Villmer after the mighty atom had applied severe pressure to the huge torso of the Alaskan igloo-liver and that was that.

Third Fall Different

But the third fall was different. Villmer, while the faithful howled its approval hoisted big man aloft. He dropped him kerplunk—like a ton of coal settles in the family cellar.

Then he went football. His agile heels shot upwards and landed squarely on the Alaskan puss. Eric decided, not from choice but rather of necessity to park his carcass outside the ring as ddi Villmer It looked like a repetition of last weeks circus.

But the Yuke was not out of action. Both wrestlers were out of the ring and both climbed back. The Alaskan giant promptly tossed Villmer back to the green earth, over the apron and it was all over. The faithful screamed their disapproval.

Pat Flanagan returned to the rasling wars and kicked and punched his way to a victory over the towering hillbilly Hi Lee in the semi-final. Flanagan used his speed to overcome the hairdraped Lee in a fast and thrilling go. Referee Cliff Fox figured that a sock "in the puss" from Lee was too much, and promptly sent the big fella to the showers.

Nine Colts Will Parade to Post In Belmont Stakes

New York, June 10 (AP)—Hill Prince and Middleground, plus seven other colts who seem to be particularly concerned about third place money, were scheduled to have it out today in the $75,000 Belmont Stake.

This is the third and toughest leg of the traditional triple crown for three-year-olds. Hill Prince or Middleground could just about wrap up the 1950 sophomore championship by parading home on top in the 1½-mile grind — particularly Hill Prince.

Although Middleground won the Kentucky Derby with Chris Chenery's Hill Prince second, the Virginia flyer reversed the order in the preakness. Middleground couldn't do it for King Ranch and Texas in the Preakness, where Hill Prince flew home winner by five big lengths. In their four clashes to date, Hill Prince holds a 3-to-1 edge.

The nine horses expected to parade to the post at 4:47 p.m. EDT are, in addition to the two big ones, C. V. Witney's Mr. Trouble, Hal Price Headley's Lotowhite, George D. Widener's Lights Up, Clifford Mooers' Hawley, Brandywine Stable's Greek Song and the Brookmeade Stable Entry of Greek Ship and Sunglow.

Trainer Syl Veitch entered Dooly, third horse in the Preakness, but said he would scratch him unless the track became muddy. The weatherman says it will be partly cloudy and warm, so barring a hard rain, it looks as if Mr. Trouble will carry the Whitney silks.

With nine starters, the purse would have a gross value of $91,-950. The horse hitting the winner's circle will get a cup, and $61,350 to put in it. There is $15,-000 for second. $7,500 for third and $3,750 for fourth place.

A crowd of around 45,000 is expected to establish Hill Prince the favorite. The overnight odds listed the Prince at 4-to-5, with Middleground next at 4-to-1.

A Weekly Peek At The Soccer Picture

BY ELDER

On Thursday evening the Bay of Quinte Football Association ran an exhibition soccer match at the Belleville Fairgrounds in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. The match was well worth seeing and those who were unable to attend missed a real soccer treat. $17.50 was netted in a silver collection for this very worthy cause. Two old faces from district of last season were in the city and they were asked to turn out for the Belleville team. They were Bill Holroyd who was a member of last year's Northern Electric squad and who is playing for Canadair in the National League in Montreal, and Max Wilkinson who last year played for Belleville United. Max has just returned from England where he has been playing regularly at soccer and rugger and is now going to live in the States.

The two teams on view in the exhibition were the City of Belleville playing against the Rest of the League. The match ended in a 3-3 draw which was a very fitting result on the run of the play.

Talking of last year's soccer players who have sought fresh pasture the fans might be interested to know that Bill Gill of Trenton Merchants has signed on for Cancar, the crack Montreal squad. Bensley and Andy Clapperton of Batawa are making their presence felt at Midland, whilst Wes McCulla of Belleville is now a member of the Toronto Celtic. Local soccer fans might be pleased to hear that they will have an opportunity of seeing Wes again on July 1st. Bill Henshaw, boss of the Celtic outfit has promised to include him, in the team that visits Belleville to take on the Bay of Quinte All-Stars at the Fairgrounds on that day.

The Bay of Quinte Association announce that the tickets for this exhibition will soon be available from all clubs, and a fine match is expected.

Today the Trenton Flyers take on a team from Eaton's Christie St. branch in an Air Force Day Exhibition. The semifinal of the local elimination series for the Ontario Intermediate Championships is scheduled for next Monday evening at the Fairgrounds when the Navy take on Trenton Flyers. The winners of this match play Trenton Merchants in the final on a date to be announced later.

Sports Shorts From Britain

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London — (CP) — The doggondest betting controversy in years may arise from this year's Dog Derby.

The big question is: Is Red Wind really Red Wind, or is he a ringer?

His owner, Frank Davis, along with Frank's two brothers, Aaron and Sidney, is accused of conspiracy to substitute another animal to run in place of the greyhound he originally entered in the derby.

The brothers' trial will be heard in the session opening June 20, but likely won't be completed by post time.

Fans have been backing the dog they knew as Red Wind heavily in the ante-post books and had beaten its price down to 2-to-1 before Davis was charged. Now the question arises: If "Red Wind" wins, and it's proved the dog is a ringer, will the bookies have to pay up?

White City authorities say they will, and one of London's biggest off-the-course betting firms, (Sherman's, Ltd.) agrees.

"Even if it were proved that the dog was not Red Wind we should pay on it — if it won — because members of the public would have backed it in good faith and we have accepted their bets," a company spokesman said.

Other firms aren't so sure they'd pay all winning bets. If a fraud has been perpetrated, and a bookie suspects some of the bets he's covered were placed by those who knew of the fraud, he might decide to accuse the bettor of conspiracy and take the matter to court.

Though cases of introducing ringers have occasionally been proven in dog racing history, there's probably never been so much money riding on the sleek nose of a possible imposter beore. Bookies reckon it in scores of thousands of pounds.

A Canadian hockey player and an Australian dirt-track rider plan to hook up in a golf partnership this summer.

They are Bill Glennie of Portage La Prairie, Man., and Vic Duggan of Sydney. They have spent many hours practising together and are all set to enter a series of open tournaments.

It will be a David-and-Goliath partnership. Duggan, at five foot six, is one of the shortest speedway riders in Britain, and Glennie, at six foot one, is one of the tallest right wingers.

Sir Pelham (Plum) Warner, doyen of cricket legislators, has succeeded the Duke of Edinburgh as president of the autocratic Marylebone Cricket Club.

Warner, 76, is probably the game's most travelled personality. Born in Trinidad, he captained the rugby school XI, then went on to win his Oxford Blue in 1895.

He later captained England and once was chairman of the M.C.C.'s test selection committee. He has played cricket in Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, the West Indies, Egypt, Ceylon, Portugal, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile and Peru.

More About Glass Rods

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted sportsman, author and creator of Solunar Tables)

Rod manufacturers, particularly those who make fly rods, are confronted always by that well-known and indefinable bugbear "Rod Action." Perhaps "indescribable" would be a better word.

Rough, rod action means the behaviour of a rod while it transmits the power of the cast to the line from the hand of the caster.

No two fishermen cast exactly alike. Thus, the same rod may have two entirely different "actions" in the hands of two different casters.

Unfortunately, the mathematics of rod action are extremely complicated. When you consider that the flexibility of a round bar or rod of uniform diameter varies as the cube of that diameter, you can understand the difficulty of capturing on paper the exact formula governing the behavior of a multiple-taper affair such as a fly rod.

Trial and Error Method

The result is that rod designers have been working by trial and error since the day that Phillipe first built a fly-rod of split cane.

Of course the bamboo rod tapers are fairly well established by now. The makers have learned what top-grade Tonkin cane will and will not do under stress, and we now have excellent bamboo fly rods.

Steel rods are following suit as are those of copper alloy. Rod makers have learned how to use these materials in rods that stand up quite well under field conditions.

Now the makers of glass rods are faced with the problem of designing satisfactory rods to be built from materials that have new characteristics. Note that the plural is used — "materials."

Glass fibre, of course, is uniform. However, it is being handled in several ways so that the resultant basic materials are, in effect, quite different.

Rod sections are being turned out in 'solid glass'—glass fibres laid parallel and bound together with plastic. Some rod sections have outside walls of glass and cores of soft pine. Some are tubular.

Some tubular sections are of glass fibres laid side by side. Others are of glass cloth which is wrapped around a steel mandril to give the section the proper taper. All of these processes depend upon plastics to bind the fibres together.

Behaviour Varies

Obviously the behaviour characteristics of these various resultant materials are bound to vary, and therein lies the problem. Specifications for a usable rod of one material do not apply when another process is used.

And here's another thing. The formula for the plastic binding materials that are used by the various companies as well as the methods of handling these plastics all vary according to the individual manufacturers.

Repeated inquiries have brought to light absolutely no information about plastics and exact manufacturing methods. All we can tell you is that the reliable companies are spending a great deal of time and money in constant experimentation to improve the product.

Each change, each improvement, naturally involves a revision of taper design. It is unreasonable to expect finished designs from such a fluctuating background.

What the future of glass rods will be is anybody's guess. So far none of the materials—glass plus plastic—compare favorably with good Tonkin cane from the standpoint of performance.

At the present time "glass" fly-rods are a disappointment. The material simply does not have what it takes to make a top-grade fly-rod, comparable with bamboo.

Slower Than Cane

Careful laboratory tests by one engineer have shown that present "glass-plastic" materials actually have about one-third the speed and life of Tonkin cane.

Thus, the diameter must be increased in order to have rods, particularly fly-rods, do what is required of them when in use.

In casting rods, this is not a serious problem. There are on the market today, turned out by "old-line," reliable companies, excellent glass casting rods that leave little to be desired.

The fly-rod picture, however, is decidedly different. Diameters can be increased through the butt joint and the lower middle section without damage. In the upper middle section and the tip joint, however, larger diameters defeat their own pupose through added weight and increased air resistance.

Some years ago, when glass rods were first introduced at the Sportsmen Shows here and there about the country, I had occasion to talk to one of the factory men.

The tapers of the rods on display were far from satisfactory and I asked him what was being done about it. His reply will, I hope, give you some food for thought on glass rods.

Lots of Orders

"Rod actions," he said, "are not our problem at present. If we can manage to turn out enough rods like these in the next five years even to fill our orders, we should worry about improved actions. Time enough for that later on."

For several years I have been in touch with the heads of two of our "old-line" tackle companies. I know that they have been experimenting with glass fly-rods.

As of today, neither one of these companies has turned out a fly-rod that is good enough to bear the company name in the tackle shops. Not that either one of them can't make as good rods as any on the market today. They can.

They feel, however, that glass has a future in the fly-rod field. So, until they can make a satisfactory glass fly-rod, comparable in performance to the glass casting rods, they prefer to continue with their experiments.

From the foregoing you can see that lasting opinions on glass rods are not practical or fair at the present. It will be interesting to see what emerges eventually from today's rather chaotic condition.

Gossip From The Courts of The District

BY "DIG"

Point Anne again lead the field in the Bay of Quinte Tennis League. After beating the Quinte One squad on Tuesday they now have seven points. This match was postponed from last Sunday afternoon owing to weather conditions. This Point Anne outfit have a very strong team again this year and will on their present showing make strong contenders for League honors.

Tuesday seems to be a bad day for the Quinte club as they fielded a team which was decidedly under strength. More will be heard of this team when they can put out their strongest team.

On Sunday afternoon Batawa have their first outing in the League when they pay a visit to Belleville to lock horns with the Quinte Two. A fine crowd should be out to see Tony Cervimka and his girls and boys if only to watch points for when they come up against the shoe club themselves.

Ed Littlejohn, the livewire entertainment chairman of the Quinte Tennis club announces that he has plans for a wiener roast some time in the very near future all club members should watch the notice board for information on this outstanding event. Molly Camp the secretary announces that she is in the process of preparing the bulletin for the club and that it will be in the hands of each member very shortly.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A chance for an opportunity is all a master bridge player seems to need. A lucky lead, an oversight by an opponent, an odd split of some suit may open up the only break he requires.

There was the tournament deal you see here:

NORTH
♠A K 8 5 2
♥7 6
♦10 5 4
♣10 8 7

WEST
♠Q 9 6
♥Q 8 2
♦9 6
♣A Q 6 5 4

EAST
♠7 3
♥10 9 4 3
♦Q 8 3 2
♣J 9 2

SOUTH
♠J 10 4
♥A K J 5
♦A K J 7
♣K 3

At the very most, the contract should have ended in four spades with north as declarer. But at one table south was shoved into a small slam bid of six no-trump.

West got off to an opening lead of the heart eightspot. This was a lucky presentation to the clever south in this case. And he followed it up with brilliant handling of the rest.

South took the first trick with the heart jack and led the jack of spades. The queen in west covered and dummy king won it. A small spade from dummy was led and won with the south ten.

The third south spade went to the dummy ace. Two more spades were then cashed by dummy. On these were dumped both of the south clubs. Yes, even the club king was thrown away by south.

On the last two spades led by dummy, east had a problem. He had already shed a club on the third round of spades. Forced to protect both red suits, he let go of his other two clubs.

The last dummy heart was now taken with the south king. The ace of hearts was cashed for another trick. The last south heart was led and lost to east. Two dummy clubs went on these hearts.

Thrown in with the last heart, east had to lead something. All he had left were his four diamonds. The only thing he could do was lead one of them. And he was endplayed for fair.

Any diamond east now leads back will permit the declarer to make his contact. Declarer and dummy will take four tricks in the diamond suit. The endplay put the diamonds in a lock.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 10 — (AP) — Imagine interviewing a movie star's subconscious mind.

That's the notion I toyed with this week after talking to a cautious actress who had nothing to say but glittering generalities. I took her remarks and tried to envision what she was really thinking about. This is the result:

"Hello! So nice to see you again. (Nice! Here I've got three pages of dialogue to learn and this egghead wants to ask me a lot of stupid questions.)

Some Script

"I've wanted to do this picture for a long time. It's the most exciting script I've read in years. (What script? Every time I go before the camera, they hand me 10 new pages. I haven't done piece work like this since I left the shoe factory.)

"This picture is really a change of pace for me. ('Change of pace' meaning I had to take a $10,000 cut in salary.) The woman I play is really an off-beat character. (So far off-beat that 10 other stars turned it down.)

"And what an actor this leading man is! A real trouper. (If that lens-hog doesn't stop trying to steal my scenes I'll bite his lip in the clinches.)

Rum-Bum

"I love working with this director. He has a sensitivity that is rare in Hollywood. (What, that rum-bum couldn't direct traffic.)

"Yes, it's true — I'll be leaving the studio after this picture. It has been a long and successful association, but I think both of us need a change. I asked for my release. (Okay, so they didn't pick up my option.)

"No, I don't know what my next picture will be. I've been snowed under with scrips and haven't had time to read them all. Dore wants me to come over there and De Mille said he's writing a part in his circus picture for me. But first of all, I'm going to take a good rest.

"(Rest is right. If that lame-brained agent doesn't start peddling me, I'll be a dead duck. Oh well, there's always television.)"

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating supper, being liver and onions in pop's honor, and I said, When are we going to get a television set? They've got one at Glasses Magee's house, and Glasses has a swell time with it. He carries his supper into the living room every nite and eats it in frunt of the television so he can watch Pirate Pete and Crazy Town and Two-Trigger Toomis, I said.

You meen so he can get indigestion, ma said, and pop said, Yee gods, yes, imagine what happens to a kid's stummick when he doesn't know whether he's eating with his eyes or his mouth.

That gives me a splendid idea for a topic to bring up at the next meeting of the Parents Teetchers Association, ma said. I'm going to ask what's the good of providing our childern with the best vitamins and calories if they're going to gobble them down with both eyes on a television set, she said, and I said, Well jimminity, ma, I meen G roozalem, look at pop.

Why look at me? pop said, and I said, I meen look at you at Sunday breakfist. You always eat it all alone whenever you feel like getting up, and it takes you about a half an hour because you always look at the Sunday paper all the time you're eating, and you always claim it's the best meel of the week, I said.

By gollies, he's got a point there, a sharp point, pop said, and ma said, Maybe I'll make a slight change in my topic at the Parents Teetchers meeting. I'll say that there's a wide spread theory that it's bad for childern to eat their meels while they're watching television, and then I'll point out that it's best to be broad minded till we hear from medical science, she said.

Contract System Established For Senior Hockey

Banff, Alta., June 10 — (CP)— The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has split senior hockey down the middle, separating the weaker- Simon-pure leagues from the more-powerful, subsidized circuits to which high salaries give a professional tint.

The move came Friday at the end of a three-day annual meeting. The association also elected a new president, Doug Grimston of New Westminster, B.C., and adopted for senior hockey a contract system similar to that used in professional ranks.

The Allan Cup still will be up for competition — but only by the smaller leagues which come closest to being genuinely amateur.

Five major circuits—the Western Canada, Ontario, Quebec, Maritime, and Cape Breton senior leagues — will play off separately for a new trophy yet to be named.

Details of the new set-up will be completed at a special meeting in July, probably at Winnipeg. There was no immediate indication that the juniors will be affected by the move to re-arrange amateur hockey.

For the first time, the C.A.H.A. decided to introduce the contract system for seniors who previously signed only player's cards.

Next season seniors will sign contracts tying them to a team for one year and giving that team first class on their services for the following campaign. The contracts will list the players' salaries and records.

Under a draft clause in the contracts, a limit of three players from any one team may be drafted by professional clubs provided the hockeyists involved are willing. A club may replace a man lost through the draft.

Grimsten Steps Up

Grimston steps up from first vice-president to succeed Al Pickard of Regina who decided not to seek re-election after three terms as boss of amateur hockey in Canada.

Re-elected were George Dudley of Midland, Ont., secretary-manager, and W. A. Hewitt of Toronto, registrar-treasurer.

W. B. George, of Kemptville, Ont., and James Dunn of Winnipeg were named first and second vice-presidents respectively.

Major rule changes endorsed by the meeting are:

1. Players guilty of unnecessary slapping of sticks on the boards will receive 10-minute misconduct penalties. When a coach or trainer commits the offence, a player will serve a misconduct.
2. The goalkeeper's crease is made semi-circular, extending three feet from the net at all points.
3. Players deliberately falling in front of opponents to upset them will get minor penalties.
4. The icing-the-puck rule is altered slightly. A player must make an attempt to trap the puck or it will not be classed as icing; the player on the side icing the puck is eligible to take it if he is on-side.

The meeting also:

1. Decided the next annual convention will be held at Halifax.
2. Reserved decision on a recommendation that Lethbridge Maple Leafs represent Canada in the world amateur hockey championships next year.
3. Decided to allow British Columbia and Maritime junior teams four imports apiece next season; Teams in other branches, two. Port Arthur junior champions are allowed three recruits from the other Lakehead teams for playoffs.
4. Suspended the management of the Letellier, Man., intermediate club for one year for defaulting a play-off game without prior notice.

Scratch Single By Pitcher Wins Pastime

Lindsay, June 10 — (CP) — A scratch single with one on in the last of the eighth by pitcher Doug Loucks gave Lindsay Merchants a 3-2 victory in a close Lake Shore League game Friday night. Whitby went ahead with single runs in the first and second but the locals got to lefthander Doug Sutton in the fourth to tie it up. An outfield error and Louck's single with two out ended the game in the extra innings to keep Lindsay on top of the league. Loucks fanned 11 besides contributing two of their eight hits.

Linescore:

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Ardmore, Pa., June 10 — (AP) — There's an old stone quarry which adds considerably to the hazards on the back nine at the Merion Golf Club, but the United States Golfers Association must think it's a gold mine . . . It was in anticipation of a record 'gate' that officials increased the open prize money to $15,000, besides commemorating the 50th Open, and it looks as if they'll get it . . . Attendance for the first two days was estimated at 17,000 — certainly there were a lot of people on the compact course . . . the U. S. G. A. attendance record — 35,450 — was set here at Bobby Jones' "grand slam" amateur in 1930 and the biggest net receipts also were recorded at this course . . . Fans paid $55,319 to see Bobby and the old open championship record, also set here, in 1934, lasted until the 1946 crowd piled out at Cleveland's Canterbury Club for a double playoff tournament.

Weak End Notes

Dutch Harrison, the two - day open leader, was so late arriving for the tournament that his place almost was forfeited . . . Detroit Tigers are so hot after Gene Conley, Washington State's six-foot-eight pitcher, that a scout flew to Pullman, Wash., and stayed there two weeks. He's drawn at least eight scouts at each of his recent games — which is more spectators than some college ball teams draw . . .

Home-Runs Bats Are Booming Red Wing's Drive

(By The Associated Press)

Rochester's busy home - run bats are booming the Red Wings' drive for their first International League pennant since 1940.

The Wings, who socked 139 home runs last year, are belting four-base blows at a rate of better than one a game.

They increased their output to 50 in 46 games Friday night in downing Syracuse Chiefs 9-3. Steve Bilko, husky first baseman, pounded out two — his eighth and ninth — and rookie second baseman Lou Ortiz slammed his first to allow Bill Reeder to coast to his fifth victory.

Reeder scattered 10 hits, including a home run by veteran Al Rubeling. Kent Peterson was the loser.

The triumph increased Rochester's first-place margin over the runner-up Royals to a game and a half. The Royals suffered a 9-5 beating at the hands of Jersey City Giants.

Lefty Roger Bowman stopped the Royals on six hits while his mates pounded out 11 hits, including home runs by Chet Laabs, Ziggy Jasinski and Pete Pavlick.

The third - place Springfield Cubs dropped three games off the pace by dividing a twin bill with the tail-end Buffalo Bisons. The Cubs romped to a 9-1 victory in the first game behind the three-hit pitching of Bob Kelly, but lost the nightcap 3-1.

Baltimore Orioles decisioned Toronto Maple Leafs 6-3 and moved into fourth place, a half game in front of Syracuse. Bill Kennedy, who relieved Bob Raney in the fifth, was the winner and young Paul Stuffel the loser.

WILL UNDERGO OPERATION

St. Louis, June 10 (AP)— The St. Louis Cardinals announced Friday night that Joe Garagiola, their hard-hitting catcher, will undergo an operation Monday and will be out of action for about eight weeks.

The announcement said Joe's injury has been diagnosed as a serious displacement of the left shoulder blade. He suffered the injury June 1 in a tumble at Brooklyn Dodgers. Joe's batting average for the year is .347.

HIGH CONSUMPTION

It is estimated that it takes about two acres of farm crops per person to feed the United States.

Dutch Harrison Leading Field In U.S. Open

Ardmore, Pa., June 10 (AP) — The golden anniversary United States Open golf championship lost its story book complexion today and settled down to a fight among a bunch of old mercenaries.

In the van going into the decisive 36 holes was a long, easy-going fellow from Arkansas, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who has been busy collecting money on the tournament trail for more than 10 years but who never has won a major crown.

"I expect I can hold up as well as the next one," drawled the wartime sergeant as he discussed prospects of protecting the sub-par 139 that set the halftime pace. Par is 36-34—70.

As he strides down Merion's fairways the 40-year-old campaigner is apt to be looking over his shoulder at three other pros just a stroke behind and a little man named Ben Hogan.

Harrison was the only man to crack Merion's tenacious par for two day's struggle with the 6,694-yard layout.

Par took a terrific licking here and there but the gents who whipped it one day came back groggy and couldn't do it the next. The course's most significant triumph was over Alabama's one-day wonder, Lee Mackey, Jr., who skied to an 81 after fashioning that record-breaking first-day 64.

Three Even With Par

Three professionals were even with par at 140 as the field, reduced from 165 to 52, moved into showdown.

They were Johnny Bulla of Vernoa, Pa., who blazed a second round 66, Jim Ferrier, with 71-69; and Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., a pro of less than a year added a 72 yesterday to a previous 68.

Hot on the heels of all of them came the most feared and respected man in present day golf, bantam Ben Hogan, with 72-69—141.

Harrison began his golf at 18, became a pro at 20 and has been one of the most active contenders on what the boys call the gold dust divot trail.

He was sixth in money winnings in 1949 and holds tight to his place today with $6,744.

The $4,000 top prize in the Open would be a fat boost. But Harrison wants the open crown for other reasons. It's worth many additional thousands in prestige A golfer doesn't arrive until he get it.

Visiting Teams In Lacrosse Loop Had Rough Time

(By The Canadian Press)

The visiting teams had a rough time of it in the three Ontario Lacrosse Association fixtures played Friday night.

At Owen Sound the league-leading Crescents romped to their fifth straight win defeating Weston Lions 17-5. At St. Catharines the Athletics knocked over Mimico Mountaineers 22-16 and at Peterborough the home team defeated Toronto 22-7.

Owen Sound's Harry Kazarian netted four goals, Campbell three, and Slater, Burlington and G. Gillespie two each. Mason, McWhirter, Foote and Woods took care of the remainder of the winners. For Weston, Allwell and P. Chard each scored twice. Brown got the other.

It was hard-checking all the way in the St. Kitt's-Mimico encounter. Jimmy McMahon racked up five goals and two assists for the winners, with Bird, Bradshaw, Welch and O'Hearn each scoring twice. Red McPhail led Weston with four goals, three assists.

More than 2,000 fans saw Bob Thorps and Jim Kinna each score five for Peterborough in a match which saw Jack Howse of Torontos draw a match misconduct penalty for arguing with Referee Bain over a slashing sentence. Don Ashbee scored two and Vitarelli, Buchanan, Fitzgerald and Breakspear counted once. For Torontos Kapasky and King each scored twice. Howse, Webster and Campbell notched singles.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS COUNCIL for the Province of Ontario will receive applications before AUGUST 1, 1950, for registration of Public Accountants, at 80 King Street West, TORONTO, as required under the Public Accountancy Act, 1950.

So You Need a VEGETABLE-GROWERS TRACTOR
. . . a tractor that fits your crops and row-spacings . . . that has two-way hydraulic control of matched, quick-change implements?
Fine! You're just the man I can help. Come in and see me about the Farmall trio—Farmall Cub, Super-A and C. For each size of tractor there are matching multiple-row planters and cultivators, designed to meet the requirements of the vegetable grower.
Come in and we'll talk it over. You may be able to get delivery in time to make the first crop.

Walton-on-Naze, Essex, England — (CP) — Thousands of herring and whiting have been caught from Walton pier with silver paper. Wife of Senator Vandenberg Dies At Washington

Washington, June 10 — (AP) — Hazel Whitaker Vandenberg, wife of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, died early today.

Mrs. Vandenberg, 67, had had spells of serious illness since she underwent two major operations in 1947. Despite this and her many duties as a Senator's wife, she continued active until recently in a varied career of her own.

She served for a time as National Chairman of the University of Michigan Alumnae Association and led in a drive for a $1,000,000 Woman's League building at the university.

In the Second World War she held a full-time job in the American Red Cross as director of camps and hospital services.

She accompanied her husband, the Republicans' chief foreign policy spokesman in the Senate, to many of the international conferences at which he played important roles after the war, flying with him to Rio De Janeiro, Paris, London, San Francisco and other cities.

Pops Needs Me

"Pops needs me to look after him," she explained before one of these trips. "He won't stop working long enough to eat unless I make him."

Mrs. Vandenberg always took her typewriter along on these trips. A one-time Chicago newspaper woman, she helped her husband with his speeches and occasionally gave a hand to reporters covering them.

When Mrs. Vandenberg entered a hospital last month for what proved to be her final illness, she was given a room next to her husband. He was there for examination following his recovery from a serious operation.

Mrs. Vandenberg was the Senator's second wife. They were married in 1918, a few years after the death of his first wife. At that time he was a newspaper publisher in Grand Rapids, Mich. She was an advertising woman in Detroit.

Japan's Cabinet Cracking Down On Communists

Tokyo, June 10 (AP)— Life grew increasingly complex today for Janan's communists, already staggered by two purges of their top strategists.

On one side, the Chinese communist Peiping radio—a link in the line to moscow —urged them to "deal effective counterblows" to the purges ordered by Gen. MacArthur.

On the other side, the government cracked down wherever the communists raised their voices in public criticism of the U.S. occupation. Cabinet members and both rural and Tokyo police officials met with Premier Shigeru Yoshida to consider stronger measures.

Meanwhile, a new plot against MacArthur's life—the second in 10 days—was reported and brushed aside by key American officials. They called it another 'fake'—like the last.

Informants said a letter was intercepted two days ago, mentioning vaguely a plan to kill the supreme Allied commander. The address was false and the author remained a mystery.

Sent to Mental Hospital

The Peiping radio, monitored here, called MacArthur's purge order of all 24 politburo members and 17 editors of the party newspaper Red Flag "as absurd as it is reactionary." It added:

"Unless the Japanese people deal effective counterblows, they will once more be driven along the path of destruction by Japan's modern Tojo—MacArthur."

Three cabinet ministers and a batch of police officials from rural Japan and metropolitan Tokyo threshed out views with Premier Yoshida. The results were not disclosed but sources said they discussed means of cracking down on any Red protest demonstrations.

Police arrested Hidetaro Ikeda, reputed head of a communist cell on suspicion of criticizing the occupation.

Education Minister Teiyu Amano said stronger measures will be taken against the "radical student movement." Students and some labor unions are bulwarks of the communist strength.

FRANKFORD

Married Men's Team Defeats Legion 21-17

Frankford —Softball fans witnessed one of the most (to say the least) unusual spectacles on the local diamond, as the "Married Men" defeated the Legion by a 21-17 count Thursday night. For the Legionnaires, it was the first game since before the war for many of the Vets, and they handled themselves just about as one would expect under those conditions. However, even an experienced, seasoned team couldn't have held down "Flash" Babcock of the Husband's team, as he stole bases faster than jet-propelled Jethroe of the Braves. Hearns, Chase and Bates combined in the box to chalk up the win, while Huffman and Mikel pitched for the Vets. Among the most amusing plays, was an attempted diving tag of Hearns by pitcher Mikel along the third base line. Somehow, Hearns evaded the tag and Mikel ended up flat on his stomach. One resolution that will certainly be passed at the next Legion meeting, and that is authorization to buy a couple of eight foot bats for Lohnes.

Proceeds of the game after a few expenses were taken out, were $20 This amount has been sent to the Belleville Boy Scouts Committee who are endeavoring to raise funds to purchase a pony for a young Cub Scout in Castelton who had the misfortune to lose his legs. This game was made possible through the co-operation of the Frankford Lions Club, the two participating ball teams, and the excellent support shown by the citizens of Frankford. The Frankford Boy Scouts, who were to sponsor the project, fell down badly on their end of the work, taking tickets at the entrances of the park, and cannot receive credit for the donation. A special vote of thanks is due Clinton Hanna, who did an excellent job in taking up a silver collection. Even the participating ball players did not escape Clinton.

It is a certainty that with this sort of spirit being shown in this part of the country, the little lad in Castleton will shortly receive his pony.

The members of branch 387 are planning to present an outdoor stage production on June 27 and 28 in aid of the Legion Building Fund. Details are not as yet complete, but will be released in a few days. The program promises to be very entertaining and something completely new and different from the usual run of entertainment. Watch this paper for further details.

The Frankford Boy Scouts held their weekly meeting in the Community-Memorial Hall with a good turnout. The greater portion of the meeting was spent in planning for the annual camping trip to begin on June 30. Scoutmaster Fred Churchill of Belleville attended the meeting and the boys were very glad to welcome him back, after several months absence from this district.

Last week we carried an account of a track and field meet held on the property of Mr. Sidney Martin. It was described as being sponsored by the United Church Sunday School. It appears now that it was not a Sunday School project, although the boys and girls who planned it were for the greater part from the Sunday School membership, and Mr. Martin is superintendent of the school. The meet was planned entirely by the young folk who participated and their invited friends.

AMPLE FORCES

Colombo, Ceylon, June 10 (Reuters)—Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the Imperial General Staff, said today that the democratic powers "have ample" forces with which to protect themselves—if only they have enough sense to combine, which they are showing signs of doing. He stopped here on his way to Pacific defence talks in Australia.

Third Reunion Of 'The Glens' Is Under Way

Kingston, June 10 — (CP) — Although the third annual reunion of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders Regiment does not officially get started until a reception this afternoon, the "buddies" of training grounds and battlefields met and exchanged greetings and swapped reminiscences into the small hours today.

More of the Glens — from Cornwall, Peterborough, Brockville and other centres — arrived in Kingston today by bus, train and private cars to spend the next two days here, where the battalion in the Second World War first concentrated in 1940.

Arriving later today is the pipe band from Cornwall, the regiment's "hometown."

After the reception will be a dinner at the Armory at which the Glens will be given a civic welcome.

Tomorrow the veterans will march to the 21st battalion Memorial in City Park where a drumhead service will be held and names of Glengarrians who died in service will be read.

The veterans of the wartime battalion will be in "civvies," wearing only their distinctive Glengarry caps and medals to indicate their service and regimental affiliation.

Following the parade, the Glens will march back to the armory for a buffet lunch before starting back for their respective homes.

Since 1940 the Glengarrians have seen training on both sides of the ocean and been through such bloody battles as Beny-Sur-Mer, Gruchy, The Falaise Gap, Rouen, Nijmegan, The Hochwald, The Rhine Crossing and many others.

PERAMBULATOR WOBBLES

London, June 10 — (AP) — John Shepherd was fined five shillings (77 cents) in a Lambeth court for being drunk.

Shepherd was arrested while airing his 16-months-old twin daughters. The perambulator wobbled alarmingly.

"I had just been to a hospital where I learned that my wife had another set of twins," he explained. "I had a couple of nips to nips to celebrate."

Returns to Camp

J. Douglas Eaton, director of physical education at the Collegiate Institute, Glace Bay, Nova Scotia and former physical director of the Belleville Y.M.C.A. returns to the camp as director of athletic and aquatic activities. Mr. Eaton, a graduate in physical education of the University of Toronto, is well known and popular with the campers and Y.M.C.A. members.

Kenneth E. Mara a post graduate student in Toronto has been appointed associate program director. Skilled as a musician, with experience in dramatics and athletics, aquatics and camp craft. Mr .Mara has had experience as health officer in one of Haliburton's private camps. He has had five years experience as operating room assistant, and holds instructor's certificates in first aid with the St. John Ambulance Association and the Royal Life Saving Society. He has been active in church work and has directed church and school concerts, which experience along with his work in the Boy Scouts Association make him an ideal choice for Moira Lake Camp.

Rotary Maintains Interest

The Rotary Club of Belleville, founders of the camp, has continued to take an interest in the development of the property, This year under the direction of Gilbert B. Scott a new infirmary is being erected and will be completed this week. To complete the water front project undertaken last year, the club members have been building a new diving tower which will be put in the water by Rotarians on Saturday, June 17th. Other improvements have been undertaken by the Rotary Camp Committee and with the assistance of other clubs and private individuals the camp will be in fine shape to welcome the first campers on July 1st.

Parents of prospective campers are advised that the camp will be operated for boys July 1st to July 29th and for girls July 29th to August 19th. The minimum age for a camper is 10 years. Preference is given to campers registering for the full period and a maximum number of campers is set at 50 as in past years.

THIRTY INJURED

Paris, June 10 (Reuters)—Thirty persons were injured, one seriously, Friday night when communists tried to storm a Latin quarter meeting arranged by young Frenchmen who are going to Yugoslavia this summer to work in youth brigades. Strong forces of police massed in the area to allow the meeting to continue.

Steps to Widen Defence Output Authority Opposed

Drew Calls for Delay Until Govt. Defines Emergency

Ottawa, June 12. (CP)—Legislation to give Trade Minister Howe wide powers over defence production ran into opposition in the Commons today from the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, called for delay on the measure until the government had defined the emergency that called for it.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, declared the step did not seem to be warranted by the international situation as the Commons knew it. He also urged nationalization of Canada's outright munitions industries.

Canada Must be Able to Resist

Explaining the measure, the Trade Minister said Canada must strengthen herself to be able to resist an aggressor and to overcome him if we fail to deter him."

Mr. Howe spoke on a resolution preparatory to introduction of a new Defence Supplies Act which grants the responsible minister authority to procure defence supplies, to stockpile strategic materials, to construct defence projects and to let contracts for shipbuilding and ship repairing.

The measure retains some of the mandatory powers contained in the Wartime Munitions and Supply Act of 1939 which he said was drafted to deal with wartime conditions. The new Act, Mr. Howe said, would considerably curtail the mandator powers the minister held under the wartime legislation but we consider that it is highly desirable to continue to vest in the minister the procurement authority for the requirements of the armed services."

"Not Free From Threat"

"Clearly this is no time to take any action that would hamper the defence of the country," Mr. Howe said, "for we are not free from the threat of aggression. Indeed we must devote much of our energies and our resources to deterring aggression.

"We must strengthen ourselves so we may be able to resist the aggressor; and overcome him if we fail to deter him."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the resolution proposed to "turn over to the minister of trade and commerce the powers of parliament itself."

It proposed to permit the minister to carry on transactions without that restraint and control by parliament which for years had been considered important for the protection both of the government and the people's money.

PRIME MINISTER URGES START ON SEAWAY PROJECT

Canton, N. Y., June 12 (CP)—Another appeal for action on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project was delivered by Prime Minister St. Laurent at the Convocation of St. Lawrence University here Sunday.

The Canadian Prime Minister, receiving an honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws, said Canadians "are getting impatient about the delay" in starting the project which would benefit all parts of the continent.

Elaborating a similar appeal he made recently, Mr. St. Laurent said: "After all, it is years since the first agreement which we were ready to carry out failed to get sufficient support in the United States Congress, and it is nine years since we made the second agreement.

"Our need in Canada is urgent, particularly for more electrical energy. If the Niagara diversion treaty can be quickly ratified by your Senate, that will help; but both countries need, and we in Canada certainly want, to get ahead with the larger scheme."

New Urgency

Mr. St. Laurent also called for co-operation in defence production and said that the devastating Manitoba floods have given new urgency to the problems of conservation and flood prevention in the middle of the continent.

Prime Minister St. Laurent remarked that he had received a honorary degree only a few days ago from St. Louis University; now he had one from St. Lawrence. "I am just a little afraid that since my name happens to be Louis St. Laurent — some pronounce it St. Lawrence —there may be a good many people who will think I must be totally lacking in modesty in allowing this to occur."

Also awarded honorary degrees were Dr. Peter J. W. Debye of Cornell University, a Nobel Prize winner in science; John P. Myers, Plattsburgh, N. Y., banker, and Mrs. Sophia Fahs, a leader in children's education.

Toronto Police Intensify Drive On Drunk Drivers

Toronto, June 12 — (CP) — Police today announced an intensified drive against drunk drivers after a weekend in which eight automobiles were taken off the road because of intoxicated motorists.

There were 36 weekend accidents in Toronto, in which 22 persons were injured. The mishaps brought 14 charges of careless driving, three of drunken driving and one of not staying at the scene of an accident.

Traffic Inspector Vernon Page said that drunk driving appears to increase on summer weekweekends. Police shifts are being altered to put a maximum number of officers on the road those nights.

THE WEATHER

Air officials have insisted they have no such equipment.

OLEO MAKES PRODUCTION GAIN, BUTTER SLIPPING

Even in May Butter Production Drops

In the first five months this year, says the Bureau of Statistics, manufacturers produced 42,922,000 pounds, a sharp climb from the 26,259,000 pounds manufactured in the first five months of 1949 when the butter substitute was in early stages of production.

In the 1950 five-month period, creamery butter production was estimated by the Bureau in a report issued Sunday to have dropped more than 3,000,000 pounds from last year's 81,865,000 to 78,791,000.

Of course, the peak butter production season is only beginning but the Bureau notes that even in the month of May, when butter output begins rapid expansion, the output dropped from 31,987,000 a year ago to 28,616,000.

In that month, margarine kept moving upwards, with 8,019,000 pounds produced, compared with 7,190,000 in May, 1949.

Perhaps indicative, too of how the two products are getting along in the production and selling race is the inventory figure on June 1, when the Bureau took its last check of stocks.

Although the support price on butter has dropped from 58 cents a pound to about 53, stocks of creamery butter held by the government and private trade appeared to be growing larger.

On June 1, stocks totalled 31,945,000 pounds, compared with 28,440,000 on May 1 and 24,203,000 pounds on June 1 last year.

On same day margarine holdings totalled 3,091,000, a decline from the May 1 holdings of 4,092,000 pounds. There was no comparative figures available for June last year.

128 Years Old, Wants to Live Few More Years

Brownsville, Tex., June 12—(AP) — "Pancho" Comacho, who says he is 128 years old, has a simple desire — he would like to live a few more years.

Pancho's age — and his desire— came to light when a census taker visited him at his hut on the big Champion ranch near the mouth of the Rio Grande River.

"Senor, my name is Francisco Momacho, and I am 128 years old," he said in Spanish.

He said his sister died about 10 years ago — at the age of 125.

Pancho, a widower, rode his own Palomino pony until a few years ago when he broke his hip in a fall. Since then he has not been able to ride.

He likes to display his full set of natural teeth that have served him so long.

Average Hotel Guest is Great Guy But Can Drive Manager Raving Mad

Denver, June 12 — (AP) — Take it from the men who should know, the average hotel guest is a great guy. He pays the bills for a billion-dollar business. But he can drive you stark, raving mad.

He can be — and often is — a tippler, a thief or a sentimental slob. He'll keep other guests awake, flood their rooms from his overflowing bathtubs and chase them down the hall.

That's one of the reasons hotel rates are high. The guest not only is paying for a room, service and convenience. He's paying for towels, ash trays and light bulbs he loads in his suitcase. He is helping repair the furniture he burns and stains. He's paying for detective service, damage suits and business lost from bad publicity.

You'd think to hear them tell about it that the 300 delegates to the 40th Annual Convention of the Hotel Greeters of America—the men who should know — are in the worst business in the land.

None of them wouldn't trade their jobs and ulcers for any way of losing sleep and making a living.

Take A. F. Spatafora. He's the manager of the Hotel Monteleone in New Orleans. Spatafora claps his hands dramatically to his forehead when you mention troubles.

Spatafora still is afraid of ghosts, a hangover from his bell hopping days when a seven-foot character with a long beard used to call for service, then wrap himself in a sheet and jump out at the boys from unexpected corners.

Then there was the guest that called up from a bar in the middle of the night and demanded that Spatafora find his teeth. Spatafora finally located them—in a spitoon.

Truman's Assertion Russia Is Preparing for War Spurs Attempts to Ready US Defence

Washington, June 12 —(AP)— President Truman's assertion that Russia is preparing for war stepped up Congressional efforts today to get American defences ready for any crisis.

At the same time, however, two Republican Senators suggested that Truman's blunt talk about Soviet intentions abroad may be aimed in part at minimizing public attention to the communists - in - government charges of Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) and others.

Republican Senators Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska and Owen Brewster of Maine said they don't disagree with the President's Saturday statement in St. Louis that the Soviets "have preached peace — but devoted their energies to fomenting aggression and preparing for war."

But Wherry, the Senate Republican leader, noted that the President had nothing to say about subversive activity at home.

"It is just as important to clean out the communists in our government as it is to stop their expansion abroad," Wherry declared.

Brewster said it seemed to him Truman has been dwelling on communist threats in the foreign field almost to the exclusion of any similar dangers at home.

Senator Lister Hill (Dem. Ala.) said he doesn't see it that way at all.

"The President is properly concerned with the whole threat of communism, at home and abroad," Hill said.

"Personally, I don't think they can be separated. Any subversive activity in this country is obviously only part of an over-all plan of the Russians to overturn democracy in every part of the world.

"I don't think anybody argues with the President's statement; that the Soviets are preparing for war."

To meet this, Hill said it is obvious that Congress is going to step up armed service appropriations and give its approval to a $12,250,000 military assistance program to help build up the defence forces of Western Europe.

Kingston Man Killed and Two Others Injured

Cornwall, June 12 — (CP) — A collision between an automotive transport truck, loaded with new vehicles, and a loaded tractor trailer Sunday resulted in the death of one Kingston man and injury to two others.

Death is Keith Abrams, 27, a truck passenger whose neck was broken. He died in an ambulance en route to hospital.

Injured are:

James Gates of Kingston, the truck driver, who suffered possible shoulder fracture and shock.

Roy McLean, also of Kingston, a truck passenger, who suffered a badly lacerated forehead and possible skull fracture.

Police said the eastbound automotive transport collided with the left front of the trailer. The impact loosened two autimobiles and a truck which the transport was carrying. One car crushed the transport cab, pinning in the victims.

Inspector James Blackadder of the Cornwall township police said a quantity of beer was taken from the wrecked cab. He said beer also was found in one of the vehicles the transport was carrying.

Further police investigation is being made.

P.M. Urges Party To Give Women Greater Voice

Ottawa, June 12 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent urged the Liberal party Saturday night to give women a greater voice in both party and public affairs.

"I would like to have at least one woman on our side of the House and in our caucus," said Mr. St. Laurent in a speech before a joint banquet meeting which included conventions here this week of the National Liberal Federation's advisory council and the National Federation of Liberal women.

He said he was "disappointed when Miss Ruth Radford failed to win the recent by-election for Toronto Broadview which was won by the progressive Conservatives. Presence of a woman in the all - male Liberal caucus "would be a good thing for the other 190 of us."

"I can do no more than appeal to provincial organizations and constituency organizations to do their utmost to give a larger place to women in their organizations, and to our women themselves to assure the place which is rightfully theirs."

The feminine members in the party did not expect recognition merely because they were women.

"All our Liberal women ask is that they shall not be kept in the background merely because they happen to be women."

TV Followers Heard Man Commit Suicide

Houston, Tex., June 12 (CP)—Houston television followers heard a 50-year-old laundryman commit suicide Sunday night at a Texas League baseball game.

Stanford B. Twente shot himself to death as he sat beside telecaster Dick Gottlieb in a press box at Buffalo Stadium. The shot was heard over television and throughout the stadium.

Seconds later a TV camera focused on Twente's slumped body.

Tom Maes, Justice of the Peace was among those watching the game on television. He returned an inquest verdict of suicide without leaving his home.

"I saw the man on television" Maes told detective George Capman.

Police had a report a half hour before the shooting that Twente had told a waitress he was going to kill himself and "to watch me at the end of the fifth."

The shooting occurred as pitcher Don Stephens of Houston stepped to the plate to start the last half of the sixth inning against Tulsa.

Twente died in a hospital about two hours after the shooting.

Twente appeared at the television booth and told Gottlieb, "I got something to tell you."

Gottlieb waved the man away and continued narrating the game. Twente was seated between the announcer and the TV engineer, Lee Bennett. Just as Bennett started to get Twente to leave the box, Twente pulled a pistol, shot himself and fell across the engineer.

Gottlieb told his audience:

"Ladies and gentlemen, a tremendous thing has just happened. A gentleman has just shot himself I return you now to the studio."

Two minutes later the telecast of the baseball game was resumed.

Examination Papers Missing At Iroquois Falls

Iroquois Falls, June 12—(CP)—Grade XIII examination papers believed stolen Friday from the Iroquois Falls High School are still on the missing list, Provincial Police reported today.

They said several high school students have been questioned. Yet no one has been held in connection with the case.

Principal E. T. Palmer said that examinations were going on today as scheduled. He said another packet of papers were rushed to Iroquois Falls following the disappearance of the first packet by The Department of Education in Toronto.

It is believed that a thief or thieves entered the principal's office Friday morning and jimmied the lock on a cabinet. Nothing besides the examination papers was reported stolen.

CANADA HELPING TO WIDEN FLOW OF DOLLARS TO U.K.

Heavy Purchasers Of Coal and Steel

Ottawa, June 12 (CP)— Canada is chalking up post-war records in purchases of United Kingdom coal and steel and thus widening the flow of dollars into Britain.

A. E. Bryan, Canada's commercial counsellor in London, in a report to the trade department, says Canada's purchases of U.K. steel and steel products are "most encouraging." Even brighter are Canada's purchases of U.K. coal.

Mr. Bryan's report, published in the June issue of the department's foreign trade magazine, estimates Canada bought 66,000 tons of steel and steel products from the U.K. in 1949 —an increase of more than 100 percent over the 31,000 tons purchased in 1948 and about 400 percent over the 17,000 tons shipped to Canada in 1947.

He estimated too, that Britain's 1949 sales of steel to Canada gave her a return of $7,000,000 and stated that Canada in 1950 already has placed contracts for more than $15,000,000 worth of British steel to be delivered this year.

Truly indicative of British recovery is the greater exports of coal to Canada, at a time when coal figured extensively in U.K. bilateral trade deals with some European countries.

90 Percent Increase

Mr. Bryan said that 1949 Canada purchased 306,000 tons of British coal, an increase of about 90 percent over the 163,000 tons imported in 1948 and more than 600 percent greater than the 48,000 tons Canada purchased in 1947.

The coal sales to Canada jumped in value from $1,800,000 in 1948 to more than $3,400,000 in 1949, and Mr. Bryan adds, prospects look even better for 1950.

Canada led the world in purchase of U.K. non-ferrous metals and its products, Mr. Bryan said.

Canada's purchases of $13,500,000 worth of these products in 1949 topped United States purchases of $12,000,000. The year before the U.S. led the field with $15,000,000 worth of purchases, compared with Canada's $6,000,000.

In the field of U.K. cutlery and hardware, Canada's purchases went up from $2,700,000 in 1948 to $3,000,000 in 1949. Canada's purchases of U.K. electrical goods climbed from $2,200,000 to more than $3,000,000.

2,000 Lonely Men and Women Want to Marry in Romance Week

Whitley Bay, Northumberland, England, June 12—(Reuters) — Two thousand lonely men and women want to take part in the "Romance Week" this northern holiday town will hold in September to make it a Reno in reverse.

People from all over Britain and even France have written asking to join in the marriage-making scheme.

It all began when John D. Kidd, former council chairman received a letter from a six-foot, five-inch bachelor asking if he could find him a wife.

When Kidd announced this to the press he received letters from 200 women wanting to wed.

Letters came by every post, so Kidd decided to do something.

He got on to Whitley's Hotels and Boarding-house Association who produced this scheme for the Romance Week:

1. Reduced charges.
2. Wedding presents, such as furniture and a free honeymoon for those who meet, fall in love and decide to marry in Romance Week.
3. A committee of 20 men and women to organize entertainment and get people together.

Search For Missing Girl Swings Back To Brantford Area

Farmer Reports Finding Girl Asleep in Laneway

Brantford, June 12 — (CP) — A report that a strange girl had been found sleeping in the open on a farm south of here today swung a police search for Mabel Crumback, 19, missing Toronto area bookkeeper, to the Brantford area.

Relatives of the York township girl, who vanished mysteriously from her home May 20 and was reported seen near Hamilton Friday, live in this district.

Albert McAlister, farmer at nearby Mount Pleasant, told police he aroused a girl who had been sleeping in his laneway. The girl, about five feet tall and with dark wavy hair, fled in apparent fright across a hayfield.

McAllister said his first thought was that the girl might be Miss Crumback. He immediately telephoned police.

Sleeping Behind Roller

He was about 100 feet away from the girl when he spotted her, McAllister said. He had been driving cows down his farm lane about 10:30 a. m. and the noise of their trampling wakened the girl, who had been sleeping behind a big roller.

She wore a skirt and an orange sweater and carried a paper - wrapped parcel. She jumped out, ran across a hayfield, then jumped a fence and disappeared in a ditch. Seconds later, she emerged from the ditch, having donned a fawn-colored raincoat, and dashed away.

McAllister called to her, asking what was the matter. But she neither replied nor slackened her speed. She crossed to a railway line and then ran along the tracks toward Brantford.

Mabel Crumback's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Crumback, live at Oakland, a few miles from Mount Pleasant. Other relatives live on the Mount Pleasant road, a few hundred yards from the spot where the sleeping girl was found.

No New Developments

Police, meanwhile, said there were no developments on the report that the Crumback girl had been seen Friday at a tourist camp at Ancaster, near Hamilton. The tourist-camp proprietor's wife, Mrs. Wesley Jenne, said a girl resembling the Crumback girl but with bleached hair stopped at the camp for an hour with a man with a harelip.

Mrs. Jenne said the girl, who appeared drunk or drugged, said the man was holding her prisoner and begged her to call the police. Thes girl kept repeating that she was Mabel Crumback.

FOUR ARE KILLED AS CABIN CRUISER SWEPT OVER DAM

Pittsburgh, June 12 — (AP)— The raging waters of an Allegheny River spillway took four lives Sunday but several men who refused to quit rescue efforts in the face of terrifying odds pulled four others to safety.

One river man, 50-year-old Hull Wright, died a hero.

He tried desperately to save six persons who rode over a 11-foot dam in their 25-foot cabin cruiser 15 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

The four who survived a night of horror were battered and beaten, inside and out.

They clung to the cruiser as it bobbed furiously in the foaming swirling spillway. For seven hours they watched scores of rescue attempts fail.

A blimp, a seaplane and even men in a rowboat tried to reach them.

Just as it seemed their cruiser would capsize, they were pulled to safety by the volunteer crew of a small river towboat piloted by a veteran skipper who willingly took his chance with fate.

There were six on the cruiser when it missed a lock and went over the dam.

Wright and his boss, veteran lockmaster James Woffenden, went to their rescue in an 18-foot skiff.

The small craft was smashed to pieces and Woofenden and Wright jumped to the cruiser.

Then, one by one, the four who perished began going overboard.

"It was a nightmare. . . I tried to get everybody to hang on tight and wait for help but it wasn't long before one of the women was swept overboard. The next was Hull. Then another woman fell in. Finally a man disappeared. That left four of us."

Authorities listed the lost as Mrs. William Fisher, 29; Mrs. Carol Kreig, about 30, wife of one of the rescued men; William Lahey, Jr., about 25; and Hull Wright.

Saved were James McHugh, 24, the owner of the 25-foot cabin cruiser; Charles Reilley, 34; Jack Kreig, 38, husband of the missing woman; and James Woffenden, 50, a lock tender who went to the rescue with Wright, another lock-tender, in an 18-foot skiff.

The cruiser was caught in the boiling eddies where the Allegheny drops 11 feet over the 300-yard-wide dam, about 15 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

It could not escape from the maelstrom. The reverse current created by the plunging water drove the mahogany cruiser again and again into the face of the dam.

Volunteer firemen set up floodlights during the night on the riverbanks and played the beams on the doomed craft.

Kreig, in serious condition with cuts, said he and his companions were invited on a midnight cruise by McHugh. They went up the river through the locks. But on the return trip they missed a lock, he said, and were swept over the dam."

Searchers found his outboard boat Friday, the engine in full running position and the fuel tank empty. Dragging operations were to begin today.

Great Day in History of United Church Says Rev. H. M. Servage Speaking on 25th Union Anniversary

In an event unique in religious annals of the city, the combined congregations of Bridge Street, Tabernacle and Holloway Street United Church joined in mass worship to commemorate the silver jubilee of church union on Sunday night.

Upwards of 1,400 people heard the beautiful religious music of the Belleville Municipal Band, the blended melodic voices of massed choirs, and an inspiring address in the car-packed lot of the Drive in Theatre on the Marshall Road.

The blue of a June sky was their cathedral arch. The brilliance of the evening sun, which slowly changed to reddish-gold near the end of the service was their lighting effect. The screen of the theatre towered in the background like a silent sentinel standing guard over the reverent scene.

The Rev. F. R. Harback, B.A., B.D., Tabernacle United Church was chairman of the service. The Rev. Don Amos, Bridge Street United Church offered prayers and introduced the guest preacher. The Rev. C. A. Perkins, B.Th., Holloway Street United Church read the scripture from the 3rd Chapter 1st Corinthians, verse 9.

Musical Prelude by Band

The Municipal Band under the baton of Bandmaster Ted Robbins offered as a musical prelude, the hymns "Lift Thine Eyes" and "Sun of My Soul." The organ-like effects of the band evident in all their sacred selections was one of the musical features of the service.

The massed choirs of the three churches offered two anthems. The voices blending perfectly in balance sang the "Prayer of Thanksgiving" under the direction of Maurice Sinnett, choir director, Holloway Street Church, and the hymn "Laudate Dominum" under the baton of Bandmaster Robbins. Offertory music was "Deep Harmony" by Handel Parker, an arrangement by E. R. Hinchey, played by the band.

A Great Day

"This is a great day in the history of the United Church," the Rev. Harvey M. Servage, BA., BD, Queen Street United Church, Kingston, said in opening his address. It reminded him of the days of the war when a soldier asked him "where does this United Church come from, anyway?"

"I do not know if that soldier returned from the wars, but I know his spirit did and that is why we are celebrating this 25th anniversary of the United Church", Mr. Servage said.

The church goes back not 25 years but 2,000 years to the days of the Old Testament and the New. It goes back to the days of the time when white sails dotted the Atlantic and brave adventurers made their way westward, Congregationalist, Methodists and Presbyterians who won a place for themselves in the stirring and storied past standing for the freedom of the individual soul.

"They hewed their homes here and formed the eternal triangle of school, home and church to have the freedom of the individual for God," he said.

Later Went West

Later they went to the western plains. There people said they did not want a perpetual denomination but one great church that would serve Christ from coast to coast. Leaders agreed and appealed to the people who made a glorious response.

"On June 10, 1925 an old skating rink in Toronto was turned into a cathedral when the United Church came into being, guaranteeing those who disagreed to have the full privilege of worshipping as their conscience dictated, and knowing that it takes all denominations to administer to people over whom God has dominion from sea to sea."

Mr. Servage pointed out that the twenty-five years have not been easy. Depressions and wars, drought on the prairies occurred but which served to prove that people stood together doing all they could for one another.

Can Look Back

"We can look back with grateful hearts for we have proved that great denominations can unite and share the fellowship necessary in a life freighted with fateful hours."

Pointing out the Roman Empire fell not because of enemies but because of something that happened in the hearts of its victorious people, Mr. Servage said "there are prophets in our midst and we need to be warned."

He declared that the danger that threatens is not so much Russia but what is happening in the western world. The challenge to it is to not to spend too much time in boasting, of yesterday. "We should rededicate ourselves to the holy purpose of holding the western world for Jesus Christ and the glorious traditions of the Old and New Testaments.

Church spires, Mr. Servage concluded, are pointing to the throne of God and reminding people that they enjoy the freedom to worship as their consciences dictate, a challenge to make the nation great.

Expresses Appreciation

Mr. Harback at the conclusion of the address expressed the deep appreciation of the committee in charge to the large congregation, to Mr. Larry Buck, manager of the Drive-in Theatre for the services of his staff and the theatre facilities to Mr. Greatrix, David's Electric, the Municipal Band, the choirs and directors and Mr. Servage for his address.

He anticipated, he said, that church services would be held at the theatre during the summer months.

Following the service, the broadcast of the service held in Maple Leaf Gardens was tuned in to the theatre receivers.

SEARCH

Mrs. Jenne did not report the incident to police until a friend recognized the name as that of the missing girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldom Crumback, parents of the girl, expressed doubt that the girl in Ancaster could have been their daughter. They said Mabel was a non-smoker, while Mrs. Jenne had described the mystery girl as using cigarets.

Reported in Hamilton

Miss Crumback also was reported seen in Hamilton. Patricia Margette of Hamilton said a distraught young woman resembling the missing girl asked her for information about Toronto-bound buses

Another Hamilton woman, Mrs. William Fenwick, said a shabbily-dressed girl on Hamilton Mountain told her Saturday night that she had been kidnapped and run over by an automobile. The girl fled when Mrs. Fenwick mentioned calling police.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 12 (CP)—Western oils humped ahead into new high ground on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Demand was heavy at the opening but faded as the session progressed. Prices were just holding their ground at the half-way mark. The remainder of the market moved narrowly. Volume for the first three hours was 2,538,000 shares.

Interest has been high in recent weeks in western oils and the average price level of the list has climbed to the highest peaks in 13 years.

Piccadilly, a penny issue that highlighted brisk dealings in oil in previous sessions, continued a heavy trader for a slight advance.

Industrials opened higher but showed signs of weakening in mid-session. Fractional gains and losses were about balanced.

Golds slumped quietly. A few penny prospects continued rapid-fire traders for small changes. Base metals were about evenly balanced. Some strong early gains were reduced as mild downward pressure appeared.

Act of Union Placed United Church In Strong Position Says Moderator

Toronto, June 12. (CP)—The act of Union placed the United Church in the mainstream of a great Christian Protestant intellectual movement, Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing, Moderator of the United Church, said Sunday.

He spoke at a great rally in Maple Leaf Gardens marking the 25th anniversary of the United Church. A similar rally will be held at Winnipeg on June 22.

The Gardens were packed with 15,000 persons for the main anniversary ceremony here, while observances were held throughout the church's 6,494 preaching places across Canada.

The Methodist, Congregational and most Presbyterian Churches were united by the Act of Parliament passed June 10, 1925. A service in the old Mutual Street Arena here 25 years ago marked the birth of the church.

Survived Worthily

"No one could have known then that in a short time the world would begin to fall to pieces," said Rev. Dr. Brewing. "How the separate churches would have weathered the crises of depression and war, no one knows. But the United Church met and served and survived worthily. It was good that the three great churches should have grown together before the world began to fall apart."

He said the church now is "strangely united" in the vast and varied Canadian territory. There was no observable cleavage of doctrine and policy between groups or conferences or presbyteries.

But such solidarity had its dangers, he warned. "We must pool the resources of our former churches and the combined enthusiasm the members had for their own congregations. We must get the accumulated passions and enthusiasms fixed on Christ. It would be a major tragedy if a creedless church should become a Christ-less church."

Great Massed Choir

A massed choir of 1,500 voices was augmented by the Mendelssohn choir and the Toronto Symphony Orchestra under Sir Ernest MacMillan. Three former moderators were present with Dr. Brewing —Very Rev. George C. Pidgeon, the first occupant of the office; Very Rev. Peter Bryce and Very Rev. James Endicott.

Special services were held at many other points, including Kingston, Dutton, Aylmer and St. Thomas.

POLICE BLOTTER

Just how far a beverage room acquaintance can be trusted is something on which one local resident is not too sure.

Last evening while enjoying a glass of beer at a local hotel this particular man was approached by an acquaintance with the request for the loan of $2. He had nothing smaller than a ten spot and the acquaintance was quite willing to have the bill changed. The acquaintance then disappeared—with the bill.

Police were notified and finally then ran the man to earth in the back yard of a Pinnacle Street address. He still had the ten spot clutched in his hand.

Police were asked to check for the ownership of a car which yesterday ran over the flower bed at the C.N.R. station. The department are checking the licence at Queen's Park.

A local juvenile was apprehended for theft of milk bottle money in the Bleecker Ave., district.

Discovery of a 16-foot ladder, two pieces of wood and a stone on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks south of Bay View Heights, has touched off an investigation by railway police from Trenton, who have asked the assistance of the local city police department.

The articles were found on the track early Saturday morning and were believed to have been deliberately placed on the railway. It was thought placing of the articles was possibly a childish prank but the weight of the ladder indicated it might have been done by an older persons or persons.

A William Street resident complained of a car having driven over his lawn with resultant damage to the lawn and also to the hedge. The car had driven up the driveway and then swung onto the lawn.

Two cars on the Burrowes used car lot on Front Street were forcibly entered during the night with an apparent attempt to steal radios in the cars.

JAPANESE BOATS SEIZED

Partially-Burned Yacht Sighted Adrift Five Miles Off Pt. Petre

An overturned and partially burned white yacht with no visible survivors was sighted today by the pilot of an RCAF plane five miles out in Lake Ontario off Point Petre in Prince Edward county.

Identification of the craft was made by fliers who flew over the area after an object believed to have been a cabin cruiser was sighted early this morning. Provincial police were notified with the result that the assistance of the RCAF was asked.

Police stated that they had received no word of any boat being missing in the area south of Prince Edward county.

The overturned craft was sig ed shortly after six o'clock th morning, its approximate posi tion being triangulated from tw lighthouses on the south shore o the county.

Provincial Police Constabl John Thompson of Picton went t the scene and with the assistanc of army radio equipment direct planes from the RCAF in th search for the craft. Arrange ment had been made for a part to go out to the drifting craft in boat.

Police reported that a lak freighter was standing by abou eight miles offshore and woul put out a boat if assistance wa required.

Tent Caterpillars Stripping Trees

Gravenhurst, June 12 (CP) — Tent caterpillars are stripping the leaves off trees in a 150-mile-long stretch of forest from Parry Sound to Peterborough.

To meet the threat, property owners in the Muskoka district resort area around Port Carling have hired airplanes to spray insecticide on the bushland. They say the spraying is a success. The planes are to move into the tourish??conscious sections of Bala, Port Sandfield, Gravenhurst and Baysville this week.

The area experienced a similar attack on caterpilalrs about 1939.

Frank MacDougall, Ontario's Deputy Land Minister, said the province cannot help with the spraying program, as it is already fighting "far more destructive" forest worms and insects that do not die off every few years. He said the tent caterpillars die out after three years in a district, killed by a parasite.

NEW BRITISH COMMONS

Britain's new House of Commons Chamber will be dy for the opening of the autumn Parliamentary ses- n. It has been announced by the Lord President of the uncil that it is proposed to meet there for the first time the 26th of October. Invitations to the ceremony are ng sent to representatives of Legislatures in the British mmonwealth, Northern Ireland and the Isle of Man.

In the refurnishing of the new Commons there have me gifts from every country in the British Common- alth. They range from the Speaker's chair contributed Australia to a silver inkstand from Fiji. The table for House is the gift of Canada and from New Zealand me two dispatch boxes. The entrance doors have been en by India and Pakistan, the clerks' chairs by South ica and the chair for the Sergeant-at-Arms comes from ylon.

Britain is recovering from the terrific strain of the cond World War and the opening of the new House of mmons will be an emblem of Britain's and the Common- alth's strength and proof of the unity of the Nations the Commonwealth.

PRACTICAL AID

The aid from Britain for Manitoba flood relief contin- s. From many parts of the British Isles comes word of orts being made. Flood relief funds have been establish- in Maidenhead and Gloucester City, both victims of the astrous flood in 1947. One Dowsbury firm is sending nkets and another is sending twenty carpet squares.

British farmers are planning practical aid in very im- rtant gifts, in the form of livestock to help restock the oded farms about Winnipeg.

Britain in her long history has had vast experience in ny parts of the world and is quick to realize the need communities which have met with untoward events.

In Canada there is a profound feeling of gratitude to who have done so much to help relieve the distress. itish and American aid finds the people of the visited eas profoundly grateful for these evidences of aid to et the results of the disaster, where losses have amount- to many millions of dollars.

It is a happy proof to the world of good will and of lping to share the load the Manitoba sufferers will carry a result of the untoward event.

AVOID TENSION

The number of persons suffering from nervous dis- ders is steadily increasing. Modern living seems greatly sponsible for this increase by multiplying the sources of nflict for the individual, says the National Health Assoc- ion. The great majority of nervous troubles can be oided or treated easily if people understand what causes em and if they co-operate with their doctor.

One usually finds at the course of a nervous depres- n, also known as neurosis, an emotional unsolved con- ct which keeps bothering one, very often unconsciously. ese conflicts are numerous but it is not the conflict elf so much as it is the inability to solve it that some- nes leads to a nervous collapse. This inability is often sociated with lack of self-confidence; it is therefore im- rtant to seek the aid of a parent, a friend, or the family ctor in solving the most difficult conflicts.

Very often people suffering from a neurosis are afraid becoming insane. They should not — a neurosis never ds to insanity (psychosis); these two conditions are finitely distinct and different. The neurotic patient rea- es his condition while the insane does not. The final age of a chronic neurosis is termed "a nervous break- wn," a state of complete nervous collapse which is cur- le. Thousands of people have completely recuperated om such breakdowns. In an effort to help prevent rvous breakdowns, the National Health Association otes rules given by Dr. Louis E. Bisch in the review, our Health." In condensed form they are:

1. Do not repress your emotions. Let them out.
2. Remove all feeling of guilt that you may have.
3. Do not punish yourself needlessly.
4. Reduce over-sensitiveness by getting tough.
5. Add variety to your life. Try to change your daily utine in some way.
6. Take exercise — in the open air if possible. It helps to ke your mind off yourself.
7. Be sure to get at least eight hours of sleep every night -nine if possible.
8. Conserve your energy; don't waste it in useless dis- ssion and wishful thinking. Play hard and work hard.

That state of life is most happy where superfluities e not required and necessities are not wanting.—Plu- rch.

To be happy is not the purpose of our being, but to erve happiness.—Fichte.

Whether happiness may come or not, one should try d prepare one's self to do without it.—George Eliot.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

Highway traffic accidents are often the consequence of things so trivial as to be comic. Three friends of mine were driving home from an otherwise uneventful week-end at the summer resort. The third man was curled up asleep on the back seat of the car, being small enough to lie, with legs drawn up, as on a couch.

In front, the man beside the driver was finished with his cigarete, and like ninety-five per cent of us, and despite all warnings, he flipped the cigarette butt out the car window.

But the wind blew the glowing butt back in the rear window of the car. It ricocheted off the back and nestled between the seat back and the back of the third man, pressed, sound asleep, against the upholstery.

The breeze in the car fanned the glowing butt; and in a moment, it had set fire to the fancy fluffy cotton sport shirt of the sleeping man, fair over the small of his back.

When the fire touched him in that tender region, he woke with a start, felt behind him, found himself afire; and, with a wild yell, he leaped up, flailing his arms.

The man at the wheel, being in that semi-hypnotic state which comes over us when driving on the highway, frantically responded to the yell by jamming on his brakes with all his strength. A car following had no time to do more than slacken speed before it hit my friend's car a violent bunt. To avoid being shot in the path of oncoming traffic, my friends wrenched his wheel over and went into the ditch, all of a slither. Nobody was seriously hurt. Victim number one had a blister on his back. But it could have been a disaster.

Besides tire blow-outs, neglected steering column, and other familiar causes of tragedies, there are even flipped cigarette butts to menace the innocent traveller.

THE ASTOUNDING FUTURE

If we had the least idea how much power there is in every one of us and how little we utilize our latent possibilities, a veritable revolution would take place in the careers of every one of us.

What a new world opened with the discovery of atomic power! We are told that a few ounces of matter transformed into energy would be able to take the most powerful airplane around the world on a non-stop flight.

In human personality there are powers infinitely greater than the physical powers which atomic fission releases. Jesus said that if we had faith we could pick up mountains and cast them into the sea, or uproot the sycamine tree and say, "Be thou planted in the sea; and it would obey you." Some people regard this language as oriental imagery, but our Lord was speaking in terms of solemn realism. There is no limit to what the human personality can do; provided it is in proper adjustment with the Divine Personality. The Spirit of God is within us at all times; all we have to do is to work it out, channel it into acts of creative usefulness.

Great days of spiritual awakening are ahead of us. What Einstein did for the physical world can be done also in the spiritual world. We stand only on the threshold of unprecendented spiritual discoveries.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By Billy Rose

THE INCOMPETENT ANGLER

When I was a kid on the East Side a couple of hundred years ago, a sidewalk was a lot more than a strip to walk on; it was something to dream on, tap-dance on, pitch pennies on and scribble philosophical sayings on, of the sort not found in Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations." However, to Gimpy Myers, the leader of our gang, a sidewalk was none of these things—it was primarily something to fish through.

To put a fine point on it, what Gimpy fished through was not the sidewalk itself but the iron gratings over cellar windows and subway ventilation shafts. And what he fished for, with the aid of a blob of tar dangling at the end of a string, was everything but fish—coins, picture buttons and other bits of treasure which had fallen through.

There were two occupational hazards, however, which used to annoy this Izaak Walton of the asphalts—cops and dogs. Cops, because a subway fisherman attracts crowds and crowds, as a rule, attract pickpockets; dogs because Gimp's exposed rear was an invitation for a quick snack, and on several occasions neighborhood mongrels had given it the full and painful treatment.

As he grew older and more ambitious, Gimpy did less and less angling on the lower East Side where the droppin's, and therefore the pickin's were slim. Instead he invaded the lusher territories to the north, and finally settled on the gratings near the Union Square subway where, if the streets were not paved with gold, at least the ventilation shafts yielded a reasonable amount of silver.

The cop on 14th street in those days was one Ike Fogarty, a cynical gent who always suspicioned that while Gimpy was fishing in the subway, an accomplice was fishing in the spectators' pockets. But he was never able to pin anything on the kid, and this irked him so much that he finally threatened to pull him in for obstructing traffic the next time he caught him.

Gimpy took the hint and went back to Delancey Street — that is, until one May morning when the sun was doing its stuff and going to school was out of the question. At his suggestion, our gang headed north on the prowl for cigar bands, and on 14th St., we saw a woman get out of a taxi, suddenly clutch at her throat and then stoop over and peer through a grating near the curb.

"Lost some'n, lady?" Gimpy asked her.

"A locket," said the woman. "It isn't worth much, but it has a picture of a baby."

There were neither cops nor canines in sight. "I'll get it fer ya," said Gimpy.

From a Prince Albert tin he took a chunk of tar and held a match under it until it was sticky Then he lowered it on a string and began to manoeuvre it over the locket.

At that moment, Officer Fogarty rounded the corner. "This time I'm runnin' ya in," he said. "Playing hookey and obstructin' traffic at one and the same time."

"I'm only trying ta git this lady the pitcher of her baby," said Gimpy.

In exactly one minute and 46 seconds, our leader delicately eased the locket through the grating, pulled it free from the tar and handed it to its owner.

"Thanks," said the woman. "It's the only picture I have of baby."

"Let's get goin'," said Fogarty.

Stalling for time, Gimpy said to the woman, "wouldja min' if'n I took a look?"

"Not at all," she said, and snapped open the locket. Inside was a picture of a mean-looking pekinese pup.

"That ain't no baby," snarled Gimpy. "It's a lousy dawg."

"Watch your language, young man," said the woman. "Baby's won more blue ribbons than you have fingers and toes."

Gimpy slowly stuffed string and tar back into the empty tin and dropped it down the grating. Then he turned to Fogarty.

"Okay copper," he said "Do ya duty."

Letter to the Editor

Calls Frankford Road 'A Disgrace'

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

The Frankford county road from Belleville to Mr. Dave Thrasher's is a disgrace to the County of Hastings. The traffic is heavy with gravel trucks and other cars, the dust is so thick that one can hardly see when cars are passing each other. It is really dangerous at times. Our homes are covered with dust, in fact we eat it and nothing has been put on this road this year.

We understand from Thrasher's back to the fifth concession, chloride has been spread. There is hardly a home on that stretch of road. Surely the taxpayers here on this part of the road are entitled to some consideration where there are so many homes. It is a burning shame and our councillors should make it their business to do something about it.

A dust victim.

Countries Show Determination To Share Profits

By CLARKE BEACH
(Associated Press News Analyst)
(For Dewitt Mackenzie)

When the European Recovery Program was launched, many a student of history feared it would open a new era of colonial exploitation.

European leaders had proclaimed that Europe must develop its colonies and possessions as an essential aid to Europe's recovery. The quetions asked were.

Would they simply drain off the natural riches of the colonies, leaving the natives only with their wages and depleted resources?

Or would they plow a good share of the profits back into the business, enabling the natives themselves to benefit permanently, to raise their standards of living, to develop their own independent economies?

Some United States officials are reassured after having had an opportunity to observe how economic co-operation administration funds have been spent in the colonies, and to study development programs that the European countries have conducted with their own funds.

They say there is no doubt that the countries of Europe are showing determination to share the profits of colonial enterprises with the people in the colonies.

About $300,000,000 of E.C.A. funds has been spent in colonial dependencies. In addition, $100,000,000 in counterpart funds has been invested there. One E.C.A. official says that a large share of this money is going into projects which will be of permanent benefit to the communities involved.

Norris E. Dodd, director-general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization, said after a recent trip through Africa and other colonial areas that "the need for educating local populations and raising their standards of living are fundamental requirement of progress" has become a major preoccupation of the governments concerned.

In all the countries he visited, he said, there were programs to promote health, education, rural welfare, credit, transportation, agriculture, marketing and distributing all this in sharp contrast to the old colonial system, under which foreign owners simply set up their rubber plantations, their tin, copper, or bauxite mines and left the natives with nothing but their coolie wages.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MISJUDGMENTS

All of us are misjudged at times. Delving into the thoughts of the human mind, and into the feelings of the heart, is always unwise, for only God can see there. Under such circumstances, it is best to offer no defense, for one's acts and life are the answer, and there are those who have not the ability accurately to see and judge.

You will recall that during the examination of Jesus by Pilate he was unjustly accused—but it is recorded that "he answered not a word." This great Teacher suggested a way of life that is both safe and just when he gave the admonition that we should "judge not" that we might not be judged. Also, he admonished that we should disregard the mote in another's eye while a beam existed in our own.

There is an old adage that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones. It is something to bear in mind. Who are we, anyway, that we should judge another? Better to devote our thoughts to the discovery of good and fine qualities in another, and give generous praise to that one. Such an act is uplifting all around. It makes both feel good.

The temptation, when openly misjudged, is to answer back, or resent an insinuation, but silence is the better way. Character is thereby asserted. Have you ever noted a big dog passing along the street with several little dogs barking and snapping at is heels, but with the big dog, uncaring, going its way? We can even learn from dumb animals!

Intelligent understanding is the secret of all lasting friendships. In marriage it is an essential. We can overlook so much in those we love. If we didn't, all those fine qualities and secrets within that one would not be so genuinely displayed before us to our profit and satisfaction. The moment we begin to misjudge, criticize, or humilate another, we begin to lose that one's affection and interest. And we shrink in character stature, as well.

WHAT I LEARNED ON TRISTAN

Having landed on the lonely isle, Tristan da Cunha, (all wet) and seen for myself, I am happy to report that the good people there, young and old, have the finest teeth of any civilized people in the world, and so far as I can learn, of any other people, white, yellow, brown or black, anywhere. All told there are only 265 or 270 people there. They live only on Tristan.

Tristan da Cunha is a group of three lonely volcanic islets in the south Atlantic, as far south of the Equator as Louisville or Los Angeles is north of it.

How the navigator of our ship, sailing east from Rio de Janeiro, hit these incredible flyspecks on the globe the very first try is as great a mystery to me as what makes an automobile go when you turn the key and release the brake. But he hit 'em, or I should say he would have hit them had he not stopped the ship two or three miles out. From there on in the going was not so easy.

There are three islets in the group. Tristan itself is about 16 miles square or twenty miles in circumference. I didn't have time to walk around it—in fact I found the walking, jumping, creeping and climbing pretty strenuous for a bare half mile along the rocky shore.

The other two islets of the group, called Inaccessible and Nightingale, ten to twenty miles away, are uninhabited, only a mile or two in area.

The extinct volcanic peak of Tristan is nearly 1¼ miles above sea level and its dead crater is now a fresh water lake or reservoir, 150 yards in diameter, which never freezes over. This and smaller crater lakes on the island supply plenty of fresh water for the inhabitants, whose stone, thatched roof dwellings are all in one settlement on a plateau about 100 feet above sea level, which overlooks a narrow stretch of beach where the islanders can shove off and land their four-oared home made boats.

Beach, eh? Well, it looked black enough as we approached it, but still it seemed free from dangerous rocks which stood out menacingly on either side of the thirty yard gap.

The pilot instructed me to crouch in the prow and when they shoved her in to jump for it. I still believe they were laughing in their bellies at the gullibility of the foreign visitor. Except that it was black the beach looked like good solid sand.

Between two rollers I jumped for it and I believe I would have made a perfect landing but for the treachery of that black sand. It proved to be nothing but volcanic ash and it gave away like so much quicksilver. The next roller rolled me up on the beach sopping and—well, what would you have said in my place? "Pshaw!", I suppose.

The Tristan people are of American, British, Scandinavian, Dutch, Italian origin, descendants of sailors of the whaling days, soldiers of Napoleon's St. Helena days, mariners shipwrecked in the vicinity and some voluntary settlers from Cape Colony and England.

The inhabitants have always depended principally upon potatoes for food. Potatoes are their main crop, on the limited patches of arable soil among the barren rocks. In the past when the potato crop failed they were in dire peril of famine, for ships reached the islet only on rare occasions.

Besides potatoes they raise wheat, oats, some vegetables, keep cows, sheep, geese, ducks and chickens—for milk, cheese, eggs, wool. They kill and eat meat only on special holidays such as Christmas. From the sea they get plenty of fish and especially a fine grade of crayfish with delicious white meat resembling American lobster. Tristan crayfish are so abundant that a London-Capetown company is now establishing a plant on Tristan to can and ship the crayfish to American and other markets.

This commercial invasion of the "lonely" isle probably marks the end of the good health era of Tristan da Cunha.

Hitherto the people there, as I have said, not only enjoyed extraordinary longevity and freedom from the physical degenerations (hardening of the arteries, slow heart muscle failure, rheumatiz, diabetes, "liver complaint" etc.) which plague and shorten the lives of wiseacre Americans; but they have literally confounded the great American toothbrush and dentifrice vendors and their gullible customers (laymen and dentists) by (a) having no use for toothbrushes and/or dentifrices and (b) having the best preserved teeth of any people or tribe in the world.

Heavy Vote is Indicated In Referendum Regarding Hospital Debenture By-Law

Trenton—Although a check of the six polling sub-divisions revealed a light but steady vote up until 11:30 today, there was every indication of a heavy vote for today's referendum regarding the hospital debenture. Expected peak hours for voting were from 12 to 1:00 noon and from 5 to 7 p.m. The polls opened this morning at 10 and will close at 7 p.m.

The issue at stake as result of the referendum vote is the issuing of $125,000 by the town for completion of the Trenton and District Memorial Hospital. Only property owners are entitled to vote on the issue, but authorities indicated there had been "quite a few" applications for voting certificates from taxpayers left off the voting list.

Hospital Board Chairman W. H. Ireland re-affirmed his pre-election confidence that the vote would pass and added "opposition to the by-law has definitely dwindled over the weekend as people became more acquainted with the facts of the issue. Taxes would only increase $1.13 per $1,000 assessment."

There has been much discussion both for and against the hospital issue with interest in the referendum increasing as the voting date drew near. The hospital board has conducted weekly Sunday tours through the still uncompleted building with yesterday's attendance being the largest yet.

Mayor Kenneth Couch summed up his stand of last Thursday evening by saying "we have gone three quarters of the way. I don't think we can back out now."

Spectacular Air Show Given At R.C.A.F. Station as 6,500 Enjoy "Air Force Day"

Trenton (Special)—Threatening weather failed to dampen the enthusiasm of an estimated crowd of 6,500 who attended the fourth annual Air Force Day celebrations at Trenton RCAF Station Saturday afternoon.

A light shower sent early arrivals scurrying for cover but the sun broke through shortly after the exhibition of precision flying and aerobatics started and the air show went off according to schedule.

Similar demonstrations of aircraft and equipment were staged at 21 other RCAF Stations and the purpose of this annual event is to acquaint the public with the work of the RCAF and the role of the air force in defence of Canada.

Two Commands Combine

The local display represented the combined efforts of RCAF Station, Trenton, and No. 6 Repair Depot. There were three parts to the display, the flying exhibition, the display of equipment and the fire fighting and rocket firing demonstration.

Mayor Kenneth J. Couch officially opened the program by firing a green signal flare. This was the signal for the 34 aircraft taking part in the various aerial events to start their engines, and the show was on. For the next 33 minutes, the large crowd was entertained with an air display of formation flying, low level fly pasts and aerobatics.

Four airmen from the Air Defence Group Operational Air Force of Montreal thrilled the crowd with a daring display of precision of aerobatics in their Vampire jets. Three of the jets went through the difficult manoeuvres as one plane while the fourth performed independently. Flying in a tight V formation, the jets executed loops and climbing rolls with such perfect timing that it looked as if they must be fastened together.

Three Trenton RCAF men also had the crowd looking skyward to watch their exhibition of solo stunt flying. F O. Knight in a Vampire jet, F. O. Montgomery with a Mustang and F. O. Ayres piloting a Harvard all put on a crowd pleasing show of loops, climbing rolls, peeling of to the left and right and rolls off the top of a loop.

Numerous types of aircraft participated in the show, from heavy Lancasters, Mitchels B. 25's, Ventures and Expiditors, to Harvards and jets. A four motored Lancaster demonstrated its ability to fly on three, two and even one motor, a factor that enabled many crippled "Lanks" to fly home after raids on Germany during the recent war.

45 Win Free Rides

Forty-five holders of lucky program numbers won free rides in a Dakota. A helicopter, the flying machine that does everything but fly upside down, illustrated how an air-sea rescue is carried out. The helicopter hovered over an airman in a rubber life raft, lowered one of the crew into the dinghy, hauled the supposedly injured man into the machine and flew him across to a waiting ambulance.

Harvards of the Air Armament School dive bombed a target in the centre of the field and rang down the curtain on the air show with a rocket attack on a target in an island in the bay.

Throughout the afternoon, engineering and repair equipment was on display in the hangars. The crowd was also given an idea of how oil and gasoline fires are extinguished when RCAF firefighters quickly smothered a blaze similar to those which often occur when an airplane crashes.

Officers Make Aerial Patrol Fishing Activities

Tweed, (Special.)—Conservation officers in the Quinte and Rideau districts combined forces Saturday and Sunday to carry out a complete check of fishing activities in eastern Lake Ontario, Rideau River, upper St. Lawrence River and several inland waterways.

Using one of the Department of Lands and Forest new Beaver aircraft piloted by Doug Reid of Parry Sound, and a departmental patrol boat, officers were able to make a combined aerial and ground check on sport and commercial fishing in the areas covered.

Because of the lateness of the season this year officers did not anticipate much activity on the present trip but were gratified to find little evidence of irregularities.

Fish and Wildlife Inspectors, Archie Sheppard, Tweed, and Royal Baker, Kemptville, directed the inspection assisted by conservation officers, B. Saundercock, L. M. Walsh and James Alford.

District Forester, W. E. Steele, Kemptville, was also present for the plane patrol Saturday afternoon.

Use of the Beaver aircraft proved most effective and a further reconnaisance is planned later this month.

By ELLY HEBER

Winnipeg, June 12. (CP)—The taxi stopped in the muddy street and there I was —home.

From the front it didn't look too bad. I hadn't seen it for three weeks and I knew the water was six feet deep in the street at one time.

The front gate was washed away, half the driveway gate was twisted and ripped from its hinges. Mud and rubble filled the front yard.

But it wasn't as bad as some I'd seen on the way down—not nearly.

At the back it was much worse. Lumber, linoleum, scrap tin, mud, chicken feathers, somebody's walk and just everything imaginable was dumped there.

I was just sick.

My first thought was: My God, what a mess! My next was: How much worse it could have been!

The floors were thick with slimy mud, so slippery you could not walk. About 10 inches up the wall the white and yellow wallboard was crusted with black stuff. Above that the walls were still wet for a couple of feet with soaking up the flood water.

Smell Terrible

The small was terrible. I could hardly stand it and the thought of ever being able to live here seemed like a nightmare.

But most of the furniture, propped up on chairs and planks, was all right. The floors were buckled and heaved, but not nearly as bad as if they had been hardwood. Soft wood takes more water than hardwood.

Our big cooking range was such a mess we threw it out when my husband came from work.

In the bedroom the big bed sagged with the weight of the water in the mattress. All the wood work and veneer around the bottom peeled off at a touch.

By this time I began to think that Henry, and I might be able to salvage something.

He opened all the windows to air out the stench.

That afternoon, June 5 (may I never forget it) we rolled up all the rotted linoleum —muck and all—and threw it into the back yard. We took a shovel and stable broom and scraped the thickest of the silt out of the back, then got a hose (our water was back on though we didn't have any lights) and just let the whole place have it for an hour or so.

We scrubbed and scraped until 10 o'clock at night and then went back to Isaac Brock School, where we and the four kids were staying after we came back from Wapella, Sask.

That bedroom of ours—it's only 8 by 12 feet—took two solid hours of scrubbing the next day.

High Fashions Of Paris Going On Assembly Line

Paris, June 10 (AP) — The high fashions of Paris, 'big-name' labels and all, are going on the assembly line.

Five of the top fashion houses, where Royal ladies and millionaire's wives rub shoulders to pay four figure sums for gowns, have struck a deal to put their frocks into mass production. The result will be dresses with famous labels on the shoulders of shopgirls and waitresses for about $30 a copy.

The five big names of the fashion world who are going into the mass production are Jean Desses, Hollywood favorite Jacques Fath, and designers Paquin, Robert Piquet and Carven.

The scheme, due to be in operation next month, was devised by Jean Gaumont-Lanvin and Marcel Dhorme, makers of sportswear and light summer resort frocks.

Under the plan, each of the given designers will contribute seven models, including two suits, two sports coats, two simple dresses and a raincoat or topcoat.

The 35 models then will be adapted to mass production by a factory near Paris.

A major store in each large city in France, outside of Paris, will be stocked with the 35 models, and the designers will be paid royalties for each number sold bearing their label.

All five designers also will sell their own models in their "boutiques" (shops) maintained in conjunction with their Paris fashion salons.

Jean Desses, one of the five explained today that "if the idea catches on in France, it will spread to other countries of Europe, and eventually to the United States."

The dresses will be produced to sell for from 10,00000 to 12,000 francs (about $30 to $35) each. That's about a third the cost of the cheapest number now available with a big name designer's label.

Friends Entertained At Tea in Honor Of Bride-Elect

On Wednesday last, Mrs. J. W. Bailey entertained at tea in honor of her daughter Jewell, prior to her marriage to Mr. Bill Holway, on Saturday.

Mrs. Holway received with Mrs. Bailey, and her daughter about 100 guests during the afternoon.

Mrs. S. Westover, Mrs. S. Spafford, Mrs. D. MacLean, Mrs. G. Baker and her aunts, Mrs. G. Green and Mrs. J. Macpherson poured during the tea hour.

The white candles and white sweet peas formed an attractive setting for the tea table. Those assisting were Mrs. D. Leslie, Mrs. S. Wiggins, Misses Marion Hatcher, Margaret Allimang, Doris McGlashon, Betty Holway, Dorothy Gorsline and Margaret Anne McGuire.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Children of Divorce

When Alice was 13, she slashed her wrists in the hope that she would die.

But the attempt was too childishly clumsy to prove effectual, and so she was dragged back, in all her fierce young desperation, to a world which held no home in which she was welcome, no one who made her feel she was loved and wanted; that she "belonged".

It wasn't that Alice was an orphan. She had living parents. One more, in fact, than many of her friends had. There were her father, her mother and the stepfather into whose home she came when her mother remarried several years after her divorce.

But her father never forgave her mother for divorcing him, and rigidly kept himself clear of any reminder that he had even been married to her. "He wants nothing to do with me," is the way Alice, now 16, puts it. Her stepfather, on his side, wants no reminders either. He prefers to forget that his wife ever had another husband. "He tells me," wrote Alice, "that I don't belong in his home."

Is it any wonder that Alice, now 16, is still "so very mixed up and unhappy" that she worries lest she might lose her mind?

There was 9-year-old Deborah, too proud to admit that her father didn't live at her house any more. When her playmates, whose own fathers came back from the city to their neat suburban homes at the end of every day, asked curious questions, she told then he worked late at night, or was away on business. But in her small bewildered mind, and sobbing into her pillow after she went to bed—quietly, lest her mother should hear—she wondered how it could happen that the father she loved so much suddenly cared so little about her that two Sundays a month were all he wanted to see her.

In a world full of human beings tormented and divided within themselves by tangled fears and frustrations, by conflicting loyalities, by insecurities of every sort, the loneliest and most tragic figure of all is the confused and helpless child of divorce.

Much of his confusion, of course, is inevitable. The fact of divorce is, in itself, a tearing, disruptive thing, beyond the ability of the child to grasp.

On the other hand, no small measure of the bewilderment is directly chargeable to many parents themselves in their failure to realize, or their deliberate ignoring of, one basic responsibility they have toward the child whose home they are destroying. That responsibility is to arrive at between themselves, and then convey to the child, some explanation his young mind can bear of the catastrophe that has befallen him.

If parents must war with each other to so bitter and irrevocable an end as permanent parting; if they cannot, for the sake of their children, somehow compose their differences at least until small girls and boys are better able to withstand the shock of having their universe collapse; the least they owe those children is a conscientious and carefully-thought-out way of helping them adjust their thinking and orient themselves in the strange new world into which they have so abruptly been thrust.

MARIO ... in his distinctive feature about Food ... What's Cooking?

Mrs. J. D. Lane of Wadley, Alabama, didn't know what to do with the insides of her chicken. When she cut open the gizzard, she found two buttons, an empty rifle cartridge, a carpet tack, an auto tube valve, a medicine tube cap and a dime. None of these accessories is essential for an ideal chicken dinner.

Many housewives are equally puzzled when they bring home an ordinary roasting chicken and face the poblem of what to do with the chicken's insides—the gizzard, heart and liver. These organs, the giblets, are frequently put aside in the refrigerator to become dry and useless or else thrown away as troublesome extras that aren't necessary.

Gilbets can be used in either of two ways, to make a giblet gravy or bread stuffing. They are good for either purpose since their flavor is concentrated and a few tablespoons of chopped giblets will give a flat bread stuffing the exact chicken flavor you want.

Any dressing can be stuffed into the cavity of the bird or else baked in a separate pan. In the latter case the roasting time will be shortened and the work of sewing and trussing the bird will be eliminated.

Bread dressing recipes give you the greatest latitude in making changes to suit your own individual taste. You may alter ingredients making them dry or moist, spicy or mild, light or rich without any risk of spoiling the dressing.

Giblet Stuffing with Walnuts For Roast Chicken

Have the butcher split the gizzard remove the inner sac. Wash well. Place gizzard, heart and liver in cold water to cover. Add 2 stalks of celery cut into small dice and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil. Remove liver as soon as it is tender, about 5 minutes. Continue cooking until gizzard and heart are tender, about 1 hr. Chop giblets fine.

Melt 1-2 cup fat in a saucepan. Add 1-2 cup finely chopped onion. Simmer until onions are yellow.

In a mixing bowl combine the fat, onions, chopped giblets, cooked celery, 1 quart of ground stale bread crumbs or cubes, 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1-2 cup chopped walnuts, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon poultry stuffing and 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Beat 1 egg well. Combine with 1-4 cup liquid in which giblets were cooked. Add to bread mixture. Mix all ingredients well. If a more moist stuffing is desired, add up to 1 cup of liquid.

Stuff dressing into cavity of chicken. Sew shut or fasten with pins, and roast chicken.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Are you getting too heavy?

It is a sad day for a woman when she realizes that her youthful figure is gone and that she has joined up with the plumptitudinous contingent, has to patronize the "stylish stouts" department. Of course, she should have fought fat cells when they were young. She could have done that easily enough if she had been able to close her mind and her eyes to those good things of the table that were building adipose tissue. It would have been no great hardship. There are plenty of good things to eat that will not put on weight.

Excess avoirdupois is a menace to the health. Life insurance companies surveys prove that the skinnies have longer lives than the plumpies. The medical profession urges the need of normal weight and proportions. Your family doctor will gladly take you in hand if it is your desire to be rid of bumps and bulges.

Individuals usually become heavyweights because the diet contains too much fat, and they do not get sufficient exercise to burn up the calories. It is a mistake to believe that we must get heavier as we get older. The normal weight is reached by the normal person at about the age of 30; any increase after that is abnormal. Will the thirty-girls please take notice, watch the bathroom scales?

One of the grave mistakes made by women who would become willowy is to try to remove superfluous flesh rapidly. Reduction must proceed slowly, preferably under the supervision of a physician. It is impossible to maintain health on a drastic reducing program. One cannot expect to take off in two months what has taken years to put on, and feel well. One does not have to starve to restore the svelte shape.

One may dine and dine well, if one will dine wisely. It is largely a matter of cutting down on sweets, starches and fats. They must not be entirely eliminated because they build energy. One can have lean meat, poultry, fish that is not fat, vegetables that grow above ground, cottage cheese, buttermilk, fruit and fruit juices. Unbuttered rye toast is better than white bread spread with butter. Tea and coffee should be taken clear. A demon coffee drinker who adds cream and sugar in abundance is bound to take on weight.

The more exercise, the more food can be eaten. The more sedentary the life, the less food. In every reducing program there should be some exercise. Torso-bending is recommended when fat cells have accumulated on the mid-section. It tightens slack abdominal muscles upon which adipose tissue has formed.

Stretch your body tall. Try to pull yourself apart at the waistline. Keeping the legs rigid, turn the upper portion of the body from side to side.

Reception for her son and his bride

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son is to be married next month in a distant state. Due to the long distance our family will not be able to attend the wedding. However, on their wedding trip he is coming home with his bride, and I am planning a reception for them while they are here. Should I have engraved reception cards, or should I write formal notes of invitation? The reception is to be at about three o'clock on a Sunday. Please tell me what wording you would suggest.

M. M. E.

It would not be necessary . . . or customary . . . . to have engraved invitations for this reception. The invitations may correctly be written on your visiting-cards (or on the inside pages of your informals). Like this:

To meet
Mr. and Mrs. Dave Eliot
Name
Address
Sunday, June 18th
3 to 6 o'clock

Or also correct, charming, and vastly more personal, would be notes of invitation Somewhat like this: .

Dear Helena,

Our son David is bringing his bride Elizabeth to visit with us here on their wedding trip, and John and I are giving a party for them on Sunday, June 18th., from 3 to 6 o'clock. Please tell us you and Tom will come. We are so happy to welcome our new "daughter", and we want our relatives and friends to "meet" the bride and "greet" the bridegroom!

Dearest love to you both, from both of us . . . and we are all anticipating seeing you on the 18th.

Devotedly,

Concerning the giving of bridal showers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have two questions, please, concerning bridal showers, and I would appreciate your advice.

(1) A girl friend of mine has been engaged for two years . . . they have not set a date for their wedding, and don't seem to be planning to set a date. Ever since she received her engagement ring two years ago, I have wanted to give a bridal shower for her, but my husband says no, that I should wait until they set their wedding date. What is the correct procedure?

(2) Is it proper for a married sister to give a shower for her engaged sister?

M. W. J.

1. Although there is no rule to give us a suggestion about this, I believe your husband may have the right idea. . . that since there has been such a comparatively long time since the engagement was announced, it might be wiser to wait to give the shower until there is some indication of the plans for the wedding. However, if you have in mind some special reason for wishing to give the shower now, it's quite all right to give it, since a shower may be given at any time after the engagement has been announced.

2. It is considered the best taste that showers should be given only by friends . . . not by members of the immediate family.

New Picnic Line Available Soon

For the hostess who spends tiresome moments worrying about what to serve for "extras" and how much to buy, there is good news in the offing. A new party and picnic line will soon be available and promises to put an end to this age-old hostess' dilemma.

Relishes, pickles, spreads and dressings are all included in five and six-ounce tumblers — just right for those party occasions when "something extra" is indicated — and once empty, the tumblers may be used again and again.

Fleet Street Genius

Amazing Story of Lord Northcliffe Told by Veteran Newspaperman

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 10—(CP)—The amazing story of a schoolmaster's son who rose from obscurity to the pinnacle of fame and fortune while wielding the greatest influence on British journalism within the last 50 years, is told by veteran newspaper man Tom Clarke, in his book "Northcliffe in History," published here recently.

Former editor of the London News Chronicle and for 11 years closely associated with Viscount Northcliffe, founder of the Daily Mail, Clarke knew this man well. He found him perpetually hurrying on, and dragging others with him, towards new fields of adventure, new interests, new experiments. Clarke has no hesitation in bestowing on him the title "the genius of Fleet Street."

Northcliffe, who became one of the empire's most powerful Press Lords, entered the publication field as Alfred Harmsworth, in 1896. He launched upon his career with consuming ambition to make good and a reserve of volcanic energy to carry it out.

The author gives his subject a place in history as a great newspaperman with a passion for truth, genuine patriot, a visionary, but withal a thwarted politician.

"A High Wind"

Northcliffe, he said, swished through Fleet Street like a high wind, upsetting everything as he went, causing comedy and drama, but leaving fresh air and a sense of stimulation behind him.

Irrepressible foe for complacency and a man who refused to be kept down, Northcliffe is praised as an apostle of free enterprise and a pioneer of journalism who was one of the first to realize the thirst for information of the newly-educated masses; appreciate the importance of the fledgling inventions of radio and aviation; forsee the rising status of women in all spheres of life; forecast the first war with Germany; sound a later warning of the danger of another world war.

But Mr. Clarke concludes that Northcliffe could not flourish again, confronted with prevailing conditions.

"There could have been but one Northcliffe" he writes. "The man fitted the hour. When he died so tragically in 1922 at the age of 57, his title died with him. It better befits him to stand alone in history, first and last of his line—the man who had lived for Power and out-lived it.

"Could his dictatorial make-up have been adapted to the new conception of human rights which now expand far beyond those for which he campaigned? Or must we admit there would be no place for even a benevolent Northcliffe in these days or the decline of materialistic dominance and personal power? The answer, I feel, is that he had served his purpose in relation to his own times and that no Northcliffe, as we knew him, could flourish again today."

Sought to Impress

In the early days of his career, Northcliffe developed the habit of talking over dummy telephones in his office, to impress important callers. He would press a secret button to start the phone ringing. Then, picking up the receiver, he would carry on an imaginary conversation with some cabinet minister, general or other Big Wig.

Even to the last he could not forget the telephone. During his last illness at his home in Carlton Gardens, when on doctor's orders it was thought all the telephones had been placed out of his reach, he found a way to make a call to his colleagues at the Daily Mail and said: "They say I am going mad. Send a reporter out for the story."

The supreme disappointment of Northcliffe's life, the author says, was that he outlived his "banquet of power." He saw it turned to a "banquet of ashes," prepared for him by the politicians he had helped to the seats of the mighty and to whom he believed he was indispensable.

But political power had triumphed in the end over press power. Lloyd George, then Prime Minister, refused to have Northcliffe at the 1919 peace conference, not even to "come in with the coffee."

Reds in Burma Said To Have Given PVO Allies Poisoned Food

Rangoon, June 10 — (AP) — White-clad Communists in South Burma are reported to have adopted Borgia tactics against their former White Band PVO allies.

Press reports said the communists invited 50 PVOs to a banquet and fed them poisoned food. Thirty died and the other 20 went to hospital.

The reports added that PVO forces are now making a "death march" upon the communists to avenge their dead comrades.

The communists and PVOs, who formerly fought together against the government, have wound up battling each other. Recently PVO leaders agreed to an armistice with the government and called on their troops to surrender their arms.

SONGWRITER DIES

Philadelphia, June 10 (AP)—Joseph A. Burke, widely-known songwriter, who numbered among his hits "Carolina Moon", died Friday. He was 66.

Burke's song hits were numerous. He wrote several numbers for the first "Gold Diggers of Broadway", one of the early talking motion picture extravaganzas.

Other compositions by Burke included: "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight", "Yearning", "I'm Dancing With Tears in My Eyes", "In a Little Gypsy Tearoom", "A Little Bit Independent", "Moon Over Miami", 'My Harbor of Dreams", "Rambling Rose', and "For You".

TO DECIDE ISSUE

Cornwall, June 10 — (CP) — A long-standing beer issue between the "wets" and the "drys" in Charlottenburg township, 10 miles west of here, will be battled out once more at the polls June 28.

Historically "dry," the township went to the polls about 10 years ago and defeated the "wets" who demanded that the sale of beer in licensed premises be allowed.

Beer can be sold only if those who favor the licensing get 60 per cent of the vote. In the last count those who favored beer lost out by about 10 per cent of the vote.

Landsakes... I guess I do use Nickel

"Bacon, meat, canned vegetables and fruits are all processed in plants where gleaming Nickel alloys keep them clean. And salt—you know how it rusts most metals. 'Monel' equipment is used in the salt refinery too because it lasts longer, keeps the salt pure."

"My sheets and pillow cases come back from the laundry white as snow because 'Monel' equipment is used in washing them. 'Monel' does not rust or stain. It wears longer."

"The heating elements of my toaster, range and percolator all last longer because they are made of Nickel alloys. My knives, forks and spoons are made of a silvery metal composed of nickel, copper and zinc, then silver plated."

Forty-three years of research have uncovered hundreds of uses for Nickel in the United States and other countries. Now Nickel exports bring in millions of U.S. dollars yearly. These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees and also help pay railwaymen, lumbermen, steel and iron workers and other men and women making supplies for the Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.

Beyond The Law

Mary Imlay Taylor

It was only a big log cabin, but it served as an eating place and dance hall; and in those days, French Pete was reputed the best [illegible]k in the north country. There [illegible] a savory odor of cooking from the kitchen and a scrape of fiddles from the far end by the door, where the voyageurs were dancing the Northern minuet while half a dozen throaty voices bawled songs of the trail.

The woman in the corner, she who sat with her back to them all, never once looked around. She had opened her heavy fur coat but the close lynx cap was still low down over brow and hair. O'Hara, who had been watching her curiously, made out nothing but the curve of her cheek; and by that he knew she was young. He knew, too, that she tried to eat and failed; she thrust aside her cup of tea, and her hands casped tight in her [illegible].

[illegible]etails like these could not escape Sergeant O'Hara of the Mounted, one of the keenest manhunters who ever took the trail. "The best man I've got!" the chief had said of him and meant it.

Some individuals are born manhunters. O'Hara was one. There was in his makeup the element of recklessness, and the keen, swift relentless instinct that holds its aim despite befogging circumstance. He missed little even in this long smoky room.

His eyes went back now to the woman opposite. He could not even glimpse her profile, but there was something about her that bid for attention and made him instinctively aware that things had happened since last he looked in her direction. Her attitude was unchanged, the untasted tea still stood before her, but he knew that she was weeping silently and bitterly!

The shouts of the dancers rose in odd confusion, a gale of wind blew the door open, and the smoky lamps flared. The woman started and stared over her shoulder with wide frightened eyes, and Sergeant Michael OHara of the Mounted caught his breath involuntarily. Never had he seen a woman's face like hers before! Beauty? A poor word. Perhaps she had little claim to it as classic standards go, yet in her face, her eyes, there lurked something deeper than beauty, something that stirred, made uneasy, and threatened a man's soul. O'Hara glimpsed only the countenance before she turned; glimpsed the fathomless eyes, the white oval of face, the wide tremulous wouth.

He thrust aside his own cup. The hand which drew a lighted match to his cigarette performed that service automatically, unwatched. His glance did not lower. Second sight, instinct, the terrible penetrating analysis of his official self, had him in their grip! That woman —

The summons! O'Hara knew what it meant; none better. He rose to follow on the heels of the messenger. As he buttoned his mackinaw his eyes did not waver from a chill, almost threatening scrutiny of the soft gray lynx cap opposite. That was all he saw, for the head beneath it was bowed.

He flung the door open and strode out into the bitter cold. Some unanalyzed instinct had stayed the natural zest of the born manhunter. Something had passed between them in that one brief look which had thrown a shield between her apparent sorrow and his own urge toward merciless inquisition. He could not force even his searching gaze upon her. He had seen in her eyes a terrified appeal for mercy such as one glimpses in the eyes of a hunted animal at bay and lost. And her face? He tried to thrust it out of his mind. He never had let a woman turn him from his course. This one would not; rather she might point an object for the attention of the Mounties, he reflected grimly. Such women brought trouble with them like an aura.

The night was full of stars, the cold white Northern stars. A biting wind drove in his face; he could hear it singing in the wires over his head. Before him lights gleamed in the windows of the barracks, behind him he still heard the scrape of fiddles. He walked fast. He was summoned; it was duty to obey instantly and —he was glad to go. He wanted work, swift dangerous work, something to stir his pulses. The past week of inaction had been distasteful, if necessary. The days of regular food and rest hed brought back snap to his muscles and color to a face gaunted by privation and tireless travel.

He flung away his cigarette, set his teeth hard, and he walked at such a pace that he was grinning with the zest of cold and exertion when he saluted the chief. The latter, who sat before a littered desk, looked up and nodded.

"Got a case for you, O'Hara. Looks like a double murder and, unfortunately the trail is five days old—or more."

As he spoke, Inspector Macdonald glanced at some notes before him and then went on, taking his time to consult them and get his points carefully aligned. "In the first place Johnson had the job but he's in the infirmary now. Got his arm shot up with his own gun. Stupid accident. I can't make out how it happened. Anyway, he's out of it and I sent for you. I'll give you the facts as I gleaned them from his report; you can go over and question him yourself, later. He's a good man: I can't see why he wanted to make such a damn fool of himself!"

O'Hara smiled involuntarily. "Accidents will happen sir."

"Humph!" The sound was scornful. Macdonald had small use for accidental stupidity. He laid the flat of his hand on Johnson's written report and swung around his keen eyes on the sergeant's face. "Did you happen to know Gharian, the fellow who got shot up by Nicky Creuse a month or so ago?"

O'Hara nodded. "Gayle was talking about that incident the other night," he responded. "Something about Nicky's sister, wasn't it? I heard he didn't want a worthless brute like Gharian for a brother-in-law. Was that it, sir?"

"The point is," replied Macdonald dryly, "Gharian was married."

O'Hara suppressed an exclamation of surprise and fell suddenly into an attitude of keen attention. Gayle had said something about Gharian being a prince of cads!

"Ninon Creuse had been a good girl; she was a trained nurse and never spared herself. She helped a lot of folks out in the wildest places. But Gharian pursued her —fascinated her, perhaps. Besides, she didn't know he was married at first. I should say she must have been pretty, in a soft girlish way, thought I never saw her alive."

The inspector perceived his subordinate's involuntary start and smiled grimly.

"She and Gharian both are dead now; that's the crux of it. Johnson was out on the Hudson Bay trail, way up. There'd been a storm two days before and the snow was crusted. He came upon a Cree Indian with a dog team, going to Gharian's with a load of food and medicine. It seems that Ninon Creuse, as a trained nurse went straight there — a month before, you understand— to take care of Gharian after her brother wounded him. Strange to say, Gharian behaved well and refused to make any charge whatever against young Creuse. The Cree told Johnson that the wounded man had been in a high fever. The nurse perrsuaded the Cree to help her take care of him; when he had recovered partially she had had to send for more food and medicine. The Cree added that Nicky Creuse just had found out that his sister was nurse for Gharian and swore to kill him.

"The account of those threats made Johnson turn aside and accompany the Cree; he had it in mind to get the girl away, if possible and let the Indian do the remainder of the nursing. The Cree declared that Nicky was still at Churchill and, as far as we can find out, that was the fact."

Macdonald paused, glancing down again at his notes before he went on. "Johnson says that he and the Cree mushed ahead fairly fast. It began to snow but there was no wind to cause drifting. They came through a bit of wood, spruce and balsam mostly—acts like a screen, you know —and found the open space about a hundred yards from Gharian's cabin. Johnson says here: 'Ground rolling, a rise, snow piled till it hid the cabin. Cree ahead with team of malmutes. The leader lifted his nose and howled. They swerved to one side, all of 'em acting queer. I came up and stumbled over two bodies on the ice, a fresh sprinkling of snow, like a blanket, covering them.'"

Macdonald looked up sharply at O'Hara. "The Cree and Johnsson scraped off the snow and found Gharian and the nurse. Both had been shot. There was a pistol in Gharian's hand. Looks like a suicide pact eh?"

"Rather. The man, bad as he was, was in love with a good girl, I take it—and he already was married. But you called it a double murder, sir?"

"That's what, O'Hara, no doubt about it! It would be easy, too, if we didn't know for certain that Nicky Creuse was at Churchill about the time of the killing; that anyway he never would have killed his sister intentionally. The Cree also has a first class alibi. Of course, there's a bare chance that Nicky got there somehow, and that the girl was shot accidentally when she tried to save Gharian. There was a third person there, however, either at the time or just afterwards,,bebfore snow fell over the frozen ice crust. Johnson found confusing tracks, tried to follow them and lost the trail at the edge of a frozen creek. The fugitive took to the ice. There were triple tracks from the cabin and a single track back to it, zigzagging across the trail of Gharian and the girl.

"The pistol in Gharian's hand was a forty-five, he and the girl were killed with bullets from a twenty-five! It was murder. There may have been— probably was— a fight; two bullets had been fired from Gharian's forty-five, but he was a dead shot and it seems unlikely he would have failed to bring down his assailant.

"His previous wound was only half healed; the Cree doesn't think he was fit to travel, yet he and the nurse were a hundred yards from the cabin —and they went there afoot. It looks to me as if Nicky Creuse must have sent someone to bring his sister home, that there was an altercation when Gharian followed and tried to bring her back, and, in the quarrel both were shot. There was a letter in the girl's pocket."

Macdonald swung back in his chair, eyeing the sergeant oddly; but he could make nothing of O'Hara's keen attention. The sergeant's face was in the shade above the ring of light from the desk-lamp, but the inspector was aware of some subtle change in him as he spoke.

"You have that letter, Sir?"

For answer the chief handed him a soiled, blood stained sheet of paper and Johnson's potes on the tragedy.

"There's rumor that Ninon Creuse had a suitor when she was in the hospital in Quebec, but I can find no trace of him out here, and no one has ever heard of his appearing hereabouts. That's about the sum of all we know, O'Hara. You can study the details and see Johnson; he's better and able to talk business. Get your points clear, and then take the next train north. You know where Gharian's place is.

Macdonald rose to trace the trail on a wall map. "You'll have to take the route. One of the Hudson Bay lines runs nearest; after that, a dog team. Quarter the ground thoroughly. If Nicky Creuse seems to be the only suspect, bring him in. It was noticeable that he didn't show up when we buried his sister. She and Gharian are over there." The inspector waved his hand toward an unseen, white covered hill where the tops of tall black crosses just showed above the snow. "And it was enough to bring a loving brother, that burial. The girl was young, pretty, simply infatuated with that brute's good looks—for he was a brute — and she had been doing her duty as a nurse too. Here are your written instructions and the order. I had 'em made out to save time. Start as soon as you've seen Johnson."

"Anything else, sir?"

HOW TRUE!

It just goes to show, that anything can happen in a baseball game, and that the pastime is not over until the last man is out. That was evidenced on two occasions on Saturday in Central Ontario Baseball League circles. In both cases victory appeared to be as certain as sunrise and taxes, and in both cases it went aglimmering when the unexpected happened.

* * *

Down Brockville way, the Batawa Shoemen, playing the best baseball of the season behind the masterful flinging of ailing Gordie Muffitt had the scent of victory strong in their nostrils. Leading by a score of 2-1 going into the last half of the ninth innings with one man already retired, the Shoemen had what proved to be the greasy baton of victory in their mitts. The game had been hard-fought throughout with Muffitt and Proctor, the respective hurlers pitching fine efforts and both teams sparkling afield. The Shoemen ace had been invincible in the clutches, and the fans thought this was just another one. He walked Ashley and retired Dafoe. Rickey came to the plate. The former House of David star looked over two pitches. Then Muffitt sent one straight down the alley and Rickey swung. High in the air soared the ball up and over the left centre-field fence 290 feet away. The game was over.

* * *

The deflated Shoemen took it in good spirit. Muffitt who thoroughly deserved to win could scarcely restrain his disappointment. On the other hand the Brockville team, as surprised perhaps at the unsuspected turn of events that changed almost certain defeat into a sparkling win, surged around Rickey and nearly pumped his arm off. But that's baseball, kiddies. Anything can happen.

* * *

Picton and Brockville fans had something in common. Over in "Spain" the local COB Ellers were down 8-4 going into the ninth. The some goddess of baseball that frowned on potential winners on Saturday turned her scowl on the Smith's Falls team which appeared headed for the win column with a four-run lead. The Picton bats went to work and while the fans cheered themselves hoarse the - selves hoarse the homesters tied the score with a four-run splurge. The tenth and 11th inning came and departed and in the twelfth the homesters got runners in scoring position. Frankie Dyer, Picton hurler cracked a sharp single to centre and the game was over with Picton winning 10-9.

MAYBE IT'S THE MOSQUITOES!

It could be the air, the environment, or anything. But the fact remains the Batawa Shoemen come up with a far better brand of baseball on the faraway pastures than they do in Belleville. Saturday's game in Brockville was the best baseball game this corner has seen this season. In the opener against Smith's Falls the Shoemen came up with a neat 3-1 effort. Here in Belleville against the visiting teams, they appear to be at sixes and sevens and the only thing they do right is drink from the water bucket. Dick Bridgeman who "handled" the team in Brockville shook up the infield and came up with a fine defensive combination. "Red" Carson held down first with Solmes at second, Bridgeman at short and Rankin on third. They uncorked one neat double play, and on the afternoon's performance appeared to be the strongest infield the Shoemen have produced as yet.

CUBS AND CANNIFTON

Tonight the Belleville Cubs entry in the Belleville District Baseball League clash with the Cannifton team at the Fair Grounds under the lights. The Cubs uncorked a fine effort against the Sixardee squad last Friday going down to a 5-1 defeat but having three unearned runs scored against them. The powerful Air Force crew were extended the limit by the Cubs and the homester crew feel confident they can take the villagers tonight. The Cannifton team battled the Cubs to an eight-all draw in a no contest clash in their last meeting. Game starts at 8:30.

A FINE GESTURE

The Kinsmen Club "Turk Broda Game" Committee under Chairman Eddie Schreider has come up with a splendid gesture. They have issued invitations to the crippled children of the city to be their guests at the Broda National League All-Stars — Belleville All-Stars softball classic at the Exhibition Grounds on Wednesday night. Transportation for the kiddies and their guardians has been arranged and parents of the kids should contact Rotary club Crippled Children Committee representative Orland Pinkston, or Dr. Russell Scott of the Shrine. Everything will be done to make the event as pleasant as possible for the youngsters.

* * *

The game itself has all the earmarks of being the softball epic of the season. Tickets are selling well, it is stated, although there are plenty available thus far. The game, as was stated before will be played at Exhibition Grounds under the lights, and the well-known hockey stars will be given an outstanding reception. A feature will be the presentation of the five autographed softballs and hockey stick by the Leafs' goalkeeper. There will be a band and dignitaries of the city will be on hand to take in the proceedings. A proposed tour of the air station has been cancelled but the hockey-softballers will visit other points of interest in the city.

DOTS AND FLASHES

The Point Anne softball team will play hosts to the Kingston Alcans, senior "B" squad of Kingston tomorrow night on the Point diamond starting at 6:30. The Alcans defeated the OxPointers in their first meeting but with some reinforcements they feel they can take the measure of the visitors . . . 'Smoky' Smith, former Batawa southpaw ace, now with the Provincial Police detachment in Brockville held a reunion with his former Shoemen pals in the dugout in Brockville on Saturday . . . "Smoky" is on highway patrol work, and said that thus far he has not worn a glove . . . Doesn't know what he will do as far as baseball is concerned . . . Art. (Fish and Chips) Wright was warmed up all afternoon, but did not see action . . . He met his former Belleville Rockets hockey pal, Ron Trussel in Brockville and junior "B" hockey lived again, temporarily . . . Batawa is dickering for the services of a southpaw (Yank import variety) . . . And incidentally the Shoemen have filed a protest on the recent Picton - Batawa game . . . Smith, Cobourg hurler, wore a Bata uniform but saw no action . . . Beckstead held down left field . . . He also is resident in Cobourg . . . But the lads were there with full permission of the OBA powers-that-be . . .

FEMININE POWER

The Northern Electric ladies' softball team is showing plenty of power with the bludgeons in the Lakeshore Ladies Softball League. Friday they pounded out a 13-5 win over Baltimore and a week ago they defeated Grafton by a 13-7 count. In their first appearance on the diamond they held the strong Kingston Alcan team to an 11-8 count. Manager Moe Fogarty has a well-balanced squad, with pitchers Ann McGrath and Pee Wee Colden showing plenty of ability. Thus far the team his hit 29 safeties and scored 26 runs in two league games.

Ninth-Inning Fence-Clearing Home Run Gives Brockville 3-2 Win Over Bata Shoemen

A Frank Merriwell home-run that blasted off Bill Rickey's bat in the last half of the ninth and cleared the left ~~centre field fence~~ 290 feet away turned almost certain defeat into victory for the Brockville Memos on Saturday. His team trailing 2-1 in their COBL game with Batawa Shoemen Rickey's long hoist scored Ashley ahead of him to give the Memos a last minute 3-2 victory.

With Picton scoring a near-sensational victory over Smith's Falls in overtime, the Shoemen defeat plunges them into the cellar spot of the league standing.

With Muffitt of Batawa and Jim Proctor, Brockville going the route and their mates playing flawless ball afield, the game was the best seen in the Brockville park this season.

Muffitt in Form

Gordie Muffitt, far from physical fitness due to a stomach ailment hurled one of his best efforts of the season. He yielded but six hits up to the fateful ninth, struck out four and walked seven. The rare occasions he was in danger amounted to nothing as the swarthy hurler bore down and pitched himself out of trouble.

Jim Proctor, late of the Ogdensburg Maples, the smooth left hander who defeated the Shoemen here last Monday also turned in a fine mound effort. He let the Shoemen down with six hits struck out two and walked three. He was supported by errorless fielding especially in the seventh when Ashley, Memos centrefielder leaped high in the air with his back against the fence to pull down Ken Peacock's towering bid for a homerun.

Memos opened the scoring in the second when Seeley lashed out a double and Atkins drew a walk. Muffitt retired the next two batters then Proctor came through with a single to score Seeley. Ashley struck out to end the rally.

Tied It In Fifth

The Shoemen tied the score in the fifth when Red Carson's centre-field drive went for a double. He went to third on a passed ball and scored on Rankin's neat op-sacrifice over Prockin's neat pop-sacrifice over Proctor's head.

Batawa took the lead in the sixth after Beckstead had drawn a walk and went to second on Proctor's balk, an incident that held up the game for five minutes due to the Brockville battery's protest on Umpire Schreider's decision. Gene Spencer care through with a slashing single to centre field and Beckstead galloped home with the run.

From then to the ninth it looked like a Batawa victory with their one-run lead looking like a million. The Shoemen went down in their half of the innings and the fans were getting ready to leave.

Ashley came to the plate and drew a base on balls. Dafoe grounded out to the infield and Rickey stepped up. He looked at two pitches then swung. The ball soared high in the air toward left centre field. Ken Peacock raced over underneath it but it cleared his upstretched arms by two feet and disappeared over the fence. Ashley trotted home and close behind him came Rickey to be met with a rousing reception from his mates and the fans.

Rankin led the Shoemen with the hickory with a triple and single. Spencer got a double and single, Carson a double and Bridgeman a single.

Rickey with a homer and Seeley with a double got the other extra base hits for the Memos.

Sports Roundup

• By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 12 (AP) — Some day soon, Bobby Feller will join the select list of pitchers who have won 200 games. . . If there hadn't been a war, he probably would be the 13th 300-game winner. . In the three seasons before he joined the navy, Bob showed 24, 27 and 25 victories. . . In his first full season after he came back—1946—he won 26. . . It's more than reasonable to assume that Feller, at his fireball pitching peak, could have matched those figures or at least collected 100 victories in those four seasons. . .Especially against that weak wartime hitting. . .It's difficult to think of Feller, the speed pitcher, as becoming a caky veteran. . .But he's nearly 32, and Marsh Samuels, the Indians publicity man, points out that one of Bob's greatest assets now is his knack of making the batters foul off good pitches. . .When he has control, he keeps them fouling until they finally swing at a bad one or let a good one go past — and there's another guy out.

An Im-position

Some of the golf professionals were exchanging hard luck tales at lunch during the open at Ardmore and Skee Riegel related a series of hair-raising experiences with the slick greens. . . "Oh, well, that's the course," he concluded. . .Lloyd Mangrum needled gently: "Sure that was the course, not you; your've a fine golfer. . .Riegel put on a serious look and agreed: "It wasn't me. I always was in perfect position for a bogey or double bogey."

Waterloo Tigers Finally Defeat Stratford Team

(By The Canadian Press)

League - leading Waterloo Tigers finally got Stratford Nationals number Saturday.

Stratford had previously defeated Waterloo three times. Playing manager Alex Kvasnak personally decided there would not be a fourth defeat.

In four trips to the plate he got four hits. His third, an inside-the-park homer tied the game 1-1. In the eighth he stole home with the winning run. Waterloo added another in the same frame to take the game 4-2.

At Galt Tex Kaiser put on a one-man show, too, as the home team defeated Brantford Red Sox 13-8. The slugging centre fielder knocked two home runs over the right field fence and scored a double and a single in five times at bat besides driving in seven runs.

The fighting Guelph Maple Leafs made a remarkable comeback in the final innings to edge out St. Thomas Legionnaires 8-6. In the other scheduled game London Majors dropped their fourth game in a week, losing to Kitchener Legion 11-4.

Come From Behind

More than 5,000 persons saw Brantford come from behind to tie the score in the first half of the seventh and then get shelled for five runs in the last half. Harry Sollenberger lasted seven innings for Galt and was replaced by Jim Bagby in the eighth. Dave Sheehan, Tom Quest and Nig Parker all took turns on the mound for Brantford.

The Guelph-St. Thomas game was tied in the fifth 4-4. Then in the seventh St. Thomas went ahead with two runs. But the Leafs came back in their half of the inning to drive in three runs and put the game on ice in the eighth with another run.

Oscar Judd started for Guelph and was replaced by Marty Philp in the third. He was relieved by Sam Paxson in the fifth and Paxson was given credit for the win. Pat McCullogh was charged with the loss.

From the third inning when they soared into a 4-1 lead, Kitchener never fell behind. London did their best to whittle down the lead and were trailing by only one run in the ninth when Kitchener put it on ice with a six-run assault.

Picton Defeats Smiths Falls In 12th Frame

Picton, June 12.— A 12th-inning rally gave Picton McFarlands Athletics a 10-9 victory over Smiths Falls Royals here yesterday. It was the second consecutive game in which the local team came from behind to snatch a win in Central Ontario Baseball League Senior "A" competition.

In the top of the ninth, Smiths Falls had an 8-4 margin. Three singles, a walk and an error gave Picton four runs and forced the game into extra innings. White scored in the 11th for the visitors on a single, an error and Muldoon's single. Picton again tied the score in their half when Downes tallied on an error after banging out a triple.

In the 12th MacDonald singled, Duetta was safe on an error, Carson singled, loading the bases, and Dyer ended the game with a hard drive through the infield.

Red Sox' Troubles Multiply, They Can't Win in Heretofore Friendly Fenway Park

By JOE REICHLER
(A[illegible]iated Press Sport Writer)

"[illegible] Red Sox won't win the pennant this year," the man said. "They fold up against the strong clubs."

The man was a Boston baseball writer. The remark was made right after Boston had buried the poor St. Louis Browns under a record shattering 29-4 count last Thursday.

"Why don't they do that against New York or Detroit?" he asked. "Know why? They wilt under pressure."

There is no denying the Red Sox have had miserable luck against the first division clubs this season. In 23 games against the Yankees, Tiger and Cleveland Indians, the Sox have won ni[illegible]nd lost 14. That's a cellar-li[illegible]94 percentage.

Red Rolfe's Tigers heaped insult upon injury Sunday when the league-leaders used two lefthanders who pitched nine innings apiece.

Southpaw Hal Newhouser scattered 10 hits to beat Boston 5-2 in the opener. Lefty Ted Gray allowed only four hits in nine innings of relief ball, to gain credit for the 9-6 triumph in the second game. A three-run homer by Vic Wertz snapped a 6-6 tie in the 14th inning.

The Yanks kept pace with Detroit by sweeping both ends of a double-header from the Browns 1-0 and 4-2.

Cards Widen Margin

St. Louis' soaring Cardinals widened their first-place margin in the National League to two games over Brooklyn by crushing N[illegible]York Giants twice 6-1 and 5-[illegible]he best the Dodgers could do was divide a pair with the Reds in Cincinnati. The Brooks won the opener 5-4 but the Reds came back to win the nightcap 8-5.

Philadelphia's third-place Phillies remained a half game behind Brooklyn, splitting a pair with the Pirates in Pittsburg. The Phils came from behind with five runs against rookie Vern Law to win the first game 7-6 but the Pirates took the second 5-4 on Ralph Kiner's 13th home run of the season.

Chicago Cubs tied Boston for fourth place, defeating the Braves twice in Chicago 5-4 in 10 innings and 2-1. The White Sox, Chicago's American League entry, also won two games, whipping the Senators in Washington 8-3 and 5-4.

Indians Divide

Cleveland and the Athletics divided a doubleheader in Philade[illegible]phia. Three runs in the 10th [illegible]d the Indians to win the fi[illegible] game, 6-3. A seven- run seventh inning won the second for Philadelphia, 9-6.

Vic Raschi and Fred Sanford turned in fine pitching performances for the Yankees. Raschi yielded only three hits in hurling his seventh triumph.

Sanford registered his fourth triumph on four hits.

Bob Lemon pitched his seventh triumph for Cleveland. Tenth-inning homers by Al Rosen and Jim Hegan were the winning blows. It was Rosen's 15.

The double triumph by the White Sox ended a seven-game victory string of the Senators against Chicago. Ray Scarborough, was clipped for 11 hits but staggered through for his fifth win in the nigtcap.

Lefties Howie Pollet and Alpha Brazle pitched the Cards to their 10th straight win over the Giants. [illegible]n Newcombe, with the help o[illegible]ackie Robinson and Roy Campanella gained his sixth triumph for Brooklyn in the opener against the Reds. Robinson got three hits and scored twice. Campanello clouted a two-run homer. A six-run Cincinnati seventh against Dan Bankhead helped Ewell Blackwell gain his fourth victory in the nightcap.

Hank Sauer's long fly scored Bob Ramazotti from third with the winning run for Chicago against Boston in the opener.

Batting— Vic Wertz, Tigers: Homered with two on in the top of the 14th to give the Tigers a 9-6 triumph over Boston in the second game of a doubleheader. The Tigers won the opener 6-2.

[illegible]ching—Vic Raschi, Yankees: [illegible]ded only three hits in pitching the Yankees to a 1-0 victory over Stubby Overmire and St. Louis Browns in the first game of a doubleheader. The Yankees also won the second game 4-2.

Electric Girls Trim Baltimore By 13-5 Score

Belleville's Northern Electric Ladies' Softball team pounded out a 13-5 win over Baltimore in a regularly scheduled Ladies Lakeshore Softball League game Friday evening, at Baltimore.

The locals held a slim 6-5 lead going into the seventh frame when they cut loose with an eight hit barrage that netted them seven runs and a lop-sided win.

Baltimore made all their hits count for runs as they drove over three tallies on three singles in the fourth inning and counted two runs in the fifth on two hits.

McGraith started for the winners and in four innings walked one, struck out three, and gave up three hits for three runs while claiming the win. She was replaced by Colden in the fifth who went the rest of the way striking out seven, walking five, and being nicked for two hits and two runs. Slater and Smith toiled for the losers with Smith, who came in in the fourth being charged with the loss.

I. Sequin led the hit parade for the Northern girls, pounding out four solid singles. Reeves, Young and Mills each got a pair. Colden, Robson and Mills hit two-baggers.

For Baltimore Hogg, Wall and Heberer came through with doubles, with Mardsen poling out a three-bagger.

Hogan Scores Comeback Win In U.S. Open

Ardmore, Pa., June 12 — (AP) —The whole golf world knew it today — the boss is back.

He's back with two sound legs and a determination that marks him as one of the great masters of all time.

The climax chapter in the Ben Hogan saga was written Sunday down the fairways and across the tricky greens of Merion's historic east course.

"He's the greatest of them all," acknowledged Lloyd Mangrum, a tough old pro himself, after being beaten in the 18-hole triple playoff for the 50th United States open championship.

Mangrum is a hard, nerveless character on the golf course but he must have blanched at the steady stream of pars and birdies flung at him and George Fazzio in the extra round.

Hogan, moving briskly on legs once battered in collision with a 10-ton bus, fashioned a methodical one-under-par 69 to win easily.

Mangrum shot 73, counting an unfortunate two-stroke penalty for blowing a bug off his ball, and Fazzio registered 75.

Hogan thus picked up the strings of a championship skein interrupted by the auto accident Feb. 2, 1949, on a highway near Van Horn, Tex. It was feared he might never walk again.

"My legs are okay and I wish we could get everybody to forget them," the strong-jawed little man said after his victory. He resents pity. He dislikes being regarded as a freak.

Didn't Affect Outcome

The big incident of the match occurred on the 16th. While it didn't, on the surface, affect the outcome it added a bizarre touch to the exciting playoff.

Mangrum said he saw a little bug crawling on his ball. So he picked it up and blew it off. Then he sank the putt — a 20-footer — for his par four. He was one stroke back of Hogan at the time.

An alert official, remembering the rules, penalized him two strokes. That gave him a six. The rule says you can't pick or clean your ball.

"Gee, I didn't know that, I didn't know it meant a live thing," Mangrum said afterwards. "What if it had been a snake."

Hogan, coming back to tie for the title at 287, ripped off 15 pars, two birdies and went over on only one hole — the eighth — where his caution backfired. He drove with an iron, hit a trap and took a five.

Springfield Cubs Only Two Games Behind Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

Springfield Cubs, newest entry in the International League, is the circuit's latest hope to overhaul the pace-setting Rochester Red Wings.

Stan Hack's Cubs took a doubleheader from Buffalo Bisons, 6-2 and 4-3, Sunday and moved into second place, two games behind the Wings

Montreal Royals tumbled out of second into third place 2 1-2 games behind the pace by dropping two games to Jersey City Giants 14-12 in 11 innings and 5-3.

Rochester, meantime, swept a bargain bill from Syracuse Chiefs 7-2 and 10-8 while Toronto and Baltimore split a fourth twin bill with the Orioles taking the opener 8-7 in 11 rounds and the Leafs the nightcap 9-3.

Bill Moisan restricted the Bisons to six hits in bagging his third victory for Springfield in the opener.

Al Porto, veteran lefthander, scattered seven hits in the finale while his mates collected eight including a double and two singles by Carm Mauro.

Chet Laabs homered in the 14th inning with one on to give Jersey City the nod over Montreal in their first game. Neal Watlington and Sal Yvars also homered for the Giants and Walt Fiala and George Schmees for Montreal.

Wins in First Start

Rookie lefthander George Heller, making his first start, limited the Royals to five hits including a homer by Toby Atwell in outpitching rookie Tom Lasorda in the windup.

Tom Poholsky recorded his sixth victory against a long setback for Rochester in the opener at Syracuse. Poholsky scattered eight hits in beating veteran Bud Byerly.

Johnny Wittig went all the way for Rochester in the second game although he was touched for 10 hits including a three-run homer by Ed Shokes.

Pinch-hitter Bob Young's single in the 11th inning scored pinch-runner Vern Taylor with Baltimore's winning run against Toronto in their first game.

(By BOB THOMAS)

Hollywood, June 12—(AP) — The most famous student of Montgomery Bell Academy, Nashville, Tenn., is back in Hollywood for his first grown-up role.

He is Claude Jarman, Jr., who once played the wistful deer-lover in "The Yearling". The reason he is playing a grown-up role is obvious: He now is a towering six feet, two inches.

The blonde southerner is still on the sunny side of 16 years, but in John Ford's "Rio Bravo" he'll play a young man of 18.

"This is the best role Claude has had since 'The Yearling,' " his father remarked at lunch.

Gleeful Boy

"Except 'Intruder in the Dust,' " corrected young Claude. He was obviously enthusiastic about the role.

"Gee, I get an arrow in my shoulder, get horse-whipped and everything," he said with glee. Everything, that is, except romantic interest. He is still too young to make that convincing. The romance department will feature John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara.

Claude recently cut himself adrift from the home lot, M.G.M., and is free-lancing.

He wasn't the only child actor to leave the M.G.M. lot, five years ago there were 19 in the studio school; today there are two—Dean Stockwell and Gary Gray.

"Children are just too expensive for the studios," explained Claude's father. "When they are working, school teachers, welfare workers and other special help have to be hired. And the kids can only work four hours a day. That makes it hard on the shooting schedule."

"Duchess of Idaho" (M.G.M.) follows the same old formula of throwing a lot of glittering elements together and hoping that something good will result. The recipe: Esher Williams' swimming, Van Johnson as a band leader, John Lund's farce, Sun Valley locations and specialties by Lena Horne, Eleanor Powell and Connie Haines. The result, however fancy it looks, is still hash. Best feature: Paula Raymond, a bright new face with great promise.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge is a game that grows on you. At first you played because you were invited to a party. Or to please a group of friends with whom you liked to be. Or to keep peace in the family.

After awhile you absorbed a rule or two by the process of osmosis. Or because you were ashamed not to. Or because you got tired of being criticized. Or because you were afraid your friends would avoid you.

Of a sudden you began to glimmer an idea that a few rules might be essential to better your play. Then some rule made you sit up and take notice. It made you realize that bridge was a science.

For instance, some patient friend showed you the rule of 11. It did not register immediately. As a matter of fact, you were skeptical about it until an example proved it beyond a shadow of a doubt.

Even then you could not believe your ears or your eyes. It did not seem possible that such information could be had from the lead of any small card. Else where had it been all your life.

Time and again your friend points out how the rule works. After awhile you are willing to be convinced. But it is still hazy and you can think of several objections that pop up in your mind.

In teaching the rule of 11 to my audiences, I like to use first the example shown here:

NORTH
♥K 10 3

WEST
♥Q 9 8 7

EAST

SOUTH
♥6 5 4

You see in the four hands the hearts held by each of the players. It is when south is declarer and the opening lead must come from west.

West makes the opening lead of his heart seven and you are his partner in east. You do not see the south cards. So, when dummy north plays the trey what should you play from the east hand?

Your only correct play is your deuce of hearts. You should know that south, the hidden hand, has no heart that can take the seven led by your partner. Don't you believe me, dear?

Toronto Leafs And Canadiens Put on Show

(By The Canadian Press)

The National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens found out Sunday that a baseball can be almost as slippery and tough to hold as the puck they chase around during the winter season.

The two clubs went out of character, galloped and slid around Toronto Maple Leaf stadium in a nine-inning game. After 3 1-2 hours of play, 36 runs and as many hits and 11 errors (Montreal had seven) Leafs took the honors by a thumping 27-9 score.

It gave 12,886-shirt-sleeved fans who paid $12,379 into Manitoba's Flood Relief Fund a chance to cheer their beloved Leafs and boo—all good-naturedly, of course—the Montreal villains, particularly Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, Ken Reardon, Butch Bouchard, Billy Reay and others.

The fans loved every minute of it, particularly when Canadiens' Big Bill Durnan who is some chuks as a ball player, struck out twice; Richard jawed at the third-base umpire on two close decisions. The height of their jubilance came in the ninth inning when Reardon, who played an always-trying right field, went down swinging on the deliveries of his old hockey rival, Cal Gardner.

It was sweet revenge because it was Reardon who came up with a ninth-inning clutch double in Montreal three weeks ago that gave Canadiens a 13-12 victory over Toronto. That game produced $6,210 for the Rimouski, Que., Fire Victims' Fund.

Little Benny's Note Book

[illegible]as doing the bridge problem, and pop was listening to a speetch terned down low on the radio, and I was reeding my lyberry book on the floor and hoping nobody wouldn't notice what time it was.

Which ma did, saying, Benny, you can say good nite now, and gracefully, please.

Meening to go to bed rite away with no arguments, and I said, Yes mam, here I go, ma. Can I read my lyberry book in bed for a while, just for a change I said.

Now what's the use of asking a question when you know the anser in advance? ma said. In the ferst place there is an unbreakable rule about reeding in bed, as far as you are concerned, and in the 2nd place there wouldn't be any sutch rules if there weren't good reasons for them and in this particuler case the good reason is for you to have a full nite's rest so you'll be refreshed for the following day, she said, and I said, But jimminies, ma, how about haste making waste?

Now what's that got to do with the subject? ma said, and I said, Plenty, ma. If I hurry up and make haste trying to go to sleep, I'm libel to get all excited making sutch a big effort, so instead of going ot sleep I'm libel to stay awake full of nervus wasted energy. But if I take my time and get sleepy careful and gradual over my lyberry book, I'm libel to be asleep even sooner than I expect, I said.

William, I think it's time for you to put in 2 or 3 werds, ma said.

Which pop did, saying, Benny beet it.

Being exactly 3 werds, and I went to bed without my book and was asleep almost before I had my last shoe off.

Deputy Minister of Travel And Publicity Presents Outlook For Coming Tourist Season

Marmora—Thomas C. McCall, Deputy Minister of Travel and Publicity as guest speaker at the June dinner meeting of the Marmora District Chamber of Commerce, held in the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening captured the hearts of about fifty members and guests with a clear outspoken address on the need for Ontario's tourist facilities to be well extended and advertised. Having mentioned that it was his initial visit to the Crowe Lake and river district, he presented the present outlook on the Ontario tourist business.

Critical Year Ahead

While the past four years had been record years, he pointed out that this will be the critical year of all. The American tourists have more places to go and he asserted that forty-six American States were keenly competing with Ontario for business. There will have to be in consequence, a great picture of community development and benefits and courtesy to our American summer guests is a vital concern. He contended that it was more pleasing to their eyes to see our highways free of undue advertising signs. "Let's settle to me Canadian."

Many letters read in a checkup of resort business received by the proprietors, refer to our people as being nice to their visitors.

Mr. Tom McCall felt that the tourist home operator had been in the past, carrying most of the load. There is a need of better secondary roads in our province as well as of good coffee to make a visit more inviting. He also was convinced that the development of historic sites in the province played its part in the province's attractions. In his closing remarks directed to the activities of the Chamber of Commerce he used these significant words, "The Chamber of Commerce is the great voice in the world at large."

Admitted Need of Roads

Thanks of the gathering were conveyed by Don Marett. Elmer Sandercock M.P.P., for North Hastings, who was also a guest of the evening, admitted the need for better roads into resorts in his constituency as well as an enhanced Hydro service and said he would support any effort put forth by the Chamber or organized resort operators in that connection. President Alex Fraser who presided at the gathering welcomed all guests. In the business section of the meeting a letter was read from the Ontario Chamber of Commerce soliciting the branch's membership therein. This matter was passed to the Board of Directors for action.

President Reports

The president reported for the chairman of the Regatta Committee, Vern Caverley, of the progress made. The Marmora and Lake township council has promised to do what it can to improve the road into Glen Allan Park, the venue for the regatta. A healthy discussion ensued and notes were made by Secretary Ralph Neal on suggestions to make the event most attractive and non-lagging Don Marett for the Publicity Committee explained that the signs at the approaches to Marmora had been taken down for repainting and that they would soon be put back in former positions again.

Motion Passed

A motion was passed that the Chamber of Commerce take some action on the matter of the increased Hydro rates for summer cottages and summer resorts. The local member promised to associate himself with the representations which will be made in this regard.

62 Paid up Members

For the Membership Committee James L. Shannon reported that there were about sixty-two paid up members. Gordon Young of Belmont Lake, who was present gave a short illuminating talk on the irrigated deserts and dude ranches he had seen in his visit to Arizona and other south western states, this past winter. The Chamber as a result of a discussion decided to write a letter to the Belmont township council on the matter of improving roads leading to resorts in their township. In adjourning the president announced that the next monthly meeting would be held on the second Thursday in September.

Rawdon Twp. Council

The township of Rawdon will be organized for the purpose of collecting for the Manitoba Relief Fund, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of council held Monday. The township will be organized by school sections with the request that ratepayers be as liberal as possible. Receipts for donations of $5 and over will be given.

Gordon Webb was recommended paid $160 for sheep killed while Sanford will be paid $50, also for a sheep account. Insurance on the township hall and contents was increased from $2,500 to $3,000. Bills for cattle spraying were voted to be turned into the treasurer for collection. The May road voucher for $1,311.63 was ordered paid.

Pilot and Girl Passenger Killed in Crash

Hamilton, June 12 — (CP) — George Isaac Reine, 43-year-old pilot from Weyburn, Sask., and his girl passenger, 19-year-old Jean Pental of Hamilton, were killed Sunday when their light plane crashed on landing.

The two were returning from a flight to Centralia, and were about 100 yards from the corner of the airport when a stiff gust of wind caught the machine and crashed it into a clump of trees. The motor of the single-engined plane was thrown 30 feet.

Glen White, chief instructor for Peninsula Airways Company which owned the plane, said Reine had about 100 hours flying time. Miss Pental had been interested in flying for about two years but had never flown solo.

The girl was a native of Brantford, but lived and worked here. Reine had lived here for the past seven years. His body will be sent to Weyburn for burial.

$75,000 in Gold Stolen From Mine Is Recovered

Timmins, June 12 — (CP) — The $75,000 in gold stolen from nearby Delnite mine June 2 was recovered several days ago, Inspector I. R. Robbie of the Ontario Provincial Police announced Sunday.

He said that a safe containing three gold bars, $16,000 in stocks and $500 in Canada Savings Bonds had been found in the bush five miles southeast of Timmins but the discovery had not been announced "for strategic purposes."

For the last several days police had announced that the search for the missing gold was progressing satisfactorily. Meantime, they had maintained a watch over the safe in hopes the thieves would return to pick it up. None did.

Police made their second arrest in the robbery Saturday when they charged Morley Latham, 20, with breaking and entering. Earlier they arrested Edward Clements, 20, on a similar charge. Both men were employed at the mine's refinery and assisted in pouring gold bricks.

U.S. Communist Party Plagued By Declining Membership, Finances and Inner Distrust

(Editor's Note: The following article on the Communist party of the United States was written by an Associated Press staffer, George Cornell, after he examined records, interviewed Communists, former Communists and government officials.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

New York, June 12 (AP)—The Communist party of the United States today finds itself plagued by declining membership, drained finances, inner distrust and uncertain leadership.

In its retreat before investigations, prosecutors and laws, the party has moved farther and farther underground. It has tightened its security, and closed the lips of its followers.

Three years ago, the party claimed more than 100,000 members. Today, J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, puts the total at 55,000. An official party report on membership this spring admitted 1950 registration had dropped 17 per cent below last year.

The party is moving underground. Its camouflage has been getting thicker ever since the war's end. Units were subdivided—to cut the range of any one member's knowledge of others. Identities are more carefully guarded. Membership cards were ordered torn up.

The F.B.I. has a substantial number of agents in the party. The party knows it, and has appealed to members not to become "paralyzed by fear" because of it.

The party's powerful national review, or discipline commission, is digging into members' backgrounds, hunting clues of disloyalty.

Nominally Runs Affairs

From his sickroom at his New York apartment, ailing, white-haired William Z. Foster, 69, former mule skinner and seaman, still nominally runs party affairs. But his bad heart doesn't let him do much.

His chief lieutenants are tied down, too.

Communist General-Secretary Eugene Dennis is in jail for contempt of congress. He and 10 coleaders face prison terms for plotting to advocate forcible overthrow of the government. Foster was indicted with them, too, but was not tried because of his health.

Last month the 11 convicted leaders lost a plea for court permission to travel about the country to conduct party meetings and raise funds while their appeal is pending.

In an effort to fill the gap in its leadership, the party has set up a special three-man "secretariat." Its members—Gus Hall, John Williamson and Henry Winston—are among the convicted national committeemen and face five-year prison terms.

Back to Wall

Financially, the party has its back to the wall.

The meagre sums provided by party dues don't amount to much. These dues are based on income. An unemployed party member pays only 10 cents a month. If a member earns $50 a week, his monthly dues are $1.

The nine-month conspiracy trial cost the party $500,000. Some government lawyers feel that the reason the party didn't keep the trial going longer was that defence funds ran out.

The party is said to have liquidated some of its long-standing assets, although it still has holdings in bookshops, summer camps and other enterprises.

Party Has Secret Fund

These resources, usually veiled by front ownerships with interlocking control, are reported to have at one time included interests in restaurants, night clubs, tool shops, stationery stores and other investments.

It also has been charged that the party has a "secret fund" supplied by Moscow and dispensed by a high American "Communist financial clique." The charge has never been substantiated.

The party's basic aims are:

1. To promote Communism in the United States.

2. To support the Soviet Union as the leader of world Communism.

The U.S. government charges the party seeks to establish Communism here through violent revolution. The party claims it seeks only peaceful change.

Few of the rank-and-file Communists exhibit the cold cynicism attributed to the party's Russian counterparts. They seem to believe with a deadly, single-minded earnestness that they are serving humanity.

Members Worked Hard

Party members work hard. In between business hours, they serve on committees, organize demonstrations, walk picket lines, lead discussions, take an active role in their unions and other organizations.

Part of their duty is to join societies, clubs, civic leagues, benevolent organizations, religious bodies and art groups—and then do what they can to uphold the party program.

The party's strength cannot be fully measured by its electoral position.

Say F.B.I. Chief Hoover: "We no longer measure the importance of revolutionary organizations by size.

If the conviction of the Communist leaders is upheld, the party faces these alternatives::

1. Name new leaders, and risk new government prosecutions.

2. Dissolve as a public entity, and go completely underground, there to battle it out with government agents in the hide-and-seek netherworld of secret manoeuvres.

3. Modify its views and objectives, and then convince the government it does not advocate violent revolution.

Ships Collide In Heavy Fog, Several Injured

Quebec, June 12 (CP)— A St. Lawrence River cruiser was in repair docks, a sturdy ocean-going freighter was headed for the high seas and 350 persons were a bit shaken up today after a collision between the two ships Saturday.

The collision occurred in thick fog about two miles from Tadoussac, Que., at the mouth of the Saguenay River. It happened as the Italian registry freighter Maria Paolina was heading out of the river for Europe and the St. Lawrence prepared to make its regular stop at Tadoussac.

About 30 cabins on a deck of the Canada Steamship Lines cruiser SS St. Lawrence were damaged. About 25 persons were injured, none of them seriously, officials said. One crew member, Claude Ferland, 22, of Joliette, Que., suffered a broken leg and knee and was taken to hospital at La Malbaie, Que.

The St. Lawrence made its way under its own steam from Tadoussac to Quebec Sunday night. Extent of damages was not immediately available.

Brought to Quebec

The passengers were brought to Quebec aboard another C.S.L. ship, the Tadoussac. Passengers had supper aboard the St. Lawrence Saturday night after the collision and most of them spent the night aboard ship while others were put up at Manoir Tadoussac.

Maurice Bernier, Quebec pianist aboard the St. Lawrence, said the impact of the collision left the passengers "stupified."

Another passenger, a spokesman for the Industrial Life Insurance Company which was holding a convention aboard the St. Lawrence said "for a little while we were pretty scared."

The spokesman declined to be named.

Extent of damage to the Maria Paolina was not known, but unconfirmed reports from Pointe Au Pere where it stopped Sunday night, said its bridge was damaged.

REGISTERED TRAP LINES

Toronto, June 12 (CP)— Setting-up of registered trap-lines on Crown lands started in Northern Ontario about four years ago, and which now covers most of the Crown land area of Ontario, is gradually being extended to the more southerly regions of the province, the Department of Lands and Forests reported today.

Recently 14 licenses trap-line areas were established on Crown lands in North Victoria County and in the westerly townships of Haliburton County.

Tubercular Crows Danger to Poultry

Ottawa — (CP) — Research by scientists of Canada's department of agriculture in studying and combatting the spread of tuberculosis in farm flocks and herds never ends.

Now another page has been added by science service animal pathologists, who have found that 25 out of 263 crows examined were infected with tuberculosis which under certain conditions might infect the poultry flocks.

Dr. Chas. A. Mitchell, animal pathologist, said tuberculosis usually produces an emaciated or run-down condition in its victim, but strangely enough the crows examined did not show any evidence of these symptoms.

The autopsy findings on the infected crows showed only slight lesions in 16, with nine showing more extensive lesions. These were generally confined to the specific organ attacked, with no marked tendency to generalize, which perhaps explained the absence of emaciation.

Lesions were found most commonly in the liver, in the spleen and less frequently in the lungs, Dr. Mitchell stated.

In all, seven different strains of tubercle bacilli were isolated and Dr. Mitchell said it was of interest to note that these did not conform to the pattern of he tuberculosis organism usually found in fowl.

The pathenogenicity, or extent of infection, of the organisms contained in lesions taken from infected crows and inoculated into chickens, rabbits and guinea pigs, gave varying results.

In chickens the nature of the infection usually was chronic, but seldom resulted in death. In rabbits the infection was seldom extensive, usually being confined to the joints.

In all species of animals tested, the amount of emaciation that developed was out of all proportion to the lesions present.

APHID CONTROL

Parathion is being used effectively in south-central areas of the United States in controlling aphids or green fly in grain crops.

Canada Will Pay $1,222,829 To Canadians of Japanese Origin Over Sale of Lands

Ottawa, June 13 — (CP) — Justice Minister Garson announced today the government will pay $1,222,829 to some 1,300 Canadians of Japanese origin as the result of a commission study of claims that their British Columbia properties, seized in wartime, were sold too cheaply.

He tabled in the Commons the report of Mr. Justice H. I. Bird of the British Columbia Court of Appeal and praised the judge for his "monumental" work during a period of two years and four months.

Mr. Garson said the money to cover the claims will be sought from Parliament in the form of a supplementary estimate.

Mr. Garson said the commissioner, appointed in July, 1947, dealt in all with 1,434 claims involving not only homes and farms but businesses, cars, trucks and other possessions.

The background is the war scare that developed around the time of Pearl Harbor and led the government, as a security step, to disperse the Japanese-Canadians east of the Rockies. Thousands of them now have been permanently settled outside B.C.

The minister said Mr. Justice Bird also dealt with 16 separate cases on which he made individual reports. These were not being tabled until they had been considered by the Federal Treasury Board. They represented claims for $150,000.

CLERK SAYS VET BOUGHT KNIFE BEFORE SLAYING

Napanee, June 13 — (CP) — The murder trial of James Fosbraey, 29-year-old veteran of the Royal Air Force, continued today before a Supreme Court jury under Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. Fosbraey is accused in the knife-slaying of his pretty wife, June, in South Napanee last Nov. 29.

Fosbraey married the Napanee girl while stationed here during the war. After serving overseas he had lived and worked in Napanee, but when back to England last October. He returned about Nov. 23, but was apparently estranged from his wife, and lived at the home of Hughes Jaynes.

The court Monday heard testimony that Fosbraey was still in love with his wife, that he had purchased a hunting knife two days before she was slain, and that on the day before her death he had vainly attempted a reconciliation through the local corps of the Salvation Army, with which his wife was connected.

Jaynes testified that Fosbraey told him he couldn't live without her."

Lieut. P. E. Gardner of the Salvation Army testified that Mrs. Fosbraey came to his house at 6.20 p. m. Nov. 28, and while she was there Fosbraey came to the front door. He told Fosbraey that in his opinion there was no chance of a reconciliation.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 13. (CP)—Synopsis: Warm air still holds sway over Ontario today but sunny skies are giving away to increasing cloudiness in advance of a disturbance over the mid-western United States. As this minor storm moves eastward the temperature and humidity will remain high in Southern and Central regions with widely scattered thunderstorm activity looked for tonight and Wednesday.

Cooler air has edged into that part of the province north of Lake Superior with a few showers reported along its line of advance. This cooler air will remain over northern regions Tuesday with little change expected in the weather.

CANADA-U.S., CUT DOUBLE TAXATION, EASE TAX LAWS

Agreement Lops Off 'Take' by Both Govts.

Ottawa, June 13 (CP)— A new Canada-United States taxation agreement cuts holes in a double-take income tax policy that long has proven a burden to thousands of Canadians working in the United States and Americans working in Canada.

The new agreement, announced here Monday expands exemptions allowable to workers moving across the border and thus lops off the income tax "takes" by both governments under the so-called "double taxation" system.

The system provides that a Canadian working in the U.S. not only must pay income tax to his own government back home but also income tax to the U.S. goverment. The same ruling applies to Americans working in Canada.

Under the new agreement, a Canadian going to the United States to work for a Canadian company for less than 183 days a year, will have to pay no taxes to the United States government. The same applies to an American employed in Canada. Previously there was an exemption of $5,000.

A Canadian going to the U.S. to work for an American concern gets his exemption increased from $1,500 to $5,000 and the period in which this exemption can be applied is increased from 90 to 183 days.

Concessions Reciprocated

Most of the concessions granted by one country are reciprocated by the other, but one that isn't concerns tax on capital gains. Canada has no tax on such gains but the U.S. formerly levied a 15-percent tax on Canadian gains in the U.S. The U.S. has agreed to modify its stand, withdrawing the tax on all corporations shares when more than 50 percent of these shares are held by Canadians.

Approve Ban on Sale Liquor Near Schools

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 13 (CP)—Board of Education Monday night approved a resolution calling for a ban on sale of alcoholic beverages within 400 yards of any school.

The resolution will be put forward at Urban School Trustees Association annual convention at Bigwin Inn, Ont., June 21-24.

LANDLOCKED SALMON

Toronto, June 13 — (CP) — Ontario wildlife officials are considering putting a limit on the number of ouniche or landlocked salmon.

This year is reported to be the most successful year for the taking of such fish since the department stocked Trout Lake 15 years ago.

Religious Relic Touches Off Feud Between Town's Mayor and Bishop

Orvieto, Italy, June 13 (Reuters) — An 800-year-old relic borne in front of the Pope in last week's Corpus Christi procession in Rome has touched off a bitter feud between the communist mayor and the Roman Catholic Bishop of this little Italian town.

The relic, known as the Miraculous Communion Cloth of Bolsena, has been preserved for centuries in a massive silver reliquary in Orvieto Cathedral, 188 miles north of Rome.

Roman Catholic tradition held that the cloth was stained with drops of blood which appeared in place of spilt communion wine before the eyes of an unbelieving German priest while he was celebrating mass at Bolsena 800 years ago.

The people of Orvieto guarded their treasure jealously. It was never allowed to leave the city.

But when the Pope, for the first time in many years, led a Corpus Christi procession in Saint Peter's Square last week, the Bishop of Orvieto, Msgr. Francisco Pieri, arranged that the Miraculous Communion Cloth should be there too.

Despite the protest of Orvieto's communist mayor, Carlo Gregori, the heavy reliquary was taken to Rome.

In the Corpus Christi Festival the relic received the greatest acclaim of the whole procession next to that given to the Pope.

The people of Orvieto, who had sent a strong delegation to Rome, were pleased and proud. So was the mayor of Bolsena, Luigi Mariotini, a Socialist of the pro-communist Nenni party.

He watched the procession and went to the Bishop of Orvieto to tell him he had decided to become a church-goer again.

But back in Orvieto Mayor Gregoria brooded because of the Bishop's action in taking the relic out of the city. And when the relic was carried back in triumphal procession this weekend he shut up the town hall in the midst of the festivities and forebode municipal employees to take part.

Today the feud between Bishop and Mayor reached a new height.

"There is no room for both of us in Orvieto," Mayor Gregori told friends of the town hall.

"Either the Bishop or I must go."

FISH IN LEAVES

You are looking in the show window of a Halifax sporting goods store and seeing minnows being packed for shipment in, of all things, dry leaves. Nova Scotia sportsmen have packed minnow-bait in dry leaves which have an insulating effects, for years but the practice was unknown in Ontario until the above shipment arrived at Peterborough. Most of the fish died during the long trip but sportsmen maintain stoutly that the method is practical under proper conditions for periods up to six days. — (CP Photo.)

'Point-Four' Plan Proposed By Truman 18 Months Ago Still in Blueprint Stage

New York, June 13 — (CP) — A year and a half has passed since President Truman outlined his now-famed "Point-Four" program — to aid backward areas of the world.

But today, while the United Nations is attempting to implement a similar program, the United States' schemes hasn't really started. Added to that, no one can say how far it will go, how well it will work, or where it will end.

In his inaugural address as President in January, 1949, Truman mentioned a number of things he thought the United States should do in a world almost half of which was communist. One of these things — his fourth point — had as its aim helping backward countries to a better life and more progress, faster.

The difference between his program and that of the U.N. is that the American scheme is definitely aimed at stopping the march of communism. The U.N. of course, can have no such outward aims. It is merely trying to give technical assistance to all countries that need it.

Reach End by Same Means

Both plans reach their end by the same means: brains, skill and money. Experts would show backward countries how to grow better crops, wipe out diseases, modernize education, use water power for electricity, for example.

The United States idea is then to have American business men invest money in those countries, aside from what money the government gives. The private industries' investments would be for profit, of course, meanwhile doing their share to help the people by creating jobs.

Congress has finally approved Truman's Point Four plan. The plan calls for the United States to spend $35,000,000 the first year. But Congress still has not voted the money to carry out the scheme.

It will take years before results will really begin to show. Yet the United States remains in a dilemma about getting a scheme started as soon as possible that would stop the march of communism.

Communism makes its appeal to people in backward countries by promising them a better and fuller life. Truman's scheme aims at the same end. Perhaps the dilemma rests in the answers to questions which we won't know for a long time:

Will this help be enough to stop communism? Is the idea too late in starting? Is the plan big enough to do the job?

Gardner Raises Question Of Disposal of Apples in U.K.

Ottawa, June 13 (CP) —Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the Commons today that "questions should be asked" about the disposal in Britain of a recent gift of 1,600,000 boxes of apples from British Columbia.

Mr. Gardiner said he had read that 50,000 boxes of the apples, a gift from British Columbia Tree Fruits Limited, had been distributed to British schools but it was not made clear how the remainder were disposed of.

"If they were sold there is one question I want to ask: Who ought to get the return?"

He did not think Canada, a country of 13,000,000 persons should "attempt to feed 45,000,000 in a country that proudly boasts how it has rehabilitated the people."

O. L. Jones (CCF-Yale) said he understood apple authorities in British Columbia were making inquiries about disposal of the apples in Britain.

J. M. James (L-Durham) started the House on a discussion of apples during consideration of Agricultural Department estimates. He traced the history of the apple down through the times and said Ontario growers "wondered" but did not protest when subsidies were given to apple growers in British Columbia and the Maritimes but Ontario producers got nothing despite the fact many were losing money.

He hoped the minister would consider plans, in conjunction with provincial authorities, either for stemming production of apples or increasing the demand so that the industry would become stable and not need Federal handouts.

Mr. Gardiner said Britain had not taken many Canadian apples since 1939. After the war the British had argued that the freight rate on apples was too high for the food value they had contained. Then there was Britain's dollar problem.

BAN 'GAMBLING SHOWS'

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 13 (CP)— City council banned all travelling carnivals and "gambling shows" Monday night after a lively debate on the relative merits of visiting entertainments and locally sponsored rides and games for youngsters.

A rider to a motion by Aldermen Tom Mason and Robert Conway asked that city council investigate the possibilities of setting up a permanent local midway.

VOTE ON SUNDAY SPORT

Chatham, June 13. (CP)— Chatham voters will decide tomorrow whether the city is to have Sunday sport. More than 11,500 persons are eligible to vote.

Main opposition to Sunday sport is led by Chatham's Ministerial Association, which claims a "yes" vote means the introduction of commercialized sport and danger of a wide-open Sunday.

GARDINER READY TO TALK TOUGH FOR DOMINION

Wants More UK Markets Open to Canadian Goods

Ottawa, June 13. (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Monday night in the Commons he is prepared to talk tough to some people in Britain in an effort to open markets for more Canadian products.

It was time, he said, that Canada stopped talking "nicely" to some people in Britain when she tried to obtain British markets for Canadian food products. It was time for "more direct" talk by Canada.

This would not apply to all people of Britain, but to "one or two" persons with whom he had trade deals in London. About a year ago Mr. Gardiner told the Commons that there were some officials in Britain who were not anxious to import any food products from Canada except wheat.

The question of trade with Britain was raised by opposition members who urged the government to "suggest" to the United Kingdom that, in view of Canada's generous help to her during the war years, she reopen her market to Canadian apples.

Time to Stop Talking Nicely

"I might as well be perfectly candid," said Mr. Gardiner. "I have done every nice thing I know of to try and persuade those who come here to talk about buying food, but I have not succeeded.

"Others have gone over there and attempted to be even nicer than I was in the last stages of the discussions, and they have not succeeded. I think it is about time we stopped talking nicely to some people over in Britain.

Police Artist To Sketch Picture Of Suspect

Montreal, June 13 — (CP)—A country-wide search for the murderer of an R.C.M.P. constable will hit full stride as soon as a police artist can sketch a suspect's picture, police said Monday night.

The suspect was identified as "C. Loring" or "Laring," and was believed to be hiding out in Ontario or Western Canada.

He is wanted for the murder May 25 in Montreal of Constable Alexander Gamman, unarmed Bank of Canada guard. Const. Gamman was fatally wounded when he tried to capture a frustrated bank bandit fleeing a Bank of Toronto branch.

The suspect was described Monday night as a sailor, a heavy drinker and a gum chewer, six feet, two inches tall and weighing about 215 pounds. City police said they were awaiting arrival of an R. C. M. P. artist from Ottawa to draw the suspect's picture.

Police said the suspect had been living at the Arcade Hotel on downtown Windsor Street until the day of the hold-up. Then he disappeared and a key to his room was found May 31 in a garbage can at the rear of a Hornepayne, Ont., hotel (The Schmidt).

Fabulous Loch Ness Monster Target Of Search by Oxford Rover Scouts

Inverness, Scotland, June 13—(Reuters) — The fabulous Loch Ness monster, who has been lying low since before the war, faces a hectic summer—the Rover Scouts of Oxford University are hot on his track.

Armed to the teeth with scout knives, poles and ropes, searchlights and binoculars, the Rover crew of the University's Boy Scout Movement plans to materialize the monster or know the reason why.

But he may be dead—of boredom or neglect. Since his heyday in the middle '30s the monster has been shamefully ignored in the world newspaper headlines that made him famous.

If he lives, he takes a fearful risk in showing himself now—for a hungry nation like Britain, which has already whetted its rationed appetite on whale steaks—might not be content to retain him as a national showpiece.

The monster—first "raised" in 1934, when British newspapers were bigger and the problem of filling them greater — has been "seen" under a variety of circumstances.

That was before the days of Britain's free national health spectacles, which may have corrected former vision faults or a tree trunk into a marine horror of mammoth proportions.

But the Scouts will give the monster every chance to rebut these slanders by a personal appearance. They propose to camp beside the Loch throughout August.

Fate of 39 Persons In Doubt as Plane Crashes Into Sea

5 Known Dead; Six Rescued Of 51 Passengers Aboard

Paris, June 13 —(AP)— Air France said today "it is feared that all hope is lost" for all but six of the 51 passengers and crew of a C-54 plane that ditched into the sea near Bahrein in the Persian Gulf Monday night.

Survivors include four men passengers, a radio operator, and the chief pilot Jean Fladek who was seriously injured when the plane came down into the sea three miles off the runway at Bahrein Island after it had already been given landing instructions.

The bodies of four men and two women—all still unidentified — were recovered by fishing boats.

Still missing are 39 persons, including one infant.

The plane was making a hop from Karachi, Pakistan, to Cairo, and had been scheduled to make a landing at Bahrein. The pilot radioed the airport for landing instructions 10 minutes before its scheduled arrival. After that nothing more was heard from the plane.

Veteran Pilot in Charge

Jean Sladek, one of the company's veteran pilots was in command of the ship. It was flying from Saigon to Paris.

Air France said it was still hoped other survivors would be found.

An official at Air France said the plane's passenger list had not been received in Paris yet but he believed all aboard were of French nationality except one displaced person without a passport.

The company said Sladek had logged 19,500 hours of flying time. In addition to the pilot, the eight-member crew included a co-pilot, two radio operators, two mechanics, a hostess and a steward.

The company said first news of the crash was received from Calcutta. Those already saved have been taken to Bahrein, the company announcement said.

An official of Air France said the Paris office had received no advisory cables that any government officials or well-known personalities were aboard.

Girl is Killed, Car Hits Standard, Car Owner Held

Windsor, June 13 (CP)—Louise Adams, 27, of Windsor was killed early today when a car smashed headlong into a Wyandotte Street steel hydro standard.

The car owner, Donald Marentette, 21 of Windsor Avenue, is held by police for investigation. Police are trying to determine who was driving the vehicle.

Only person around the car was the Adams girl, who was lying on the roadway on the right side of the car, one leg resting on the running board.

An ambulance rushed the woman to hospital where she died at 5:30 a.m. of internal and head injuries.

Police found Marentette in bed at home. He had cuts about the face.

SCHUMAN PLAN TO POOL STEEL, COAL REJECTED

London, June 13—(AP)— The Labor party today called for Britain to keep out of further programs for European political and economic union until united-minded continental counties adopt broad socialism.

The strong policy statement, which rejected the Schuman plan for pooling European coal and steel, came as Prime Minister Attlee prepared to explain to the House of Commons later today why his government is staying out of the six-power talks on the plan June 20.

Though not an official government declaration, the party statement was seen as an answer to critics that Britain is impeding the progress of European recovery by a "go-slow" attitude toward European unity proposals.

The statement, issued by the party's national executive committee, made plain that Labor leaders fear mergers with Europe may jeopardize their program of full employment and mounting production through government planning.

It also emphasized that the Labor party European unity is not "an overriding end in itself," that national sovereignty and Britain's obligations to her globe-girdling commonwealth of dollar supplying colonies and dominions must come first.

The party made clear its belief that effective operation of joint international planning required socialism in the countries participating. Such planning "means nothing" unless all industries "fit their investment program into a European plan."

"Nothing less than public ownership can insure this fully," the party statement asserted.

The committee report also declared:

Search Continues For Crumback Girl

Brantford, June 13 (CP) — Police today pressed a search for a "mystery girl" hiding in the swampblotched Mount Pleasant area five miles south of here.

There was some possibility she was Mabel Crumback, 19, missing since early May 28 from her home in York township, a Toronto suburb.

"It could be Mabel Crumback", said Sgt. Jack Whitty of the Ontario Provincial Police, who heads the search. "But no matter who it is we mean to find her."

Police stressed, however, that descriptions given by two persons who spotted the terrified young woman Monday do not tally with official police descriptions of the Crumback girl.

Two sets of footprints, the ashes of a dead fire, a flattened burlap bag at the edge of a thicket and crushed patches in a wheatfield all were believed clues to her presence.

CITY HALL CLOCK TO HAVE NEW FACE

After all "Old Betsy" is approximately 75 years old and at that age 100 percent efficiency cannot be expected—even from an old clock.

At any rate the clock on the city hall tower is temporarily inoperative, whether from a breakdown of its machinery or from other causes. The clock gave up the ghost at ten minutes of twelve.

It could be, however, that the stoppage is the result of preparations by the clock custodian, George Crocker, who is about to replace the west face of "Old Betsy." The face of the clock toward Front Street has been broken for some months and a new one will be replaced by Mr. Crocker.

Crash Boat Now on Duty In Harbor, Supplies Available

For the first year in history, 24-hour watch is being kept on the waterfront at the bay. And also for the first time in recent years, gasoline for visiting and harbor craft, ice, and fresh water are available.

Since the middle of May, a crash boat operated by Jimmy Munro, ex-navy man, has been ready to go to the aid of errant navigators and wandering sailors. To date, five or six semi-rescues have been carried out. Total cost of the effort thus far is in the neighborhood of $1,500.

The boat, a 17-foot Grey skiff, was shipped here from the Navy League of Canada to the Navy League here. It is based at the docks operated by the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps Quinte on the waterfront. The craft is powered by a 10 h.p. heavy duty outboard motor which, when tried out this morning, objected to being pushed to any extent. The situation will be rectified, Captain John Watson, chairman of the Sea Cadets, promised.

Further plans include the construction of a small cafeteria to supply groceries and refreshments to visiting craft. Officials expect that the cafeteria will be operating by next week.

Additional purpose of the scheme is to provide a rendezvous for people interested in sailing and boating on the bay. "It's surprising", the Captain said, "the number of people who come down there just to look around."

Cost of the initial operation is broken down into $600 for the building of docks and ways; $400 for the buying of the boat; $200 for the motor; $100 for installation of gas pumps; $100 for installation of water services, and another $100 for the cafeteria. One hundred feet of hose has been purchased, and an outside tap installed. In addition, four fire hoses have been purchased. Cost of the operation is being borne by the Sea Cadet Corps.

Service on the bay will continue until freeze-up.

Tactical Exercises Carried Out By H. & P. E. Regt. at Madoc

The "war" came to Crystal Beach, near Madoc, on Sunday. The staccato of rifle-fire; the crunch of trench mortars and the sharp reports of anti-tank guns amid the rumble of military vehicles and crouching stalking khaki-clad helmeted soldiery, brought a realistic touch of modern warfare to residents and visitors.

But while the motive was serious, the touch of war being tactical exercises carried out by the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment (Reserve) under Lieut. Col. Max Porritt, M.C., the 'show' was productive of no harm.

With mythical "enemy" paratroopers purported to have landed in the Crystal Beach area in order to seize the water front as a seaplane base, the task of the Hasty Pees was to "kill or capture" the intruders.

179 Take Part

Twenty-seven officers and 152 other ranks took part in the exercises which were judged a "complete success" by official observers at the conclusion.

Two companies of infantry with trench mortars and anti tank guns converged on the main target of enemy headquarters, in this case the commanding officer's station wagon. The attack was as realistic as possible, with rifles firing blank ammunition, and smoke bombs throwing up a covering screen against the background of mortar and gunfire.

During the exercise the men were instructed in fieldcraft while the officers did two tactical exercises without troops receiving the instruction in the latest methods of ground attack.

Lieut. Col. Porritt was in command of the general exercise with tactical exercises without troops given by Major Bradley, Toronto. Majors Cliff, Broad, Bancroft, and Fred Burtt, Trenton, were commanders of the attacking companies. Troops from Belleville, Madoc, Bancroft, Picton and Trenton were present.

Trenton Company Champions

The Trenton company are the regimental sports champions following the various contests held after the exercise. Included were softball, a tug-of-war and swimming. Trenton won the special trophy donated by Mr. William Hawthorne, proprietor of Crystal Beach and the Lady Gregory Cup, emblematic of the regimental championship.

Private A. Soules, headquarters company, Belleville, won the swimming contest, also $5 for himself and four points for his company.

Adding a touch of color to the "battle-scene" were numerous boats which flitted over the water while the troops were gaining their objective.

A buffet lunch was served and entertainment was provided by Gerald Delong, district representative assisted by Jack Williams and W. J. Hopkins. The door prize was won by Earl Ashley, service station lessee on Coleman Street. At the conclusion of the program a social hour was spent.

Field Crops, Hay Conditions Good

Toronto, June 13—(CP)—Field crops, spring grain, hay and pasture are making "excellent progress" in most sections of Ontario but more rain would make the picture even more optimistic.

This week's Ontario Department of Agriculture Crop Report contains few unfavorable notes. Cows are milking well, corn is making satisfactory growth, hay and wheat have exceeded optimistic prospects.

In southern Ontario strawberries are ripening fast and, in some districts, picking will begin in a week.

Only Burned Out Derelict Adrift In Lake Ontario

Closer investigation of the overturned cabin cruiser, which was reported drifting five miles out in Lake Ontario off Pt. Petre yesterday morning revealed the craft to be but an old burned-out derelict, it was reported today by provincial police at Belleville.

The derelict was first seen shortly after dawn Monday and provincial police called in the assistance of the RCAF at Trenton to investigate.

Three planes swept over the area looking for possible survivors of the craft but closer investigation revealed the boat to be but a burned-out derelict. An earlier report from the pilot of a jet aircraft indicated three survivors but this report was discounted with closer inspection.

With no telephone at the Pt. Petre lighthouse on-the-spot reports on the investigation were difficult to obtain. Neither was any boat immediately available and provincial police were forced to sit it out on shore until a boat could be obtained.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 13 — (CP) — Profit-taking appeared in western oils as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today following a strong upsurge into new high price territory Monday. The remainder of the board opened slightly lower but pushed into the plus column at the half-way mark.

A mild upward push in a handful of leading industrial stocks pushed the index of representative stocks to a new high. Steels, foods and textiles firmed. Utilities and liquors tended lower.

Golds bounced up from opening easiness. A few leading junior producers chalked up penny advances.

Base metals firmed following news Monday of an increase in the price of zinc. Anacon lead and Ascot, features of previous markets, continued active. Osisko slumped in brisk dealings.

'Life Was Made For Living' Club Members Told

"Life was Made for Living," was the general theme of an address delivered by Stewart Richardson, public relations assistant of the Northern Electric Company, to the regular weeky luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club held Tuesday afternoon in Kiwanis Centre.

Drawing on a rich and varied career as a public speaker for his anecdotes Mr. Richardson delighted his listeners with a pleasant mixture of fact and fun.

In selling his philosophy Mr. Richardson clearly demonstrated that from Boston to Red Deer, life was indeed worth living. Not the least of his hardships were the many unusual and varied interruptions with which he was plagued while delivering his address. However, he turned them all aside with admirable deftness that added to the lustre of his performance.

The speaker was introduced by Stu Robb and was thanked by Jim Jarvis.

Elmer, "Sandy" Sandercock, M.P.P. was installed into Kiwanis as a new member. Harry Fuchs, manager of the Bank of Commerce, was also admitted as a member. Mr. Fuchs has transferred from the Kiwanis Club of Timmins.

World-Telegram And Sun Misses First Edition

New York June 13 —(AP)— The World-Telegram and Sun missed its first edition today and officials said they doubted they could publish because A.F.L. printers refused to cross a picket line of the striking American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.).

"The printers did not cross the picket lines and the obvious fact at the present moment is we cannot print," the paper said.

A spokesman added, however, that there was no way of predicting how long the situation would continue.

A guild statement termed the strike "completely effective" on the Daily—one of the largest afternoon newspapers in the United States. The paper claims a daily circulation of more than 600,000.

Printers' groups "have respected the picket line" of 750 Guild members, a spokesman said.

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice-president of the New York Guild, said that members of the International Typographical Union (AFL) and stereotypers and "all allied printing groups" have respected the picket line.

In addition to the main plant of the newspaper, three other plants have picketed.

WHAT THE VACATION WILL BRING

Looming not so far away are summer holidays which promise of joys and pleasures of all sorts for those who have been studying since last September that training may keep pace with the passage of the ths between that month and June.

It is a time which to the schoolboy and schoolgirl will ar the happiest of the year, the fullest of pleasure of nds as the weather is that most suited to the outdoor

It is a period when learning does not come with diffi- y as the schoolboy and schoolgirl, benefiting by their ing in class and study from books, will be able in a of play to add greatly to their knowledge and skill reap amazing harvests of physical health. What is ed in those days comes natural to the young for the e great outdoors beckons and invites them to imbibe y of life in the open fields, in the woodlands or bathe play in the many lakes and streams which make so rful an appeal to them. All the delights of such places country, the fresh air and waters may be theirs to y. Woods have their lessons as have the fields, and the rs offer them the great experience of learning to swim at they may be able to safeguard themselves in the r, bathing in which has always been for childhood and age one of the happiest and healthiest experiences.

The presence of large bodies of water in the neighbor- of city, town and village invites the youngsters to y these waters of "pure ablution" in which they may rt themselves to their content.

However the art of swimming is to be learned. There been sad events enough when children in the sense eedom which summer gives as nature is inviting with er charms, and boys and girls without training have n to the water so often with tragic results.

So to those who have not been taught to swim and to ct themselves in the water, there comes a duty—to be rly trained so that they may protect themselves in water. That is where training comes in—one of the valuable lessons of life bringing much enjoyment and y at the same time.

Then when they have learned the art, one of the old- nd most necessary in life, they will be able to partake l the benefits stemming from their knowledge of rs and their ability to safeguard themselves and even elp save others in distress. It is one of the great edies of life that there are so many drownings through of ability to swim, of overdoing the exercise and sport vimming and taking risks in waters, the nature of h is not known to them.

Swimming means healthy and pleasant exercise with ense of freedom.

Belleville will soon have a swimming pool and there young children will be able to learn the art under er instruction. The trainer can impart the great ns necessary to be learned to acquire the ability to care of one's self in the water.

Canada has waters in plenty and is the wonder of the d for those who do not live in a land so favored. Not young but older folk should take advantage of these ral benefits which are Canada's and add to the indi- al and national health. This is one of the pleasures of g in a land so benign and so blessed with facilities for ming and all forms of water sports. . . . .

To the young pupils who puts aside the books and out into the open air to develop that fine physique which they have been endowed by nature, June the close of school open a veritable paradise in which uild up health which will stand them in good stead in three other seasons of the year.

And in this active outdoor season, they learn from re countless lessons which will stand them in good d all through life.

PROTECTION OF FORESTS

That helicopters may play the role of fire trucks rding to some forestry quarters as one answer to d up the initial suppression of woodland fires before get a dangerous start. Woodland World notes that ario, Uova Scotia and New Brunswick have made essful tests with bush-flying helicopters as forest in- ry and government officials are studying a recent er on "Helicopter Defence and Forest Fire Fighting ntialities." The World comments that any fire start- from five to ten miles from an inaccessible lake is po- ially uncontrollable unless men and equipment could ut on the fire almost immediately. It is also said that copters could also do the work of prevention if working conventional aircraft.

Fifty opening games attended,
Winning pennants now and

But with every season ended
Planning for the next again.

Fifty years of cheering, booing,

Always victory pursuing.
Now and then a triple play.
Fifty winters spent debating

That's why fans are celebrating

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

In a park near where I live, the tragic figure of a man has been familiar to the neighborhood for two or three years past. Walking carefully with a cane, he comes slowly, spring, summer and autumn, to sit on one of the benches for two and three hours at a stretch.

Much of the time, he simply sits, gazing about him at the trees, the grass, the vagrant birds. Sometimes he reads from a small book.

Those of us who have passed close to him have noted the tragic expression of his face, which never changes. Since he comes by street car to the park, he is not a neighbor: none of us knows him. His bearing does not invite any approach.

The other evening, I noticed that he walked away from the bench, leaving his book behind him. This was the chance a nosey person could not miss: I picked up his book and hurried after him. The book was "Songs of Nature," selected and edited by the great John Burroughs.

He thanked me profusely for the book, and I observed that when he talked, he did not have a tragic expression at all. He seemed as eager to converse as I. We sat down on another bench.

In no time at all, I had his whole story. And a happier man probably does not tread the whole length and breadth of Canada. Five years ago, he suffered a heart attack at the age of only forty, which put an end to his labors as a business executive. It scared the wits out of him, of course: but who isn't scared, actually?

He had some money; the business he was connected with gratefully gave him a small pension for his past performance; and, while he was still confined to bed with his heart, his wife's mother died, leaving them plenty of money. He has three teen-age children, all doing famously.

"It's great," he told me, simply great to be retired at my age, and be able to come and sit in a park and read all the beautiful stuff I would have missed, if I hadn't been lucky . . . !"

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

LOOK SKYWARD FOR BEARINGS

Peary, the Arctic explorer, found on one occasion that instead of travelling toward the pole at the rate of ten miles a day, he was in reality being carried in the opposite direction at the rate of twelve miles a day by a great ice floe. He made this discovery when he looked skyward and got his bearings.

The incident is indicative of the fact that when men want to get their bearings, whether on land or sea, the best way is to look skyward. There are many other ways of doing so that in most cases are probably fairly accurate, but the only absolutely accurate way to guide one's self through a strange country or across the sea is by looking at the stars. All other signs fail. The stars in their eternal courses never waver or deceive.

All of which should go a long way toward reminding us that what is true for travellers is equally true for those who make the pilgrimage of life. The only sure way to get our bearings is to look skyward. When we take as our guides the circumstances of life, the customs of our times, and the vices of our fellows, we are liable to get lost. It is when we look to the things that are above that we really get our bearings.

Letter to the Editor

Would Encourage More Immigration

Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer

To this reader, one of the most encouraging notes in the news columns of recent days was that statement by one of Canada's top-flight executives the other day (James S. Duncan, chairman of the Dollar-Sterling Trade Board) at a Trade Fair dinner to foreign exhibitors in Toronto, in which he stressed the desirability that Canada "should open wider the doors of immigration. . . so as to build up our national strength and to provide a larger consumers' market at home."

I think every enduring interest in our great country will be served (and conserved!) by implementing the above suggestion; and that, over the long term, every Canadian will be a beneficiary of "a larger consumer's market at home"?

Frankly, I do not believe that it is good or sound policy for Canada, with less than 10% of the population south of the line, to copy too precisely or enthusiastically the drastic immigration quota mechanism, which sociologists decided as being the most appropriate way of regulating the inflow into the 'land of the good neighbor'? What is good immigration diet for the elephant is not necessarily good for a mouse; and, while it is amazing to find this ebullient "mouse" holding its place in the front rank of the trading nations of the world, it cannot be successfully denied that, in terms of population, we are what one of our Soviet friends (!) termed us: "A minor power". (Molotov).

I covet for my favored land a more appropriate and better-balanced status. Hence this letter, sir, to say that I heartily approve of Mr. Duncan's aim; also that it is my hope that (in the shining words of your own editorial columns) the year 1950 "will be a memorable year in the minds of tens of thousands of persons who have entered Canada as immigrants to begin life in a land which casts the very spell of freedom on peoples of other continents". (Ontario Intelligencer editorial, Oct. 19, 1948).

Reunion is Seen As Great Challenge To Church

Halifax, June 13 (CP)—Dr. A. E. Kerr, President of Dalhousie University, said Sunday night "re-union has become a great challenge to our churches to which they are responding to their credit." Speaking at a mass service on the 25th anniversary of the United Church of Canada, he said ultimate goal was the re-union of all Christian bodies, Protestant and Roman Catholic. Referring to talks now in progress between the United Church and the Anglican Church in Canada, he urged that differences and obstacles in the way should not be over-emphasized.

Mackenzie's Column:

Visit of Lie Hasn't Altered Soviet Tactics

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Russia and her satellites Monday boycotted another United Nations organ (the important conference on technical assistance to backward areas) in the Soviet drive to force the peace organization to oust the Chinese Nationalists and give their seat to the new Chinese Communist government.

That is the 30th organ the Soviet bloc has given the cold shoulder in its campaign against Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government. It makes clear that whatever good, if any, may come out of U.N. Secretary-General Lie's recent conference with Marshall Stalin in Moscow, it hasn't altered the Soviet tactics of obstruction in the peace organization.

President Truman has warned that the Russians are "fomenting aggression and preparing for war. The conflict can only be avoided by making the western world so strong that the Russians won't dare fight.

Such is the background of the new collective military measures which western Allies are taking to prepare for defence. Moscow points to thse developments and charges the capitalistic nations themselves are getting ready to make war.

Certainly there is no balm in the U.N. gilead which will cure this situation. That is true because the Soviet campaign within the peace organization is part and parcel of the "cold war." As long as this situation continues the U.N. will be largely hamstrung.

The election of the Chinese Nationalists and the seating of the Chinese Communists in the U.N. couldn't alter the position materially. It is purely incidental as compared with the Soviet program of communizing the whole world.

The question arises as to whether the U.N. should continue to try to operate under such conditions. The answer to this perhaps is that we never should stop trying to achieve what is right, even if the obstacles seem unsurmountable.

Max Reimann Is Suspended After Outburst

Bonn, Germany, June 13—(AP)—Max Reimann, west Germany's top communist, was suspended for 30 days from the west German parliament today after a noisy communist outburst broke up a session of the parliament's Lower House (Bundestac).

Fighting broke out on the floor of the Bundestac when the parliamentary guards attempted to remove the shouting Reimann.

Communist and anti-communist members of parliament kicked at each other and swung a few wild blows with their fists.

No one was injured in the brief melee which began after the session had been adjeurned.

The tumult began when all parties except the communists denounced the communist-dominated east German government for signing a pact with Poland last week accepting the new east German border as permanent.

When he was unable to quiet the communists who wanted to debate the declaration, president Erich Koehler recessed the session.

A few minutes later he reconvened the meeting to announce that Reimann would be barred from parliamentary sessions for a period of 30 days.

Reimann still refused to leave. His party colleagues surrounded him when guards attempted to remove him.

Anti-communist deputies then went to the aid of the guards, kicking and swinging their fists. No solid blows were struck, however, and the fight was quickly broken up.

CATERPILLARS THREATEN 3,000,000 ACRES

Almost 8,000,000 acres of forests in the Muskoka area of Ontario are threatened by the tent caterpillar, shown inset. The pests have invaded the territory in millions, so thick that cars are sometimes stuck on the road unable to get traction. They strip a tree of its foliage in minutes, causing it to die. Ontario government officials say it is up to the individual property owners to spray their own land. — Central Press Canadian.

THINGS TO DO AFTER FORTY

The first thing to do after forty, if, like most Yankee Wiseacres, you have neglected proper care of your teeth in your preoccupation with trick brushes and glorified soap, is to have your teeth put in the best possible working order. This involves making and installing whatever dentures may be necessary or practicable to replace missing teeth.

It has cost me many a new reader to say this. Moreover it is not in line with the character assigned to me by some of the throw-away "magazines" that tell the second rate dentists what to think of me and my column. In Seven Keys to Vite (for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self-addressed envelope) you will find Save Your Teeth is number 1 key.

It should be obvious to even the dumbest dentist that I place a high value on teeth, either natural tooth or artificial teeth, that function well, and that I have great respect for good dentistry. It is the first thing I think of when I think of keeping well, preserving the characteristics of youth and holding back the encroachment of senility. It is still the first thing I think of when I think of preventing physical degeneration and the manifestations thereof—such as rheumatiz, cardiovascular breakdown (heart-artery wearingout) and diabetes.

Casual readers may try to deceive themselves that it is quixotic to appraise each functioning tooth at a minimum of $1000, but call me Quixote if it is.

Only please don't run away with any funny notions in your wee little—— the structural beauty of the face suffers more or less from the loss of a tooth which is not immediately replaced with a suitable denture, of course, but that's only incidental. The value of a tooth that functions efficiently, whether it is a natural tooth or one made and installed by your dentist, lies in the part each sound tooth plays in digestion and nutrition.

Even Yankee Wiseacres have some vague conception of the relation of health to good digestion although they do not seem to realize that health depends on good digestion.

Few educated Americans are aware that the digestion of cooked starch begins in the mouth and continues normally for an hour or more in the upper or larger end (fundus) of the stomach after the food has been swallowed. This is physiology, not almanac stuff. If the diet is pap, soft stuff, mainly refined carbohydrate, this important digestive process fails from disuse because one can't masticate such mushy or semifluid stuff with any satisfaction. Consequently the digestion of starch, which requires a good start in the mouth and an hour or so of further help in the stomach, is left entirely to the pancreas—pancreatic juice contains an enzyme salled amylase which acts on starch in the intestine, much as ptyalin in the saliva acts on starch in mouth and stomach.

When the digestion of starch ((in breadstuffs, cereals, vegetables, cake, pie) is thus constantly shifted to the pancreas, is it any wonder that there are more than a million diabetics and probably more than thirty million potential diabetics in this country today?

Answer—Not by itself, but an optimal daily ration of vitamin A along with one of vitamin B2 (riboflavin for several months has seemed to arrest development of cataract in some cases. Optimal daily ration means at least three times as much of the vitamin, mineral or other nutritional element as the estimated daily requirement.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON GETTING A JOB

A young man, just out of college called to see me about getting a job. I asked him what he wanted most to do. He hesitated, and finally said that he wasn't sure. He wanted a job that would pay him at least fifty dollars a week! Without experience, I told him, he would have to have something to give in return for such a salary, and that something, I said, must be ideas.

A young man once went to the great publisher, Joseph Pulitzer, then the famous New York World owner, and asked him for a job. And Pulitzer asked about the same question of the aspirant as I did of the young man referred to, excepting that his answer was that he had no special thing in mind but he had ideas! "Ideas!" snapped the publisher. "Young man, if you have ideas I can give you a job at once."

If I were a young man, and wanted a job, I would decide what sort of a job I wanted. I would then go to the biggest institution where my interests were pointed, and camp at the doorstep until they took me on! That is what I did, as a young man out of college, and it worked. Then, after several years in which I accumulated what I considered sufficient experience, I went into business for myself, in which I have been happy ever since.

There are really more high-grade jobs than there are high-grade men and women to fill them. Sacrifices have to be made by any applicant for a job these days, if he would win out. There are plenty of jobs that remain open for someone to fill them better than they have ever been filled before!

Ideas, initiative, a definite objective in mind, and a willingness to work, and work hard, are a few of the essentials that should lead any ambitious young man, or woman, to a good job.. Experience comes rapidly to the one who is watchful and alert. There is an interesting book, published each year, called "Who's Who in America," and if this publication is carefully studied, it is interesting to note the humble origin of so many, and the unglamorous jobs first engaged in by those who later became useful and famous.

I got my first job by answering a Want Ad in a Chicago newspaper. Later I founded my present business by telling people how to write and answer Want Ads—and sold the series to nearly every prominent newspaper in America! That money was the only capital I had.

Ratepayers Favor Debenture By-Law of $125,000 to Finish District Memorial Hospital

Trenton — (Special) — By a majority of more than three to one, Trenton ratepayers voted in favor of issuing $125,000 in debentures needed to complete Trenton and District Memorial Hospital. The vote in Monday's referendum was "Yes" 828, "No" 241.

From the time the first returns started coming in from the six polling subdivisions, the issue was never in doubt. The subdivisions voted as follows: No. 1 Yes 137, No 54; No. 2 Yes 117, No 29; No. 3 Yes 119, No 32; No. 4 Yes 122, No 42; No. 5 Yes 282, No 51; No. 6 Yes 51, No 33.

Approximately 50 per cent of those eligible exercised their franchise. There were 1,069 votes [illegible] 2,070 names were on the recently revised voters list.

Clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry said last night that "over one hundred" voting certificates had been issued to qualified voters whose names were not on the list. Mr. Larry said that a large proportion of these voters "had failed to tell the assessing department that their property was jointly owned. Everyone had the opportunity of seeing that their names was on the list at the Court of Revision," Mr. Larry said. "The remaining omissions were the result of "recent property changes or through just plain errors," he added.

Now that the taxpayers have given their approval to the by-law authorizing the council to issue the necessary debentures the hospital board will no longer be hampered by lack of funds to complete the erection of the new hospital and it is expected that the institution will be opened in the near future.

Rotarians in Bangkok, Calcutta Present Local Club With Flags

Trenton—(Special)— Rotarians in Bangkok and Calcutta, India, have presented the Trenton Rotary Club with two Rotary International flags. Thomas J. Bata, a member of the Trenton Club has been touring the far east and at Monday's regular Rotary dinner, president W. B. McClung read a letter from Mr. Bata who accepted the flags on behalf of the local Rotary Club.

"[illegible] will is a mark of responsible citizenship and there should be no superstition about it," declared the guest speaker C. A. Jerry of the Royal Trust Company, Toronto, who gave a talk on Estate Planning.

Mr. Jerry said that "life planning" was a more appropriate term and stressed "the advising ability of co-ordinating the various professional services necessary to achieve the best results in arranging personal affairs."

"Wills and estate planning should not be put off but should be faced up to and dealt with when you are in a position to do so," stated Mr. Jerry and added, "estate planning should be a three to five year proposition. If the estate includes substantial business interests, it might be a good idea to seek the services of a survey service to obtain expert advice as to whether the will will work. Make sure most of the assets are liquid and that there is a good backlog of insurance," warned Mr. Jerry.

Emphasizing that the appointing of an executor is of basic importance, Mr. Jerry pointed out that "many people capable of managing a business are quite incapable of handling money." The final problem is one of investment. How will the funds be employed? Investments should be such that they will produce income and at the same time be safe and flexible.

The speaker was introduced by A. S. Oliver and thanked by B. F. Joyce. Orliffe May and A. G. Boorne reported to the club on their recent trip to the Rotary Conference at Bigwin Inn.

Five-Run Blast Helps Trenton Defeat Wooler

Trenton—(Special)—A five-run explosion in the second inning that blasted starting pitcher Stacey off the mound gave Trenton a comfortable margin and the locals coasted the rest of the way to defeat Wooler 13 to 6 in a Trent Valley Softball League tilt at Bayshore Park Monday evening.

Trenton picked up two runs in the first inning and then tagged Stacey for five runs in their half of the second. Barney McColl took over the hill duties to put out the fire and went the rest of the way, striking out nine and walking three Trenton hitters.

The dependable Harry Farr went the route for Weese Motors. Farr gave up nine hits for six runs, striking out seven and allowing five free trips to first base. Both teams committed seven errors.

In collecting 12 hits, the locals rapped out four that went for extra bases. Lou Istead and Miller each hit a three-bagger, Ivan Istead hit a double and pitcher Farr salted away the lone round tripper with two on in the eighth.

Seven Trenton runs and five hits were charged to Stacey. McColl held the garagemen to seven hits for the rest of the eight and one half innings. Buck Stacey didn't retire to the showers after his short stay on the mound but took over McColl's centre field duties for two innings and then replaced Putman behind the bat for the rest of the game.

The teams: Trenton: Ivan Istead, rf; B. Miller, lf; Lou Istead, cf; Martin Jordan, ss; Lou Carswell, 1b; Austin Scott, 2b; John Jordan, 3b; Doug Whitley, c; Harry Farr, p; Joe Scott.

Rotarians Hear Report of Pres., Other Committees

Reports of the president, and chairmen of various committees and a brief address from a visiting American Rotarian featured the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday.

A former district governor, Rotarian Ralph Schlosser of Elizabethtown, Pa., who with Rotarian Norman Musser of Columbus, Pa., were guests of the club, spoke briefly on Rotary.

He urged the clubmen not to be conservative and be satisfied with what has happened in the past. "What Rotary has done in the past," he said, "should give members the courage to go forward. Take hold of what has been good and use it as a step forward, to do something better."

Chairman of membership Ken Griffith said the average attendance was slightly over 80 percent. "A lot of room for improvement," he commented.

Rotarian Gilbert Scott, chairman of boys' camp activities outlined the work done this year by his committee. Much work was yet to be done and he called for volunteers to assist in erecting a diving tower and pier next Saturday.

Secretary Al. Davis also spoke on the boys' and girls' camp at Moira Lake stating that 182 had been accommodated in 1949. "Trained efficient leadership for Christian development will be available," he said. He expressed appreciation of the assistance given by the club in the operation of the camp.

Chairman Orland Pinkston of the Crippled Children's Committee outlined its activities stating that four children, two boys and two girls will be sent to a camp this summer. He said it was grand opportunity for them to fraternize with children similarly handicapped. He related several cases which the club is at present interested in and which are showing improvement.

President Fred Deacon told the club that funds given it by the public for use for crippled children will be used for that purpose.

He made a brief report of the recent district convention at Bigwin Inn where 474 Rotarians representing 46 clubs were present.

Fled for Our Lives, Figured We Would Never Return

(Editor's note: Mrs. Henry Heber of Winnipeg's Point Douglas district was one of 100,000 evacuees from the Red River flood zones. Her home was flooded—not as deeply as some but more deeply than others. A week ago she brought her family back to Winnipeg and started the clean-up job. Now, in a series of four Canadian Press Stories —this is the second—she tells what housewives all through the Red River Valley face.)

By ELLY HEBER

Winnipeg, June 13 (CP)— I'd never have believed so much could happen in one month.

Only a month ago we fled for our lives and figured we'd never get back.

We were asleep on Saturday, May 6 when someone banged on the door and said: "Get ready to move; the dikes have broken."

Only a couple of blocks from the Big Point Douglas dike, we'd been worried. Everything we have in the world is in this house. And Luther, the 11-year-old, has a bad heart and shouldn't be rushed around.

But we moved and fast.

We'd already packed most of our small stuff up to the attic and propped the furniture up so we bundled what we could into bags.

Henry went to the basement and saw how fast the water was coming up. He made me get out. I had to climb along the fender to make it to the road.

Too Expensive

We went to a hotel the first day, but it was so expensive there. We moved to the Stella Mission. They were wonderful to us—scared and confused as we were.

Before we left for Wapella we visited the house in a boat. There was six feet of water in the streets and it looked as though it would never go away. I didn't think we'd ever be back.

All the time the kids and I were at Wapella I worried about the house. I still dream of it sometimes—all that ugly water washing through it, eating at the walls and the floor, ruining my stove and bed.

But there we were after a few days of the kind of work I never want to do again, beginning to feel reasonably chipper about the future.

We'd got most of the basic cleaning done. The walls looked pretty good, though the assessors said the water has soaked up for several feet in the boards and the studs.

Twist As They Dry Out

The floors looked pretty good, but were twisting more and more as they dried out. We're lucky we can get around and move furniture over them.

The basement wasn't bad, but we still must shovel about three inches of slime out of it.

The furniture was still all piled in two rooms, and will be for a day or so. I guess we'll get by with the bare floors for a while.

The work doesn't sound so much, I guess but it's more tiring than you can imagine. Something like trying to clean a wall in a nightmare where you rub and rub and nothing comes off. After a while you get frantic, but there's no use hurrying.

It just takes patience.

BACK HOME

This is the sight which greeted Elly Heber and her husband when they came back to their home in Point Douglas, Winnipeg, after a three-week evacuation. The flooding Red River ripped out boardwalks, twisted gates and fences, dumped the backyard full of rubble, and left its filthy mark as high as the step-ladder along the side of the house.—(CP Photo.)

DAMP DRUDGERY

Boots, brooms and garden hose are the answer to Mrs. Heber's spring house-cleaning problems. She and her husband, Henry, move back into their Winnipeg home after the Red River ran through it for almost a month. Son Walter helps with the smelly, filthy task of cleansing floors of their slippery coating. Mud-laden linoleums were thrown out earlier. — (CP Photo.)

RUBBLE TROUBLE

Water higher than the backyard fence floated this collection of junk into Mrs. Henry Heber's Winnipeg backyard during the Red River flood. Son Walter, 13, started the task of making the place liveable again after coming back from a Saskatchewan farm to which he evacuated. Note the line which marks the water's peak, just about even withe the porch railing. — (CP Photo.)

HOLMES—SILLS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Roslin, on Saturday, June 10, at 2:30 p.m. when Edith June, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Sills, of Roslin, became the bride of Raymond Hawley Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes, of Tweed.

The ceremony performed by the Rev. F. C. Beazer, took place before a background of spirea, iris, tulips, lilacs and peonies.

Mr. Fred Porter provided the wedding music and Mr. Bob Wallace was guest soloist and sang "Because", during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her bridal gown of white French lace, featuring a fitted bodice, long Victorian sleeves and a full tiered skirt, of nylon net over satin, with French lace panels. Her fingertip veil fell from a headdress of lily-of-the-valley, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Jean Reid, of Frankford, her only attendant, was gowned in ice blue satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, and full skirt, with matching headdress of lily-of-the-valley. She carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations.

Mr. Auldy Holmes, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

The ushers were, Mr. Gerald Morton, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. Morley Holmes, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home for about 70 guests.

The bride's mother received wearing navy sheer, with corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in navy crepe with figured trim, and corsage of red roses.

For motoring to Georgian Bay, and points west, the bride chose a navy gabardine suit with white accessories and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Those who served were: Misses Shirley Morgan, Lois Reid, Isabelle Bates, Eileen Reid, Madelaine Young and Shirley Lynn.

After the wedding supper, two musical numbers were given. A solo by Mr. Elmer Holmes, and an instrumental by Mr. Fred Porter.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honored by a linen shower given by Miss Jean Reid.

Children Heard In Piano Recital At Albert College

On Monday evening the Albert College Conservatory of Music held their annual piano recital in Memorial Hall, when the pupils of Miss Bessie Handley and Mr. Wm. G. Connor were heard. Baskets of spirea and potted ferns decorated the front of the hall. Dr. Bert Howard welcomed the performers and their guests, observing that it was probably one of the most important nights of their lives for the young people; for their teachers it was seeing the fruits of their year's work; and for the parents it was a variety of feelings, partly duty, and partly pride and expectancy. Addressing himself to the younger folks, Dr. Howard advised them not to worry if they made mistakes, because everyone was with them. "We all make mistakes," he said. "But the important thing is to go on."

A pleasant variation from the piano numbers was a vocal solo by Suzanne Cavers. The possessor of a promising young voice, Suzanne, a pupil of Mr. Maurice Sinnett, sang with sweet and true tones "Christopher Robin is Saying His Prayers" and "Mighty Like a Rose."

Some of the little pianists were so small that their feet could not reach the pedals, but all gave creditable performances, with the assurance that only youth can achieve.

The program proceeded without interruption or introductions as follows:

V.O.N. NEWS

Dear Mother:

Well, here we are home, baby and I. And you are not to be anxious as to how we are getting on, for something most wonderful has come about to make our home-coming a pleasure. It was like this:—

When I confessed to the nurses at the hospital that I didn't just know how I was going to manage at home, alone, with Jim away and all, they told me that the V. O. N. could help me out, if I really needed help. When I enquired as to how that could be, they said that a V. O. N. would call and give a demonstration bath for a very small fee.

So when we came home, I called the V. O. N. In a short while a V. O. N. nurse called. She was so helpful, kind and friendly and put me at ease in no time. She certainly knows all about handling, bathing and caring for a new-born baby and has a knack in showing you how to do the same, in no time at all.

Nor was that all. The V. O. N. doesn't let you down in any way. Not only does the V. O. N. nurse give you a baby bath demonstration but, for every week, for six weeks after, she comes and pays a visit. So many little worries and questions arise that I don't feel like bothering the doctor about, are sometimes upsetting. Like when the baby seemed to sleep all day and cried and was fretful most of the night. The V. O. N. taught me to give the baby his last bottle a little later, which meant he slept and didn't waken from hunger so much during the night. Another time, she pointed out to me that the baby's pillow was too soft and that a more firm one was needed to better its comfort. She taught me how to take care of myself, thus ensuring better care of the baby. Several times she has advised me to see my doctor about the baby's diet, when I would have not thought of doing so. I just can't seem to realize that a few days or so makes a big difference in the baby's life, and that diet changes are necessary.

So you see how lucky and fortunate we are to live where there is such a wonderful nursing service, which helps eliminate undue medical baby worry and care. Best of all, you need not be too concerned about your daughter, and your brand new grand-daughter. We're doing all right . . . thanks to the V.O.N.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

They broke up—shall she try to mend matters?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a 20-year-old business girl, and have been going with a fellow for about ten months. We are planning to be married, but in the past two months we have broken up several times, then always came back together.

Recently we broke up again, and this time it seems to be for good. It was my boy-friend's doing, and I don't know the reason. He keeps seeing me outside of my house, and keeps very close tabs on me, trying to find out everything I do and everywhere I go.

The other day he saw me going out with someone else, and since then I haven't seen him at all. Now I am afraid to go out with anyone else lest if he knew it, it might destroy any chance of our making up.

I believe he is still in love with me, and for my part, I do not have the slightest interest in anyone else. Do you think I should wait to see if he does come back, and then talk the whole thing over with him, or just make up my mind to forget all about it? Would it make matters worse if I were to get in touch with him? He can very easily get in touch with me if he wants to.

X. Y. Z.

Dear X.Y.Z.:

Since this young man can get in touch with you very easily if he wants to, the inference would seem to be that he doesn't want to. All you can do under such circumstances is to go about your business and let him alone.

I think it would be very foolish of you to take the initiative about getting in touch. That would put you in the position of chasing somebody who apparently isn't interested enough in you to bother calling you up or coming to see you.

If he were really in love with you as you believe he is, he wouldn't fool around this way. Have a little spunk and let him see that you can get along without him perfectly well.

Two girls plus one boy friend equals what?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My girl friend and I find ourselves both interested in the same boy. She doesn't know I care anything about him and she tells me she isn't sure whether she does or not, and says that if any other girl wanted him, she could have him.

He doesn't seem to want to go steady with any girl, but he had dated us both. I was going to try and win him until I found out she was interested in him.

Should I take seriously what she said about not being sure she wanted him, and make a play for him, or should I wait and let him decide whether-or not he wants either of us?

This girl and I grew up together, and I don't want to break up our long friendship. We are both 19 years old and the boy is 20.

B.

Dear B.:

Don't you think it would be smarter just to wait and see if this boy shows that he wants to go out with either of you? If he ever does seem to have a preference, that would solve the whole problem, because if you girls are really fond of each other, the one that was favored would, of course, be a good enough sport to accept the situation and wish the other luck.

If you feel you don't wish to wait, however, then all you can do is to be frank about it and come to some understanding with your girl friend.

GOOD MANNERS

A shower gift should not be a 'financial burden'

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In the past few months a girl who works in my office and I have become very good friends, and I so very much enjoy her friendship. She invited me to a delightful party in her home, and I was flattered to be invited. This girl is engaged, and now I have been invited to a shower that a friend of hers is to give for the bride-to-be in her home, (that is, in the friend's home). It would make me very happy to go to this shower, but since I am financially embarrassed, it's impossible for me to attend this shower. Would I be considered discourteous not to go? What do you suggest I do?

Frances A.

I want very much to have you go to this shower . . . please do go and have a happy time with your new friends. A shower gift can be . . .really should be. . . some inexpensive item. For twenty to twenty-five cents you will be able to find in your local 5-and-10 or a budget corner or basement of a department store, a wonderful choice of items that the bride will find mighty convenient in her new housekeeping. Think of what useful and pretty presents are offered in paper . . . . charmingly-designed paper guest towels, all kinds and sizes of paper napkins, doilies, and so forth . . . in the popular new plastics . . . in the fascinating world of inexpensive gadgets always welcome. All you need as a 'ticket' to a happy time at this shower is a simple, inexpensive gift, prettily wrapped, your card enclosed with a warm-hearted greeting written on it. That's simple, isn't it? The hostess wants you to come. . . the guest of honor, your nice new friend, will be delighted to see that you have come to the party given in her honor (she'll be disappointed if you don't come) . . . and you'll be glad that you weren't held back by such a not-true idea that you 'just must' take an expensive present. You'll take with you your pleasant personality, so apparent in your touching letter, and your sweet delight in good companionship and firendship. Have a happy time, my dear girl . . : have a happy time!

When groom's mother does not co-operate in dress-plans

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My aunt has asked me to write you for your advice. She wishes to know if it will be correct and proper for her to wear a dinner dress, floor length, at her daughter's wedding (followed by a dinner at a hotel), even if the bridegroom's mother wears a street length dress. My aunt of course does not want to do anything incorrect, but she does very much want to wear a floor length dress to this wedding so important to her.

S.

Ideally of course "the mothers" wear dresses of the same type, which also means of the same length. And since I judge that this is a formal wedding, the mothers should wear formal length dresses. It is a real problem when the bridegroom's mother is not willing to co-operate in this important plan, for she, mother of the bridegroom, is the woman guest of honor, and should dress similarly to the mother of the bride, the hostess, since they walk up the aisle a minute or two apart, and since they stand together in the reception line. Sometimes the groom's mother does not understand the importance of this . . . has your aunt fully explained it to her? However, in any case, I think the bride's mother should wear a floor length dress if she considers this correct, even though the groom's mother insists on wearing a street length dress.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Overweight in youth

When a physician gives a child a physical checkup he makes careful note of weight and posture. A slight variation in weight, one way or another, may not bother the professional mind, but correct posture is considered important. It would be well if mothers would give that subject more thought, as good posture in the adult is necessary for health and well being.

It is well for girls in their teens to be weight watchers. Most of them are, fearing that if they're plump, the boys won't want to take them to parties. When having a physical examination at school they will be told the proper weight for their age and proportions.

Obesity seems to run in families, because of the eating habits

If the mama has lost her waistline and is patronizing the stylish stouts department, daughter had better cut down on ice cream and pastries, keep to a balanced diet and consume just enough food to supply energy for the day's activities. Obesity seems to run in families, not always because it is inherited, but because of the eating habits of the family.

The plump mother, because she eats too much, or too much of the wrong foods may place many fattening items on the table. The cookie jar is always full and the children are always dipping into it. Much butter and cream are used in cooking.

The girl who is slightly overweight should not get upset about it. In growth it often seems that, for a time, a child will gain inches rapidly, then slow up, and fill out. But if ten or fifteen pounds overweight, the child should see the family physician.

Youth should be active, interested in all kinds of outdoor sports. Athletic girls develop into smart looking women who carry themselves splendidly. Swimming, walking, tennis, skating—all sports—are health and posture builders.

The plump lassie is likely to look older than her years, and feels that she isn't in the right age bracket, her school companions being slender, younger looking. This may cause self-conscioness, bring heartaches. Children are sensitive about appearance. Mother should understand that fact, be sympathetic and helpful.

It is easy enough to stop the accumulation of fat cells. Food elements that build them are sweets, starches and fats; they should be cut down, and a greater amount of meat, vegetables and fruit added to the diet.

MARIO . . . in his distinctive feature about Food . . . What's Cooking?

Seventy tons of food yield about 20 to 30 teaspoonfuls of vitamins. It may seem like a infinitesimal amount but this is the quantity of vitamins one consumes in the normal span of life according to Dr. Carlton Fredericks.

The mere quantity shouldn't fool you. You need the 20 to 30 teaspoonfuls to live, grow and enjoy health.

Lean meat is a good source of Vitamin B2 or Riboflavin, the vitamin needed for nerve tissues, digestion and ability to resist infections.

The leanest meat, veal, frequently lacks flavor because of slipshod cooking. Veal chops can be made quickly by dipping in bread crumbs and frying. They are better, however, if cooked in a slow moist heat with vegetables like tomatoes and kidney beans as in the recipe below.

Canned baked beans or cooked dried lima beans in a sauce may be substituted if desired.

Baked Veal Chops with Kidney Beans. Serves 4.

Order 4 centre cut loin veal chops about 3-4 inch thick. Wipe meat with a damp cloth. Place chops in a paper bag with 1-2 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon paprika and 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Shake bag well. Pat off excess flour from chops.

Melt 3 tablespoons fat in a large frying pan. Brown chops slowly on both sides.

In a saucepan empty a number 2 can of red kidney beans. Add 1 cup of chopped canned tomatoes 2 tablespoons of finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chili sauce and 1-4 teaspoon salt. Stir well.

Place chops in pan. Spoon beans over chops. Cover pan with tight lid.

Bake in a moderate oven 375 degrees until chops are tender about 30-40 minutes. If beans become too dry, add a small amount of hot water or tomato juice. Stir occasionally to keep beans from sticking.

Fashion Flashes

THE FINISHING touch to one beautiful bridal outfit was a pair of long gloves in white glace kid embroidered in a lily-of-the-valley design in glossy white silk.

FOR SUMMER a really smart bag does set off the simplest of outfits. White calf makes a nice box-bag set in a frame of bamboo, made with an adjustable shoulder strap, and lined with bamboo-colored leather.

SETTING OFF little tailored suits offers a wide choice of accessories. a small roller of silk surah with a small tie scarf goes well with almost any but a dressy suit, especially for general daytime wear. Checks and stripes as well as dot designs are all fresh and colorful.

HERE AND THERE we see a smart little velvet hat, the soft fabric aften combined with stiff horsehair or crinoline. Black velvet for a snug helmet, set deep in back, and finished with a flared veil of sheer horsehair, just below eye level. The veil ties in back with black velvet strings.

NICE DETAIL marks many of the suits now in the shops. Gray silk-and-wool mixture makes a soft suit that has a slim skirt to contrast with the bloused and belted jacket, made with push-up sleeves and pockets with little inverted pleats and scalloped flaps.

COMFORT AND style mark many of the maternity fashions shown just now. A cool thin sheer in printed nylon would be a good selection for the hot summer days ahead. It is done in a multi-color print in a soft indefinite flower design, has a deep neckline and curved, standing collar, an elastic expanding waistband and adjustable girdle.

SCHUMAN PLAN

Union Not Desirable

1. That Europe's people do not want a controlling international authority above their individual governments (as the Schuman Plan would set up for coal and steel).

2. Formation of a "complete union, political or economic," in Europe is neither possible nor desireable. Sudden elimination of internal trade barriers would "in the short term cause serious dislocation, unemployment and loss of production."

3. The organization for European economic co-operation — the European planning group for Marshall-Plan aid — "has so far signally failed to make real progress in co-ordinating the operation of Europe's basic industries."

4. "Socialists would welcome a European economic union which was based on international planning for full employment, social justice and stability. But international planning can only operate on the basis of national planning. And many European governments have not yet shown either the will or the ability to plan their own economies."

Critical Challenge

In this latter respect, said the statement, the French proposal "to plan the steel and coal resources of western Europe as a whole presents a critical challenge which Socialists will be the first to welcome."

The party admitted that "international planning of iron and steel is the key to economic unity" but asserted that "such planning will be worse than useless if it is inspired, like the cartel of the past, exclusively by the desire for private profit."

British morning newspapers generally approved some points of the statement. Almost all supported the committee's rejection of a supra-national authority controlling British economic and political policy and of the conception of western Europe as a neutral "third force" between the U.S. and Russia.

They also warmly welcomed its reassertion of Britain's position as the centre of the Commonwealth.

But only the pro-Labor Daily Herald supported the executive's more-socialism theme.

INTERFERENCE APPROVED

I don't like to interfere, but when I found that my youngest daughter-in-law didn't know that blueing is the only safe way to keep clothes white, I felt I just had to say something. 'Reckitt's Blue prevents clothes turning yellow', I told her. 'Just a swish or two in the final rinse and your wash will be sparkling white.' Blue is necessary to obtain true white. At the same time she takes no chances with anything that may damage fabric.

CLERK SAYS VET

Under Surveillance

"I was of the opinion that our house had been under surveillance for some time," said the Salvation Army officer. "He stayed at the door and his wife was inside. He left after about five minutes, and she left 15 minutes later."

A few hours later the girl was found dead of knife wounds.

Two witnesses, Leo Blute and Mildred Robinson, testified they saw Fosbraey crossing a bridge over the Napanee River shortly before the stabbing occurred.

Laverne O'Connor, clerk in a local hardware store, said he sold a knife similar to the alleged death weapon two nights before the stabbing.

Jaynes said that Fosbraey had showed him the knife, but was not agitated. "I asked him what he was going to do with it, and he said 'Well, anyone can have a knife, can't he?' "

CANADA-U.S., CUT

There are special concessions for those engaged in producing and distributing artistic works, with the exception of those working in the distribution of motion pictures. Both countries have agreed to withdraw the 15-percent tax on income gained from the distribution of copyrights on artistic works. The Canadian 10-percent tax on the U.S. circulation in Canada of this type of artistic endeavor, however, still stands.

Concessions are provided for the visiting student and professor. A student or apprentice sent down to the U.S. to study will have to pay no tax to that country no matter how long he remains there. The same applies to an American student in Canada.

A Canadian professor or teacher lecturing at a U.S. college or school will be exempt from paying taxes to the U.S. government if he lectures for less than two years. The same applies to an American professor lecturing in Canada.

GARDINER READY

"That does not apply to very many people, just one or two; but until they are spoken to directly I do not think we should look for very much success in the marketing of some of those products in that country. . ."

Before turning to the study of Mr. Gardiner's estimates, members gave first reading to a bill vesting in Trade Minister Howe the powers to direct defence purchasing in peacetime.

Reduces Authority

Mr. Howe said the measure reduces the war-initiated authority he has held until now. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader, asked for a definition of the emergency which would justify placing such broad powers in the hands of the minister.

Mr. Howe replied he believed that the powers were necessary in the light of world conditions. Broad legislation would be introduced in a time of emergency.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, called for nationalization of straight defence industries.

In the agriculture debate, E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) and H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootney West), both from apple-producing areas of British Columbia, urged that efforts be made to reopen the United Kingdom market to Canadian apples.

They applied their remarks to Ontario and Nova Scotia apples as well as the British Columbia product.

Not Question of Market

Mr. Fulton said it was not a question of there being no market in Britain. Trade figures showed that the United Kingdom was buying apples from Australia, New Zealand, Italy and other countries outside the dollar area.

Mr. Herridge supported Mr. Fulton's suggestion that if a fresh share of the British market is not found, the government should establish some floor or a support price for apples so the producers would know what the future held.

Mr. Gardiner said Britain had refused to buy Canadian apples, but Canadian producers themselves had done a good job in finding markets. They had sold their product in 32 of the 48 American States, despite a bumper American crop and had sent what they could not sell to the United Kingdom as a gift.

The British people appreciated that gift and he did not think it would be long before the British government was forced by public opinion to buy Canadian apples.

Forest Fires Held In Check by Rain

St. John's, Nfld., June 13 (CP) — Rain helped weary Newfoundland firefighters during the weekend but Monday they kept a watch on outbreaks that threatened two settlements.

Showers Sunday night and a light rain Monday held in check a blaze that crept within four miles of Grand Falls, home of the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company, paper-making operators.

Another wall of flame was halted less than three miles from the northeast port of Lewisporte, where 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline for the nearby Gander airport are stored.

Fire hose was strung along the main streets of Grand Falls. Volunteers also built a water reserve at Windsor, across the Canadian National Railways line from Grand Falls.

The Canadian National Steam ships coast vessel Springdale, standing by to evacuate Lewisporte's 1,500 persons if necessary, Saturday night resumed her regular Notre Dame Bay run.

Preliminary estimates said about 1½ square miles were burned at Grand Falls and about 14 square miles at Lewisporte.

Shaw Blasts Plan To Make Boyhood Home Museum

Dublin, June 13 — (CP) — A proposal to convert the boyhood home of George Bernard Shaw into a national museum, has provoked a typical Shawian blast from the 93-year-old Irish playwright.

His ire was aroused by the announcement that the Canadian Shaw Society was planning to buy Torca Cottage, on the east-coast island of Dalkey — where he spent his childhood — and present the property to the Irish nation.

The Canadian gesture came from Lee Pritzher of Toronto, who recently visited Dalkey and discussed the project with Shaw himself.

"I see no common sense in wasting a good dwelling house as a 2½ pence (four cents) museum with nothing in it that ever belanged to me," G. B. C. wrote to J. J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the Dalkey Development Association.

"The inscription on the wall ... is quite sufficient. I have no connection with Canada; and Mr. Lee Pritzher will need all the money he can collect for the purpose of the Canadian Shaw Society. He has seen the cottage and the view and inscription; and he can do nothing more that would interest me or of which I would approve."

Screening Process Never Ends Says Justice Minister

Ottawa, June 12 — (CP) — Security screenings of employees in "vulnerable" government departments and agencies is continuing all the time, Justice Minister Garson told the Commons today.

Mr. Garson gave this information as he declined to inform E. D. Fulton (PC — Kamloops) how many employees have been discharged or released for security reasons.

The minister said the screening process "never ends." It was never complete at any certain date.

Mr. Fulton had asked how many had been discharged for security reasons from the government or from its boards and corporations. The positions they held and the dates of their discharge.

The minister declined to give this information in all cases except two employees of the National Research Council who had been mentioned in the 1946 Kellock-Taschereau spy report.

Court Reserves Judgment on Man's Appeal

Toronto, June 13 — (CP) — Ontario Appeal Court Monday reserved judgment on 45-year-old Charles Brown's appeal for reversal of an Assize Court jury decision which convicted him of alienating the affections of a young married nurse.

Brown, a Whitby contractor, was ordered to pay $4,000 to Fitzroy Welstead, who accused him of being the father of Mrs. Welstead's 15-month-old daughter. At his trial, Brown denied being intimate with Mrs. Welstead, whom he often drove to work at the Whitby hospital.

Brown's counsel argued Monday that there was no "moral evidence" of adultery.

"An admission of guilt by the woman is sufficient," said Mr. Justice F. D. Hogg.

To the lawyer's statement that doctors had testified Welstead was not the father of the baby, Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson said: "I do not see how a doctor's opinion of a blood count would be accepted as proof of the father of the child."

Youth Admits Slaying, Rape Of Victim's Wife

Cincinnati, O., June 13 (AP)—A youth from Royal Oak, Mich., was arrested here Monday night in connection with the slaying of a father of four and the rape of the victim's wife near Detroit earlier Monday. Police said Walter Marvin Noth, 21, freely admitted the slaying and rape but pleaded he was drunk and excited.

Earlier Clifford Peterson, 21, Royal Oak, was arrested for questioning. Detroit police said Peterson and Noth were co-owners of an old truck found at the lonely "Lover's Lane" site of the crime.

Eugene Schaff, 40, a Hudson Motor Company worker, was shot to death, and his wife, Beaulah, 31, was raped.

Noth was arrested as a result of a description and licence number of the car in which he was riding — a car which belonged to Schaff.

Patrolmen Rupert Meiering and Edward Ruwe jumped into their cruiser and took off in pursuit. They were joined by another cruiser and both prowl cars forced Noth to the curb. He offered no resistance.

Mrs. Schaff told Detroit police a youth jumped on the running board of the car in which she and her husband were riding home from a tavern before dawn Monday.

When Schaff refused to leave the car, she told police, the youth fired a single shot into him from a pistol then dragged her into a nearby field and attacked her. She said she believed her assailant had a companion with him when he drove off in the Schaff's car.

Opposition members criticized a bill vesting in Trade Minister Howe power to direct defence purchasing in peacetime.

Agriculture department estimates were considered.

The Senate committee on divorce, presenting its final report, protested against parliament handling divorce cases.

Farmers Reported Taking Kindly To S.A. Campaign

Toronto, June 13—First reports from the Dairy Farmers of Canada's "June advertising set-aside campaign" are described as "encouraging" by officials of that organization. They believe there is a distinct indication that the campaign and its purposes are being accepted by the majority of dairy farmers across Canada.

Confusion has existed in some areas as to how the one cent set-aside works. It is based on one cent per pound of butterfat sold during the month of June. On each 100 pounds of 3.5 milk sold during the month, the set-aside would be 3½ cents. If the milk tested 4 per cent, the set-aside would be four cents. In the case of the cream producer, on each hundred pounds of cream testing, say, 30 per cent, sold during the month, the set-aside would be 30 cents.

The cream producer selling 80 pound of 30 per cent per week would set aside for advertising about 96 cents during the month. A milk producer selling 300 pounds of 3.5 milk per day would set aside for advertising only $3.15. It is stressed by organization officers that this advertising set-aside is for butterfat sold during the month of June, only.

Finance Advertising

The fund thus created will be used to finance the first stage of a long term, promotion and advertising campaign to increase the sale of dairy products in Canada. It will be similar in respects to that conducted by the American dairy farmers in United States for the past ten years. When U.S. farmers launched their program only six states supported the idea. Today, 40 states are actively participating. This year the American producers voluntarily raised their advertising set-aside to create a fund that will more than treble their previous annual budgets. With this increased budget, their regular program will be expanded and a drive will be aimed at the disposal of surpluses, which amount to 5 percent of their total milk production, which is roughly a point less than in Canada.

Signs Don't Please Educated Bears

West Glacier, Mont., June 13—(AP)—Glacier National Park Rangers again are having trouble with educated bears.

In preparation for the 1950 tourist season, Rangers put signs on the park's main highway. In series, the signs read: "Feeding bears along the way. . . makes problem bears another day. . . play safe, don't feed the bears."

Rangers report that bears have destroyed the third sign in the series.

Young Indian's Body is Found In Thames River

London, Ont. June 13 (CP)—Possibility of violence in an Indian drinking party on the banks of the Thames River here Monday night is being investigated by police following the finding of the body of a young Indian in the river.

The man was identified by a brother-in-law, William Sickles, of Van Essa, near Delhi, as Leman Summers, about 25. Last the brother-in-law had heard of him, he said, Summers was working on a farm near St. Thomas.

Coroner Dr. A. R. Routledge said Summers had a fractured skull and possibly other injuries. He also had a bad gash in his head, but there was no water in his lungs.

A passer-by who saw the body in the river notified police who pulled the body ashore.

Residents of the area told police they saw at least four men drinking on the top of the 20-foot-high abutment a short time earlier. Police found a six-pint case of beer, empty, and an empty bottle of wine at the scene. All but one beer bottle had been smashed on the concrete apron at the foot of the abutment, which is just two feet from the water's edge.

Summers was at first believed to have fallen off the abutment, struck his head and rolled into the water. Police now are considering the possibility he was struck on the head before he fell, or was pushed, since they found no trace of blood.

Fleeing Prisoner Wounded in Leg

Sudbury, June 13 (CP)—Refusing to halt, even after a number of warning shots had been fired over his head, Henry Lariche, 23, was brought down with a bullet in the fleshy part of his right thigh as he fled from guards at Burwash Industrial Farm Sunday.

Lariche escaped from the prison farm Saturday and was recaptured by guards 24 hours later six miles east of the jail farm.

Burwash officials said Lariche's wound is not serious but he will be confined to hospital for several days.

A recent resident of Windsor, Lariche was sentenced at Sault Ste. Marie on two counts, breaking and entry and theft and was sentenced to from 12 to 18 months and on the second to six months consecutive.

Opposing Views Registered on Amalgamation

Toronto, June 13 (CP)— Indications of a lively session when the Ontario Municipal Board considers again Toronto's application for amalgamation of suburban municipalities were forthcoming in further briefs filed with the board Monday.

The Ontario Board released submissions by Scarboro township and Mimico. Scarboro vigorously contests the city's move. While Mimico supports it.

The first Toronto application was dismissed on a technicality, because it was based on a by-law calling for amalgamation of 11 suburban municipalities but only a part of the 12th—Scarboro. The opponents successfully contended that the city could not amalgamate only part of another municipality; that the word in such a case is annexation. That word was not mentioned in the by-law.

The city then drew up another by-law which calls for amalgamation of all of the 12 surrounding municipalities.

Scarboro's brief challenges the validity of the New Toronto by-law and also challenges the authority of the Ontario Municipal Board to hear such an application. It suggests that these points should be decided before the Ontario Appeal Court.

In contrast, Mimico, a lakeshore suburb, listed at least eight ways in which the present set-up prevents or hampers economic financing and administration of the greater Toronto area.

Senate's Divorce Committee Wants Divorce From Job

Ottawa, June 13 (CP)— The Senate's Divorce Committee wants a divorce from its job—and the sooner the better.

In its 2,495th and final sessional report presented Monday, the committee which annually hears hundreds of divorce petitions said the job was taking up too much time of two many senators. They didn't have any time left for other duties.

It regretted that "Parliament has not yet seen fit to solve the problem of Parliamentary divorce by setting up suitable tribunals before which cases from Quebec and Newfoundland can be heard." Other provinces have their own divorce courts but Quebec and Newfoundland cases have to go through the Parliamentary mill.

The report was presented by Senator W. M. Aseltine, 64-year-old Rosetown, Sask., lawyer and farmer and father of five who said he was quitting after 10 years as committee chairman. The reason, he said was that his duties as Deputy Leader of the 13-member Progressive Conservative opposition in the upper chamber made it impossible for him to continue as a member of the committee where he has served for 16 years.

The report showed that the committee held 38 meetings, heard 301 petitions, granted 240 and earned $47,330 in fees. In 32 cases the committee recommended that the Parliamentary fees be remitted.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, paid tribute to Senator Aseltine's work as chairman of the Divorce Committee. He said that whether or not another divorce method could be found for Quebec and Newfoundland remained to be seen. But in the meantime it remained a responsibility of the Senate and Senators should accept that responsibility.

WILL SEEK GRANT

St. John's Nfld., June 13—(CP)—Mayor H. G. R. Mews of St. John's said Monday night that this city will seek a grant of $150,000 from the provincial government to help meet its deficits. Mayor Mews added that if the money is not granted, the city may raise a short term loan with increased taxation.

TOUCHES LIVE WIRE

Saskatoon, June 13 (CP)—A 17-year-old youth from Wilkie, Sask., was electrocuted Sunday night while standing on a first-floor fire escape at the rear of a Saskatoon hotel. His name was withheld by police, pending notification of relatives. It is believed the youth walked into the fire escape in his stocking feet and touched a power line.

BRODA HERE TOMORROW

Wednesday should be a great day for the kiddies, especially those of the Ontario School for the Deaf, the crippled youngsters of the city and district and likely hundreds of boyish hero-worshippers of the 1949-50 edition of the Toronto Maple Leafs National Hockey League club.

For that is the day the popular Turk Broda, hero of the Smythian hockey 'Battle of the Bulge' and his troupe of puck-chasing softballers of the Leafs are here to pit their diamond ability against the All-Stars of Don Lee's Commercial League.

* * *

Chairman Eddie Schreider of the Kinsmen Club 'Broda' Committee, Kin. Ken McNaught, Jack McNab, Dickie Beare and others with President Don Lee have gone all out in an effort to not only make it the softball classic of the season, but to give the kiddies of the city the opportunity to meet their heroes of the Leafian ice-lanes personally.

And included in the Leafs visiting itinerary is a trip to the Belleville General Hospital where officials have readied a tour of the institution for them.

* * *

The Leafs will arrive in the city shortly after two o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will tour the Ontario School for the Deaf where Superintendent W. J. Morrison and his students have prepared a warm reception. Then to the hospital and starting at four o'clock they will see and talk with the youth of the city at a rally to be held in the Market Square. This session will last until five o'clock when the Turk and his crew will be the guests of the Kinsmen Club at dinner at the Queens Hotel. They will arrive at the Exhibition Grounds about eight o'clock where they will chat with the crippled kiddies and their parents or guardians.

* * *

Resplendent in their colorful uniforms will be the Kinsmen's Boys' Band who will dispense rhythms prior to the game. With the band will be their pretty drum majorettes wearing handsome new boots in conjunction with their bright official garb. Brief addresses of welcome will be given the visiting hockey stars at the grounds by Mayor Jack Allin and Kinsmen President Ernie Colbourne. The umpires for the game are "Red" Townsend and Don Thomas, both of whom are giving their services gratis to the cause. The entire proceeds of the game will go to the Kinsmen Swimming Pool Fund.

* * *

Tickets are selling well and are distributed throughout the county. They can be procured at Bill Cook's Cigar Store (reserved, the tickets, not the store), any Kinsmen, and out of town at Hopkins Garage, Foxboro; McIntosh and Wells Garage, Stirling; Charles Derry Garage, Madoc; Trent Billiards and Leo Auger, Trenton; Joe Killoran Billiards, Napanee; Royal Hotel, Picton; Jerry Quinn Restaurant, Tweed; Fred Wright Garage, Brighton and Tom Disney's Service Station, Kingston.

* * *

Another reminder to the parents or guardians of crippled children of the city and district. Please contact Mr. Orland Pinkston at the Pinkston Funeral Home, The Shrine Club, or Dr. Russell Scott. Transportation will be provided, and has been mentioned before the youngsters will meet Turk Broda and his Leafs personally.

IT'S PICTON AND BATAWA HERE TONIGHT

Still rankling with disappointment at the unexpected defeat when victory was firmly clenched in their grasp down Brockville way on Saturday, the Batawa Shoemen meet the Picton Athletics in a Central Ontario Baseball League game at Exhibition Park tonight. The Shoemen now ensconced at the bottom of the COBL heap have not forgotten the setback handed them in Picton by the Athletics and will be battling hard for victory. Picton, on the other hand, following their ninth inning rally that paved the way to ultimate victory over Smith's Falls Royals for their second straight victory on Saturday are still in the win-grabbing mood and will be hard nuts to crack. It should be a good pastime. Game at 8:30.

* * *

A BROTH OF A BHOY, BE JAPERS!

Sure and it's him that'll be making his first appearance here on Friday night. And, me laddybucks, it's none other than that broth of a bhoy Seamus Catal MacEacagain, of Aghacashel, Drumshandbo, County Leitrim, Ireland. Don't try to twist your tonsils pronouncing the Gallic version of it. Sure and isn't his moniker Timmy Geohagen in English, (pronounced geehagen). Tim is billed as the "Strongest Man in Ireland" and from what the faithful saw in his exhibition last Friday night, he can include the Fiji Islands, Formosa, Greenland, Istanbul, part of the United States, Madagascar and Shannonville.

* * *

Last Friday Timmy twisted a ten-foot steel bar two inches in width and ½-inch in thickness into a lovers knot and wrapped a piece of circular half-inch steel around his neck quicker than we can tie a Windsor knot in the cravat. The young spalpeen learned his strength when his mother gave him an iron bar to teethe on, and the young omadhaun promptly chewed it to pieces before his first tooth appeared. He allows an automobile to run over the back of his head, sure wid nary a pain in the neck. He can stand firm while two horses try to tear him limb from limb by means of ropes attached to his arms, and he can make pasteboard mincemeat out of a deck of cards before you can deal a poker hand. He's preparing a show for the Market Square next Friday that will stand the faithful on their heads.

* * *

And to top it all, bejapers, Tim takes on Wee Willie Davis the pachydermic member of the movie industry in the wrestling ring later on. And look who's here in the main bout. None other than the "bloomin' Austrylian" from down under, Fred Atkins, who will attempt to batter down the bulk of Yukon Eric. Warren Bockwinkle and Al Moore provide the appetizer for the beefian entrees.

Yankees, Respecting Detroit Strength, Seek to Make Deal For Hurler Before Deadline

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Seriously disturbed by Detroit's solid strength, New York Yankees remain hopeful of making a major deal before the Thursday midnight deadline.

The defending world champions learned new respect for Red Rolfe's Tigers when they bounced back from two Yankee Stadium defeats to bop New York in the finale and sweep three straight at Boston.

Many of the Yankees now regard the Tigers as "the team to beat" instead of the Red Sox. Boston lost plenty of prestige by dropping four in a row after rolling up that 29-4 record score on St. Louis last week.

The Yankee pitching situation is desperate. Don Johnson, sidelined by a skin ailment, remained in New York when the club headed west. That left Casey Stengel with seven pitchers, including Joe Page and Duane Pillette, just recalled from Kansas City. Page, troubled by a sinus condition, has pitched only one inning since June 3.

After the disastrous Detroit series, Boston Red Sox too can be expected to go all out for that additional starting pitcher.

A look at the June records emphasizes Detroit's sizzling pace. Although they still trail the Yankees by half a game in the won and lost columns, they're out front by .002 in percentage points.

Since they left Briggs Stadium, the Tigers won 10 and lost two. It is well known that Detroit is a superior road team. Now they dig in at home for 16 games, starting with three against Philadelphia A's.

Boston, winning only six of 11 at Fenway Park against the west, ventures into the badlands where they have failed so miserably in the past. First stop for the Sox is Cleveland.

The Yanks break in easy with three at Chicago and four at St. Louis before riding into Cleveland and Detroit on their 13-game jaunt.

Whipper Watson Will Play Home Games Only

Toronto, June 13 (CP)— Whipper Bill Watson dispenser of soft drinks (he makes the stuff) and the people's choice in pro wrestling (he's always the good guy in the ring), is looking forward —with just a little trepidation — to his debut as a paid football player. He can't afford to get hurt.

The Whipper, Toronto-born and a former junior football player here, confirmed Saturday's story out of Edmonton that he has signed to play with the Eskimos of the Western Canada Interprovincial Football Union. But it's just for the Eskimo home games —his rasslin' committments won't allow him to travel with the club.

The 235-pound husky, a good-looking moustached fellow, has piled up an impressive mat record since he took up the game in 1936. And, of course, his bankroll swelled with his popularity.

Space on the gridiron, with 25 other guys cluttering up the field won't allow him to use such tactics against a ball-carrier, but he thinks he can make a "hole or plug one."

"I've signed a Canadian Rugby Union form, but I haven't talked terms with Stuke (Annis Stukus, Eskimo coach) yet." he said in an interview Monday on his return from Winnipeg where he headlined a Manitoba Flood Relief show last Friday. "I've got some wrestling dates out West in the fall and I'll probably play five or 10 minutes a game."

More Money in Wrestling

It could be bad business for the Whipper to develop a Charley horse or suffer a torn ligament while playing football.

"After all," he says, "there's a lot more money (he wouldn't say how much) in wrestling than in football, and I just couldn't afford to be out of the mat game a couple of months. It's my bread and butter."

Usual procedure in the past has been for football players to use their talents and brawn in wrestling. A few were jumping Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame's Gus Sonnenburg, Bronco Nagurski and Toronto's Lionel Conacher, probably Canada's all-round athlete in the '20s and early '30s and now a Liberal Member of Parliament.

Conacher got a bunch of footballer-wrestlers together in 1931 and 1932 for a football team. Coached by Mike Rodden, now sports editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard, the pros played exhibition games against American clubs but the experiment — first in Canada—failed financially.

Another footballer - turned wrestler was Abe Zvonkin who played for Queen's in the senior Intercollegiate Football Union and later for Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Rugby Football Union. Zvonkin now is wrestling around Ontario.

Maxim Would be Interested in Bout With Robinson

(By The Canadian Press)

Light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim would be interested in a title bout with Ray Robinson the ambitious welterweight champion, but for more than the $25,000 guarantee offered Monday.

Maxim's manager, Jack Kearns, admitted at Chicago he had received the offer from Ted Brenner, former match-maker for the International Boxing Club's St. Nicholas arena.

"The ante would have to be moved up quite a bit more than $25,000 for a title bout," said Kearns. "Besides, we'd have to get clearance from Jack Solomons of England under whose promotion we won the title."

Kearns also said there was a date problem since Maxim has a September booking "practically all set" to meet Lee Savold in London for the British version of the heavyweight crown.

Philadelphia Athletics still are for sale for the right price—but not this season.

The club management made that definite Monday in a statement as James P. Clark, trucking executive and president of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football league, again asserted that a syndicate headed by him is preparing a definite offer.

"As we have stated before, we will listen to any bona fide offers when they are presented," the management statement said. "But even it we should receive an attractive offer, one worthy of consideration, it would take months to straighten out the details in connection with such a transaction."

At Belfast, Northern Ireland, Bob MacFarlane of London, Ont., Monday night took second place in the 440-yard event at the Royal Ulster constabulary athletic meet, coming in behind Hugo Malocco of the United States.

The American broke the Irish 440-yard record with his victory in 47.8 seconds, seven-tenths of a second better than the previous mark, set last year by Dave Bolan of the United States.

The controversial Sunday night National League Baseball game scheduled for July 16 between St Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers was called off Monday by President Fred M. Saigh of the Cardinals.

Saigh said his action was based "entirely" on a ruling by League President Ford Frick and Louis Caroll, league counsel, that the game would be in violation of league regulations.

The Ottawa Football Club has issued an invitation to the New York Giants to stage an exhibition football match at Ottawa with the Ottawa Rough Riders Aug. 12.

In a letter sent to the team Monday, the Big Four Riders offered to play the first half of the game under American rules and the second half under Canadian.

Connie Mack, observing his golden anniversary in major-league baseball, will be an "honorary manager" and toss out the first ball at the All-Star game in Chicago's Comiskey Park, July 11.

Segura New U.S. Professional Tennis Champion

Cleveland, June 13 —(AP)— Francisco Segura, a little fellow who wore out and whipped the two best men in the game, is the new United States professional tennis champion.

The five-foot-six, 140-pound star from Ecuador is the first South American to win the pro net crown. He won it by defeating Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., Monday night in the finals.

Kovacs' six-foot-two, 200 pound physique couldn't stand the pace, and the Californian suffered leg cramps and called it quits in the fourth set.

At that time Segura led two sets to one and the games of the fourth set were tied 4-4.

The finish was even more dramatic than in Segura's semi-final victory Sunday night when big Jack Kramer, 1948 pro ruler wearily folded up in the fifth and and deciding set.

Segura won the first set 6-4, but dropped the second one to Kovacs 6-1. Big Frank looked to be the winner as he led 3-0 and 4-1 but Segura grabbed four games in a row to take the lead. Segura broke Kovacs' serve in the 13th game at love then held his own to win the set 8-6.

After a 10-minute intermission, Segura got away to a 3-1 lead in the fourth set, but Kovacs rallied to take three games. Segura then held his service, and the score stood 4-4. As Kovacs started serving the ninth game, he was getting wobbly, and he fell going after one of Pancho's hot two-fisted forehands. He had to be helped to the side of the court.

"Take all the time you want, Frank," Segura said. "I will wait.

But the 30-year-old Kovacs was done, and umpire Ned Brown announced Segura the winner by default.

"I'm very happy to be champion" Segura said, "but I did not want to win this way."

After an hour's delay Kovacs returned to the court and with Welby Van Horn of Philadelphia defeated Segura and Frank Parker of Milwaukee in the doubles final 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. Parker played under protest because Bob Trenkamp, tournament manager, reduced the match from three-of-five sets to best-of-three.

The singles victory was worth $1,500 to Segura and the doubles paid each winner $750.

'Cuffer' Whiffs 13 While Cubs Claw Cannifton for 13-9 Win In Hit-Run-Error Marked Game

Belleville Cubs broke into the win column at Exhibition Grounds last night when they defeated the Cannifton team 13-9 in a wide-open free-wheeling display of baseball that had about everything in the game's calendar.

The final tally saw 22 runs, 26 hits, 14 errors, and 19 strikeouts registered in packed score-books with the hits and runs clustered like grapes, and the strikeout crown resting on the noggin of one "Cuffer" Noakes, who whiffed 13 of the opposing Cannifton bludgeoneers, while walking one.

The small crowd saw plenty of action. When the boys weren't hitting the ball, they were kicking it around, or striking out. There wasn't a dull moment all evening.

Cubs Score First

The Cubs scored one in the first and two in the fourth. Cannifton came back with three in the same innings to tie the score but the Cubs claws struck back in the fifth for five counters. The village lads hit for three runs in the sixth, but the Tigerlets again unleashed a rally in the seventh for another five. Cannifton scored two in the ninth and the bargain sale was over.

Noakes was nicked for an even dozen hits with triples, doubles and singles spicing the sock menu. May, who started for Cannifton gave up a dozen clouts for ten runs before being relieved by Titus in the seventh. The Cubs scattered a home run, three triples and two doubles among their singles to show their versatility against May, but Titus let them down for two hits over the rest of the route albeit they scored three runs.

Neilson, Cub second baseman slammed out a homer and a triple; Vern Goyer got two doubles and a single. Lockyer and Schreider hit a double and single each. Jones got a pair. In fact every Cub hit safely except the "Cuffer."

Lawrenson hit a pair of triples for Cannifton. White got a double and two singles. Harden got a trio of singles and Donovan hit a two baser.

Red Sox Beset With Injuries During Season

Boston, June 13 (AP)— If Boston's Red Sox don't win any other title this season they probably will succeed New York Yankees as champions of the American League.

The only regular who has not missed a game thus far is Walt Dropo, the big first baseman who got his chance to play for the Sox only because of an injury to another player.

Big Walt has played in all 40 games since his recall from Louisville because of an injury to Billy Goodman.

And Walt is doing okay. He is third top batter of the majors with a .379 average, third in home runs with 14 and third in runs batted in with 56.

Since his recovery Goodman has played every other infield position because of pulled muscles suffered by second baseman Bobby Doerr, shortstop Vern Stephens and third baseman Johnny Pesky.

Al Zarilla, Sox regular rightfielder and left infielder Ted Williams, the majors' top homerun hitter, also had to sit out a few contests.

Zarilla wrenched his neck when he turned quickly to make a throw after making a running away catch of a long fly.

Williams suffered a cold in spring training and recently has been playing with a bruised side and a slightly strained wrist.

Pesky who had been sitting out because of a pulled muscle in his leg, had to fill in at shortstop Sunday because incumbent Vern Stephens sustained a similar strain.

Springfield Cubs Defeat Leafs By 3-2 Count

(By The Associated Press)

Springfield Cubs, for the first time this season, will have a shot at first place in the International League tonight.

Stan Hack's crew, 1½ games behind Rochester, tangle with Toronto Maple Leafs in a twilight-night doubleheader at Toronto. Rochester, meanwhile, go against a more formidable Jersey City team.

Two Springfield victories coupled with a Rochester loss would boost the Cubs into the top rung by four percentage points. Toronto, incidentally, has dropped 15 of its last 20 games.

The Cubs dealt the sagging Leafs their 29th setback of the season last night, carving out a 3-2 victory. A two-run homer by the Cubs' Carmen Mauro in the first inning was the big blow.

Warren Hacker rationed six hits in coasting to his seventh victory against one loss.

The Wings dropped an exhibition tilt to the Boston Braves 2-1 in Rochester.

Butch Woyt and George Byam clubbed home runs to lead Baltimore to a 7-3 victory over Buffalo.

A two-run rally in the ninth inning gave Syracuse a 5-3 edge on Montreal. Eddie Shokes' single and doubles by Frank Drews and Claude Corolit scored the deciding tallies.

THREE SUFFER BURNS

Oakville, June 12—(CP)—When a panel truck carrying 10 persons rolled over and burst into flames on the Queen Elizabeth Highway Sunday, three persons were burned. All from Toronto, the injured were driver David Libman, Miss Shirley Shoom, 23, and Max Pelbourtz, 23.

Crawford Metals Score First Win in Commercial Loop

An eight-run first inning was almost the whole story last evening as Crawford Metals took their first win of the season in the Commercial Softball League "B" series by stripping the gears of Bateman Motors 13-9.

In a weird and wonderful 20-minute first inning, Crawfords took advantage of every break, and running the bases for all they were worth, rang up an amazing total of eight runs on three hits.

Ketcheson led off with a walk, took second on a passed ball and in the same play stole third. Kreh was out on an attempted bunt when the ball hit him. Speigel got a life on an error, and Pappas doubled to score two runs. Buick walked, and Ward got on on an error. A wild pitch scored Pappas and Taylor singled to score two more runners. Muirhead walked, and Ketcheson, up for his second time, singled to score Taylor. Davis came over on a wild pitch. Kreh and Speigel went out at first to end the inning.

Maintain Lead

Bateman Motors counted their first run in the first frame on an error and a double. They added another in the second and three more in the fourth on a walk, a single, an error, and two fielder's choices.

Three singles and a double netted them their final two tallies in the sixth.

Crawfords maintained their lead with Kreh's two-run triple in the third accounting for two of their three runs in that frame. Two singles and a double gave them two insurance runs in the fourth for the win.

Wright started on the hill for Bateman and was chased in the first frame after walking three, striking out none, and giving up one hit for five runs. Hedger went the rest of the way, walking two, striking out three, and being tagged for 11 hits, eight runs and the ball game.

Davis worked six innings on the hill for Crawfords to claim the win. He walked three, struck out two, and gave up 12 for nine runs.

Taylor worked the final three frames effectively stiffling the Bateman bats with one hit and no runs.

Best at the plate was Brown of Bateman Motors with three singles in three tries.

Lineups:

Bateman Motors: Davis lf, replaced by Brown in 3rd, lf; Hatfield ss, 3b; Bone c; Semark 1b; Thompson cf; O'Brien 2b, replaced by Green in 3rd, ss; Thibedeau, replaced by Carmichael in 4th, rf; Wright, replaced by Hedger in 1st, p; McNaught 3b, replaced by Boyer in 3rd, 2b.

London Majors Win Contest By Double Steal

(By The Canadian Press)

It doesn't show in the box score, but it's hustle that counts in winning ball games.

London Majors proved that Monday. They pulled the ancient double steal out of mothballs to plate the only run of the game and end their five-game intercounty losing streak. They nosed out Brantford Red Sox 1-0.

It was a well-played, tightly-fought mound duel between Ted Alexander of Majors and Ray Kirkgrasser of Red Sox. Each allowed but six hits. It was hustle that made the difference.

The lone run came in the sixth inning. Left-fielder Russ Evon of Majors tripled and crossed the plate on a double steal.

At Stratford, the Nationals blanked St. Thomas Legion 4-0. Galt Terriers consolidated their second-place spot at Kitchener, shading Legionnaires 7-5.

Bill Russ won his fifth game of the year for Stratford, silencing St. Thomas on six well-spaced hits.

Hustle again played a major role. Nats stole four bases and plated one run all the way from first when Irish Miskimmons laced out a single with the hit-and-run sign on. Catcher Johnny Thackston led the way, slamming out three hits, including a homer, and stealing two bases.

Thrown Out of Game

Coach Eddie Atzrott of St. Thomas was thrown out of the game in the sixth following an argument with base ump Russ Tyne.

A couple of former big-leaguers, Alex Martin and Jim Bagby, paced Galt to their win over Kitchener.

Martin went the route for Terriers, spacing nine Legion hits. Bagby walloped a long two-run homer in the fourth to put Galt into a 2-0 lead.

PEPSI-COLA TEAM WINS

By rolling games of 987, 976 and 989 for a 2,952 total May 18, Pepsi-Cola managed to win the team event with the low score since the Commodore ry Squad from Chicago turned 2,905 in 1916.

Pepsi-Cola won first money of $2,500. In addition, team member will receive a diamond studded medal and team sponsor will get a trop worth $1,000.

en from 11 is four. There can wo hearts higher than the

Therefore, east knows that south can have no heart higher than the seven. If declarer reaches into the north dummy and plays the trey, east should play the deuce. He can do so safely.

Why? East knows that south is unable to take the seven that was led by west. East is sure of it. He is positive of it. It could not possibly be wrong. Not ever.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 13—(AP) — It's so nice to have a man around the house, agrees Linda Darnell, but that doesn't go for glamor.

"I agree with Ingrid Bergman," said Linda: "A star has a right to a life of her own."

Miss Darnell was speaking about glamor in the home. She's against it.

"There is enough illusion in life without trying to deceive yourself," she expounded. "Glamor is fine for the screen; that's the place for it. But it doesn't have to be carried home. Why should we live on false pretenses?"

Besides, she added, "it takes too much time and work to look glamorous all the time. Just look —it takes four women to keep me glamorized for this picture ('Two Flags West.') I couldn't do this at home. I wear slacks all the time at home."

Something New

A different way of breaking into the movies is being attempted by Anne Marie Vaell, 22-year-old writing hopeful of Los Angeles.

For the last six weeks, Miss Vaell has been running a series of advertisements in the Los Angeles Times. The ads have contained reminiscences of her own life and outlines for two proposed screen plays, "Road to Broadway" and "Dress Rehearsal." Cost of the ads "several thousand dollars."

Miss Vaell, who financed the project with an inheritance, says "it is expensive, but this is the only way I could find to get the stories before the right people."

I asked her if she had any nibbles from the studios since the ads started running?

She shook her head sadly.

Capsule Review

"Winchester '73" (U-I) is not to be confused with "Colt .45." Also about a famed frontier gun, "Winchester" offers a rambling but interesting story. It tells how a prized rifle goes from the hands of Jimmy Stewart to an outlaw to an Indian trader to an Indian Chief to an outlaw and finally back to Stewart. Also thrown in are a brotherly feud, a dance-hall girl (Shelley Winters), and cavalry and an Indian massacre. The performers, who include Dan Duryea and Stephen McNally, make it an entertaining frontier saga.

Sunny Weather Helps To Reduce Flood Conditions

Fort Frances, June 13—(CP)— Sunny weather lapped up water through the Rainy Lake watershed Monday, and a federal engineer forecast the next two days may see an end of the lake's 34-year record rise.

Lac La Croix, eastward in the watershed, has dropped a foot or more. Lake Namakan immediately east of Rainy Lake, has dropped a tenth. A dam at Calm Lake, north and east, is being gradually shut.

"The next two days should tell the story," said R. F. Smallian, an engineer with long experience in Fort Frances. "Rainy Lake won't drop rapidly, but it seems to be levelling off and the drop farther east should be reflected here within a couple of days.

Monday the lake was within less than one inch of the all-time high set in 1916. The indication was the 1916 mark will be passed-but barely.

Damage from this year's record water through the 14,500 square-mile Rainy Lake watershed cannot be estimated with precision.

George Smith, president of the Rainy Lake Commercial Fishermen's Association, has set the figure at $1,000,000, including drop of $175,000 in production by the fishing industry and heavy expense to the Canadian National Railways.

However, Chamber of Commerce officers in Fort Frances expressed belief $1,000,000 is too high. They said the Canadian section of the watershed—about one third of the total—is thinly populated even in summer.

QUEBEC'S CONTRIBUTION

Montreal, June 13—(CP)—Quebec contributions to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund have now passed the $500,000 mark, D. R. Ferguson, provincial chairman of the fund, announced here Monday night.

Police Launch Intensive Search For Escapee

Ottawa, June 13 — (CP) — Police have launched an intensive search for a convict who escaped late Monday from Burritt's Rapids Industrial Farm, some 40 miles south of here.

The escaped prisoner was identified as George Brown, 25, of Toronto, who had been serving a year's sentence on conviction of stealing a car at Perth, about 60 miles southwest of Ottawa.

Sgt. W. A. Neil of the farm's police staff said the escape occurred about 5.40 p. m. EDT.

He said Brown had been employed on the garbage detail in the farm's kitchen. There were 17 other prisoners employed in the kitchen.

Brown apparently slipped out of the kitchen and was not missed until a check was made later.

Police described Brown as being of medium height, with dark hair and brown eyes and a scar over the right ear. At the time of the escape he was wearing prison garb, made up of a blue shirt and blue denim trousers.

SEE RENEWAL OF FILM PACT

Hollywood, June 13— (AP) — Eric Johnson, president of the Motion Picture Producers Association, believes that an agreement will be reached for renewal of the British-American Film Pact which expires tomorrow. Johnston, just back from London, said Monday a settlement may be reached during a one-month carryover period from the old agreement, which permits American producers to take a percentage of their profits out of the country.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop tried to sit more comfortable in his private chair on account of his sore back, saying, Owtch, now horse blanket to blazes, I wonder what brawt this lumbago back again.

The important thing is, it's back, so the next important thing is to keep it as warm and quiet as possible, ma said, and pop said, It probably came from some slite, apparently harmless little movement that I never even noticed. That's the way life is, the most far reetching effects come from the most innocent, trifling causes, he said.

I suppose so, no doubt, ma said, and pop said, By gollies, I can tell you the silly little thing that brawt it on this time. I was drinking my after dinner coffee last nite, and I tried to open a packet of matches with my free hand while I was holding the cup, and just then I had to sneeze, and that must of been the redickulous combination that put a kink in my back, he said.

Do you think so? ma said, and pop said, Of course it just mite of happened while I was tying my bow tie in frunt of the mirror this morning. I remember I gave a sudden little sideways twist to get a better look at what I was doing, and I wouldn't be at all serprised if that little terning movement was the very thing that brawt it on, he said.

Dont cudgel your branes looking for a brilliant alibi, ma said. You went bowling last nite for the 3rd evening in succession after promising me sollemly tha. you'd stay home and rest, and you know as well as I do that that was the whole sum and substance and cause of it, she said, and pop said, Do you really think so?

Oh hush and keep quiet, ma said.

Which he did except for some more owtches.

Court Decision Prevents Mother From Regaining Custody of Child

Ottawa, June 13 (CP)— A 10-year-old boy, subject of a long court custody battle between his parents, will remain with his father for an indefinite period, despite a Supreme Court of Canada judgment which ruled that he must be placed in the care of his mother.

Just two days before Mrs. Evelyn McKee of Kitchener was to have regained custody of her son, Terry, Mr. Justice I. C. Rand Monday "froze" implementation of the judgment until the case could be heard before the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council.

The case may be heard next fall, or a later date. Until then, Terry will remain with his father, Mark T. McKee, who pleaded for the "stay of proceedings" until he could appeal the case which has been through both United States and Canadian courts over a period of years.

The decision to grant Mr. McKee's request was given in chambers Monday, just a week after the court ordered Mr. McKee to deliver his son to the mother at the office of the registrar of the Supreme Court of Ontario, Toronto, June 14.

The June 6 judgment, in effect, reversed a decision of the Supreme Court of Ontario and upheld an order by the Superior Court of California in 1945.

It awarded Mrs. McKee custody of her son, after she had given an undertaking that she will live in the United States with Terry and keep the boy's father fully advised as to the child's whereabouts.

Awarded Action Costs

She also was awarded costs of the action throughout.

Evidence brought before the court was to the effect that the couple married in Vermont in 1933, moved to California where Terry was born in 1940. In December, 1940, Mr. and Mrs. McKee separated and the following year Mrs McKee began divorce proceedings. Mr. McKee entered a cross-complaint.

Mr. McKee, as a result of that action, was granted custody of the boy, but the Superior Court of California, in an order issued Aug. 1, 1945, decided that custody of Terry should be awarded to his mother.

Evidence further showed that Mr. McKee took his son to Kitchener and Mrs. McKee followed. Action was started before the Supreme Court of Ontario, which found that custody should be awarded to the father and this decision was upheld by the Court of Appeal for Ontario.

Mrs. McKee then brought the matter before the Supreme Court of Canada where she finally won out. However, the issue is not ended. The final decision will rest with the Imperial Privy Council.

Planned Saving

paid off for the Browns

The neighbors remember how sick young Donny was a few months ago, and how worried the Browns were. But they never guessed what a serious drain his illness had been on the family purse.

Wisely, the Browns had made it a rule to put something into their savings account, week by week, almost from the day they were married. So when they consulted their bank manager, their credit was good. With the help of a small bank loan, they were able to pay all their bills promptly. Now Donny is healthy again—and so is their bank account.

HEAVE-HO!

An estimated 100 pro-Russian communists infiltrated a meeting of 250 members of a Titoist organization, precipitating a pitched battle between the groups. Hemmed in by his comrades, one member of the pro-Russian group is shown throwing a chair through a door of the meeting room. Windows were broken as the rival communist factions broke chairs over each other's heads, but the Titoists had ejected the blood-smeared pro-Moscow communists by the time police arrived. In addition to the 14 rioters injured, four policemen were hurt. Ten demonstrators were taken into custody. — Central Press Canadian.

Shoemaker Fined For Claim of Secret Potion

Chicago, June 13 — (AP) —A shoemaker who claimed an "unbelievable" method of predetermining the sex of children was told by a city judge Monday to stick to his last.

Anastas Calendar, 64, passed out cards in a park which read: "Do you want a girl? My unbelievable method will guarantee your wish. No money accepted until proof. Consult me personally."

The Russian-born shoemaker said the "method" was a secret Greek potion given him by a Russian midwife who had predetermined the sex of a son for Czar Nicholas II of Russia.

Judge E. J. Holland fined him $5 and costs and ordered his 200 cards destroyed.

Calendar, out of court, told reporters that if the wife drinks the brew before conception, she will have a daughter; if the husband drinks it, the baby will be a boy.

He appeared hurt when a reporter asked what happened if both wife and husband drank the potion. "You're making fun of me," he said and didn't answer.

Presbyterians Select Ottawa As Meeting Place

Montreal, June 13 (CP) —The Presbyterian Church in Canada next year will hold its 77th General Assembly in St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa, delegates to the 76th Assembly decided here Monday in business sessions at MacVicar Memorial Church.

The Assembly Monday also heard a sharp attack on Ontario's new Sunday sports law and laid plans for a country-wide promotional campaign to consolidate the church's budget.

The assembly also debated a proposal that the general board of missions continue its present relationship to the Foreign Missions Conference of North America when it becomes the Department of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches in the United States.

Rev. G. Deane Johnston of Brantford, chairman of the board supported the proposal. It was opposed by Rev. Stuart B. Coles of North Bay, who wanted the matter referred to the Canadian Overseas Mission Council for report to the Assembly next year. His amendment was defeated.

Rev. J. B. Casselman, Lord's Day Alliance Secretary for Quebec, told the Assembly the Ontario's recent bill legalizing Sunday sport was contrary to the Federal Lord's Day Observance Act. He said many Ontario residents are opposed to the law and the church "should take a stand when the government does things not only contrary to our belief as churchmen but also contrary to the law of the country."

In regard to the promotional campaign, the Assembly asked Presbyteries and local congregations to arrange fall and spring meetings to develop church work interest and support for budget funds.

Rev. A. N. Miller of Toronto, chairman of the committee, said church contributions must be increased if work is to be continued on the present scale.

'Funeral Burglar' Sought by Police

Toronto, June 12 — (CP) — Police are seeking a "funeral burglar" who apparently checks newspaper obituary columns before doing his thieving.

Latest victim was Mrs. M. Hunsberry, who returned from her husband's funeral Saturday to find her home ransacked. A watch and diamond ring owned by her late husband were missing.

STOP PURCHASES FLOUR

Colombo, Ceylon, June 13 — (Reuters)—Food Commissioner K. Alvapillai announced today he had stopped all further purchases of Canadian flour until Canadian suppliers could guarantee "good quality" flour. Ceylon bakers have protested that Canadian flour is "not as good as Australian" and that, because of Canadian imports, people were now eating "worse bread than ever before."

CLAIMS PHOTOGRAPH OF FLYING SAUCER

Farmer Paul Trent of McMinnville, Oregon, was called into the backyard of his home by his excited wife on May 11, and made good use of his camera as he quickly made photos of a flying disc passing overhead. This photo, one of three, in which the "flying saucer" appeared like an inverted soup dish with a thin rim and a dome-like super-structure, centred by a short straight upright. Trent estimated the "thing" was about 20 or 30 feet in diameter and it seemed "both dark and silver." Trent elaborated, "There wasn't any flame and it was moving fairly slow. Then I snapped the first picture. It moved a little to the left and I moved to the right to take another picture. Then it seemed to pick up speed suddenly and in no time at all it vanished out of sight." Trent said he delayed talking about the photos because he was "scared." — Central Press Canadian.

Beyond The Law

Mary Imlay Taylor

"Yes!" The inspector reached down into a drawer of his desk and held out two small dark objects. "The dead girl had these gripped tight, must have pulled them off the slayer's coat."

O'Hara's keen face sharpened as MacDonald handed him two mink tails.

"Pretty fair clue if you could spot the coat," his chief said grimly, "but probably you'll never lay eyes on it—till it's mended!"

O'Hara studied the tails. They had been torn out by the force of the dying girl's grip; the ends were ragged.

"You can't tell," he remarked thoughtfully. "Murderers do mighty queer things. This is all, inspector?"

Macdonald meditated for an instant, his big brows down, then he looked around at OHara sharply. "Just one more thing. I've got a notion Johnson's holding something back. He's a first-rate officer and I hate to think he's keeping anything up his sleeve so the other fellow can't make good while he's laid up. Get him to talk if you can."

"I'd like to ask one more question, sir."

"Go ahead."

"Do you happen to know where Gharian's wife is now?"

Macdonald shook his head. "She's been in Nova Scotia somewhere, taking care of a sick brother; that's Gharian's story. The truth was he ill-treated her. There's a story he was the cause of her baby's death; while drunk and irresponsible he dropped the child or struck it. God knows which? She made no charge against him.

"The Crees out there and the trappers adored her, said she was a saint. The child was buried back of the cabin; and then she left him. That's long ago. I'm trying to locate her now with the news of his death; it'll be a relief, I'm thinking, poor woman! She's had nothing to do with him for at least two years; that I know for a fact. That's as far as we've got. You go and see Johnson. There's little time to get the train tonight. Take the first in the morning."

Then followed a few curt final instructions, and O'Hara found himself shutting the door, out again in the bitter January night. As he stepped out into the open he heard the whistle of a train at the crossing and knew it was the last one going north that evening; the first one in the morning left at six-fifteen.

His way did not take him past French Pete's, yet his feet turned automatically in that direction. He opened the door and held it in the driving gale. The fiddles still scraped out gay tunes, the feet of the dancers continued to stamp the old worn floor, but the little table at which he looked was empty, and the chair pushed aside. On the floor beneath lay a small dark object. O'Hara stepped softly into the room, picked it up, and went out, unnoticed There was a delicate fragrance about it, a softness that yet held the shape of a woman's hand. It was a doeskin gauntlet.

He thrust it into his pocket and went on, walking fast, his head bowed against the wind. He must see Johnson tonight. As he went he heard the train again, a long way off, crossing a bridge—sound carry far on a frozen night. That terrible intuition, which was a part of him flashed on the lens of his subcoscious mind. "She went on that. She's ahead of you, going north!" And again that face seemed to emerge like a wraith out of the darkness, possibly conjured by the subtle fragrance of her glove. Twice O'Hara thrust his hand into his pocket to cast the thing behind him, and twice his hand fell at his side. Something — was it premonition or just a type of callow foreign to him made him keep the article.

Then standing under the lamp in the hall, outside of Johnson's sickroom, he read the crumpled, blood stained letter Gharian had written to the girl before she came to nurse his wounds. It was a broken plea for forgiveness that established her ignorance of his marriage.

"Nicky was right to shoot me, Ninon! I'm married. I never told you because she left me long ago and hates me. I treated her bad, dear girl, I confess it; but I could never treat you bad! You're the only girl I ever really loved, but I'll cut out my tongue before I offend you again! I'm wounded, hot with fever, and with no one but a drunken Cree to nurse me. Maybe it's all I deserve, but, Ninon, you're an angel of mercy—pity me! If you'd only come, your cool little hands, your sweet face—I'd live then! But maybe I'd better die. Nicky will kill me if I don't give you up, and the thought of losing you is madness! The fever's getting me—Laure—that's her name — Laure haunts me. Her eyes — how they follow me! Forgive, forgive—"

It broke off as it began, abruptly, the raving of a fevered man, the remorse of one who had forgotten for a while this woman who still haunted him, this Laure who must have had a hold upon him deeper in some respects even than his wild love for the girl.

The very remorse of it stirred again the subtile instinct in O'Hara's mind. This Laure, where was she? If she could keep a haunting hold on a fevered man, even while he avowed his love for another woman, there was something about her— beauty of sweetness or strength of soul — that even a fickle, worthless man like Gharian could not forget. Laure? O'Hara was trying to imagine her, to summon up some picture of Gharian's life, when the nurse let him in to question Johnson.

Constable Johnson was a trifle feverish from his wound, and not a little sullen. He added absolutely nothing to his report, and O'Hara began to understand the inspector's doubts. The wounded man gave an impression that he was withholding something, but what? "He's got something up his sleeve!" the sergeant thought grimly. "He's a good fellow and he's got no cause to be jealous because I've got this particular job; it's no peach! What the deuce is behind it all?"

Johnson told him where he lost the third party's tracks. "The stream's frozen, there's a clump of Arctic willows by the edge of it; the tracks went down there, deep in the snow. Fellow must have slipped, then he got on the ice and kept there. I never found where he got off it."

"Large tracks?"

Some. And some small; I measured 'em. It's all down in the report."

"I see! Two persons, then? The small ones might have been a woman's eh?" O'Hara was watching the sick man keenly.

Johnson's fever flush deepened. "Might be" he admitted, "but women don't take that trail alone, pard, not commonly!"

O'Hara admitted this, rising and going to the lamp to look over the notes he held in his hand. He felt the sick man's eyes following, and remembered Johnson's known reluctance to handle a case where a woman was involved; he had suffered bad luck once and believed himself unduly prejudiced!

Decidedly O'Hara was of the chief's opinion, Johnson knew or had guessed something that he was holding back, but what was it? O'Hara took his time, sorted his notes and slipped an elastic band over them. "I think that's all," he said cheerfully, returning to the bed to clasp the constable's uninjured hand. "I hope you come through soon, old man, and get back to help me on this job. I don't believe Nicky Creuse is guilty. S'long!"

Johnson murmured something unintelligible about "good luck" and sank back on his pillows with obvious relief. But, at the door, his visitor turned abruptly. "I've been thinking of Gharian's wife. Find any trace of her about the cabin, letter or picture — or any thing?"

Johnson met his eyes, steadily challengingly. "No," he replied after a moment. "I found no trace of her about the cabin."

O'Hara searched his face keenly, but there was no sign of wavering, only the glassy look of fever about his eyes. The nurse, returned, signalled for the sergeant to leave. He obeyed, but a glint of sternness narrowed his eyes. Johnson could not lie, and he was as clumsy as a walrus on land when he attempted evasion.

It has begun to snow again, a few big white flakes drove before a rising gale, whirling about like feathers. O'Hara took no heed of them. He was quartering the ground eagerly, like a bloodhound on the scent, every nerve in his lithe, active body taut, every instinct alert. He was hunting for a clue, and the excitement of the quest was like the flavor of vintage wine.

He had come a long way by dog team, left the animals at the Cree hut, and broke trail afoot for hours. He had found the spot where Gharian and the girl had fallen, pushed aside a new snow blanket and confirmed Johnson's measurements in the hard ice crust below.

To follow the trail was more difficult, but he chose to leave the cabin until last. He traced, with infinite pains, the third set of footprints and trusting again to Johnson's notes came to the spot below the willows where the trail showed a swift slide to the ice of the frozen stream. O'Hara dropped to his knees here examining every inch of the ground; something in his predecessor's face had marked this spot for him.

"The key to the mystery's here, unless old Johnson's made a mistake. I don't think he did. Ho!" He stopped and dug his fingers in the snow, much as a dog digs for a bone. He had found something, a small object, and, after infinite effort, he got it up out of the ice whole, stared at it dumbly for an instant—an instant that gave him certainty of one thing. Johnson purposely had shot up his own arm!

O'Hara thrust his find carefully into an inner pocket and began to go over the ground inch by inch. He was transformed into the passionless man of the law. Johnson had failed but O'Hara registered a vow that he would not! Grimly, relentlessly he searched but he found little more; a broken branch, a crevice in the smooth ice of the creek where someone might have stumbled badly, one place—fifty yards farther down—where the same footprints had tried to scramble up a high bank of snow and slipped back to the level ice again, and here where the snow was softer, there were two sets of prints, one of which was set in webs. Of this he was certain, though Johnson had made no note of it.

By this time it was snowing heavily, and though he finally found the spot where the careful retreat over the ice had become flight, he lost the trail in soft new drifts. However, it was not difficult to reconstruct the rest of it. A dog train must have been waiting somewhere near; and the usual trail for such teams was scarcely twenty yards from the place where he finally lost the tracks. The person, woman or boy, who had made the smaller prints in the snow, must have had help near at hand, help that came over the ice of the river. No one but a cree would have had the hardihood to face alone and afoot the wilderness that lay between this place and the nearest settlement.

"If Nicky Creuse seems to be the only suspect bring him in."

"O'Hara smiled grimly. He turned back now upon his tracks The wind, that had been rising steadily for the last hour, was blowing a gale from the northeast and the snow drove in his face, almost blinding him. Farther search would be fruitless. It was lucky that he had saved Gharian's deserted cabin until the last, for he could take shelter there now and pursue investigations at his leisure.

Strong as he was, he had to battle with the tempest as he turned in the direction of the cabin, guided more by instinct than by sight. He was in a white world that was turning gray, it was all gray, and full of fantastic shadows and piercing, terrible cold, when he stumbled up the last drift and saw suddenly a thing that brought him to a stand in sheer amazement. A light shone keenly in the gathering gloom, the eternal twilight of the Arctic winter—a light in Gharian's deserted cabin!

O'Hara stood staring at it. Until now—save for one moment when he recalled the sensation of premonition—he had believed himself alone in the wilderness; yet someone must have been before him, and in the storm, found shelter in the house. A thin curtain was drawn across the window. Through its filmy folds he could see a lamp on the table. There is a strange fatality that draws a murdered back to the scene of his crime, and O'Hara knew it. Something keen and merciless leaped up in his stern eyes, and he felt quickly for the holster of his pistol, loosened it, and strode through the driving snow up to the closed door of the cabin. The howling wind must have made his first summons a puny sound, but he put his shoulder against the door and using his full strength, broke the feeble fastenings. It banged open.

At first the sudden rush of light blinded his eyes. Then he saw a face, white and startled, wide eyes, a tremulous mouth. The woman he had seen sitting apart from the fiddlers at French Pete's!

For a long moment they stared thus at each other, and he saw her trembling hands clasped close against her bosom as if to still a tumultuous beating of her heart; but she uttered no sound, and, after that first start of terror did no blench. O'Hara turned and shut the door, finding a rusty bolt which, after some fumbling held against the wind. A moment later he had divested himself of the heavy coat which hid his uniform, shaken off the snow and ice and stood before the primitive stone fireplace that Gharian had built when the cabin was new. A few logs were burning there now under a smother of charred papers. The sergeant stooped, picked up the tongs and tried to rescue one half burnt piece, but the flame as too quick for him and licked it up. He straightened up, facing the woman. All this while she had neither moved nor spoken, and her eyes met his steadily.

Russia to Spend 18 P.C. of Budget On Armed Forces

Finance Minister Charges UK and US With Aggression

Moscow, June 14 — (AP) — The Soviet Union has set aside the equivalent of $19,850,000,000 — figure based on the official value of the rubble -- for defence this year.

Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev announced the sum—18.5 per cent of the 1950 budget — to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) at a joint meeting of its two Houses Tuesday night. Prime Minister Stalin and many members of the Foreign Diplomatic Corps were present.

(President Truman asked Congress for $13,028,000,000, for United States defence in the fiscal year beginning July 1. His total budget was $42,439,000,000. Defence represents a 30.6 per cent slice of the U. S. budget. It does not include about $5,000,000,000 government expenses growing out of past wars.

(Britain's defence budget, announced in April, is £780,000,000 or $2,184,000,000 in U. S. funds. Canada's over-all total for defence this year is estimated at about $485,000,000 in Canadian funds.

(There is no easy standard to compare what U. S. and Russian governments consider defence items.

Zverev said the Russian figure represents a decline in military expenditures under the pre-war year of 1940.

Zverev also disclosed a drop in expected total revenues, first since the war, which he ascribed to wide price reductions. He revealed that the Russian financial surplus will be sharply cut.

Ambassadors in Audience

With American Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and British Minister John Nicholl in the audience, he charged their countries with aggression and said the U. S. is spending, directly and indirectly, $32,000,000,000 in the coming budget year for war. Zverev said the sum is more than 70 per cent of the total U. S. budget.

Zverev announced that the 18.5 per cent total for defence contrasted with more than 32.6 per cent in 1940 and 24 per cent in 1946.

He said the reductions reflected the incessant concern of the Soviet Union for peace.

(Zverev said last year that the defence budget estimate was 19 per cent of the total but apparently he did not mention that last night.

(Last year's Soviet budget called for an equivalent of $1,000,000 less than this year's defence total, however).

WILL LAY CHARGE

Cornwall, June 14 (CP) —Police said today a dangerous driving charge will be laid against Roy McLean, 24, of Kingston, alleged driver of car transport which collided with a loaded tank truck here last Sunday. Keith Abrams, 27, also of Kingston, was killed in the crash.

Abrams was a passenger in the cab of the car transport. McLean is recovering in hospital from a broken back.

HATE-FILLED LETTERS READ IN MURDER CASE

Napanee, June 14 — (CP) — James Fosbraey, a jury was told today, wrote to friends after his arrest on a charge of murder in the knife slaying of his wife: — "June is dead, now I must pay the penalty of death by hanging."

The quotation was read by Crown Attorney Kenneth S. Hamm from one of three letters the 29-year-old RAF veteran penned in jail. Chief Justice J. C. McRuer ordered them admitted as evidence.

Mrs. June Fosbraey was slain in a Napanee street last Nov. 29. Fosbraey, who comes from Sittingbourne, Kent, England, surrendered to a jail guard a few minutes later.

The letters read today were seized by the jail governor when Fosbraey asked that they be mailed.

Addressed to Friends

One, addressed to friends in Britain, said: "June is dead, now I must pay the penalty of death by hanging. Please understand this was the only way out. I just plain don't want to live. I feel proud to die now that June has gone before me."

Another, dated two days after the slaying, was to J. C. Currans of South Napanee, father of Mrs. Fosbraey. The accused man wrote that June had not suffered. He offered his "greatest sympathy" and said he wished his hanging would take place that week.

The Crown Tuesday read from other letters it considers bolsters the case against Fosbraey.

The Fosbraeys were married during the Second World War, when Fosbraey was stationed at Kingston. Following the war they lived in Napanee.

Apparently separated from his wife, Fosbraey went on a visit to England last October. It was while he was in England that the letters were written.

In letters read to the court on Tuesday, Fosbraey accused his wife of having an affair with a man named Stanislaw Steinback. Fosbraey wept openly as Crown Attorney Kenneth S. Ham read the hate-filled letters.

One said in part:

"I will be back to put you both where I should have put you that Wednesday night. I am not going to live very long, so why not take two more with me."

Others read:

"I guess you will pay dearly in lots of ways for your mistakes . . . your troubles have only just begun. I hate you June, and I am very cold and bitter. I hate you if it were ever possible to hate anyone so much."

Earlier, Fosbraey was quoted as having told a jail guard, "I think I stabbed her three times where the heart is." Dr. Douglas Hay, district provincial pathologist told the court Mrs. Fosbraey died of deep wounds in the left chest.

He said the hunting knife police say was the murder weapon could have produced such wounds. An earlier witness had testified Fosbraey bought a hunting knife two days before the murder.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 14 (CP)—Synopsis—Skies are clearing today in the wake of a minor disturbance which is moving eastward out of the province. This small storm centre, which was moving very slowly over the midwestern United States 24 hours ago, picked up speed Tuesday as it swept across southern Ontario at 30 to 40 mph bringing with it showers and occasional thunderstorms.

The weather will be mostly sunny throughout the province Thursday with temperatures in the 80s in the south and above 70 at most northern points.

Pigeons Trained to Play Piano, Push Pushbuttons, Know Colors

Cambridge, Mass., June 14 — (AP)—Smart birds these Harvard-educated pigeons.

They're able to play a tune on a piano, play tennis, tell time, push pushbuttons and understand changing colors — like traffic lights.

The piano players can rattle off such simple tunes as "Over the Fence is Out, Boys", and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

B. F. Skinner, professor of psychology at Harvard, has drawn these conclusions after a series of experiments.

The tests are designed to determine whether a child can be trained more effectively by encouraging good behavior or punishing bad actions.

How do you do it with pigeons?

The professor explains that pigeons are ideal subjects because they have a reaction time comparable to humans.

They are paid off with food if their responses to various tests bring the desired results.

Dr. Skinner gets the piano players to drum up a tune by rewarding them if they peck the keys on a seven key board in certain sequences.

The modified table tennis—without nets—is played on a two-feet-square table.

One pigeon, using his beak, tries to bat the ball past his opponent. Rallies sometimes run to three or four shots—though most are "aces". Each successful shot brings a reward of food.

Other birds have learned to peck signs labelled "yellow," "green" "blue" and "red", always picking the proper sign when a light of the same color is flashed on. That also brings a reward of grain.

The time tellers do it this way. If an apparatus customarily pays off 10 seconds after the signal, they learn to kill that time by doing something else.

But on the dot they're back at the feed box.

PREMIER FROST PUSHES BUTTON TO START POWER

56,500 H.P. Harnessed On Mississagi River

Thessalon, June 14. (CP)—The turbulent Mississagi River, long the servant of the fur trader and the lumberman and the sportsman, today forged a new link with Northern Ontario industry.

At the towering Tunnel Gorge 15 miles northeast of Thessalon and 44 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Premier Frost of Ontario pressed a button which harnessed the swriling waters to generators which will send 56,500 horsepower of electricity surging through power lines which serve the nickel mines at Sudbury and gold mines in northeastern Ontario.

The ceremony, scheduled for 1 p.m., was the first of three in Ontario this month. Next Wednesday, Premier Frost will officiate at the opening of the Pine Portage plant on the Nipigon River in northwestern Ontario. A week later he will open the gigantic Des Joachims development on the Ottawa River some 38 miles from Pembroke.

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the publicly-owned Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario which built all three plants, said in an address prepared for delivery at today's opening that the tunnel site's full capacity of 56,500 horsepower is being brought into service immediately.

At Pine Portage, initial delivery of 40,000 horsepower of the 80,000 capacity will bring the power pool in the Thunder Bay area to 278,000 horsepower. The Des Joachims plant will contribute 120,000 horsepower at the outset to southern Ontario and a further 240,000 will be brought into service progressively between now and the end of the year.

Piggie Eats Too Much Corn, Sticks in Can

Lawton, Okla., June 14 (AP)—This little piggy went to market . . . this little piggy stayed home . . . this little piggy had roast beef . . .

But this little piggy had Kaffir corn . . .

And she had too much of it.

Little piggy Bertha — which weighed only 35 pounds — was bouncing around farmer Bob Beck's farm when she slammed into a five-gallon milk can.

Then her full tummy refused to let Bertha free herself.

A veterinarian was called.

His advice: "Leave her alone, keep her cool — and everything will work out all right."

It did. Bertha scrambled out eight hours later.

LIGHTNING STARTS EIGHT FIRES

Toronto, June 14 (CP)— Lightning ignited eight forest fires in Ontario Tuesday but all are reported under control today.

Two fires are reported in the Timiskaming, three at Sudbury, one at North Bay and two at Algonquin Park.

Pearson Favors Ratification Of 50-Year Treaty With US For Water Diversion at Niagara

Ottawa, June 14 (CP)—A clamor for an early start on the St. Lawrence Seaway project welled up on all sides of the Commons today.

One Progressive Conservative member said only that project can prevent a power shortage that would deal Canada's economy a crippling blow in the next seven years.

Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) keynoted a general sense or urgency about the long-delayed power and navigation project as the House studied and approved a treaty with the United States involving another power development, one for the diversion of Niagara River waters.

Both Canada's industrial expansion and the military security of the entire North American continent are being placed in jeopardy, Mr. Adamson declared, by the ability of a small U. S Senate majority to frustrate the "overwhelming pressure" for the St. Lawrence project.

He advocated that the government tell Washington that if the project as a whole is not launched within a certain deadline Canada will authorize Ontario and New York State to proceed with the power development phase alone.

Touches Off Discussion

External Affairs Minister Pearson touched off the discussion in moving for ratification of a 50-year treaty that will permit the permanet regulation of the diversion of Niagara waters and allow a substantial increase in power production on the Niagara.

Harry Cavers (L-Lincoln), a resident of the Niagara area, welcomed the Niagara development and assured sceptical members that the falls' beauty will not be injured but will be enhanced.

Mr. Adamson said that despite all the power projects now in construction or operation in Ontario Central, Canada will face a power shortage by 1957. The only answer was an early start on the St. Lawrence. The alternative was a resort to use of coal-generated power that would cost three times as much as water power.

Mr. Pearson gave assurance that the Niagara treaty in no way replaces the St. Lawrence project.

Replaces One of 1909

This treaty, signed at Washington Feb. 27 last, replaces one signed 41 years ago and a temporary wartime arrangement for increase in power output in Ontario and New York State.

It provides:

1. Increase in the amount of of Niagara River water for power production by fixing a minimum flow required for scenic Niagara Falls. Amounts in addition to the minimum — which fluctuates between 50,000 and 100,000 cubic feet a second — will be divided equally between Ontario and New York State.
2. Basis for construction of bigger power plants at Queenston.

Private and public power plants in the area now have a capacity of about 1,100,000 horsepower. The new construction will increase capacity by another 500,000 horsepower.

3. Arrangements for preserving the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls and rapids. This work includes plans for filling in the bare spots ni the crestline of Niagara's Horseshoe Falls on the Canadian side.

Divergent Views On Immigration Voiced by M.P.'s

Ottawa, June 14—(CP)—Members expressed diversified views in the Commons Tuesday on the type of immigration policy Canada should adopt.

David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina) said there was no reason why Canada should not accept 250,000 immigrants a year. Australia was accepting 200,000 yearly, but Canada was bringing in only 93,000.

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L—Portneuf) said he is and always has been opposed to mass immigration. He doubted if Canada could accept more than 95,000 immigrants a year without upsetting the ethical and religious make-up of the Canadian nation as it exists.

C. W. Hodgson (PC—Victoria, Ont.) said he was in favor of selective immigration, but opposed to the mass dumping of displaced persons in Canada. Only about 25 per cent of the displaced persons would make good Canadian citizens. He doubted if the remaining 75 per cent would ever make good citizens.

Policy of Past 30 Years

Leading off the debate on the 1950-51 estimates of the citizenship and immigration department, Mr. Croll said that for the last 30 years the government's immigration policy "has got us nowhere."

He had hoped that with establishment of the new immigration department last year there would have been a change in policy. But Immigration Minister Harris had simply reiterated the old policy of the government, which was "not a policy but a pious hope."

In the United States, the population had been 30,000,000 at the time of Lincoln's death. Today, it had a population of 150,000,000 enjoying the highest standard of living in the world. The problem facing Canada was the same as that which faced the U.S. in 1868.

Canada would regret it if she failed to stock her land with more people from the British Isles. Australia was subsidizing immigration from the British Isles.

Mr. Hodgson said he favored the bringing in of people from the United Kingdom, Ireland, Italy, Holland, Belgium and similar European countries. There were thousands who wanted to come to Canada, but there apparently were obstacles in the way.

Attaches Visit Kingston and Artillery School

Ottawa, June 14 — (CP) — Foreign military attaches accredited to Canada and military advisers to Commonwealth high commissioners in Ottawa will pay a three-day visit to Kingston and other nearby military establishments starting June 14, army headquarters announced yesterday.

Russia's military attache, Lt.-Col. Gregori I. Volochko was not invited to participate in the visit.

The party will travel by automobile and will visit the Royal Canadian School of Signals and the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers' School, both of Barriefield, and the Royal Canadian School of Artillery (anti-aircraft) at Picton.

The attaches will be conducted by Maj. L. V. Perry of army headquarters.

The party will include: Col. Max Waibel, Switzerland; Col. Sverre Refsum, Norway; Lt.-Col. Javko Susnjar, Yugoslavia; Lt.-Col. T. R. Clarkin, U.S.A.; Lt.-Col. R. G. M. Stephenson, U.K.; and Lt.-Col. C. S. Kotze, South Africa.

FIRE LOSS $100,000

Bronte, June 14 (CP) — An upper-floor explosion among hundreds of cans of Varnish started a $100,000 fire which early today destroyed the three-storey Ontario Metal Specialities Company building here.

The blaze, which put 17 men out of work, was first noticed by Peter Strazalkowski who was awakened in a nearby house by the loud blast. The fire, fed by hundreds of gallons of paint and varnish, was too far gone by the time firemen from Bronte, Trafalgar, Oakville and Burlington arrived.

SAFE BETWEEN RAILS

Oslo, Norway, June 14 (Reuters) — A drunken man, weaving his way down a railroad track near Dovre, Norway, toppled over and lay between the rails when a locomotive bore down on him.

The engineer stopped his train 50 yards further down the track and ran back expecting to find a mangled body on the line. He was met instead by a volley of abuse. The train had run over the man without touching him.

BACON SUBSIDY TO BE CONTINUED BEYOND JUNE 30

Agricultural Minister Makes Announcement

Ottawa, June 14 — (CP) The government plans to continue beyond June 30 a subsidy of 3½ cents a pound on bacon required to fill a 60,000,000-pound contract with the United Kingdom.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons shortly after a cabinet meeting Tuesday that the government had decided to continue the subsidy beyond the previously - announced termination date of June 30.

"All other regulations with regard to the handling of pork products will go along in the same manner as they are going along now," he said. This was interpreted as meaning there will be no early removal of the ban on the export of pork products to United States.

He did not say how long payment of the subsidy will continue, but indicated it will be at least until the U. K.-contract requirements are filled.

So far, largely as a result of high domestic prices and heavy domestic consumption, the government has obtained only about 13,000,000 of the 60,000,000 pounds of bacon required for Britain.

The government buys the bacon at 32½ cents a pound and sells it to the United Kingdom at 29 cents. The loss of 3½ cents a pound is charged to the government's revolving $200,000,000 price-support program.

Mr. Gardiner's announcement on the subsidy was made before members completed study of the 1950-51 estimates of expenditures for his department.

Asked to Clarify

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, asked Mr. Gardiner to clarify his statement on Monday that it was about time Canada stopped "talking nicely" to "one or two people" in Britain about food markets and to speak to them "directly."

Canadians Asked To Take Greater Interest in Govt.

Ottawa, June 14—(CP)—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, only woman member in the Commons, Tuesday night appealed to Canadians to take a greater interest in the affairs of government.

The Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West, victorious in a May 15 by-election, said the tendency of responsible citizens to drift into a state of quiescence "is the most alarming condition in this country today."

Mrs. Fairclough's remarks were prepared for delivery over a free-time political boadcast in the nations' business series of the trans-Canada network of the CBC.

"There was never a time in the history of Canada when it was so vitally necessary for every citizen to be government-conscious as today," Mrs. Fairclough said.

The burden of debt has risen to "undreamed of heights" and taxation of the wage-earners had "become a grave concern to every homemaker and a serious strain on every family budget."

London — (CP) — The famous Black Watch Regiment has had to send its mascot back to where it came from. The mascot was a cub lioness. But now she's a 'big girl' and has had to be sent back to Africa.

Vast Mysterious Cloud Blankets 1,200,000 Square Miles of Pacific

Honolulu, June 14 (AP)— A vast cloud of mysterious origin blanketed 1,200,000 square miles of the Pacific. United States weather bureau meteorologist R. H. Simpson said Tuesday it might last a day or week.

At Wake Island 2,000 miles west of Hawaii, the cloud rose to 10,000 feet. At Hawaii, near the eastern limit it had a 7,000-foot ceiling.

What caused it? Maybe wind-blown African desert sands, said Simpson. Or an explosive eruption down across New Guinea. Or—an atomic explosion.

Ions Are Electrified Particles

"A concentration of ions in the air could result in such a condition," Simpson explained. Ions are electrified particles jarred loose when an atom is split.

The Eniwetok proving grounds, where new atomic tests are expected this summer, lie about 600 miles southwest of Wake.

Reds Plot Africa Revolt Minister Tells Assembly

Claims Members Are Highly Trained, Properly Placed

Capetown, June 14 (Reuters)—South Africa was told today by Justice Minister Charles Swart that "a secret organization among the natives, led by Communists," is preparing a coup on a date yet to be selected.

Moving second reading of the government's suppression of communism bill, he told the House of Assembly that members of the organization have been trained and placed in the most important departments of public life.

On a given date, when "a secret sign" will be given, one man has been ordered to poison water supplies. Another will cut off power and light at power stations. Others are ready to murder persons they want "out of the way."

Swart said he had a list, obtained from Communist party offices, which was only one indication of communist determination to gain control of the trade unions.

Trade unions which had communist members included those representing municipal employees, teachers, iron and steel workers, laundry, railway and harbor workers; commercial travellers and newspaper men.

"We in South Africa are sitting on a volcano," he said.

The bill provides penalties up to 10 years' imprisonment, removal from any office, confiscation of property, and banning from any area of the Union.

Swart said the bill provided that before any person could be sent to prison or fined, the Crown must establish its case against him through normal legal practice.

To combat "underground activity," the bill laid down that the property of any person found guilty of using it for promoting communism could be confiscated by the courts.

Expect 5,000 Farmers For Farm, Home Week

Guelph, June 14 — (CP) — With every indication that more than 5,000 farmers would visit the Ontario Agricultural College today, visitors began arriving early for the farm and home week program which has been in progress since Monday.

Addressing more than 2,000 visitors Tuesday, Prof. R.G. Knox said that unless substantial rains are forthcoming shortly the beef cattle herds at the College will have to be further cut. Last year's dry weather resulted in a reduction in the herd, he told the group.

President W. R. Reek said that the three-fold function of the College was teaching, research and extension.

DEAD-LETTER CAPITAL

Hearst, June 14 — (CP) —This lumber town 100 miles northwest of Timmins is the "dead-letter capital of Canada," postal inspectors said Tuesday. They attributed the large volume of undelivered mail to transient lumber workers in the district.

MAY BE FULL SCALE

Toronto, June 14 — (CP) — Controller Allan Lamport said today the city's Island Airport may soon be developed into a full-scale municipal airport. Mr. Lamport told a meeting of the Parks Committee he would like to put airport facilities "right on the lawns of downtown business firms."

HARVEY GRIMMON, PICTON, KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Picton — Harvey F. Grimmon, 79, for many years a councillor in South Marysburgh township, and for two years the assessor of the town of Picton, died in hospital this morning of severe head injuries five hours after he walked into the side of a moving automobile driven by Arthur Sinnett, Carleton Place. There is little likelihood of an inquest.

Mr. Grimmon in crossing Ross Street walked right into the side of the car which stopped immediately. No blame has been attached to the driver.

The deceased was for many years a farmer at South Bay and at times was engaged in the canning industry.

He is survived by his wife, one son, James, who is employed in the Department of Education, Toronto, and three daughters: Mrs. Harry Huff, Peterborough, Mrs. Clifford Colliver, Picton, and Mrs. John Dalrymple, Kemptville.

Slander Case Still "Very Much Alive"

Saskatoon, June 14 (CP)— G. H. Yule, K.C., said Tuesday that the $100,000 Tucker-Douglas slander case is still "very much alive."

He said application for hearing of a retrial of the action of his cient, Walter Tucker, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, will be set down for the fall assizes.

(Monday night The Canadian Press erroneously reported the appeal had been withdrawn).

Mr. Tucker last winter won his appeal in the court of King's Bench against an original dismissal of his suit against Premier T. C. Douglas. The complaint involves material in a political address before the 1948 provincial election.

Mr. Yule said the retrial did not appear on the court's spring docket, but that it would come up in the fall.

Mr. Yule said no steps had been taken to list the action for the spring assizes, which opened Tuesday. The Saskatoon lawyer has been ill in hospital.

Tel Aviv, Israel, June 14 — (Reuters) — A plane bearing Hashemite Jordan markings was forced down by the Israelis over Southern Palestine yesterday, it was officially announced here. The plane was believed to have been piloted by an R.A.F. pilot and had six passengers aboard.

Private sources here said the plane may belong to Arab Airways, the civilian Jordan passenger line maintaining daily flights from Amman to Cairo.

An Israeli spokesman said identity of the passengers was not known, and added the pilot was wearing "Royal Air Force Insignia." He did not say whether he was British.

Council Discusses Surcharge And Presents Recommendation For Consideration of County

While in agreement that the principle of a surcharge for hospital patients living outside the city is unsound and discriminatory, members of city council feel that the differential rate cannot be removed until a satisfactory agreement of contributions is reached between city and county.

This was the gist of a recommendation passed by city council at a special meeting held Tuesday evening to consider the removal of the surcharge paid by patients at the Belleville General Hospital.

At their last meeting the Hospital Board of Governors approved dropping of the surcharge and as city council had approved of the introduction of the differential asked council to ratify their recommendation for its removal. To raise the equivalent in funds which would be lost by dropping the surcharge, it was suggested that all room rates be raised 25 cents per day.

Considerable Objection

In calling the meeting to order Mayor H. J. Allin noted that the hospital surcharge had raised considerable objection in the county and county council were not prepared to discuss any financial agreement until the surcharge was removed. He said that the cost per patient day for indigents was much greater than was being received from the county, also that many patients listed as indigents were being refused by the county.

"I take the stand that the citizens of Belleville should not be forced to pay for indigent patients from the county as well as from the city," he said. "The county should pay their own way, and I feel they will pay their own way once the surcharge is removed.

Some Justification

The mayor went on to say that the county council as a whole felt very badly about the surcharge and said that in his opinion, they had some justification.

Alderman Lattimer as member of the special committee appointed to meet with a committee from the county regarding the hospital matter, said the county would definitely not negotiate until the surcharge was removed. He also expressed the opinion that the county would be willing to pay its share of indigent patient costs once a satisfactory basis of costs was set up.

He voiced the opinion if the hospital matter had been thoroughly discussed there may not have been any need to introduce the surcharge last summer.

Cost per patient day at the hospital was noted as being $7.04 per day, which must be broken down to give the indigent patient cost. At the present time the hospital receives but $3.25 per day for county indigent patients.

It was noted that the surcharge if in effect for one year, would return the hospital about $23,000 per year.

The recommendation passed unanimously by council was as follows:

Recommended: That, whereas this council agrees that the principle of a differential in rates to patient originating from outside the limits of the City of Belleville is unsound and discriminatory; and whereas at the present time the Belleville General Hospital is operating at a substantial deficit which by virtue of ownership is necessarily assessed against the Corporation of the City of Belleville.

Therefore it is recommended that; if a contractual relationship can be established between the City of Belleville and the County of Hastings providing on behalf of each a satisfactory contribution for all parties from within their own limits unable to pay hospital charges, and provided further that such agreement declares a proper interpretation of such patients, then this council will recommend to the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital that all existing differential rates be terminated.

Georgia Salon Sport Lounge Displaying Latest in Shopping Convenience Opens Thursday

Modern in appointments and designed to afford more pleasurable shopping for an increased number of customers, The Sport Lounge at the Georgia Salon on Front Street represents the very latest in shopping convenience.

Situated in the lower floor of the Georgia Salon, the new store will be officially opened on Thursday, while Thursday evening will be "open house" when the management will show the public through the new department.

Altough part of the main store, The floor is finished in green tile be operated as a separate department. Here everything imaginable in sports wearing apparel for Milady will be obtainable in a shopping atmosphere, that would be difficult to surpass.

No Expense Spared

Absolutely no expense has been spared to afford every shopping convenience for shoppers in the new store. Reached by a wide staircase done in birch, the store is as bright and airy as paint and engineering can make it.

The floor is finished in grey tile, the monogram of the store being inset in the landing at the bottom of the stairway. Color scheme for the walls is April green with jade green trim, while the cases and cabinets are finished in ivory. The ceiling is done with acoustic tile.

Special Designed Lighting

The lighting is specially designed for the elimination of shadows with built-in fluorescent lighting at the junction of the walls and ceilings. An ingenious use of special slanting mirrors will permit Milady to check her hemline. There are three sections of such mirrors.

Special lights which shine on the person and not on the mirrors have been placed in the fitting room. For the convenience of waiting customers is a specially designed foam rubber lounge seat.

The store will have its own checking counter adjacent to the stairway landing, this to double as the office. An intercommunication system permits instant contact with other store departments.

At the rear of the store is the stock and storeroom, these rooms with a rear entrance permitting stock for both store departments to be unloaded from the rear thus relieving congestion on Front Street. A new furnace has been added with individual thermostatic control for each department.

Highly-trained Staff

Last, but not least, a courteous, highly trained and competent staff is ready to wait on customers at the Sport Lounge.

As co-owner of the Georgia Salon, Mrs. Georgia Smith, pointed out that the new store department was not to be considered an addition. Rather it was created to give customers more pleasurable shopping in a delightful atmosphere.

"We appreciate the patronage of our customers during the past 17 years," stated Mrs. Smith. "And it has been the loyalty of these customers, which has helped build the sport lounge.

Heavy Agenda Faces Members Says Warden in Opening June Session of County Council

A heavy agenda that warrants the closest attention and consideration of the body, he said, caused Warden Clarke Rollins to request the Hastings County Council to start sessions promptly on time, at the opening of the June meeting Tuesday afternoon.

After commenting briefly on the prosperous appearance of county lands and farms, the warden urged council to make earnest consideration of the many important issues to come before it.

Will Have Direct Bearing

"Some of these," he said, "will have a direct bearing on the future of the county to a great extent."

He urged a full attendance of members at all sessions so that they can make just and fair decisions on all questions brought before the body.

During the brief business session the warden named the Estimates Committee and the Committee on Equalization. The estimates Committee which met at 10 a.m. today included Messrs. B.C.I. Examinations End For Most of The Students

The pall of gloom hanging over students at the Collegiate and Vocational School was half dispelled yesterday. Lower School examinations ended for the most part with an afternoon exam, but 54 Upper School students will carry on in the heat until June 23.

Enrollment on the hill for May was 941. High for the year was more than one thousand.

Most of the graduates on the technical and commercial sides have been placed with little trouble. Thirty-one are graduating from commercial courses, 15 in the special course. Twelve have been placed from the commercial course, and nine from the special. A. D. Archibald, commercial instructor, said that there is no scarcity of jobs for graduates.

Seventeen technical boys are graduating. By yesterday afternoon 12 of them had jobs, with more on the way. N. D. Smith, shop director, said that while some of the boys were having trouble finding the precise job they wanted, there were plenty of jobs for all.

Four of seven of the Home Economics course grads are going to hospitals to train for nurses, locally and out-of-town. Two of them have jobs, and the last is planning to attend The Ryerson Institute of Technology in Toronto.

Upper School papers started Monday, and last two weeks. Full Department of Education time tables are made up to June 29, but exams after June 23 are in subjects not taught here.

Director of Guidance James Musgrove estimates that approximately 300 students will have summer jobs when examinations are over. His department, while not a job agency, has contributed to the placing of about 25 students. Others will be employed for the summer in jobs at which they have worked after school and Saturdays throughout the winter. Majority of the working students, Mr. Musgrove said, are from Grades 11, 12 and 13.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 14—(CP)—Prices moved irregularly in comparatively dull dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials boomed ahead strongly in early trading but lost much of the advantage in a mid-session burst of profit-taking. Volume for the shares.

In industrials a few utilities and refining oils were higher. Foods and papers tended lower.

Western oils, features in previous sessions this week, were sluggish under pressure of profit-taking. Gain and losses slowly balanced after the list opened on a continuation of previous climbs into new high price ground.

Base Metals pushed slowly upwards. A few key stocks like Consolidated Smelters brightened at the half-way mark. Anacon Lead and Ascot Corp., were lower as traders took profits following recent advances.

Golds continued declining into new low ground. Leading junior and senior producers have been under steady pressure in recent weews and have dropped to the lowest average price levels in a year.

Sidney School Area Board Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Sidney Township School Area Board was held in the Wallbridge School on Monday evening, all members present.

The minutes of the May meetings were read and approved on motion by H. M Rutter and J. R. Harry. The correspondence which consisted chiefly of outgoing letters was read and ordered filed. A notice from Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, clerk of Sidney, regarding Harold Chambers' request to have his assessment transferred to Stirling and Sidney Union section had been received, on the grounds that he was much closer to Stirling than to Eggleton's School. The board concurred with the request. O Latchford on the North Bayside farm asked for enough material to repair the chicken house blown over by the wind. This was granted on the understanding that he does not exceed the limit set by the board and does the necessary work as he wished.

The secretary reported that no reply had been received from the department on the board's application for tentative approval to build an extension to the Avondale School. It was expected that a reply would be received soon.

Accounts totalling $4,243.06 were passed. These included teachers and caretakers June salaries, supplies, operational and maintenance cost. A number of the teachers had taken advantage of the board's offer to allow up to $5 per school for seeds, flowers and plants for the school flower beds and grounds. Where this has been done the grounds present a pleasing appearance.

Perfect Attendance Awards

Twenty-five pupils of the Sidney area have qualified for the perfect attendance awards promised by the board to those pupils, who had perfect attendance for the school year. It was left in the hands of the supervising principal to choose suitable books to be presented to them in recognition of their good attendance. Much credit is due the parents of these children in seeing that they were able to attend every day. Pupils to receive the awards as reported by the teachers are:

Teacher Changes

Since the last regular meeting resignations had been received from Miss Mary Hamilton at Wallbridge; Mrs. Elsie Armstrong at Glen Ross, and Miss Madeline Poole at Avondale School. The following teachers were hired to fill the vacancies, Miss Jeane Roushorne, Eldorado for Bayside School at $1,900; Miss Joan Hoard, Hoard's Station, for Glen Ross School at $1,900; and Mrs. Iva Rikley, Foxboro, for Wallbridge School at $1,900. Miss Roushorne and Miss Hoard are at present teaching in Centre Hastings and come highly recommended. Mrs. Rikley has taught in Sidney for the last four years. Several applications for Avondale School had been received but Board had been unable to get enough information on them to engage one at this meeting.

Summer Repairs and Wiring Tender

Wiring tenders for Riverside School were not considered as the specifications from the Hydro had not arrived in time to give all those interested a chance to see them and submit a tender. This will be dealt with at a special meeting to be called within a week, when all tenders are received. Final plans on summer repairs to grounds and buildings will be discussed also at this meeting.

Plebiscite on Area, June 16th.

The coming plebiscite on school area this Friday, June 16th was discussed at some length. A hope was expressed that all entitled to vote would do so with the best interest of the children of the township in mind.

Milk Supply Still Shut Off By A.F.L. Strike

Pittsburg, June 14—(AP)—The milk supply of seven western Pennsylvania counties still was shut off today as the strike of A.F.L. dairy workers went into its sixth day with no break in sight.

Negotiators will try again today to iron out the differenes that cut off milk supplies to some 2,300,000 persons since Friday.

Chief stumbling block still is what issues, if any, will be submitted to arbitration.

State police are patrolling all highways to prevent violence from strike pickets, on orders from Governor James Duff.

Pickets halted a truck of the Pike Dairy Company, Uniontown, and dumped 500 quarts of milk.

The pickets were arrested as result of earlier violence and lodged in jail in Greensburg, Pa.

In Pittsburgh, windows of two dairy stores were smashed. One of the stores had been selling milk and ice cream brought in from Ohio.

The union want a 40-hour week with 48 hours pay. They also want the daily guarantee raised from $10 to $13.50. The dealers offered $11 and arbitration of all differences. They claim the drivers now average $300 or more a month.

Emergency milk deliveries, available for babies' formulas, hospitals and invalids, have reached approximately 13,000. Applications for aid for infants and the sick continued to pile up.

A similar strike by the same union has shut off the milk supply in the United States capital. Milk drivers in Washington, D.C., walked out three days ago.

Honey Carryover Being Given Back To The Trade

Ottawa, June 14 (CP)—The Canadian government's carryover of 3,000,000 pounds of honey is being given back to the trade for disposal on the domestic market this year, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons.

In a general discussion of the honey industry during consideration of his departmental estimates, the agriculture minister said the honey producers claimed they had a surplus of 5,000,000 pounds last year.

The government bought 3,000,000 pounds and this had been carried over. This year, Mr. Gardiner said he asked the honey producers who this honey belonged to—the government or to them. When they indicated it was government honey, Mr. Gardiner said he told them that in that case the government would sell it on the domestic market.

"That changed the tone of the discussion," Mr. Gardiner said. It was finally decided that they would take the honey and sell it along with this year's yield and he was hopeful all of it would be sold on the domestic market this year.

He said he did not think it would be wise to institute a floor price for honey. He believed there was a market in Canada for all the honey that would be available this year.

The government was assisting in selling the honey with an advertising campaign.

NO GENERAL INCREASE

New York, June 14 (CP) — Despite scattered police boosts "there will be no general increase in the basic price of steel in the immediate future," the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly said today.

The publication reports that "all major steel producers are gravely concerned over rising costs," however. It adds:

"They will continue to study their costs, and any further inflation could tip the scales toward higher prices."

DAIRY FARMERS DECIDE TO ADVERTISE

y their decision to promote the sale of dairy products ugh an energetic advertising and publicity campaign, Dairy Farmers of Canada have taken a step that is g overdue. All branches of Canadian agriculture would well advised to adopt similar programs in order to ress upon consumers the importance and variety of nadian farm products.

Farmers have always been reluctant to make use of techniques and methods until their practical value in most cases necessity has been thoroughly demon- ated. Just as many farmers failed to take advantage of ctors, combines and other labor saving machinery until y were forced to use them in order to keep down produc- n costs, Canadian dairy producers have been slow to lize that they must make the public aware of their ustry if they hope to increase sales of dairy products the highly competitive domestic consumer market.

Naturally the farmers' first consideration is costs. ere will be a one-cent-a-pound deduction on butterfat the milk equivalent during June. Dairy officials estimate t this levy will raise $250,000 during the month. How- r the individual cost per farmer will be very small.

On 100 pounds of 3.5 test milk, the deduction would 3.5 cents. The man who ships 400 pounds of 3.5 per cent lk each day during June will pay $4.20 as his share. If week's cream production comes to 80 pounds of 30 r cent test cream, the producer owes 24 cents and the t for the entire month would be only 96 cents.

Ever since the ban on oleomargarine was lifted, farm- have complained bitterly about the inroads that butter bstitutes are making on the butter market but they have ne little to remedy the situation. Oleo manufacturers taking full advantage of every advertising device to sh the sale of their product. The dairy industry's cision to meet this competition by effective sales promo- n is a step in the right direction.

BETTER DRIVING

Every summer, with the advent of warm weather, affic accidents rise. Various reasons have been given for increase, but injuries and fatalities still pile up. To- nto, we note, is moving to stamp out drunk driving after weekend in which eight automobiles were taken off the ad because drivers were too intoxicated to operate their hicles.

Toronto Traffic Inspector Vernon Page believes that inking increases with the summer weekends. What he ight have added was that the danger increases in other ys. From now on, more and more children will be on streets and highways as the school year ends. With eir appearance, traffic hazards increase; their natural esponsibility can be overcome by better driving on eets and highways.

Belleville residents might well take a warning from cidents over the last weekend, in which eight district ople were hospitalized, some with serious injuries. An tomobile is a powerful weapon at all times, but urtesy and care on the road can dull its edge.

COLONIAL DEVELOPMENT

Britain is proceeding with an economic program in r colonial territories which will cost a billion and a half llars, Canadian. This is the continuation of work which s been under way for a long time and which has pro- ced in recent years such things as an improvement of alth among millions of peoples. That improvement has ow reached the stage where Singapore, once a plague ot of the world, now has a death rate comparable to that England itself, and Jamaica, Trinidad and British uiana, once ravaged by tropical diseases, are able to re- ort that the average life expectancy has been increased y 15 years.

No one would have forecast fifteen years ago that the nited States Congress ever would consider matters so far rom the borders of the republic. It shows an appreciation f the situation which Britain has had for centuries. She arned that she could prosper only as outlying territories rospered.

She encouraged migrations to and the building of uropeanized colonies in Australia; she exported vast uantities of capital to provide transportation and indus- ry for South America; the industrialization of India was ased on British initiative and capital. Here in Canada we ave enterprises like the Canadian Pacific and the Cana- ian National Railways which were largely financed in ondon — and Halifax itself, of course, owes its founda- ions to grants from the Crown. — Halifax Mail-Star.

Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird, once the world's astest racing car, is now rusting in a London junk yard, ays the Hamilton Spectator. A vehicle that broke the peed record on land five times deserves a better fate.— Hamilton Spectator.

RESTLESS PATIENT

"You walk too fast!" the doctor said
When he had diagnosed the case.
"You ought to spend more time in bed
And live the years at slower pace.

"You hear too much; too much you see,
And far too much you try to do.
If careful of yourself you'd be,
Your nerves would never trouble you.

"Doctor," the patient said, "it's true.
Advice like that I've had before,
But tell the doves they mustn't coo,
And bid the lions not to roar.

"Still doves and lions they'll remain
And coo and roar until they die.
Slow down! Slow down! You say in vain,
For change no more than they can I."

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

It stands to reason that in a world growing steadily more mechanized — every week, every month, every year — the human brain has got to accommodate itself to mechanization too. This may account for communism. For communism asks you to accept a mechanical thinking program exactly the way an industry asks you to accept the installation of an entirely new mechanized plant.

Hand labor and hand crafts have been practically eliminated from the industrial scene. What are left of them are the objects of high-pressure study not only by industry, but by science and banking both. Everybody is in favor of mechanization. Organized labor appears to love it quite as heartily as the lords of private enterprise.

Hand labor and hand crafts were personal. Opinion is personal too. But the modern world scorns a man using a pick and shovel, when a great big bulldozer can do the work of fifty of him. And the modern world, challenged by communism, is furiously hunting for a program that will be as big as a bulldozer as communism, to offer all the little guys of this world who are still doggedly pecking away, as with a pick and shovel, at the job of doing their own thinking.

Both communists and their enemies appear to be agreed that personal opinion is wasteful, inefficient and outmoded. To our biggest thinkers, the spectacle of men thinking individually is as incongruous as the sight of pick and shovel men to our big industrialists. Why go to all that trouble when, by the simple act of surrender of your pick and shovel, you can climb aboard a great big beautiful opinion machine?

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GET READY

Writing in 1831, De Tocqueville said that two great nations of the world, the Russians and the Americans, seemed to be tending toward the same end. Both of them, he asserts, grew up almost unnoticed while the attention of mankind was directed elsewhere. They surpass all other nations in natural resources, and they are proceeding (he said one hundred and nineteen years ago), with ease and celerity along a path to which no limit can be perceived.

Both these countries, he said, advanced by struggle — America against the obstacles of nature, the Russians against men. "The conquests of the Americans are therefore gained by the plowshare; those of tthe Russians by the sword. The American relies upon free enterprise to accomplish his purpose while the Russian centres all the authority of society in a single arm. The principal instrument of the American is liberty; of the Russian, ference and their courses are servitude. There still is a difference and their courses are not the same; yet each of them seems marked out by the will of Heaven to sway the destiny of half the globe."

The warning to us is that if the world is to be divided between Russia and America, we had better prepare ourselves spiritually for our great responsibility.

IQ AND TV

As an old blab merchant, I seldom pay much attention to the other fellow's speeches, and when I do it's generally to take umbrage rather than notice. Today, however, I'd like to turn coat and tables on myself and do some hefty hollering about a speech on the future of television recently delivered by Dr. Millard Faught, an economist, at the University Club of Chicago. I happened to pop-eye a copy of it the other day, and while I haven't the space to give you the whole 4,000 words, here's a bit of the cream off the top . . .

To begin with, Dr. Faught axioms that TV can be used for a lot of things beside selling eyewash, mouthwash and hogwash, and insists that its full potentialities will never be realized if we allow it to be taken over lock, stock and antenna by the hucksters. In his opinion, the new dingus can do an unprecedented job for us in a dozen esthetic fields providing, of course, that a method can be devised whereby someone besides the advertiser foots part of the bill.

The gimmick he suggests is a television box office operating on a pay-as-you-see-it basis, and the one he specifically mentions in his speech — Phonevision — is due to be tested in Chicago this fall with the blessing of the F.C.C. Leaving electronic doubletalk out of it, Phonevision, which was recently demonstrated for me, is simply this: a system whereby 99 per cent of an image is telecast free of charge, but shows up on the home screen as so much hash. To unscramble the picture, one picks up the phone and asks the operator to pipe in the missing 1 per cent through a gadget on his set hooked up to his telephone line. At the end of the month, the charge for this service is included in his phone bill, and the gross take divided between the television station, the creator of the program, and the phone company.

According to Dr. Faught, Phonevision — or some equivalent device — will make it possible to collect millions of dollars in a single evening for, let us say, the Red Cross, by putting on one nationwide benefit video show. It will enable our sick-unto-dearth Hollywood studios to quintuple their audiences and double their grosses, and also make possible ten-million-dollar gates for championship fights and World Series games. But, opines the good doctor, its most eyebugging impact will be on education.

By bringing the classroom into the home, it will be possible for 100,000 students simultaneously to take the same beginners' course in Spanish, or child care, or interior decorating, whereas the average class on campus today consists of from 25 to 50 students. The pay-as-you-see revenue from these home extension courses would provide the monies for new university buildings, laboratories, scholarships and teachers' salaries, and once and for all our colleges could stop passing the hat. Education, the doc goes on to say, its our best bet to stand off totalitarianism, despite which it's probably the most obsoletely merchandized commodity in our society.

The economist stresses that he has no quarrel with the advertisers, but maintains that if they're the only source of revenue, TV is a cinch to wind up the same sort of cultural pigmy that radio is.

The living room, he argues, is probably the room farthest removed from the marketplace, and if Joe Jones and his missus want something in it beside cornflake and Cuticura commercials, they'll have to contribute the pennies to make it possible. The government could probably be pressured into doing it for them, but who with an IQ above zero, asks Dr. Faught, wants political appointees messing with our educational processes and cultural preferences?

I particularly like the last line of his speech: "Never in the history of the communicative arts was there a greater premium on foresight."

Mackenzie's Column:

Britain's Labor Party Action Causes Concern

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Surprise and shocked concern, to put it mildly, have been caused in western capitals by the action of Britain's Labor Party in calling for that country to eschew further plans for European political and economic union until continental countries have adopted socialism.

This would, of course, put an ideological damper on concerted rehabilitation projects like the sensational French Schuman plan for the pooling of western Europe's coal and steel. Indeed, this sweeping proposal for unprecedented co-operation, which has aroused so much hope and optimism among the western powers, seems to be the immediate objective of the socialist declaration.

Prime Minister Attlee quickly took cognizance of the consternation caused in Washington Paris and all eastern capitals by his party's edict and hastened to give an explanation in the House of Commons. He declared that his government wanted "to help and not to hinder" the Schuman plan. The Prime Minister held out hope that "the practical working out of the scheme will show ways by which the United Kingdom may be able to associate itself with this valuable piece of co-operation."

Key to Unity

The point is that Britain has refused to commit herself in advance of hearing exactly what the continental countries propose in connection with the Schuman plan.

The Labor party admitted that "international planning of iron and steel is the key to economic unity" but said "such planning will be worse than useless if it is inspired, like the cartel of the past, exclusively by the desire for private profit."

That's the story as unfolded thus far, but it leaves one with the feeling that there is much left unsaid.

Why should Britain suddenly shy away from the steel and coal project which has held out so much promise for the strengthening of Western Europe?

It's a fair guess that Britain is fearful on two scores: First, her steel and coal industries are among her greatest assets and the Schuman plan might hit her hard on the pocket-book. Further, the dollar-supplying dominions have a decided interest in the extent of Britain's surrender of sovereignty in any such co-operative project, and they may have show uneasiness.

THE IMMORTALS

I have just been reading a most interesting book on the great paintings of Europe, in her famous galleries. Many of these paintings were done centuries ago, but they live today as masterpieces for all time. Rembrandt did some of his greatest paintings when he was in his early twenties. His "The School of Anatomy," for example. Before he died, however, he had done hundreds of paintings, and left hundreds of etchings and drawings that remain as treasures to this day.

It is difficult to understand that Rembrandt died poor. It would take many millions to buy but a small number of all that he created. This is true of nearly every one of the early artists. They were more interested in creating great art than in accumulating anything material. A book could be written about artists who died in poverty—unappreciated in their day, and in that book would be found the names of the immortals of today.

J. F. Millet, the French artist, traded many a beautiful drawing, painting and etching for something with which to feed and clothe his family. Meryon, the great French engraver and etcher, went mad because of neglect and hunger. Blakelock, the great American painter, had to lose his mind before people were attracted to his genius.

In my library are several most absorbing books, written by the greatest authority on insects in the world—Henri Fabre. The poverty, neglect, and sneers he endured that he might dig into the secrets of the insect world would have killed most men, but these only made him more determined and humble. Not until he was well into his eighties did the world of science awake to his immortal contributions.

In poetry and the arts, especially, have men and women died that their contributions might later be adequately appreciated and justly appraised. No one but the very well to do can today purchase the original letters of such writers as Robert Burns, Edgar Allan Poe, and Charles Lamb, just to name a few. A single original letter by any one of these "knocked down" in the auction room today would bring more than its writer earned in a year when in life!

To become immortal create something great, suffer for it—and die poor!

HEADACHE — PLAIN AND FANCY

Headache is perhaps the most common ailment known to man. Although I have inadvertently used the word "ailment" here, a headache is actually a symptom —not an ailment. A headache may be due to a variety of causes — the character of the headache sometimes, but not always, indicating the cause.

In general, a headache is caused by traction on sensitive nerves and blood vessels and by tensed muscles of the head and neck. The general assumption that headache is caused by increased pressure within the head, is false. This has been proved by experimentation. The sensation of pressure—often leading to the expression, "I feel as though my head will burst" is nevertheless a very dominant impression.

Transient headache, as everyone knows, may follow emotional strain, eye-strain, excesses of tobacco or alcohol, noise and other common excesses. The cause of some types of headache is not well known.

Migraine headache usually commences in one side of the head and may be accompanied by disturbance of vision, nausea and vomiting and prolonged disability. The attacks are often frequent and unpredictable. Aspirin, which may relieve a transient headache, often has no effect upon migraine.

It is probable that a great many persons who suffer migraine headache do not seek medical attention. Learning by experience that the ordinary over-the-counter remedies have no effect, they assume that nothing but the passage of time will relieve them.

A drug—ergotamine tartrate — employed preferably by hypodermic injection, often affords rapid relief from this painful affliction. There are probably thousands of victims of migraine who do not know this, but continue to suffer out their attacks. The drug is one which can be dispensed only by a physician.

Severe headache is sometimes relieved by strong coffee. Moderate doses of aspirin are harmless and often effective. As a general rule, if a moderate dose of aspirin fails to relieve a headache, it is not likely that larger doses will succeed. Personally, I deplore the use of such drugs as phenacetin and acetanilid—often incorporated in pain-killers sold direct to the public.

A lady who apparently took some pride in the fact that she had headaches which resisted "all the remedies the doctors knew about," was found to have Bright's disease. She seemed to be actually disappointed to learn that headaches was a symptom and not a disease. Persons who suffer frequent headache should endeavor to find out what is causing them.

Tumor of the brain causes headaches. Various constitutional diseases cause headache. Emotionally unstable persons are often subject to transient headache. Disease of the noes, sinuses, ears and teeth often contribute to headache. Pelvic disease in women and prostatic disease in men are other causes. Arteriosclerosis and hypertension may be the cause of persistent headache.

A person who suffers frequent headache is receiving notification of some underlying disorder. A complete physical examination followed by whatever special procedures are necessary is in order. Disregard of the "signals" may be costly.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Rebuke from Weight Lifter

I am an ardent weight lifter and well versed on the subject of physical education. I didn't especially like your answer to a question about weight lifting. I am 16 and . . . (T. R.)

Answer—Give me time and I'll learn.

Doctor, Eh?

A doctor gave me some little white tablets and said if I take them regularly I'll never have cancer. He said it is impossible. Is this true? (Mrs. C. A.)

Answer—I advise you to give the phony "doctor" a wide berth. The statement that taking any kind of tablets or other medicine makes cancer impossible or prevents cancer, is a cruel hoax.

Ear Wax

How often, if ever, should a person have the wax cleaned out of his ears? (M. P. W.)

Answer—Not at all unless there is some ear trouble and then leave it to the judgment of the physician. Good rule: Never put anything in your ear smaller than your elbow.

Cabbage

To settle an argument, didn't you say that cooked cabbage is unfit for human consumption and only raw cabbage should be eaten? (A. B.)

Answer—No. Cooked or raw, as you prefer, cabbage is a wholesome food.

RAINBOWS RUNNING

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. — (CP) —Reports from Algoma district fishermen indicate that big speckled trout are few and far between this year. Rainbow trout, however, are hitting well and most tourists are getting their share. Some people say it's the best season for rainbow that they can remember.

BLOOD GROUPINGS

Montreal — (CP) — The St. John Ambulance Brigade has initiated a free service to determine the blood group of the city's inhabitants. A blood sample is taken of anyone who cares to take the service and within 12 minutes he is given a card showing his blood group and whether it contains positive or negative RH factor.

Sidney Township School Area

Editor,

Ontario Intelligencer:

School area was introduced to the township of Sidney about three years ago. At that time it was pointed out to the ratepayers that we had everything to gain and nothing to lose. As with a lot of other policies a great number of people looked upon it with a good deal of caution, especially people who had served on school trustee boards. It was stated that we would all be on the same standards, teachers, equipment, and buildings and also it was pointed out that it would be cheaper. We all want to advance but we must have a limit somewhere. Sidney township is not the only municipality opposing school area. There are other municipalities both east and west of us that are dissatisfied and are wanting out.

When the inspector had meetings through the township for the purpose of explaining the aims and also the workings of the school area, it was through a very small majority of the total ratepayers that we were voted into school area. Our inspector suggested we enter into it for two years and if dissatisfied at the end of that time we could revert to the former system. There were figures and facts presented to show that the cost to the ratepayer would be down from the beginning. The Department of Education was giving a grant of £150.00 to each section entering the area. It was stated this would help cut down the expenses as it was over and above our regular school money. This did not help out, instead the cost went up and is still bound to. This year the Department of Education is advancing the grant to $300.00 per former school section to assist the area board. Will it?

One of the first duties of the area board was the selection of some one as supervising principal and secretary-treasurer. There was a considerable number of qualified applicants, some teachers had applications and at more reasonable salaries. It was decided to hire Mr. Warren at a salary, which is now $3,000.00. This is an overlapping of services. It cuts down the inspector's work. One instance is, instead of receiving 14 reports as in former years he receives one now. Also he is doing supervisional work that our inspectors always have done. As for the education of our children what are they receiving today that they did not get before school area came into being?

The school area board stated in their circular letter that they had organized music festivals, public speaking, and a reforestation plan. The projects came into being long before school area board was formed.

We also had our township school fairs which are now taken into the local fall fairs. In this connection the pupils had public speaking contests, on the growing of calves, poultry, vegetables and on various kinds of handicraft for both boys and girls. There was also a film projector in operation which was serviced by the National Film Board free of charge and films were circulated at a very small charge. This was also used by adult organizations.

It has been said that a school area board is similar to the township council. There is no comparison as there are 18 schools and there are that many separate organizations which have individual problems. There are times when immediate action is more efficient and meets the need, which can be fulfilled by the three local trustees but which cannot be accomplished by a board spread over the whole township or in the one-half which is the case at present. How can a five-man board operate as efficiently over 14 sections or 18 schools as three men per school section?

As for economy here are some facts that speak for themselves. Our area board stated that during the year 1949 the average cost per pupil was $100.00. In school section No. 12 Sidney which did not enter the area and is operating with the three trustees and is in the central part of the township with an enrolment of 30 pupils, which is an average school. The cost per pupil for the year 1949 was $70.00 and they received a smaller grant. During the latter half of 1949 they had a teacher who was formerly engaged by the school area board.

With the memory before most of us the hard times of the 30's, it would be well for us to stop and think carefully. We don't want that to occur again. Everything we have to sell is on the downward trend while all manufactured articles are still advancing. Under these conditions it is hard for us to make the balance come out on the right side. We want the best for our children but we don't want the following generation to be so burdened down with taxation that they cannot maintain their farms and homes.

We have always co-operated with our public school inspectors in the hiring of teachers with first-clas certificates. In this way the local board maintained as high a standard of teachers as we have in the area today. Some of our greatest scholars and statesmen got their start right in our country schools.

It is stated that 60 per cent of the rural schools are in school area. However the percentage that would like to return to the former system has never been stated. If you have a good article or proposition to place before the public you don't have to sell or force it. It will be gladly accepted at its face value.

A large majority of the ratepayers signed a petition to have the school area dissolved and to return to the former system which we believe to be more satisfactory.

The minority is trying to overrule this decision. As one general objection to school area many many people feel that a democratic country like Canada should not give over her educational system to state control.

Fellow-citizens, men answered the call to arms in two World Wars to fight for freedom and democracy. Now, let's protect it.

Gerald Irvine.

First Night in Flooded Home Wasn't A Pleasant Affair

Editors note: Mrs. Henry Heber of Winnipeg's Point Douglas district was one of 100,000 evacuees from the Red River flood zone. Her home was flooded. A week ago she brought her family back to Winnipeg and started the clean-up job. Now, in a series of four Canadian Press stories—this is the third—she tells what housewives all through the Red River valley face.

By ELLY HEBER

Winnipeg, June 14—(CP)—Last Friday night I had my first bath in a month.

Henry and I decided to move back in the house. We didn't want to take the kids out of Isaac Brock school, where we were staying, for a few days, but they put up such a fuss that we brought them with us.

We still had no electricity, but the water was back on and we lit the small stove in the basement.

We had a lot of trouble getting supper. Of course, the kids kind of expected things to be back to normal, but our stove was still out in the back yard where we had thrown it, and I had to cook in shifts on top of the small coal stove we use as a heater in the living room.

We all had baths by candlelight, and the kids all the time were talking about a woman in the school—quite a large woman—who had taken a bath in a washing machine.

It wasn't a very pleasant night. The children complained about the cold and the dampness—every single stitch of bedding was clammy—and Henry and I had bad dreams.

House Wasn't Bad

But the house itself wasn't bad. We could live in one room, and it was quite comfortable except for the damp floors. They'll take some time to dry out. The walls are clean and it smells pretty good now, after a week's hard work.

The next day the appraisers were here. I still don't know where they came from, but they seemed to be putting a lot of work into sizing up the damage. I don't know whether they assess the damage in money or just take a percentage, but we don't expect too much anyhow.

We figure that if we get down to work, fix our floors, clean up the mess in the back yard, and do all we can, that we'll be treated fairly as possible. It's going to cost a lot of money and the governments can only do so much. Our first concern is to make our home liveable again, and we know that no government—even the best—is going to walk in and do that for us.

Foundation Sound

The assessors said the foundation is sound and that the wood on the outside is still good. The wallboard inside will likely crack, after all that soaking, but the new coat of paint helped a lot.

We're even beginning to think of the future again. Henry who is still on his holidays, figures it will take another two months to get everything back to normal—floors, furniture, new linoleum, and the grounds cleaned up. That's not bad, considering we once thought we'd never want to come back, even if we could.

Presbyterians Raise Minimum Pastors' Salaries

Montreal, June 14 — (CP) — The minimum salary of Presbyterian ministers will be raised to $2,000 a year beginning next October, delegates to the 76th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada decided Tuesday in business sessions here.

The delegates promised to raise the salaries of student missionaries from $16 to $20 a week plus room and board and transportation. Students already married before entering college will be paid at cathechists rates.

The assembly also registered a sharp protest against abuse of Christian liberty through excessive use of alcohol.

Rev. E. C. McCullagh of Dunville, Ont., in presenting the report of the Evangelism and Social Action Board recommended that the nature and function of alcohol be taught in public and high schools and universities as well as in Sunday schools.

The report confirmed that Christians are free to drink alcoholic beverages if they wish but said that liberty is not license.

Mr. McCullagh said there was no support of total abstinence in the scriptures and "total abstinence is not the position of the Presbyterian Church in Canada."

The assembly later was addressed by Dr. John Coburn of the Canadian Temperance Federation who said that last year 179,000,000 gallons of liquor were drunk in Canada.

"Alcoholism is Canada's fourth major health problem," Dr. Coburn said. "There are 50,000 diseased alcoholics here in addition to 200,000 problem drinkers."

The appointment of Rev. B. L. Walden, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stratford, as full-time district secretary with the Upper Canada Auxiliary of the Bible Society was announced by Rev. DeCourcy Rayner of Montreal. Mr. Walden will begin his duties in September and work in Northern Ontario.

Hunt Young Man In Strangulation Death in Hotel

Montreal, June 14 (CP)— Police today organized a city-wide dragnet for a young man in connection with the strangulation-slaying of a 37-year-old woman in a downtown hotel room Tuesday.

Police said the hunted man, whom they described as a "sadist" was about 27 years old and registered at the hotel (The Grand Central) under the name of Sweeney. They said the victim's name was Helen Bomwer of Montreal.

Captain Romeo Longpre of the homicide squad said the slaying was "definitely a case of murder."

The woman's naked body was found sprawled across a bed by a chambermaid Tuesday.

The chambermaid, Miss Francoise Savant, said she entered the room when her knocks on the door were unheeded.

"I opened the door expecting to find a man in there," she said, "but instead I noticed a woman lying in the single bed with a bedspread covering half her face.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, police medico-expert, said the woman had been strangled to death probably in the early hours of Tuesday morning. He said skin abrasions were visible on the neck, breasts and abdomen of the dead woman.

The charming bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white slipper satin, featuring long pointed sleeves, molded bodice, full skirt with three-tier peplum, sweetheart neckline, and sleeves trimmed with seed pearls. Her full length veil of silk embroidered net fell gracefully from a satin and seed pearl headdress. Her only ornament was a birthstone necklace and earrings to match, gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Wearing of Shorts On Street Rouses Stir in Ottawa

Ottawa, June 14— (CP)—Protests against the wearing of shorts by women and men on city streets have been lodged with Ottawa's Board of Control by four Roman Catholic organizations.

The groups asked the board Tuesday night for a by-law forbidding the public from wearing such apparel in any city area with the exception of bathing beaches.

The board deferred action after several of the city fathers said they had received many telephone calls from the clergy and women of Ottawa, complaining against the wearing of shorts.

"If you start trying to legislate what people should wear you are in for a thin time," said Controller C. E. Pickering. "For my part they can wear what they like."

He was opposed by Controller Dan McCann who believed that some women "are going entirely too far with their shorts."

A striking new feature of the store are the Flexi-Bilt interchangeable floor and wall display racks, the first of their kind installed in this district. The ease and convenience with which new displays can be featured are matched only by the hand-level accessibility of all merchandise being offered.

Two thirds of the left hand side of the store as one enters has been given over to a complete line of work clothes.

The rest of the store is given over to general lines of men's and boys' wear.

Chromium seats with red leather upholstry, and matching shoe stools and mirrors, will add to the comfort of those buying the well-known lines of shoes which Diamond's carry.

Constant Growth

The new store climaxes 34-years of constant growth of this firm in Belleville. Started in 1916 by the late Joseph Diamond the business is now carried on by two sons, Jack L. and Allen, under the firm name of J. Diamond and Sons.

Originally located at 337 Front Street, the store was moved to 313 Front Street in 1930, and is presently located at 302 Front. It will continue to carry the lines of merchandise for which it has become known.

A staff of five regular employees will be enlarged on weekends to give greater service to the buying public.

Anniversary Birthday Cake

A beautiful three-tiered anniversary cake made and decorated by Mrs. Walter Elliott, graced a table in the living room for all to admire. Special ceremony was held when the 25 candles were lit in honor of 25 years of union with Mrs. Macklin and other members assisting, after which Mrs. Harold Martin was in charge of the cutting and serving of the cake to the guests.

Mrs. Will Ford and Mrs. R. A. Patterson invited the guests to the dining room where they were served by Mrs. Harold Wells, Mrs. Sid Demorest, Mrs. Morley Airhart, Mrs. Maurice Bell, Mrs. Wm. Wilkins, Mrs. H. Donnan, Mrs. Harold Bird and Mrs. Albert Wells.

Several other W.M.S. members assisted in the kitchen.

Mrs. J. B. Thompson was in charge of finances.

A home bake sale on a side was well patronized and this was in charge of Miss Della Caldwell, and Mrs. Percy Utman and their assistants.

This is the first money making event sponsored by St. Paul's Auxiliary since union.

Many Interesting Reports Given At W.I. Meeting

The new president, Mrs. Don Donohoe, presided at the June meeting of River Valley W. I., on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Jennie Donohoe with 19 members and one visitor in attendance.

The secretary reported $9 in the treasury. On June 1st, River Valley W. I. gave their share of $143 for Trenton Memorial Hospital to the west Hastings District W. I.

A collection was taken to send a parcel of food to Mrs. Clarence Chard, who is visiting relatives in England. This parcel, she can share with her friends in the old land. Mrs. Chard is a valued member of R.V.W.I. and her Institute friends decided this would be a good way to show their appreciation, as Mrs. Chard has been an active worker for several years.

It was decided to contribute $5 to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

The next meeting will be held on July 6th at the home of Mrs. John Kane. One new member, Mrs. Murray Scott, joined the W. I. and this is a total of 39 paid members to date.

World Picture

The afternoon program was in the form of a condensed report given by Mrs. Roy Bush, a member of R. V. W. I., and president West Hastings District W. I., who attended the provincial conference at Guelph in May.

Mrs. Bush said this great gathering with its large array of reports and addresses on various subjects, of special interest to the farm woman, took one up in the clouds, and gave each individual a world picture, and then geographically pointed out where each officer in attendance could fit in that picture. Then you were brought down to earth and told to go to work and do something.

Mrs. Bush passed around pictures of MacDonald cottage, and various other buildings at Guelph O. A. C. She explained to her audience the method of feeding this large group of people in a most systematic, and efficient way, with a minimum of labor and time. All delegates wore special pins on this occasion and they were truly a work of art.

Nice Music

Music between programs and at recess periods, was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Kidd playing the Hammond organ, and Mr. Young as song leader. This group always had an audience at any recess as their music was so outstanding and folks delighted to sing.

Mr. W. R. Reek, M. B. E., president O.A.C., welcomed the guests followed by words of welcome from Mrs. J. R. Futcher, provincial president and Mrs. Amos P. Lewis, Director Women's Institutes.

Mrs. John McCullough, secretary-treasurer of the province of Ontario, and Mrs. Arthur Hamilton, regional vice-president, were in charge of all arrangements and they all put forth great efforts to make this conference the glowing success that it was.

Mrs. J. C. Thompson, provincial convener of agriculture and Canadian industries, pointed out many problems confronting agriculture in Ontario, and said through the great Institute organization they hope to solve some of these problems at an early date.

Agricultural Economics

Mr. C. D. Graham, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, gave an interesting account of "How the Economics of Agriculture Affect the Farm Woman." Here again the delegates received good advice to carry home.

Dr. Margaret McCready, Director of MacDonald Institute, O. A. C., explained the economics of the Homemaker. The delegates were taken on a tour of the college and in one room they saw the girls in residence, making their graduation gowns.

Following every address, there were helpful discussion groups and these proved so worthwhile that more time will be allowed at the next conference for this phase of the work. One discussion of special interest was on the subject "So your son decides to be a farmer."

Mrs. F. E. Wright, Dominion president of C.A.C., (Canadian Association of Consumers), told what this great organization is doing and what they hope to do in future years but the great need today is more farm women as members of this great organization.

World's Food Situation

Miss Marjorie Scott, nutrition division food and agriculture from Washington, D. C., gave the current information on the F. A. C., Food and Agriculture Organization. Miss Scott was a former teacher at O. A. C. Guelph, and is now a teacher in Nutrition Division, of the United Nations.

She gave an international picture of the food situation of the world. This group is trying to compute a proper food level for every country. She explained the food value of skim milk, quite often a waste product on the farm. Nutrition is related to welfare and both groups are trying to mould public opinion in order to help everyone realize that "food is ammunition the world peace."

Dr. H. L. Patterson brought a message on the theme "Where try?" and this revealed a lot of interesting material.

Mr. John Rockwood of Richmond, Ontario, delighted with humorous entertainment at the evening session.

A get-acquainted party and official reception was held in the cafeteria of the administration building, and delegates travelled 1,500 miles to be in attendance Mrs. Bush praised Mrs. James Black, provincial Board director, for her untiring efforts to make the delegates from Belleville area, comfortable.

Reg. Frost conducted a broadcast with several delegates having a part.

Mrs. Raymond Sayre, of Ashworth, Ohio, U. S. A., president Associated Country Women of the World, gave her outstanding message and since then many in this district have heard her speak in Belleville. A special reception hour was held in Mrs. Sayre's honor.

Peace Through Spirituality

Every speaker brought out the thought that World Peace must come spiritually, that it will never come through worldly ideas, and every Institute member must realize that she belongs to a Christian organization.

Miss Anna P. Lewis gave many timely hints to conveners in order to assist them in compiling reports.

The various vice presidents of the province, presided, and one day was devoted to citizenship.

Mrs. Cooper, Fort William, told about Northern Ontario, and how the people in that district had met the challenge to carry on.

Miss Constance Hayward, liaison officer of the Canadian Department of Citizenship, and Immigration, at Ottawa, spoke on the theme "Conveners Sparkplug Citizenship program. She gave the audience a wealth of information on this theme.

Mrs. J. E. Houck, of the Federated W. I. C., speaking on "Pertinent Citizenship Problems", told her audience a lot of nice things connected with middle age, and left them with many new ideas to work out in their own groups at home.

Conservations

Conservation was another highlight of the conference dealing with food, hydro, soil and many topics of interest. Mrs. Fletcher Thomas, a member of the Legislative Assembly, gave a special report of a select committee on conservation. She is appointed by the Ontario government.

Mr. Graham, Director of Farm Economics, Ontario Department of Agriculture, spoke at the evening session, setting forth many ideas of interest to farmers and their wives.

At the close of Mrs. Bush's fine report, Mrs. George Heasman spoke briefly and told of the work at MacDonald College, when her father, Mr. A. D. McIntosh, of Toronto, was a former agricultural representative, located in Stirling.

The lunch committee served sandwiches, fruit loaf, and tarts. A vote of thanks for hospitality and Guelph report was given, following the refreshments.

READ

Read.—Two lovely June weddings took place Saturday morning at St. Charles' Church when Miss Agnes Hunt became the bride of Mr. Joseph Doyle, of Lonsdale, and Miss Marie Coffey, Reg.N., became the bride of Mr. Anderson of London.

Mrs. Thomas Doyle passed away at the Hotel Dieu, in Kingston, on Sunday. Mrs. Doyle, the former, Miss Helen Sullivan, was born and grew up in this vicinity. Her many friends and relatives here were very sorry to hear of her death. Her father, Mr. Wm. Sullivan resides in Kingston.

St. John's Church Celebrates Its 90th Anniversary

Stirling—Some 200 attended the banquet sponsored by the ladies of St. John's Church in the community hall on Wednesday night in connection with the celebration of the 90th anniversary of St. John's Church.

The tables were well arranged, and literally groaned with good things to eat. The large crowd was served quickly and with a minimum of confusion, and many fine compliments were directed towards the ladies of St. John's for a grand meal.

Following the dinner, Rev. A. J. Anderson, rector, acted as master of ceremonies for a program of music and addresses.

Rev. W. J. Minto Swan, M.A., rector of St. John's Church, Portsmouth, and a former R.C.A.F. chaplain, proved an entertaining guest speaker.. Interspersing his remarks with bits of humor, he delivered a thought-provoking and inspiring address. "Anniversaries are interesting and important to survey what has been accomplished over the years and to look forward to the future," stated the speaker; "as you people of St. John's survey your history of 90 years, you pay tribute to many whose names you know, but there were many whose names are not recorded who had much to do with the growth and development of this church."

95 Per Cent Attend Church

Rev. M. Swan spoke of the loyalty to church and King exemplified by Newfoundland where 95 per cent of the people are connected with some church, the glorious quality of tradition of the Maritimes, the culture of Quebec, and Ontario, the enthusiasm of the Prairie Provinces and the characteristic of hard work exemplified in the Peace River district where everybody must do something.

"All of these characteristics had been exemplified by those who had served St. John's Church in the past 90 years", stated Rev. Swan. In closing, he stated, "God and hard work will make the future of St. John's, this community, and this country, great.

The musical part of the program included several solos by William Reynolds, accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Baker and guitar duets by X. P. Mayhew and H. Smith.

Short addresses were also delivered by Rev. A. S. McConnell, of Trenton, a former rector of St. John's and Rev. W. H. V. Walker, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Back in 1892, Mrs. Joseph Lamoureux, now 83, went to St. Johns, Que., from Sherbrooks to work in the telephone exchange as an operator. Then there were 100 phones and she knew all the subscribers. Recently Mrs. Lamoureux, formerly Caroline Elizabeth Temple, dropped in the present exchange to recall familiar scenes. Here she is shown at the long distance switchboard in the dial exchange which now serves 6,300 subscribers. — (CP Photo.)

Acheson Says Russia Using Armed Might as Bludgeon To Intimidate Weak Countries

Dallas, Tex., June 13 (AP)—War is not inevitable, State Secretary Dean Acheson says.

"It is our responsibility to find ways of solving our problems without resort to war and to exhaust every possibility in that effort," he said in a major United States foreign policy review at Couthern Methodist University here Tuesday night. "This is what we intend to do."

Acheson charged that Russia is using its armed might and communist plotting in other countries as a "poised bludgeon to intimidate the weak."

How to meet the challenge of Soviet pressure? "Well, there are several ways we could go about meeting these problems," he said.

"One way would be to pull down the blinds and sit in the parlor with a loaded shotgun, waiting. I think, however, that most of us have learned that isolationism is not a realistic course of action. It does not work and it is not cheap.

"The policy of appeasement of Soviet ambitions, which might conceivably be another course of action open to us. . .would encourage Soviet aggression. It would lead to a final struggle for survival in which both our moral position and our military position would have been seriously weakened.

Third Course of Action

"There is a third course of action which might be considered in earlier times and by another type of government and people than ours. That is, we should drop some atomic bombs on the Soviet Union. This course is sometimes called by the euphemistic phrase of 'preventive war.' All responsible men must agree that such a course is unthinkable for us.

"Fortunately, there is a fourth way of dealing with these problems, and that is to work on them in co-operation with other nations, and by means of peaceful negotiation to resolve our differences. This has been and is our policy."

"The fundamental obstacle to success in negotiation with the Soviet Union about our common problems is the expectation, which Soviet leaders hold, of the collapse of the non-Soviet world, and their desire to enlarge the sphere of their control . . .

"There is a prior condition on which we must fulfill in order to have successful and meaningful negotiation with the Soviet Union. That condition is for the Soviet leaders to be convinced they cannot profit from a policy of expansionism— that their self-interest as well as that of the rest of the world would be advanced by a settlement of home, at least of our outstanding differences."

Wheat Seeding Completed in Western Canada

Ottawa, June 14 (CP)— Wheat seeding is completed in the Prairie Provinces except in a few scattered areas where excessive rain has delayed operations, the Bureau of Statistics said Tuesday in a periodic report of trans-Canada crop conditions.

"Somewhat larger acreages of coarse grains remain to be seeded in those areas," said the Bureau, "but given favorable weather all seeding should be finished by this weekend."

Warm weather and ideal growing conditions are prevailing in the Maritimes.

All crops in Quebec have improved with frequent rains and warmer weather.

In Ontario, rain and warm weather have improved crop prospects in nearly all sections. The counties of Halton, Waterloo, Lambton, Ontario and sections of Middlesex still need more moisture. Spring grains appear good while pasture and hay crops are making better growth. The fall wheat yield may be slightly below normal.

Vancouver Cabbie Crochets as Hobby

She started driving when she was 14. It wasn't long before she was driving a cab in Vancouver. For her holidays, she hires a car and ventures outside the city.

Recently Mary, figuring she needed to get in some more driving, took part in a 10,000-mile marathon to test a new car. For 14 days she and two other drivers circled a speedway to run up a year's average driving on the car.

Mary weighs 98 pounds. She can take a motor apart and reassemble it and she changes her own tires.

$6,000 Fire Loss Sustained When Flash From Switch Starts Blaze in Cotton Plant

Trenton—A flash from an electric switch started a fire in the Picker Room of Trent Cotton Co. Ltd., 10, Pelham Street early this morning causing damage estimated at $6,000.

The fire started between midnight and 12.15 a.m. on the second floor of the factory, just after the night shift had started. Workmen report there was a sudden flash and within seconds, several bales of cotton were afire.

Thirty bales of cotton were destroyed by the blaze and there was also considerable water damage.

Plant superintendent Harry Mason stated that operations in the picking department will be resumed today.

Prompt action by Trenton Fire Department is credited with preventing even greater damage. Firemen fought the stubborn smouldering blaze for nearly three hours and finally threw the burning bales outside.

Theft Charge Brings Sentence Of Three Months

Trenton—(Special) — Harold E. Richardson, 80½ John Street, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft in Trenton Police Court Tuesday afternoon and was sentenced to three months in county jail by Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Richardson was charged with stealing $800 from Ernest Thompson, R.R. 3, Trenton on May 26. After transacting some business in a local bank, Mr. Thompson left his wallet containing eight $100 bills on the counter. When Mr. Thompson returned in a few minutes after discovering his loss, the wallet had disappeared.

Later Richardson admitted to police that he had entered the bank to cash a cheque, saw the billfold on the counter and picked it up. The accused also told police that he had destroyed the wallet and the identification papers which were inside. Police became suspicious of Richardson when one of his friends tried to change two of the bills into smaller denominations.

After pleading guilty, Richardson chose summary trial before Magistrate Wills and was not defended by counsel. Police Chief Jack Taylor told the court "the accused has been under serious mental strain for some months due to family troubles and ill health." Magistrate Wills said he was taking these factors into consideration in passing sentence.

All the money has been recovered.

Constable Gordon Steenburg investigated.

$1,307 Collected For Relief Fund

Trenton (Special)—E. H. Hicks, treasurer of the local Manitoba Flood Relief Fund announced Tuesday the official total collected in Trenton to date including Saturday's tag day which netted $712.14 is $1,017.76.

Monday evening it was announced at the Rotary dinner that the club has raised $300.00. This amount will push Trenton's official total up to $1,317.76.

The following donations had been received by Mr. Hicks up until noon Tuesday. Employees of Benedict Proctor $70.05; retail merchants $46.00 (incomplete returns); Employees of Morton-Parker Limited, $47.00; Downs Coulter employees, $27.60; Central Bridge Co. employees, $30.30; Hinde and Dauch Paper Co. workers, $34.17.

Mr. Hicks said that donations are still coming in as some canvassers had not yet completed their collections. As a result the final total will not be available until the end of this week.

U.S. Shippers Save Millions By Tax Dodge

Seattle, June 14 — (AP) — A legal tax dodge that may save United States shippers millions of dollars was reported here Tuesday.

It's a method of avoiding the three-per-cent federal freight tax by paying freight bills in Canada — with sanction of the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Railroad officials here said the plan is already in operation.

The Seattle Times said the situation grew out of the practice of Americans purchasing railway tickets in Canada to avoid the 15-per-cent transportation tax levied by the federal government. Even though tickets are used exclusively in the United States, the 15-per-cent tax is thus avoided.

The Times said a Seattle traffic expert, not named, got the ruling from the Internal Revenue Bureau. The ruling is that if shippers send their own representatives to Canada, or if they have a bonafide representative in Canada, the freight bills can be paid minus the tax. The federal bureau is reported to have turned down proposals to pay such bills by mail, or through Canadian banks.

Drill for Water, Hit Natural Gas

Stirling, Alta., — (CP) — Lou Metzger, tired of 40 years of hauling water to his farm south of here, decided to have a well drilled. As he puts it: "We got more than we bargained for."

A well-drilling company was forced to abandon its first attempt but on the second, at the 1,100-foot mark, it struck water — and natural gas.

"We're going to put gas in the house, barn and everything," said Mrs. Metzger, "it was expensive to get the water well dug, but the gas is extra. We are terribly thrilled."

One pipe has been attached to the well for water and another for gas.

Communist China Modernizes Laws Ruling Marriage

Hong Kong, (Reuters) — The Chinese Central People's Government has passed a new marriage law which, it is claimed, "breaks the fetters of old-age feudalism."

An announcement through the Official News Agency stated that the new law took as its basis freedom of both parties, monogamy, equal rights for the sexes and guaranteed legal rights for mothers and children.

"All antiquated regulations and practices which in the past forced women to marry without the least regard for their wishes and doomed so many couples to misery and mutual hatred are swept into the dustbin of history," the agency said.

The new law forbids polygamy, the taking of concubines and child marriage or child betrothal. There will be no interference with the rights of widows to re-marry, and the taking of money for arranging marriages is prohibited.

Men are permitted to marry at the age of 20 and women at 18. Third parties are forbidden to interfere in marriages based on mutual consent.

Equal Rights

The new law makes the registration of marriages compulsory and states that marriage certificates will be issued.

Husband and wife are now to be regarded as equals in the home. Both husband and wife have the right to retain the use of their own names, to choose their professions, and to take part in social activities. They have equal rights in possession of the home and in the inheritance of property.

As under the Nationalist Civil Code, divorce by mutual consent may be easily arranged. When only one party desires it, divorce will be granted only if the local government or court fail to secure a reconciliation.

HIS OWN SURGEON

Rustenburg, Transvaal — (CP)—J. T. P. Jonker, 92, recently operated on himself with a pocket-knife to remove a bullet that had been lodged in his side since the Boer War. Displaying the half-inch bullet, he said that it had not worried him until recently, when he felt a sharp pain and decided to operate on himself.

DISHONESTY AT OTTAWA

In this hard hitting article, th author writes that Democracy i Canada is being slowly strangled. He accuses:

POLITICIANS — who feed the public myths, not facts;
M.P.'s—who meekly take orders from the government;
MINISTERS who let civil servants decide policies;
VOTERS—who accept double talk in lieu of the truth;

HE LIKES TO FIGHT WITH HIS WIFE

Those marriage counselors who listen with alarm when a man has a normal lively tiff with his wife had better stay away from the vine-covered cottage of Robert Thomas Allen. No matter what the marriage mechanics say, he thinks an occasional quarrel helps to keep a marriage from going stale.

FRUSTRATION IS GOOD FOR KIDS

BACON SUBSIDY

Mr. Gardiner replied that the best way to maintain cordial relationships between Canada and the United Kingdom was for the U. K. to "take our food in the same free way during peacetime as they did during wartime."

That, he said, was what he had meant when he told the Chamber "that we should speak to them bluntly."

"I think it is the duty of Canada to produce all the food for Great Britain she can, and I think it is equally the duty of Great Britain to buy all the food she can from us rather than to go elsewhere for it.

Both Better Off

"If they do that and if we keep up our production end, I think we are both going to be better off even if it does take some dollars that they otherwise would pile up."

He did not think there was any dollar - sterling question in the world or any dollar — sterling problem as between Canada and Great Britain that was more important than the maintenance of good relationships between the two areas.

Last year, it would have taken only $30,000,000 for Britain to have satisfied all the demands of Canadian agriculture as to the sale of food. If that amount had been proferred, under the plan of co-operation in solving British as well as Canadian problems, "I venture to say that they would not have had to use half of it."

Want to Trade With Canada

"When this problem is such a small one, I think all this talk about it being caused by the fact there is some dollar-sterling problem just is not the case at all," Mr. Gardiner said.

"If we could get that into the minds of one or two people, probably we could settle the question so far as Great Britain and Canada are concerned."

Mr. Drew said Canadians could not look without some concern at published statements that some of the foods which Canada had been supplying to Britain "now are being bought from countries behind the iron curtain." There may be some explanation.

He said there was no doubt that the people of Britain wanted to trade with the people of Canada.

"The statement is made that there are some people who should be spoken to in a much firmer way than they have been spoken to before. I think we should know whether those are members of the present government of Great Britain, and I do not know why we should be left to guess as to who they are."

Mr. Gardiner should indicate whether there was "any relationship whatever to the insistance upon the acceptance of certain types of sale and purchases related to political doctrines, or whether there are other reasons."

PREMIER FROST

Cost $16,600,000

Hydro said that the total of 216,500 horsepower to be brought in this month is more than double the amount of new power made available from hydro generating stations in any previous month since the commission was established 44 years ago. By the end of next January another 660,000 horsepower will be added.

The tunnel project, started in September, 1947, cost an estimated $16,600,000. Cost of transmission lines to major distributing points is estimated at $2,200,000. Its dam, rising 235 feet above the cocky floor of the gorge ,is the highest ever built by hydro. Only 186 feet wide at the base, it is 1,000 feet across at the top. Two side dams confine low sections of the flooded forebay.

In addition to work at the tunnel itself, hydro cleared a large area 50 miles farther north at Rocky Island Lake for water storage. It blasted a tunnel 30 feet in diameter and 900 feet long through solid rock to divert the river during the dam construction job.

Over Direct Line

Power is to be transmitted over a 132-mile line direct to Sudbury. There it will be distributed directly to 60-cycle consumers or converted for 25-cycle use.

In a statement, hydro said that the tunnel generating station is only the first step in providing more power to meet the growing needs of Northern Ontario. It brings resources to more than 395,500 horsepower.

By October, power will be available from Des Joachims over a 115,000-volt transmission line now being built by way of 192,000-horsepower La Cave Development scheduled for completion in 1952. Study is also being given to three further sites on the Mississagi River with a power potential of about 110,000 horsepower.

Boon to Industry

The Mississagi River and its tributaries rise south of the height of land which divides the flow of water between Hudson and James Bays and the Great Lakes. Its mouth is near Blind River. At one time fur traders from the old Hudson's Bay Post at Lacloche on Lake Huron went up the river to trade with Indians who trapped on the height of land and farther north.

The river was—and is—a boon to the lumbering industry on the north shore of Lake Huron. Comparatively free of obstructions it provides easy transportation for the thousands of logs cut each year in the Mississagi Forest preserve. An abundance of game and fish in the area has drawn hunters and anglers for yers.

MUSICAL MONARCH

Copenhagen — (CP) — King Frederik of Denmark is well known as a musician and a seaman. As a concert conductor, he is making a series of records with the 72-piece Danish Royal Chapel orchestra, also, when the new passenger ship "Hans Broge" recently put into harbor here, it was the king who operated the naval signal lamp to give the traditional greeting.

Senate Extends Life of Wheat Board Till 1953

Ottawa, June 14—(CP)— The problem of marketing Canada's big wheat crop under current conditions of mass government buying was debated in the Senate Tuesday with one western farmer describing Canadian wheat board legislation "arbitrary and coersive."

In a three-hour debate cutting across party lines, the Senate finally gave second reading—approval in principle—to legislation designed to extend the life of the Canadian wheat board until July 31, 1953.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L—Manitoba), in an hour-long review of steps leading up to formation of the wheat board in 1935, said there could be no justification "for arbitrary and coersive legislation of this kind" that compels farmers to market their grain with the board.

He was supported by Senator Peter Campbell (L—Ontario), Senator Norman Lambert (L—Ontario), Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario). Senator W. M. Aseltine (PC—Saskatchewan) and Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia).

NO REFUND, EITHER

Victoria, B.C. — (CP) — W. C. Hudson, in search of a midnight snack, saw what he thought was a plateful of potted meat. After wolfing it, he found it was a well-known brand of dog food. Mr. Hudson was disappointed. "It did nothing to bring back my hair to its former sheen and thickness, as advertised on the can."

Mr. George Wood, sident, called on the West ntingdon Presbyterian Sunday ool to conduct the worship vice. Rev. W. H. V. Walker in the singing of "All Hail Power of Jesus' Name", and n read the scripture lesson m 84th Psalm. Mrs. William w read a paper on "Prayer", Mrs. Milton Shaw sang a cial number, "The Garden of yer". Mrs. Alexander Flem- closed the Worship period. r. George Wood addressed the hering and welcomed all the egates.

erest in Sunday School Work

he secretary, Mr. Ernest Hol- d, reported a larger increase deeper interest in Sunday ool work.

ev. Morley Clarke with his tar led in a singsong of several ro spirituals which were en- ed by all.

r. Allen Ketcheson brought etings from Madoc Township day Schools and Mrs. Ernest re, secretary for Madoc Town- Sunday Schools, gave a f interesting message.

he address for the morning ion was delivered by Mr. H. R. Burke, the theme "Evangelism and Christian Education". Speaking from the great commission, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature", stressing the great need of haste to get the message of John 3:16, "God so loved the world that He gave His Only Begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life". This life-giving message brings new life, and a sure hope of eternal salvation to everyone who believes and obeys the gospel message.

God's Command

On Christian education, the speaker referred to God's command found in Deuteronomy 6: 4-7, "Hear O Israel, The Lord Our God is one Lord". And "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy might and these words, which I command thee this day shall be in thy heart. . . ."

Life's span is too short and eternity too long to trifle with the destiny of the soul.

The speaker closed his address with the ringing challenge to "Rise up, O men of God
Have done with lesser things,
Give heart and soul and mind and strength
To serve the King of Kings".

Rev. W. H. V. Walker closed the morning session with prayer.

The ladies of Beulah United Church served dinner in the town hall.

The executive met at the noon hour and nominated the staff of officers for the ensuing year which were as follows:

President, John Holden, of the Standard School; vice president, Mrs. Milton Shaw; Sec.-Treas., Ernest Holland; Cradle Roll Dept. Mrs. Wesley Farrell; Girls' Work, Mrs. John McIlroy; Boys' Work, Arthur Wilson; Young People, Wesley Farrell; Adult, H. R. Burke; Missionary, Melville Donnan; Temperance, Mrs. Clifford Mitz; Leadership Training, Rev. Morley Clarke; Home Dept., Mrs. Frank Hammond.

Rev. Morley Clarke opened the afternoon session with prayer and Rev. Hope Smith, of Belleville, led in a song service with accordion accompaniment.

Mrs. Heslip of Madoc, gave an instructive address on methods of teaching, using the flannelgraph pictures, stressing the point that a teacher must have a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ and know the Word of God.

A solo, "I'd Rather Have Jesus than all the World's Silver or Gold".

Guest Speaker

Mr. Arthur Wilson briefly introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Hope Smith, who took for his text Matthew 28:16. His message was "Reach, Teach and Win". The speaker urged that Sunday School workers should reach out, go after and bring them in, then teach them the way of Salvation, and win them for Jesus, using the methods of agents not to give up till their names were on the dotted line.

Rev. Morley Clarke extended words of appreciation to all who had taken part in making the convention helpful. Rev. G. Oldford, of the Standard Church, closed with prayer. The 1951 Convention will be held at the Standard Church, Ivanhoe.

POLICE SHOW THEIR WINGS

FACES DEPORTATION

Anthony Norton, 23-year-old stowaway discovered by officials aboard the Empress of Scotland just before it docked at Quebec, has been ordered deported since his claim he was born at Canfield, Ont., cannot be substantiated. Norton made many friends aboard the ship and enough money was collected to pay his fare but immigration officials refused permission for him to stay. He is appealing the ruling. — (CP Photo.)

Otawa, June 13—(CP)—Government travelling expenses were about $18,300,000 in the fiscal year ended March 31 last, John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) was informed Monday in the Commons. In a tabled reply, Mr. Diefengaker also was told that living expenses and allowances totalled around $1,893,000.

PATRIARCHS DISCUSS WORLD PROBLEMS

From the opposite sides of the earth two "elder statesmen" meet in New York. They are Bernard Baruch, 79, left, adviser to the U.S. presidents through two world wars, author of the American plan for international control of atomic energy; and Yukio Ozakio, 91, ex-mayor of Tokyo and oldest member of his country's parliament. He is famed as the man who gave the U.S. the cherry trees that now decorate the Potomac basin in Washington, D.C., and currently as president of the Union for World Federal Government in Japan. Mr. Baruch was host at his home on East 66th St. From the wisdom of their combined 170 years they talked of world problems and the relative merits of hearing aids. — Central Press Canadian.

More Power
for All Ontario

On the occasion of the opening by the Honourable Mr. Leslie M. Frost, Prime Minister of Ontario, of the first of three new generating stations to come into operation in June, the Commission wishes to thank all those who have contributed to speeding to completion the 1950 portion of its huge expansion program, which will provide all Ontario with over 1,600,000 additional horsepower.

To the men of labour; to the suppliers for their willing response to the heavy demands made upon their manufacturing facilities; to local Municipal Systems and consumers for their valuable contribution in conserving electricity and thus making more power available for production purposes—to all we extend a most sincere "Thank you".

June 1950 is an important month for Ontario Hydro. The three new generating stations will provide all Ontario with an additional 216,500 horsepower immediately, and with a total of 616,500 new horsepower by the end of 1950, or early in 1951

On June 14th, the Tunnel Generating Station, near Thessalon, will swing into production to supply 56,500 horsepower to help expand the development of Ontario's vast mineral and forest resources. The Commission extends sincere thanks to the engineers, officers and men of Rayner Construction Limited for the efficiency and skill with which this difficult operation was pushed forward to production in less than three years.

On June 21, the new Pine Portage Generating Station on the Nipigon River will commence supplying 80,000 horsepower to the Lakehead Area, and on June 28, the giant new Des Joachims Generating Station will contribute the first instalment of 480,000 horsepower to meet the unprecedented power requirements of both Southern and Northern Ontario.

We are justifiably proud of the part that Hydro plays in safeguarding the continued prosperity of this province, and particularly of the achievement of the Commission's personnel in bringing our plans to fruition ahead of schedule in the face of extreme shortages, both in manpower and materials.

Montreal Royals Biggest Failure Of Young Season

(By The Associated Press)

Biggest news in the International League this season has been the recent failure of Montreal Royals. A serious contender only last week, the Royals today are in fifth place, 3 1-2 games off the pace.

Syracuse Chiefs whipped the reeling Royals twice Tuesday night, 4-2 and 3-2. The twin victories advanced the Chiefs to fourth place.

Jersey City upended leading Rochester 7-2 in the only other league game played. Springfield and Toronto had a doubleheader postponed. Baltimore and Buffalo also were washed out.

Carden Gillenwater's two-run single in the fifth inning provided Syracuse with its edge in the first game. It enabled Bob Sanders to pick up his first w.n. Carl Erskine suffered his fourth defeat.

Syracuse rapped George Thomas, making his Montreal debut, for three runs in the first two innings to sew up the nightcap.

At Jersey City, Ken Hardey, righthander stopped the hard-hitting Rochester team with seven hits. He was helped by Pete Pavlick's two-run homer in the fourth. Jackie Collum dropped his second game.

DUMB FLOOD VICTIMS

Winnipeg — (CP) — Medical care of animals trapped by the Red River flood is being supplied by the Humane Society. Dr. E. S. Anderson, the society's surgeon, is treating animals stranded and exposed on small plots of higher ground during the inundation.

McFater Gains 8-Round Decision Over Laliberity

Toronto, June 14 — (CP) — Allan McFater, Toronto lightweight, returned to the ring Tuesday night after two months and gained a unanimous eight-round decision over Montreal's Gerry Laliberty.

McFater at 138½ pounds had a 1¾-pound pull. McFater now is in line for an outdoor summer bout with Armand Savoie, also of Montreal, who knocked out the 19-year-old Toronto fighter here last April.

There were no knockdowns in Tuesday night's main event although the Toronto battler had Laliberty hanging on in a rousing seventh round. McFater rocked the Frenchman with a short right to the chin and followed with looping lefts and rights to the body, staggering the black-haired Montrealer.

McFater had a slight cut and a bleeding nose. Blood gushed from Laliberty's nose as a result of a left uppercut in the sixth. Apart from that both ended comparatively fresh.

Other results:

Semi-Final

Billy Fifield, Toronto, 164½, knocked out Hugo Bonacci, 169, at 2:05 in the fourth. Eight rounds.

Preliminaries

Dan Moray, Syracuse, N.Y., 180½, decisioned Les Irwin, Toronto, 204. Six rounds.

Davie Mitchell, Toronto, 128, decisioned Frankie Basil, Fulton, N.H., six rounds.

Joey Brunette, Saulte St. Marie Ont., 126½, decisioned Cliff Graham, Dartmouth, N.S., 130½. Four rounds.

Boxing Club Wants Savold To Meet Charles

New York, June 14 — (AP)—The International Boxing Club wants to pit Lee Savold against Ezzard Charles for the undisputed world heavyweight title in September.

Jim Morris, head of the I.B.C., disclosed Tuesday his plans for such a bout at Yankee Stadium. Savold, earlier this month, stopped England's Bruce Woodcock in four rounds for the British version of the world championship.

There are at least three big "ifs" confronting the fight.

Charles is due for another physical examination in August to determine whether his strained heart muscle will preclude defending his N. B. A. title. Norris seeks to have the examination moved up.

Savold's manager, Bill Daly, may not consider an I. B. C. bid as long as that organization and the New York Boxing Managers guild fail to agree in their squabble over television receipts.

And Daly may insist on the next Savold start being for Jack Solomons, who promoted the Savold-Woodcock bout in London.

The I. B. C. president even spoke of Joe Louis, the retired heavyweight champion, as a possible opponent for Savold if Charles is unable to defend his crown.

CORNERSTONE LAID

Brockville, June 14—(CP)—The cornerstone of Brockville's new 17-room publice school, the Commonwealth School, was laid Tuesday by Col. S. A. Watson, assistant director of Elementary Education for Ontario.

The public school is the first to be built in Brockville since 1899. It is expected to open about the end of September. The new school will replace three of the five present outmoded school buildings.

HANG NAILS: "How can I prevent hang nails? I just get one cleared up and another starts."

Hang nails need attention both on the outside and inside of the system. For the interior a quart of milk a day (skim if you're afraid of putting on weight) and plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables. Outside—rub the nails with Cutex Cuticle Oil.

P. T.: "I want to take a physical training instructor's course so I can teach this subject in the high schools. My parents cannot afford to put me through. What qualification do I need to have for this course? I am only 17."

To take the Physical and Health Education Course at the University of Toronto you must have your senior matriculation. The course is three years and then you would have to have one year at the Ontario College of Education to be able to teach high school.

CANNED RHUBARB: "Tell me, is it possible to can rhubarb in cold water and without sugar? To us it sounds like a miracle and we have lots of rhubarb."

It certainly can be done. Use tender, fresh rhubarb, wipe it and cut in one inch lengths. Crush cup by cup in sterile jars. You will find a wooden potato masher is ideal for this crushing. The rhubarb should not be bruised but crushed only until the juice flows. Fill sterile jars to overflowing, screw on the lids and wrap each jar in newspaper to exclude light. It's wonderful for winter pies, and you sweeten it when you use it.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

THIS IS IT!

Tonight's the night. Turk Broda and his gang are here and the stage is all set for the softball classic at Exhibition Grounds tonight between the Leafs and Cy. Barriage's Belleville All-Stars. By the time you read this, if Ole Jupe Pluvius hasn't stepped in to spoil matters, the Turk and his brood will have toured the hospital and Ontario School for the Deaf and are awaiting the "Play Ball" signal.

Tonight prior to the game, the Leafs will meet and chat with crippled children of the district. OSD students will be on hand to greet them for a second time. Five autographed softballs and an autographed hockey stick, former property of Broda will be presented to the boys who sold the most tickets. It looks like a gala evening and it is anticipated a record crowd will be in attendance.

CAN'T GO — FOR DOUGH — AND SO

The Big Ten Conference, said to be the biggest colliich sports aggregation of its kind in the United States has declared thumbs down on the Intercounty Baseball League of Western Ontario. Calls it an "outlaw league" and all that. And all studes of member colleges that include Michigan, Illinois, Ohio etc., if they want to be good boys as far as conference athletics are concerned must give Intercounty offers the cold shoulder, or egad, they, too, may become "outlaws". The announcement has caused a lot of head - scratching among coaches of the various Intercounty teams with Kitchener using both hands, likewise London and other centres of the circuit. The Canadians are nice chappies, and all that, said the conference, but that monthly salary limit of $3,500, (minimum in most cases) bothered the conference biggies and they warned their baseball-playing collegians not to jeopardize their football, basketball, hockey futures, by fraternizing with the Canucks on the diamond for large bunches of the lettuce that doesn't go with salads.

HOW ABOUT THE ALL-STARS?

An excellent opportunity for sports fans of the city and district to see Frankie Filchock, famous Montreal Alouettes football star, and judged Canada's outstanding athlete last year, in action comes with the request that a softball date be arranged here with the Montreal Robitaille Motors Softball team of the Snowdon League. Filchock has joined the Robitailles and will accompany them on a tour of this part of Ontario in July. Any softball manager or syndicate wishing to get details should write Stanley Cree, secretary, 2030 Addington Ave., Montreal, 28, Quebec.

SIC 'EM!

Two of the most forceful power-houses of the professional heavyweight wrestling ranks will meet with a resounding thud on Friday night at the Memorial Arena, when Fred Atkins, the sour, dour Australian champion, will go against Yukon Eric, the amazing Alaskan. Atkins brags he's fed up with the awesome reports he's heard about Yukon's seeming invincibility and wanted a chance "to flop that big yokel so hard he'll be sorry he ever tried to get into a man's game." There is no denying that Atkins is a tough hombre, but he may be all wet belittling Eric as he does. It would fix the Atkins clock if Yukon were to add Minty Fred to his list of victims.

Timothy Geohagen, the strong-man wrestler from Ireland, will make his local mat debut in the semi-final against a rugged opponent, Wee Willie Davis. Timothy has proved his strength and this test with Davis will go a long way towards measuring his mat ability. Besides, Geohagen will attempt a remarkable test of strength outside the Memorial Arena at 8 p. m., prior to the matches on Friday night. They say he can hold back a motorcycle and rider with his teeth and will prove it for all to see outside the Arena.

Chick "99" Noyes, for the past 28 years one of the outstanding bait and fly cast champions on the North American continent, will appear at Luke's Camp, one mile east of Crofton, Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. and give an exhibition of his skill.

Chick has acquired the unusual "99" moniker as a result of his consistently near-perfect record at sports shows throughout the United States and Canada. The best possible score in tournament casting is an almost unattainable 100 and Chick has scored 99 so often that his friends have begun calling him 99 as a mark of regard. Bait and fly casters in the district are cordially invited to drop around to Luke's Camp and watch the master perform.

Walter (Hoot) Evers Finally Out of Shadow of Wakefield Stars For Detroit Tigers

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Walter (Hoot) Evers finally has got out of the shadow of Dick Wakefield.

For nine long years the blond-haired slugger has had to play second fiddle to Wakefield, the $52,000 bonus baby.

The pair started in Winston-Salem, N.C., in 1941. Evers batted only .231 to Wakefield's .300. The pair moved up to Beaumont, Tex., in '42. Evers raised his batting mark to .322 but once again he was overshadowed by Wakefield's .345.

Evers spent the next three years in the service while Wakefield was establishing himself as a star with the Tigers. He returned in '46 and hit .266. But Wakefield still topped him with a .268 mark.

This season with Wakefield's shadow no longer hovering him Evens finally established himself as a top drawer star. He's been hitting and fielding like never before.

Tuesday night he hammered a 10th inning home run to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 triumph over Philadelphia Athletics. It was his ninth of the campaign. He also walloped a triple and single to run his hitting streak through 18 consecutive games. He also added 10 points to his batting average to place him at the top in both leagues with a .379 figure.

Evers' bat boosted the league leading Tigers to a half game edge over New York Yankees who bowed to the White Sox in Chicago 6-5.

Catcher Phil Masi's ninth inning single off Joe Page scored Chico Carrasquel with the winning run for the White Sox. Bob Cain, who earlier had blanked the Yanks 15-0, pitched seven-hit ball for his third triumph.

Boston's Red Sox whipped the Cleveland Indians 8-1 to remain 5 1-2 games behind the Tigers. St. Louis Browns walloped Washington Senators twice 8-3 and 6-1 to move into seventh place.

St. Louis Cardinals increased their National League lead to three full games whipping the third place Phils in Philadelphia 6-3 while the runner up Dodgers were losing to Chicago Cubs in Brooklyn, also by the same 6-3 margin. New York's Giants whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 and Boston's Braves trounced Cincinnati Reds 5-3.

Bobby Doerr, cracked a pair of home runs, a triple and a single to lead the Red Sox to an easy win in their western invasion. Chuck Stobbs allowed only two hits to record his fifth triumph.

Hank Arft got four for four to help Harry Dorish gain his second triumph for the Browns in the opener. Sherman Lollar homered as Cliff Fannin permitted only four hits to win the second.

The Cards tallied all their runs in one inning —the sixth —when they chased starter Curt Simmons with a five hit blast.

A two-run homer by Roy Smalley off Clarence Podbielan sparked a three-run 11th inning to give the Cubs their victory over the Dodgers.

DiMaggio Only Nine Hits Short Of 2,000 Club

(By The Canadian Press)

Only nine base hits to go for Joe DiMaggio to join the exclusive 2,000-hit club.

Although the Yankee Clipper is hitting a dull .247, he's almost a cinch to go over the top during New York's current western tour.

When Joe makes the grade, he'll be in high society. The only active major-leaguers in the 2,000-hit club are Luke Appling of the White Sox with 2,733 and Wally Moses of Philadelphia A's with 2,060. There are none in the National League.

DiMaggio, now 35, is the the youngest of the bunch. Appling is 41, according to the record books. Since Red Corriden replaced Jack Onslow as manager Luke has confined himself largely to coaching duties. Moses is 39.

Any day now the Yanks expect DiMaggio to break out with a rash of hits and slide into his accustomed place in the upper strata. They figure the 44 hits he has contributed thus far are all gravy. Last year he didn't play at all until June 28, when he made his sensational comeback at Fenway Park. Then he wound up at .346, high enough to win the batting title if he had been at bat enough times.

Dates of Canada's first round Davis Cup competition with Australia have been advanced by one week, J. M. Mcavity, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association announced Tuesday at Montreal.

Previously scheduled for July 20-22, the matches will be staged at Montreal's Mount Royal Tennis Club July 14-16.

Mcavity said one reason for the change in dates was to enable the winning team to have more time to become acclimatized in the high altitude of Mexico City where the second round, against the winner of Mexico-Cuba, must be played before July 30.

A United Kingdom hockey authority arrived at Ottawa Tuesday and assured reporters that he was not there to "line up players."

J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, long associated with the British Ice Hockey Association and a council member of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said the British Hockey Association is developing its own stars.

"In England and Scotland we have 150 Canadians, but the British Ice Hockey Association now has 2,000 players all told," he said.

Mr. Ahearne attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association last week at Banff Springs as an observer.

At Hershey, Pa., Ben Hogan, newly-crowned National Open golf champion, signed up Tuesday for his 10th year as playing professional for the Hershey Country Club.

Hogan, who succeeded Henry Picard as Hershey pro in 1940, won his second National Open title Sunday at Ardmore, Pa., in a triple playoff with Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio.

John B. Sollenberger, president and general manager of Hershey Estates, which includes the Country Club, declined to disclose Hogan's salary, reputed to be $7,000 a year.

Batawa Shoemen Edge Picton 2-1 as Rival Hurlers Clash In Thrilling Pitching Duel

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Young Art. Wright, Batawa righthander, matched pitching wits and arms with Frankie Dyer, Picton Athletics ace, in a brilliant mound duel at Exhibition Park last night and emerged the victor by a 2-1 score in easily the best COBL game seen here this season.

The Batawa victory elevates the Shoemen from the cellar position in the league to fifth place. Their win last night gives them two wins and three losses as against Picton's two victories and five setbacks.

The game was a thriller from start to finish and was anyone's pastime until Wright retired the third Picton batter in the first half of the ninth inning.

A Pitchers' Battle

It was a pitchers' battle from start to finish with the fielding outstanding throughout with the exception of three occasions when errors were committed, one of them costly to the Picton team.

Wright hurled masterful baseball throughout the game as did Frankie Dyer of the Picton squad. Each hurler allowed two hits in a single inning and in each case a run was scored. Neither pitcher issued a base on balls. Wright sent down seven Picton batters via the strikeout route and Dyer whiffed five. The Batawa pitcher gave up five hits and Dyer six.

Two hits and an error by Solmes started the scoring for Picton in the second inning after Dyer had blanked the Batawans for two chukkers. Platford, a Bloomfield reinforcement, smashed out a lofty double to right centre field. The Batawa shortstop bobbled Duetta's infield hit and Platford raced home. Wright caused Carson to fly to left field. Duetta went out on the bases. Downes smashed out a single but Dyer grounded out to end the inning.

In the fourth inning, Dick Bridgman got a life on Keith MacDonald's error and went to second on Mac Watson's smash single to right centre. Mac Carson sacrificed the runners to extra bases and Mouse Bush drove Bridgman in with a clean single to right to tie the score. Peacock struck out and Johnny Aquino grounded out to end the inning.

From the second inning on Wright was invincible restricting Picton bats to three hits. Dyer backed by superb fielding, especially in the seventh when Downes, Picton left fielder raced back nearly to the track to haul down Mac Watson's bid for what what looked like a homer, turned back the Batawa bludgeons until the seventh.

In that inning, "Mouse" Bush slashed out a soaring hit that went for three bases. Ken Peacock watched two strikes go by and lofted a high fly to deep centre field. Bush trotted home easily after the catch with what was the winning run.

Picton threatened in the seventh when D. Miller, first man up, drove out a single. He attempted to steal second but a bullet-like throw by catcher Johnny Aquino nipped him at keystone sack.

From then on the pitchers took over and the sides went down in order. Wright retired Picton three in a row in the ninth to earn a well-deserved victory.

Mouse Bush with a triple and single paced the winners attack with Solmes getting a brace of singles. Rankin and Watson were the other Batawa hitters.

Jackie Wardhaugh slashed out a three-bagger for Picton with Platford and MacDonald getting two-basers. Downes and D. Miller rapped out singles.

Veteran May be 'Cinderella Man' Of Channel Swim

Dennis Port, Mass., June 14 — (AP) — A 44-year-old wounded war veteran who swam his way back to health may be the "Cinderella man" of the 1950 English Channel sweepstakes.

George (Scotty) Fraser, a stocky Glasgow native, sails tomorrow from New York with little money but lots of courage.

The little swimmer is lured by more than the prospect of fame and fortune. He wants to show disabled veterans the restorative powers of swimming.

He owes his own rehabilitation in large part to swimming. He came to this Cape Cod town in 1946 to rest and recuperate from scars of war, both mental and physical.

As a merchant marine officer he spent long months under enemy attack and suffered a severe leg wound when Nazi planes blasted his North Atlantic convoy in 1944.

Swimming returned him to tip-top health. Now he works as an aircraft welder.

"I feel confident that I can make the Channel," he said today "if I can get an even break in the weather. I'd like to help disabled fellows to overcome their disabilities through swimming and this will give me my chance to show what it can do for them."

He has just about all the requirements for success except sufficient money. Of finances, he says:

"I have a one-way ticket on the Queen Elizabeth, plus $150. That amount certainly won't fill the bill. I need at least $1,100 more, but I'm not worried about that now."

Scotty is not going over just for the boat ride and he can point at a recent swimming exhibition to back up that statement.

June 8, he negotiated the treacherous tides and current of Nantucket Sound in a nine-mile swim between West Chop on Martha's Vineyard Island to Falmouth on the mainland. Only one person did it before. Two men were drowned trying to make it in 1923.

THE LAST POST

London — (CP) — Two conscientious workers are William and Cole. They worked together after office hours to get letters ready to catch the last post. The doors of the building were locked in on them. So they called the fire brigade and climbed out by ladder — just in time to catch the last post.

HIGH-PRICED HELP

Canberra —(CP)— P. H. Allen, new official dingo destroyer in Australia's Northern Territory, figures on an average of 100 dingo scalps a week. With his salary, camping allowance and bounties, at that rate he would make about £6,000 ($18,600) a year — twice as much as the administrator of the territory.

TEMPORARY "LOAN"

Brighton, England — (CP)— Several priceless treasures were missing from the Royal Pavilion here after the Easter vacation. They were returned later with an apology from the anonymous taker.

Movie Column

By JIM BACON
(For vacationing Bob Thomas)

Hollywood, June 14 — (AP) — Three months ago the movies wanted Alan Young in only one role — that of a paying fan.

"I couldn't even get arrested in a studio then," said the Vancouver comedian.

Today almost every studio in town has bid for him. And with the aplomb of a beauty contest judge he has just chosen Universal - International. That studio not only wants to star him in a movie — but also wants him — and his two writers — to create the story.

Why the sudden change of the Hollywood heart?

On March 14, "The Alan Young Show" was first seen on the more than 500,000 television screens here. Some of those screens are in movie producers' homes.

On March 14, Hollywood "discovered" Alan Young.

Same Alan

The discovery, of course, was the same Alan Young who had starred on his own radio network comedy show both here and in Canada.

It was the same Alan Young who was under contract at 20th-Century-Fox studio for three years until they dropped him. Remember him in "Margie" and as Clifton Webb's sophomore roommate in "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College?"

His Forte

There's no doubt about it. Alan has found his medium in video. In the dozen weekly shows since his TV debut he has come up with a parade of hilarious sketches.

The television Alan Young is a comedian the radio and movie Alan Young didn't know existed. His natural gift for pantomime, lost in radio except to studio audiences, is magnificently evident in television. His feeling for mimicry and situation comedy are suggestive of Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, although his style is strictly his own. And he is one of the few stars who actively helps write his own stuff.

What does his family in Vancouver think of his success?

AT THE BELLE

"The Third Man"

Packed with the sort of suspenseful characterization found in his earlier "Odd Man Out," Carol Reed's new production "The Third Man" now at the Belle Theatre, is an exciting milestone in screen circles.

It is in this new film that Reed reaches his high water mark as a director, while his trio of stars, Joseph Cotten, Valli, and Orson Welles, share in the honors of a tense taut thriller set against an extraordinarily novel background.

"The Third Man" was penned by Grahame Greene, who with another recent film script, captured honors at the Venice Film Festival for the current season's best screen play. It looks as if "The Third Man" would bring the popular British novelist-scenarist still higher acclaim.

His story is replete with powerful character studies, set against the stark, unforgettable background of post-war Vienna, his plot twists keep one squirming in one's seat, and his denouncement is completely unpredictable yet thoroughly logical.

Not in years, perhaps, not since Selznick's "Since You Went Away," has Joseph Cotton played a role so perfectly fitted in his talents, and played it with such quiet but incisive fascination. Competing with him for acting honors is Valli, the lovely Continental star, the young Italian actress has a part that must stand near the top in the year's roll call.

Orson Welles, an adroit craftsman in everything he does, demonstrates his versatility. Trevor Howard, a British star who is certain to be better known over here with this picture.

"The Third Man"—and who that "third man" really is few persons will guess until the exciting sequences—is a special treat for the regular movie addict and a "must" for those who attend films less frequently.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was in her room taking things out of one draw and putting them in another, and I said, I got a splinter in my finger, ma, and it kind of herts. Do you think you can take it out, ma? I said.

What do you think? ma said.

And she got a needle and a pair of tweezers, and I said, Dont you think it will come out by itself, ma, if nobody bothers it?

Now listen, if you want me to take that splinter out for you, I'll do it, but only on condition that you dont annoy me the whole time I'm werking on it by keeping on asking if it's out yet, and only on the added condition that you dont start making a fuss like a poor trapped animal before the needle even touches you, ma said, and I said, Okay, ma.

And I handed her my finger, saying, Well anyways, ma, go easy, I dont think it's a deep one.

Now no advice, please, ma said, and I said, Wait a minute, ma just a minute, I've got an idea. Wait till I get my new comic book so I can be looking at something funny, and maybe it'll act like opium or ether or something, I said.

Do you really think it would werk? ma said, and I said, Sure, ma, let me go and I'll be rite back.

Have you any medical authority to back up your opinion? ma said, and said, I dont need any, it'll werk all rite, ma. I'll prove it, ma, let me go, I said.

Which it was, on account of her having been werking on it all the time she was keeping me bizzy talking, and proving your mother is libel to be better than a comic book if you give her a chance.

I'll let you go all rite, because I dont need you any longer, and you dont need me or the joke book either, ma said. The splinter is out, she said

Ramsay Paints Earn Respect In 8 to 7 Loss

Ramsay Paints earned a lot of respect and made a host of new friends last evening as they went down fighting on the short end of an 8-7 count in a regularly scheduled Commercial Softball League A game with Brewers Warehouse.

The Brewers had their hands full of the scrappy Painters as they squeaked through their third straight win. It was the Paint crew's third loss but they gave notice that from now on they will be tough to take. The threat of rain cut down on the attendance on the snappiest ball game to date this season.

Ramsay's opened the scoring in the first frame with a walk to Peters, a single by Holland, and a home run by Lyle Wannamaker good for three tallies.

Brewers came back in their half of the first to knot the count on walks to Nolan and Wood, a single by Hurrie and a double by Locke.

Brewers took the lead in the third with Hurrie, who had tripled coming home on an error to the shortstop.

Pull up Even

The Painters pulled up even in the top of the fourth with one run. Brewers staged a four-run rally in the bottom of the fourth for their final runs and the winning margin.

With one out Wannamaker singled. Rex Young popped out to the centre fielder. The heavy end then came to the plate. Nolan hammered out a double to score Wannamaker. Carl Wood and Harold Reid tripled, and Hurrie doubled. That was all for "Buck" Young and Jack Reid came in to put out the fire by striking out Wilf Fitzgibbon.

From there on in Reid pitched hitless ball, walking none and striking out four.

The Painters staged a determined rally in the fifth that netted them but two runs while three men were left stranded. Lyle Wannamaker's second home run with no one on concluded the scoring for Ramsey's in the seventh inning.

Rex Young toiled a rocky road to his second victory of the year walking four, striking out four, and being tagged for 10 hits and seven runs.

Outstanding in defeat for the Painters were Lyle Wannamaker with a near flawless performance in centre field and two home runs at bat, and Charlie Peters with an errorless standout job at third base.

Hurrie led the Brewers at the plate with a single, double and triple in four tries.

Lineups:

Ramsay Paints: S. Bellis c; C Peters 3b; Cross ss; B. Holland lf; L. Wannamaker cf; F. Baldwin rf; J. Moore 2b; R. Empey 1b; C. Young replaced by J. Reid in 4th, p.

Brewers Warehouse: Nolan ss; Wood 2b; H. Reid 3b; Hurrie rf; W. Fitzgibbon replaced by J. Barriage in 6th, lf; Locke 1b; Goyer c; Wannamaker replaced by Halsey in 7th, cf; Young p.

Detroit Bowlers Carry Off Most Of Major Prizes

Columbus, O., June 14 — (AP) — The American Bowling Congress' 47th Annual Tournament ended Tuesday night with bowlers from Detroit, Mich., carrying off a major share of the top prize money.

Detroit teams and bowlers won 10 positions among the first 10 leaders in the tournament's four major events. In addition, the E. and B. team from Detroit turned the unprecedented trick of winning the all-events championship for the second year in a row with a combined score of 8,978.

The Pepsi-Cola team from Detroit was declared winner of the team event Monday night with 2,952, lowest winning team score since 1916.

Next year's tournament will be at St. Paul's Auditorium, beginning in mid-April.

Observation Train Will be Used To Watch Races

Marietta, O., June 14—(AP)—One of the world's largest passenger trains — 42 cars and two diesel engines — will carry spectators along the Ohio River Saturday for the United States Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta.

Some 5,600 passengers will watch rowing crews and 13 colleges from the observation train, believed to be undue in the history of water sports.

The train will be composed of gondola-type freight cars. In each car will be built-in wooden bleachers five tiers deep and seating 140 persons. The train was assembled by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Tickets for seats at $5 each were sold out weeks ago. A ticket will entitle the rider to see the freshman, jayvee and varsity races.

The train will return to the starting point after each race. Two enignes, one at either end, will haul the train. The front engine will pull it towards the finish line and the rear engine will take it back to the start.

The purpose, of course, is to keep pace with the sleek rowing shells churning down the river. Officials estimate the boats will travel about 18 knots, or nautical miles, an hour. The train will move along at about the same speed.

Train superintendent Arch S. Waller estimates it is costing the railroad about $7,000 to keep the cars from the usual task of hauling steel and machinery.

Cyclone Taylor Ready to Retire From Govt. Post

Vancouver, June 14. (CP)—Frederick W. (Cyclone) Taylor, now 65 and often hailed as the greatest hockey player Canada ever produced, will retire from his federal immigration post here next week.

The last time Taylor retired was 28 years ago when he left the Vancouver Millionaires and professional hockey after a spectacular career—a career Lester Patrick, former manager of the New York Rangers, says has never been matched.

This time Taylor retires as district superintendent for British Columbia and Yukon for the Canadian Immigration Service, a post he has held since 1931.

Taylor was born in Tara, Ont., and began playing hockey with the neighboring Listowel team. He turned professional with Houghton Portage Lakes of the first professional hockey league, the International, in 1905. From there he went to Ottawa, Stanley Cup winners in 1909, and to Renfrew Millionaires in 1919.

Beyond The Law

Mary Imlay Taylor

"You've been burning papers here!" he accused harshly. "You had no right to burn anything in this house!"

She caught her breath and her white face glowed with a sudden flush that made it beautiful. "I had a right, M'sieur Police," she replied in a low voice. "I'm Gharian's wife."

O'Hara nodded. He felt a strange tightening in his throat, but his words were sharp. "I know. You took the train north that night—after Gharian and Ninon Creuse were buried at the post."

She started at that, but met his eyes bravely. "I was at my husband's funeral, m'sieur."

"You were aware your husband loved the nurse, and yet you came—a long way just to attend his funeral, Mrs. Gharian?" His tone was grave now, though it held an edge of disbelief.

She raised her head proudly. You're wrong, M'sieu Police. I came north to visit—my child's grave!" As she spoke she lifted one hand with a poignant gesture toward the window. Even in the whirl of snow it seemed to O'Hara that he saw that little black cross which he knew was there. But the woman's eyes were clear now as she added coldly "of my husband—I will not talk of him; he is dead!"

There was a thrill in her voice passion in it; for an instant she lost her marvelous self control and her face quivered in a new, unguarded loveliness. O'Hara, indefatigable tracker of the barrens, man called efficient, deadly and soulless, experienced the surge of a curiously foreign impulse to spare her, to shield her even from herself! But the merciless instinct of his kind made him thrust his hand into pocket and draw out a blood stained paper.

"There's his last letter to Ninon Creuse, the girl who lost her life because of coming through this frozen wilderness to nurse him in his fever."

Laure Gharian turned deathly pale. She scarcely seemed to breathe, and her profile was like a white cameo against the flamelight on the hearth. For the briefest moment she faltered and shrank away from the bloodstained letter. Then she seemed to nerve herself for the ordeal, put out an unsteady hand, took the paper and, moving to the fire, averted her face from O'Hara while she read it.

O'Hara could see only the perfect arch of her brow and hair, its rich tints, and the supple grace of her slender figure —the figure of a girl rather than a woman. But he could see that her emotion was shaking her now from head to foot. Involuntarily he turned away and glanced about the room that he had never seen before.

It was a bare place, devoid of any womanly touch except the curtain across the window. An old violin lay on a bench in the corner, and sergeant suddenly remembered that he had once heard the dead man play wonderfully well, with a touch that only love of music gives. There were a few worn books, well thumbed, on the shelf, and a woman's coat and furs lay on the heavy chair that helped barricade the door into the only other room, the bedroom of the cabin. It was closed, and against it were piled all the miscellaneous articles in place. The door opened toward them and was bolted, the fastening being reinforced by this strange barricade.

O'Hara stared at it in amazement, that a woman might shrink from the cabin where her murdered husband had spent his hours was not unnatural, but that she should come there alone, in this terrible weather, face the hardships and the horror of it, to barricade one room against herself, was a new and strange development. He was still staring at it when he heard her voice again, tremulous and sweet.

"This letter is a little pitiful—but it's not like him!"

"You claim then that your husband never wrote it?"

She turned and faced him, her eyes dark with feeling. "He wrote it, but he never meant it! He-ah, how he could write, m'sieur! But this girl—?"

Five Men Trapped As Flood Water Sweeps Into Mine

25 Other Miners Escape From Alberta Mine Workings

Luscar, Alta., June 15 — (CP) —Five men were trapped in a coal mine at Cadomin when the flooding McLeod River inundated the workings, Fred Horne, general manager of the Luscar and Mountain Park Mine said today. Cadomin is isolated.

Trapped are: Fireboss Roy Carr and miners Mike Kapusinsky, Peter Morris, Red Kasonovich and Steve Melanovich.

Mr. Horne said the McLeod rose to the flood stage yesterday when a heavy 10-hour rain swelled the river already high from melting mountain snow.

Roads Washed Out by Flood

The flood had washed out roads in the Cadomin area and the Canadian National Railways' service to the foothills village 150 miles southwest of Edmonton was disrupted. Telephone communication also had broken down overnight and has not been recovered.

Mr. Horne said he had learned the "men were lost when the river came into the mine." The flooding apparently happened late yesterday. He had not been able to communicate with Cadomin — only three miles south but on the other side of the surging McLeod River — since last night.

Thirty men were reported in the Cadomin coal mine when the water swept in and all but the five reached safety. The condition of the five trapped miners was not known.

(In Edmonton Colin Campbell, president of Cadomin Coal Co., Ltd., which operates the mine, said he has tried unsuccessfully for 10 hours to communicate with officials at the mine.)

Mr. Horne said he had learned that guests were evacuated from the Cadomin Hotel — located on the opposite side of the river from the rest of the village.

At Mountain Park, seven miles south, the heavy rain and flooding McLeod had carried away a dam which residents used as a local water supply.

RUEST'S SISTER WILL BE WITNESS IN MURDER CASE

Quebec, June 15 (CP) —Mrs. Arthur Pitre was expected today to be a Crown witness at the preliminary hearing of her brother, Genereux Ruest, charged with murder in the time-bomb destruction of an airliner last September 9 which took 23 lives.

Mrs. Pitre is a friend of J. Albert Guay, Quebec jeweler awaiting the death sentence for the murder of his wife, Rita, in the plane crash. Guay was convicted of having a time-bomb placed aboard the aircraft here. Ruest, 51-year-old crippled watch maker who did work for Guay, was arrested June 6 following a statement made by Guay in his Montreal Bordeau jail death cell.

Mrs. Pitre, 41, was on the list of Crown witnesses due to appear at Ruest's preliminary hearing Wednesday. In a dramatic interruption, she was arrested and arraigned on a charge of "witness intimidation." At Guay's murder trial, Mrs. Pitre admitted that she had placed a parcel aboard the plane shortly before it took off on its last flight. She testified that Guay had given her the parcel to deliver and that she was under the impression it contained a statue.

Judge Orders Arrest

Judge Achille Pettigrew ordered the woman arrested when two witnesses testified they were "threatened" by Mrs. Pitre in the witness room adjoining the Quebec court room where evidence was being brought against Ruest.

Mrs. Pitre's preliminary hearing was set for June 21. She may apply for bail if her brother's hearing is finished before that time.

Sobbing and shrieking, Mrs. Pitre made a wild scene in a court house corridor when two police officers took her to police cells.

Gerald Beland, Shot, Wounded, Escaped in City

Windsor, Ont., June 15 (CP) — The man who was shot and wounded in a Windsor apartment last Sunday night has been identified as Gerald Beland, who escaped guards at Belleville, May 23, while on his way to Kingston penitentiary, Deputy Chief W H. Neale said Wednesday.

At the time he was arrested, Beland gave his name as Owen Thompson, 32.

Beland, alias Thompson, was shot during an argument.

Shortt was arrested near the apartment that night, but he carried no arms.

John Dobson, who police say was also present during the shooting, rented the apartment with Beland.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 15—(CP)—Official forecasts issued by the Dominion Public Weather office in Toronto at 9.30 a.m. EDT.

Synopsis: Extensive fog blanketed southern and central Ontario early Thursday but most localities reported it burning off a few hours after sunrise. Friday is expected to see warm humid weather with increasing cloudiness followed by showers or thundershowers in almost all regions. Cooler air moving slowly into the extreme northwest will bring lower temperatures and at least partial clearing to that part of the province.

Edinburgh Roused At No Mention in Festival Brochure

Edinburgh, June 15— (Reuters)—Edinburgh is "very annoyed" with London because of a pamphlet, issued by the Festival of Britain Society, which tells people overseas what they are likely to see during the big Festival of Britain next year.

Sir Andrew Murray, Lord Provost of Edinburgh, calls it "schoking".

Sir Andrew said yesterday there was practically no mention of the city in the brochure.

The city which claims "the most beautiful boulevard in Europe" in its main highway, Princes Street, gets only one picture in the brochure—showing "an old cannon pointing at a British Transport Commission Hotel," Sir Andrew said.

FORTY BELIEVED DEAD AS PLANE CRASHES INTO SEA

52 Persons Aboard French Airliner

Bahrein Island, Persian Gulf, June 15 — (CP) — A big Air France plane crashed in the Persian Gulf last night, and 40 of the 52 persons it carried are feared dead. The craft plunged into the gulf at almost the same spot where another Air France plane crashed two days ago with a loss of 46 lives.

Officials said 12 persons had been rescued by early afternoon, including four of the crew of eight. Twelve infants were reported to have been aboard the plane. Only one is known to have been saved."

This plane and the sister C-54 Skymaster which crashed two days ago were en route from Indo-China to Paris. Officials have not discarded the possibility of sabotage by adherents of the Indo-Chinese communists who are fighting the French.

Continue Area Search

Air France officials in Paris said the plane carried 44 passengers and eight crew members. The officials said the search of the area was continuing with more than 100 small fishing boats scouring the area.

RAF and U. S. Air Force planes based in the gulf area joined the search, sweeping low over the area, but a low ceiling hampered their efforts. High winds and choppy waters made it unlikely that life rafts from the plane could stay afloat for long.

The survivors all were reported to be French citizens, some of them said to be important political figures.

Almost Identical

The circumstances of this crash and the one two days ago were almost identical. A storm was sweeping the gulf area in each case. The planes were coming in for landings after receiving instructions from the field just before they plunged into the sea. Both planes had begun their trips at Saigon, Indo-China, and had made their last stops at Karachi, Pakistan.

The first plane had dropped into about 12 feet of water. It was beached yesterday. Twenty-eight bodies were found still in the cabin. Last night the sister ship fell into 30 feet of water. A floating derrick was used today in attempts to raise it and it was believed the bodies of most of the missing would be found in the wreckage.

A company spokesman, ordering a halt to night flying at Bahrein, said the field was not equipped with systems for radar approach and had only two radio beacons to guide pilots.

The four-engined Air France C-54 Skymaster, bound from Saigon, Indo-China, to Paris, crashed only a half-mile from the point where 46 persons were lost in the ditching two days ago of a sistership flying from Indo-China.

(Air France said in Paris a dispatch from Karachi, Pakistan, the plane's last stop before last night's crash, reported that 43 passengers and eight crew members were aboard the ship. First reports in Paris had said 45 persons were aboard.)

Those rescued today included five crew members.

Only Six of 59 Passing Ladder Had Nerve to Walk Underneath

Superstition must have quite a hold on Belleville residents. This morning, in a 15-minute period, only six of a total of 59 chose to tempt fate.

Painters working on Front St. south of Victoria Ave., set up two ladders this morning to do a job on the front of a restaurant, and the people on the street shied away like cows from an electric fence. The decorators had tied a rope across the sidewalk at the north end of their work, and coupled with a large green bus sitting at the curb, it all added up to a considerable detour for pedestrians.

Of the 59, a total of 30 walked all the way around the obstacle. Some muttered, some stopped to look, and the rest just wandered out to the road. Twenty-one people chose to duck under the rope, but steered close to the curb away from the ladders.

Six came out of the restaurant and walked under one ladder. One errant chap literally wove his way through the maze. He ducked under the rope, under one ladder, reconsidered, and moved to the curb to escape the second instrument of bad luck.

Of the daring six who took rope, ladders and all in their stride, only one was consciously proud of it. He threw his shoulders back, smirked at fate and strode on. The other five apparently had their minds elsewhere as they moved through the web.

The younger generation took less notice of the dangers of bad luck than the older. Some elderly people got halfway through the obstacles, then changed their minds and walked around. Younger fry plunged right into the fray.

Painters on the job told passersby that the rope was there just to protect them from paint. Most amusing part of the episode happened, when pedestrians watched the counter as he tabulated them. They thought he was crazy.

British House Sits All Night, Defeats Repeal Of 'Gas' Taxes

London, June 15—(CP)— The House of Commons quit work in the grey light of dawn today after a 16-hour, 20-minute session. Tempers wore thin during the long debate as the government won nine votes, beating down Conservative-Liberal attempts to repeal gasoline taxes.

The Labor party has a statistical margin of eight votes in the House. Whips got M.P.s into the voting lobbies in time to muser victories by from 11 to 17 votes. Many members on both sides were absent.

The first victory staved off, 302 to 288, a move to void the government 9d-a-gallon (12 cents) boost which doubled the gasoline tax.

The government has rolled up 22 victories against one inconsequential defeat since the new parliament met March 6. The feat has revived speculation that Labor now has a good chance to survive into next year.

Longest parliament session was one of 4½ hours that ended Feb. 2, 1881. The post-war record is 21 hours 48 minutes ending July 21, 1948, when the steel nationalization bill was passed.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, threatened to keep the House in session until Friday unless it hurried its work through the night.

Some observers believed that never before in the history of the House had so many members stayed right through an all night session. The government's narrow lead and the necessity for both sides to be at full strength kept them at their posts after the first vote.

500 Breakfasts Served

There were still 561 members in the House when it finally rose, and altogether about 500 breakfasts of one sort or another were served during the session in the House dining rooms.

Lines of M.P.s waited to take their choice of hot soup, hot sausages, cold chicken, cold fish, strawberries, ice cream, pastries, salads tea and coffee.

At 4:30 a.m. Conservative leader Oliver Lyttelton tried to get an adjournment.

But Sir Stafford replied:

"It is now 4:30, and at the present rate of progress we shall want all the time between now and Friday to consider the committee stage. We propose therefore to continue sitting till then."

The "iron chancellor" relaxed his proposal by conceding that members continue "for an hour or so" to "see how things go."

Warner Wood, 58, Sidney Township Farmer, Killed

Pinned beneath a heavy farm tractor as it toppled into a ditch while being turned around at the end of a field, Warner Wood, 58, Sidney township farmer residing on the Belleville-Trenton highway, died Wednesday afternoon.

He was either drowned or was crushed beneath the heavy machine as it turned over into the ditch of an abandoned railway right - of - way which passes through the Wood farm. There was from 15 to 18 inches of mud and water in the ditch.

Mr. Wood left the farm home early in the afternoon to cultivate in a field at the north end of the farm. Mrs. Wood had missed the noise of the tractor during the afternoon but did not become alarmed until her husband was late for supper. Then, with a boarder, Albert Hay of Campbellford, she drove a truck to the field where her husband had been working only to find the overturned tractor.

Auto Wrecker Employed

Provincial police were notified and an auto wrecker from Belleville was used to turn the heavy tractor back onto its wheels.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Wood died some years ago when he fell under the wheels of a truck.

Mr. Wood is survived by his wife, one son Floyd, and six daughters. Coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott visited the scene of the accident and stated there would be no inquest. Provincial Constables Howard Tesker and J. Driscoll investigated.

'Little Man' Likely Fully Reimbursed For Flood Loss

Winnipeg, June 15—(CP)—Premier Douglas L. Campbell said today that the "little man" probably will be looked after "in toto" in the matter of recompense for damage to his house from Manitoba's disastrous spring flood.

The Premier made the comment in a statement that disclosed a maximum of $3,000 — although some exceptions can make it higher—has been placed on flood relief to householders for damage to dwellings.

Mr. Campbell said that the schedule of relief applied only to homes and farm buildings hit by the floods. Furniture, private possessions or livestock would not be included. Small businesses and other categories of establishments will be handled later.

Mr. Campbell said the government felt that the schedule of grants would take care of a very large number of damaged houses in full. Grants will be administered by the Red River valley board.

"Our guess is that less than five per cent will exceed the maximum," said the premier.

Mrs. Jack Orrill Of Campbellcroft Dies Of Injuries

Seriously injured Saturday evening in a motor accident which sent four persons to hospital, Mrs. Jack Orrill, 50, of Campbellcroft, north of Port Hope, died in Belleville General Hospital Wednesday afternoon. She had suffered a broken shoulder blade, broken nose and face cuts but doctors at first did not describe her condition as critical.

Mrs. Orrill was riding in a car with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Diamond of this city when their car was in headon collision with a pickup truck driven by George Maxwell of Stirling. Mrs. Diamond suffered a fractured skull, broken nose and face cuts while her husband has chest injuries. Mr. Orrill had a broken spine.

The preliminary inquest was held this morning at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home before Coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott, and was adjourned until July 15th when a definite date will be set.

Epidemics Caused By Impurities In Water Supply

Toronto, June 15 (CP)— An army medical expert said Wednesday that studies of epidemics of a type of jaundice at Kingston suggest that the outbreaks may be caused by impurities getting into the water supply.

Maj. R. D. Barron of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps told the Canadian Public Health Association that Kingston water, drawn from Lake Ontario, is chlorinated but not filtered. The city discharges raw sewage into the lake and it is possible that high wind carries sewage sediment inshore towards the water system's intake pipe, he said.

The epidmics of infectious hepatitis have been occurring for at least two years among soldiers in the Kingston area, University staff members and prisoners in the federal penitentiary, Maj. Barron said. They were the only ones of the kind reported in Canada.

Dr. A. E. Young of the Toronto public health department said that tuberculosis among children appeared to increase following the Second World War. He said T. B. among children under 15 years in Toronto has been three times as prevalent as health authorities expected.

INTERFERENCE CHARGED

Brantford, June 15 — (CP) — Donald Simmons of Mount Pleasant was arrested in bed today and charged with placing an obstruction on a railway and interfering with railway signals. The arrest followed investigation of a report from a Lake Erie and Northern Railway section foreman who found a plank and a roll of snow fence on the right-of -way south of Brantford.

HOWE REJECTS COMMONS CALL TO SET LIMIT

Defence Production Profits Debated

Ottawa, June 15 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe, in fending off a heavy Commons siege, Wednesday rejected opposition calls for a set limit on defence production profits.

The minister said no such system could be divised to work satisfactorily because of the complexity of the manufacturing industry. There was no all-embracing yardstick.

Mr. Howe, backed solidly by Liberal members, won House approval of the principle of a controversial bill to vest in him wide powers for defence purchasing in peacetime.

The three parties in opposition charged that the powers were excessive and dictatorial. Mr. Howe said they were needed to handle "perhaps the most important business of the country" and argued that they were a lesser, modified version of war powers he had voluntarily relinquished.

He said defence purchases now mean an average of 350 new or amended business contracts a day, handled by the government's Canadian Commercial Corporation.

Opposition Loses

In a vote the opposition lost 127 to 44. That gave the bill second reading but it still has one more hurdle to pass, third reading after committee study by the whole House.

The House pitched into the defence battle after approving a 50-year treaty with the United States, governing diversion of the power-producing waters of Niagara Falls and to preserve famed scenic beauties. External Affairs Minister Pearson said the treaty —still to be ratified by the U.S. Congress—will bring a "substantial" increase in Ontario's power total.

Child is Born Very Shortly After Accident

Cornwall, June 15 — (CP) — Mrs. Arthur Laurin of Morrisburg gave birth to a 6½-pound daughter Wednesday, minutes after she and her husband emerged from a spectacular traffic accident.

The couple was speeding toward Cornwall in a taxi-ambulance when the driver lost control on a curve. The vehicle travelled about 5 feet in the ditch, struck a boulder, executed a somersault and landed on its wheels.

A second ambulance was called from Cornwall. En route to hospital the new baby was born.

The vehicle in which the couple started their trip was extensively damaged. The driver suffered a shaking up and minor bruises, Mrs. Laurin received a cut over her left eye and an ankle injury, Mr. Laurin a bruised shoulder.

Baby and mother are doing nicely in hospital.

N. Ontario Will Supply Raw Materials After Other Sources Have Run Out

- - Frost

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 15 — (CP) — Premier Frost predicted last night that Northern Ontario will be supplying raw materials long after sources elsewhere has run out.

"People will look to this area for natural resources after other points have been exhausted," the premier told a dinner tendered by the West Algoma Progressive Conservative Association.

He promised hydro power for the development "of the millions of dollars of natural resources" in the area, adding that there would be no "beating around the bush" in exploiting power sources.

The premier, other cabinet ministers and Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, came to Sault Ste. Marie after officially opening a new $20,000,000 power project on the Mississagi River.

They are visiting the iron-rich Michipicoten area today. At Wawa they inspected the Helen mine.

Premier Frost said estimates that the Michipicoten region still contains 500,000,000 tons of iron ore are tame.

DoublePrison Term Under Canada's Anti-Spy Law

Bill is Introduced to Raise Maximum to 14 Years

Ottawa, June 15 (CP)— The government announced today it is doubling the prison term provided under the official secrets act, Canada's anti-spy law.

Justice Minister Garson, introducing a bill to amend the act, disclosed that it will boost the maximum term from seven years to 14.

The top sentences handed out in the 1946 spy prosecutions were six years but there were those who felt at that time that seven years was hardly enough in view of the seriousness of the cold war crimes that might be committed in the name of espionage.

Other Amendments

Mr. Garson said the amendments will also:

1. Extend the act to make clear that penalties for wrong doings by employees of the Crown embrace employees not only of the government itself but of its boards, commissions, corporations or other agencies.
2. Give the act extra-territorial effect so that the Crown would be able to penalize Canadians who break it outside Canada as well as foreigners who unlawfully divulge outside Canada secret information they got here.
3. Remove any doubt that persons charged or convicted under the act may be finger printed.

There was no discussion on the bill this morning. It was simply given first reading, preceded by a brief explanation by Mr. Garson. It offers, however, the basis for a major debate on anti-espionage activities and facilities.

Steps to Plug Loopholes

Except for the doubling of the prison penalty, the amendments are largely steps to plug loopholes discerned in a study of the act on the basis of a recommendation by the 1946 Royal Commission on espionage. Without any specific recommendations, the commission suggested that the government have a look at the law and see what might be done to tighten it.

Elusive Fugitive Girl Search Is Abandoned

Brantford, June 15 (CP)—Provincial Police today abandoned the search for an elusive fugitive girl in the Mount Pleasant bush and swampland south and west of here.

Three days of concentrated search—including the assistance of members of the reserve army Wednesday night—failed to produce any trace of the frightened girl who fled last Monday morning from the farm of Albert McAlister near Mount Pleasant.

Two York township detectives, William Culver and Walter McGowan, returned home today. They had joined the search for one day because it was believed the mystery girl might be Mabel Crumback, 19, missing from her York township home since May 28.

Any further police participation will be limited to investigating any new reports which are received, or following up any possible news.

CROWN ENDS CASE IN WIFE'S DEATH AT NAPANEE

Napanee, June 15 — (CP) — Defence council for James Fosbraey, charged with murder in the knife slaying of his wife last November, said today he will seek acquittal on grounds of hereditary insanity.

Meanwhile, as the Crown completed its case by calling two more witnesses, one was a Polish army veteran with whom Fosbraey accused his wife of having an affair.

Stanislaw Steinbach, who came to Canada in 1946, said Fosbraey introduced him to Mrs. Fosbraey. He swore there was nothing improper about his relations with the pretty young woman, even when the two of them stayed at a hotel in Kingston, Ont., two nights before she was slain.

Steinbach's testimony that he had a room on the second floor and Mrs. Fosbraey a room on the first floor was corroborated by Mrs. Noreen Strutt, the hotel desk clerk.

Earlier in the trial, two alleged confessions of Fosbraey's guilt were given to the jury.

Letters written in jail by the 29-year-old veteran of the Royal Air Force, a native of Sittingbourne, Kent, England, were admitted as evidence Wednesday by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. One of the letters said "June is dead; now I must pay the penalty of death by hanging."

The final crown witness, Phillip Tice, 25, or Napanee, was a cellmate of the accused in the Napanee jail. He testified that the accused told him on Dec. 8: "I'm the guy who murdered his wife."

60 Letters Read

Altogether the court heard read 60 letters written by the accused to his wife, his wife's parents and his friends in England. He married the Napanee girl while training at Kingston during the war; served overseas and returned here. He went back to England last October, but returned in November.

One letter from Fosbraey, written to Mrs. John Currans, mother of the slain girl, was dated Dec. 8 and said: "Yes, she gave me $30. Five days from the day I hit town I knew she was going to die for her mistake. No one in this world will know why murdered my wife June Marie Fosbraey. What June told me that night in her own words with her own mouth hurt the most of all. She never smoked, drank or ran around with other men, but does them all now. June and the other fellow were afraid of what the doctors would find out at the autopsy. That is why she died and now I want to die."

Letters Brought to Police

This letter contained the words "Her life was in danger ever since I hit town. I knew five days before the murder I would hang for it."

BELLEVILLE RINKS IN PRIZE MONEY AT BRIGHTON TOURNEY

L. E. "Mac" McLean and Gordon Edwards were successful in getting into the prize list by winning the two-game high schore while Wilfred Price and Johnny Bean were high for one game.

Members of Toronto Leafs Hockey Team Visit O.S.D. And Hospital in Stay in City

Heroes know no season. Yesterday was no exception as Turk Broda led a squad of National Hockey League All-Stars on a visit to the Ontario School for the Deaf and the accident ward at the Belleville General Hospital, prior to playing an exhibition game with an all-star lineup from the Belleville Commercial Softball League, in aid of the Kinsmen Swimming Pool Fund.

Broda, accompanied by Cal Gardner, Harry Watson, and Bill Quackenbush, arrived in the city at 3.30 p.m. and started right off on a whirlwind round of activity that occupied them to game time.

First stop was the Ontario School for the Deaf where a host of youngsters, advised of their coming, swarmed out of school to mob their hockey idols. Nothing in yesterday's atmosphere suggested winter or hockey, but the lustre of fame was undimmed for the hundreds of children who were seeing their favorite hockey players for the first time.

Introduced to Students

The players were introduced to the students one at a time by Mr. F. P. Cunningham, who translated Turk's greetings to the enthusiastic youngsters. With the preliminaries over, the children got down to the business of getting autographs. A special duplicating paper was signed by the players but Turk and the others decided to stay and personally autograph all the programs which had been distributed.

Because many of the players were unable to be present, the Kinsmen took the duplicator and later in the evening had all the players sign it so that their autographs could be distributed to the children later.

The players, visibly moved by the warm-hearted reception accorded them, posed for pictures with the eager youngsters and capped it off by posing with the two graduating classes on the front steps of the main building.

Mr. W. J. Morrison, B. A., B. Paed., superintendent of the school thanked the players for what he termed a "splendid gesture" which the children would "always remember".

Went to Hospital

Leaving the school the players and their accompanying escorts sped to the Belleville General Hospital where they were met by the superintendent, Mr. W. H. Wakefield.

In the wards, faces, unsmiling due to the pain of injuries, brightened as the National League Stars went quietly about talking to the injured children.

The silence of the sick was dispelled for a few moments as boyish enthusiasm overcame the lads who knew these players only as names in the sport pages and words on the radio, until this memorable visit

It was indeed a memorable visit as the players autographed programs for their ailing fans. Ted Ashby, suffering a compound fracture of the knee, in addition to other injuries, had their signatures permanently fixed on his cast.

"This is good for morale," said superintendent Wakefield seeing the smiling faces left in the wake of the hockey stars.

There was more autographing for the players as they stopped on the market square to meet the young fry of the city and district, who responded so heartily that Broda and Gardner were hemmed into their car and kept busy with pen and pencil until all of the many autograph books had been signed.

Treated to Dinner

Following this strenuous round the all-stars were treated to a dinner at the Queen's Hotel.

At the dinner Kinsmen Club president, Ernie Colborne, welcomed the players to the city on behalf of his club and thanked them for their kindness in coming to Belleville and assisting in the job of building the community swimming pool.

His Worship, Mayor Jack Allin, speaking for the citizens of Belleville, expressed the hope that the players would find Belleville a friendly city and that they would come again soon.

During supper, Broda, Watson, Gardner and Quackenbush, were interviewed over radio station CJBQ.

At the conclusion of the meal, Turk Broda, on behalf of Barney Parsons, local representative of the Labatt's Brewing Company, presented presented Commercial Softball League president, Don Lee, with a handsome gold trophy which will be presented annually to the winners of the 'B' section of the Commercial League.

Beautiful Trophy

"This is a good trophy, being presented by a good firm, to a good cause," said Broda in handing over the trophy to president Lee, who thanked Broda, Mr. Parsons, and the Labatt Company for their generous gesture.

The players, by now reinforced by Ed Harrison, Fleming Mackell, Sid Smith, and Don Harris, retired to dress for the game which was staged at the Fair Grounds.

Prior to the game the huge crowd was entertained by the Kinsmen Boys' Band.

Pre-game ceremonies included a march past of the two all-star teams behind the band, and an introduction of the players to the fans by means of a public address system.

His Worship, Mayor H. J. Allin presented Turk with a key to the city. The Leaf netminder then promised that the key, which he would keep as a good luck token, would be placed on the wall of the Leaf dressing room in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Then the leader of the National League all-stars was introduced to little Tiny Reynolds, one of the crippled children who were guests at the game. Tiny's heartfelt "Thanks Turk" expressed better than anything the sentiment that the National League All-Stars generated during their good-will visit to this city.

(An account of the game is published elsewhere in this edition.)

Quinte Bowling League Closes Year With Banquet

The Quinte Men's Bowling League concluded a successful season last evening at a banquet at the Golden Acre Inn.

The recently formed loop, composed of eight teams from Belleville, Trenton Picton, Napanee and Brighton had played a home-and-home series following the regularly scheduled inter-city league operations in the various centres.

Guay's team of Trenton wound up the season on top of the league and were presented with a championship trophy donated by Tom Pappas. In presenting the trophy to the winners Al Piatt of Picton, paid tribute to the managers of the various alleys who did much to make the newly formed league such a success.

Ted Greenfield of Belleville presented the high average prize to Horace Ormshaw of Trenton, who led the league with a 247 average. J. Robinson of Napanee copped the high triple prize, while H. Van Vlack, also of Napanee, took the award for the highest single game.

Officers elected for the coming season were: President, Bill Bateman, Belleville; Secretary, Cec Hardwick, Belleville; Treasurer, Bob Cretney, Trenton.

Following the banquet teams finishing behind the first and second teams in the regular season played off a consolation series at the Bowl-O-Drome with the Belleville Bowl-O-Drome finishing on top with a score of 3,844. They were trailed by Picton Prince Edwards, Napanee, Picton Bowl-O-Drome, and Trenton Bowl-O-Drome.

50 Traffic Cases Listed on Docket Of Police Court

Highway patrol officers are going all out in a drive to rid the highway of vehicles which do not come up to the required mechanical standards, it was revealed in county magistrate's court today when nearly 50 traffic charges were listed on the docket.

Twenty-six of the charges were against motorists for operating their vehicles with inadequate brakes, the majority of those charged settling out of court with payment of $13 fine and costs. Others were enlarged for personal service when the summoned motorists failed to appear in court, while still others were enlarged by request to allow defendants to prepare a defence.

One motorist charged with speeding paid $25 fine and costs, while still another charged with being drunk in charge of an auto was given seven days on a plea of guilty. The court was told the motorist had pulled off to the side of the highway and was apprehended while parked.

Garnet Bond, 20, of the RCAF at Trenton, appeared on a charge of gross indecency involving two young boys and was remanded one week.

10 Playgrounds, Seven of Them For Juniors, Will be Opened In City During The Summer

Seven junior playgrounds and three senior playgrounds will be operated in the city of Belleville during the summer vacation period commencing July 3rd and continuing to August 31st according to plans being formulated by the Belleville Recreation Committee. Supervision for these playgrounds is being provided by the Y.M.C.A.

This project, several months in development, has been the result of the co-ordination of efforts on the part of the Board of Education, the Parks Board and the City Council along with the support of service clubs, Home and School clubs, public and private agencies, associations, and boards, merchants, industries and citizens.

Grading, levelling, and repair work has been proceeding at a rapid pace at the various playgrounds under the direction of the local playground committees. In some instances new equipment will be installed.

Those with particular skills who can spend a few hours a week on a playground will be most welcome. Such persons are invited to communicate with Al. J. Davis at the Y.M.C.A.

IN MEMORIAM

GIBSON — In loving memory of my dear husband, Jim, who passed away June 15, 1949
You are always in my mind
No matter what I do.
All the time within my heart
There are thoughts of you.
Never for a moment
Are you very far away
Absent and yet near
You seem dearer every day.
Ever remembered by wife, Mabel.
J15

HOWARD — In loving memory of our dear baby girl and sister, Doris Vereen Howard, who passed away on June 15, 1940.
Today recalls sad memories
Of our dear daughter Doris, where she's at rest
And the ones who think of her today
Are the ones who loved her best.
Ever remembered by mother, father and brothers Floyd, Lonnie, Carman and Roy.
J15

VERMILYEA — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Alberta Vermilyea, who passed away June 15th, 1949.
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break but not in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
Lovingly remembered by Mother, Father, Farley, Vera and nephews.

Option is Taken On Property Near New County Home

Recommendation that Hastings County Council purchase the 80-acre property known as the Holmes Farm, adjacent to the county farm on the Trent Road was included in the report of the Board of Management of the Home for the Aged presented to council yesterday.

The Board, the report stated, had completed for $1.00 an option to secure the property at a certain price.

It was felt that extra property to provide sufficient produce and pasture for support of livestock on the county farm is required, hence the move was made to secure the Holmes farm.

On receipt of a letter from Mayor Jack Allin of Belleville asking that every consideration be given towards the employment of local labor on the construction of the new county home, the committee had received assurance from the contractor that only key men would be brought in and that all general labor would be engaged locally.

New Equipment Purchased

New equipment including a surge milking machine; hot water tank for the dairy, a disc harrow and ventilating fan for the stable has been purchased.

The report stated that progress to date on construction is all that can be expected and completion of the project should be within the time prescribed in the contract providing no unforeseen circumstances arise.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 15 — (CP) — Leading industrial and western oils jumped strongly ahead as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. News of a possible new oil field in Northern Alberta, spurred market interest in western oils and prices climbed briskly into new high price ground.

The exchange's 1 p. m. index showed industrials up 1.23 at 244.50, golds down .49 at 93.80, base metals down .06 at 122.97, western oils up 2.62 at 89.39. Volume for the first three hours was 2,012,000 shares, about 221,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Gains more than doubled losses in the western oils.

Refining oil stocks featured industrial B. A. oil, spotlight performer yesterday following the report of the possible new field in the Peace River district, jumped ahead strongly at the opening but lost part of the advance as the session progressed. Papers, constructions and liquors were also higher.

Golds continued recent declines to new low levels for the year. A handful of penny prospects were active on news of financing plans. Base metals showed signs of weakening in mid-session.

County Council by 15-14 Vote Turns Down Rawdon's Request To Withdraw from School Area

Following a three-hour discussion, Hastings County Council yesterday turned down Rawdon township's appeal to withdraw from the Central Hastings High School District. The vote was 15-14.

The request to County Council was based on the result of a township plebiscite that resulted in a 66 and two-thirds per cent vote of residents against continuing in the school district.

The detachment of Rawdon township from the Central Hastings High School Area, had it carried, took the village of Stirling with it. Suggested was the formation of a smaller school area to include Rawdon and Stirling with the potentials of Frankford and Sidney township.

Strong delegations, one the personnel of the Central Hastings High School District Board, headed by Chairman Dr. Sam Eagleson, and another, representative of Rawdon township, placed their different cases before council.

Discussion Thrown Open

Following the presentations of argument by both sides, Warden Clarke Rollins threw the discussion wide open. "It is only fair," he said, "that all sides of the question be discussed." He appealed to his councillors that all take part in the discussion, or in lieu of expressed opinion, vote on the question when the time came.

The Rawdon delegation pointed out that on the basis of assessment for school purposes it was paying 25 per cent of the cost of the school district.

George Bailey, Rawdon clerk, reiterated his township was paying from 25% to 27% of the cost while the student average was 11 per cent. He had, he said, advocated adjustment of assessment, but nothing had been done. He felt that Rawdon people were justified in breaking away from the Central Hastings High School District and throwing in their lot with Stirling.

Decided to Withdraw

Dr. S. Eagleson, chairman of the Central Hastings High School District Board, said the area had opened last year and all was satisfactory. The first note of discontent came with the tax bill when the school rate approached that of the city. Matters were jumbled, he admitted, and the problem was partially cleared up but Rawdon township thought it was being dealt with unfairly, and decided to withdraw.

"He had," he said, "drawn the attention of Stirling and Rawdon to a clause of the municipal act which states that if assessment for school purposes was not satisfactory, they could call a meeting and ask for equalization. But, he said, they did not wait. Only four mills had been levied and equalized assessment might have induced Rawdon to "stay in."

"He had," he said, speaking for the board, "no hard feelings against Rawdon. "We want a completely satisfied area. We have used Rawdon well and we hope they will stay in."

Better Education Provided

A member of the delegation said that large high school area provides the opportunity to give the children better and cheaper education.

"It is a backward step if the high school area is allowed to break open now," said a board member from Tweed. "It would be a grave mistake to have the area split until the board has had a chance to study problems.

Supervising principal T. Moffitt, Tweed said, "it was not a matter of which part of the district was to be detached, but one of pupils in rural areas who should get the benefits of secondary education.

Dismemberment of the school district would be giving secondary education in the whole county a definite setback. If Rawdon is let out, the same thing may happen in other high school districts of the county.

Former Deputy for Retention

Former deputy reeve of Rawdon, John Morrison was against the detachment. "We have had the best transportation system in the county" he said, "and when we went in we agreed to pay our share of the education of our kiddies. I fail to see where Rawdon can better itself. Why get into a smaller area when it is cheaper to stay in a larger one. It is a matter of the big fellow paying a little more than the little fellow."

Mr. Tucker made an impassioned appeal to council to respect other people's opinions. He felt that council could not override the opinion of 66 percent of the population of a township. He said that a lot of Rawdon township people did not know the facts about the school area. And Reeve Harry Harrison of Thurlow demanded to know why this ignorance because many public meetings had been held in Rawdon relative to the high school area question.

Has Real Assets

Reeve W. J. Davis of Bango told council that the north country has a real asset in its high school but it is costing much more than was at first anticipated He suggested that the Department of Education send a representative here to explain matters and to give permission for smaller school area as suggested by Rawdon and Stirling.

Reeve Wilfred Spencer of Rawdon, admitted that permission to form the proposed new area between his township and Stirling had not been given but he had been informed, that under the new act, it was permissible He had asked for the department's okay, but it had not been received as yet.

Favors School Area

Deputy Reeve Verney Heath of Rawdon told council that he favored the school area, but not the set-up. "Rawdon," he said "paid 27 per cent of the cost of the school area. Four mills on unequalized assessment had cost his township a difference of $800. Rawdon owes the school area board $2,800 "which we are prepared to pay." He believed the Central Hastings High School District too big and too costly. If two thirds of the residents of the township and a member of the Department of Education approve of the detachment,' who should disagree? he asked.

Reeve Wells, Stirling said "if democracy prevails, Rawdon will be let out." If they are out we are interested in a separate area with Sidney and Frankford. Years ago officials said an 8 million dollar assessment was necessary. Now they have lowered it to 3 million."

Wants School Area

"Stirling," he said, "wants to be in an area. As for cost, education can't be got cheaper than ten per cent, and that is what the proposed new area will cost.

"This council may not agree, but Stirling will fight this thing if it has to take it to Toronto," he said.

Warden Clarke Rollins said it was unfortunate that the whole county was not broken down into high school areas. Had such been the case the present problem would not have occurred. "We must look to the future," he said.

Reeve Vincent Lynch, Marmora asked if Rawdon goes out, who will be the next. As far as that goes Marmora was willing to pay 8 or 9 mills to get education. He felt it was not the fault of Rawdon Township, and if all got together matters could be ironed out so that the area could be intact.

Buying in Belleville

Reeve Geo. Spencer, Frankford, said his community was buying its secondary education in Belleville. "We cannot join any area but would like to convince Sidney township that such an idea is all right so we could enjoy the benefits. If a new area is formed Rawdon and Sidney would be our logical outlets."

Reeve Clarence Graham, Tweed said "the whole matter was one of confusion. It requires more thought and the opinion of members of the department. He felt that more co-operation between municipalities would be beneficial instead of antagonism. "We in mid-Hastings could have formed an area of our own, but we believe in a larger area." "It was so confusing," he said, "that he would not vote on the question."

Reeve Wells, Stirling, said that his community did not start the project of detachment from the Central Hastings High School District, but if Rawdon was ruled out, Stirling, according to departmental regulations, would automatically be out.

Must Get In

"We must get in somewhere," he said. He added that at the time of the formation of high school districts an 8 million assessment was necessary. Now it can be had for an assessment of three million.

Reeve Wilfred Spencer, Rawdon, agreed. Had a smaller area been suggested at that time, he said, "we would have gone in."

Reeve Ben Bleecker, Sidney township, said that although his municipality had been accused of 'being slow" it might have behooved others to be slow, too". "He was tired," he said "of the fluctuations of school grants." He had attended several meetings of school boards and everywhere the grants were different. It is all so confusing", he said, "that it should pay one to sit back and listen and learn."

Not In This Category

He felt that any worthwhile project would promote itself, but high school districts are not in this category or all municipalities would have been in it. He was vitally interested in education, both primary and secondary, but he was not too happy about the county set-up. "On the question," he said, "he did not know how the vote would go, but he believed in the democratic principle of giving people what they wanted.

Reeve Kincaid, Madoc, urged an immediate decision on the matter on the part of council. "If it is laid over, things will not improve" he said. "There is tremendous interest in the county and we have all talked it over. Why lay it over? Let us make a decision here and now."

Everyone Should Vote

His conception of democracy, Reeve Charles Buskard, Deloro, said, was that the majority rules. "What I have heard here makes me think that a lot of people do not know what democracy means. What would happen if Hastings County asked to secede from Ontario?"

"I think every man here has a responsibility to perform and he should get up on his feet and vote," he added.

Reeve W. J. Davis demanded, "are we going to split Centre Hastings, and in future have more ask to break away? We should make a full step here and now and see where this council stand."

Reeve I. McCoy said that if the extra cost is Rawdon's only complaint, it could be easily ironed out. If they would sit down man to man, this trouble would soon be over.

High Cost Contention

Reeve Wilfred Spencer under questioning admitted that while the "bone of contention" was the high cost, his township had not taken the advantage of the offer of the high school area board to readjust the assessment for school purposes. Residents of Rawdon had asked by petition to be detached from the Centre Hastings High School District.

Deputy Reeve Verney Heath said that the main objection was the cost of educational operation, but on the other hand the people of Rawdon felt they would be happier with a smaller, more compact area.

"They will be very dissatisfied, if this council turns them down," he said.

Mr. Moffitt, supervising inspector of the high school district told the council that Rawdon township had been invited to make application for reduction of assessment for school purposes, but it had not taken advantage of the offer. "If they had done so, this could have been adjusted a month ago" he said.

Reeve Wilfred Spencer admitted that such was the case, "but" he said "the people of Rawdon wanted to get out of the Central Hastings High School District."

Warden Rollins asked for further discussion. None was forthcoming and a standing vote defeated the by-law to detach Rawdon from the high sc district area by 15-14.

Ring-Tailed Monkey Eats Ice Cream Cone in Hurry Then Has Face Washed

Monkey business in the editorial room of the Ontario Intelligencer this morning was carried out by a monkey of all things.

Pee Wee, a three-and-a-half pound, full grown South American ring-tailed monkey rode into the office on the shoulder of her master, Mr. G. Goodwin and work stopped forthwith.

Pee Wee is a prehensile beast —a monkey with- a tail to the uninitiated-commonly called a tree monkey in contrast to the tail-less or ground monkeys. This ability and desire to head for the tall timber is not lost in captivity and is one of the big reasons why trying to housebreak the animals is almost an impossible task. It also necessitates the use of a chain-like leash by means of which the animal is anchored to the belt of her keeper when out in public.

Pee Wee was in the process of eating dessert when introduced to the writer; she was toping off a banana with an ice cream cone. Quite composed in public, the young monkey daintly dabbed at her lips with a paper napkin when the feast was over.

Will Eat Anything

"Monkeys will eat anything that a human will," said her trainer. "They are particularly fond of cucumbers, lettuce, celery and bread. And you can't poison a monkey. If food is not wholesome they just sniff at it and throw it away."

Pee Wee, a highly intelligent beast with a nervous system wound up like an alarm clock, is treated like a child by her master. She is given a rub down each week with oil and should she develop a cold she gets a Vicks Vapo Rub like anyone else. And just like anyone else monkeys resent medication even when it is for their own good, and snap at the hand that tends them for two or three weeks following dosing.

Become Attached to One Person

"Monkeys are usually one-man monkeys," explained Mr. Goodwin for the benefit of those who might be a little shaky in their knowledge of monkeys. "That is, they become attached to one person and will respond favorably only to that one person."

Asked if the monkey was tame. Mr. Goodwin pointed out that wild animals are never tamed. "They are trained," he said pointing out a nice difference. Monkeys, which have a life span about half that of humans, revert to their wild state completely when they are about nine years old, and have to be caged."

"Monkeys are clean animals," he said. "People think that they are covered with insects, when they see them picking away at one another, but actually they are pulling away dried skin and eating it for the salt content. Monkeys do not get their salt from salted peanuts. In fact they will throw them away."

Adjourned to Show

On this triumphant note, Pee Wee and her master adjourned to the Carol Shows, which currently are playing an engagement in the city. Pee Wee will be on display along with six other types of monkeys, until Saturday.

Included in the Show, which is here under the auspices of the Belleville Branch of the Canadian Legion, are real miniature horses standing only 29 inches high. And if that is not enough there is Violet the deodorized skunks, that follows her master about like a tame cat. But the big thrill in a small package is undoubtedly Pee Wee, the ice-cream-cone-eating monkey that gets a Vicks Vaporub, and wipes its face after meals.

Napanee Dealer's Car Found on Memorial Park

The used car market is not what it used to be.

Four or five years ago an auto dealer knew where every one of his used cars were, and almost any kind of a jalopy was worth real money. But apparently that is not now the case.

For the past two days a car had been parked on Memorial Park on Station Street, the key in the ignition lock, but apparently without an owner. So officers of the law checked the licence number which revealed it was owned by a dealer in Napanee.

It had been gone from his lot for more than two days but the vehicle had not been missed and still was not reported as stolen. Police believe the car was stolen and left at Belleville when the borrower had no further use for the vehicle.

Say Private Tried To be Sent to Jail

Toronto, June 15 (CP)—A 20-year-old private, absent without leave from Camp Borden, went to extremes today to keep from being sent back to the army.

Police said Pte. Ronald Stubbard of the Lord Strathcona Horse deliberately smashed windows of two east-end jewelry stores and filled his pockets with loot so that he would be jailed instead of sent back to camp.

He was quoted after his arrest as saying "I would rather be in jail than in the army."

Police didn't indicate whether Stubbard would be successful in his endeavor.

Vast Haze Still Over Mid-Pacific

Honolulu, June 15 (AP)—A vast haze still hovered over the middle Pacific today, covering possibly 2,000,000 square miles.

Scientists say it isn't an atomic mist since Geiger counters showed no radio-activity.

Just nature on a binge, they speculated. The finger of suspicion was pointed at massive Mauna Loa, still spouting fire.

NATIONAL GROWTH

Canada is approaching the fourteen-million mark in pulation. In the three-month period from December 1 t to the end of February the number of people rose by ,000 to reach a total of 13,766,000, according to the minion Bureau of Statistics.

This country, one of the young nations, has moved rward in population greatly in the past few years and continued growth is anticipated with the greatest con- lence. To Canadians and to many others living in var- us parts of the earth, Canada in very truth is a land of omise.

The population's increase is most natural for the minion is expanding in importance as a world nation adily. In the eyes of newcomers and other peoples this ntry holds a unique position in the world. She is con- ous of her development in her natural resources, of e virility of her people and of her steadily increasing im- rtance among the nations. In trade she is one of the lly great nations. Other factors entering into the happy omise for this country are the great variety in climate d resources and the sane, fair and resourceful people nadians have proven themselves to be.

So it is no cause for wonder or surprise that her future ks very bright. Great as has been her progress, a great ture is ahead.

Well may the world look upon the Land of the Maple one with a future which cannot be exaggerated or over- imated. She is conscious of the great debt she owes to e events of the past and elements which go into the king of this country as a land blessed in its inheritance d in the laws under which she is governed.

It is a happy fact too that Canada looks upon this ex- nding ever-growing future with the satisfaction that she ll be able to make ever-growing contributions to the ace, harmony and welfare of the world.

IMPORTANT RESULTS

The third annual Canadian International Trade Fair ich ended last week was reported to be the best yet. rtainly it was a well handled affair, and deserving of the aise given it by government circles, by manufacturers d by the general public.

It has been said in the past that CITF was just an- er series of exhibits. Primarily, that is just exactly what is, but its evident importance to manufacturers of other untries has developed a feeling of international good- ll overshadowed only by each country's monetary gain. hind the most impressive displays and advertising gim- cks, there lies one of the basic economic tenets of inter- tional commerce. That is the conceded fact that no mocratic country is self-sufficient. It must have trade h other nations to provide the goods its people want.

Beyond the obvious trade implications and the an- unced deals made by countries from all over the globe re the marvellous exhibitions of goods from the various untries. France was well represented with beautiful ths; Great Britain with motor cars and massive pieces precision machinery; inlaid wooden work from Italy; fee from the South American republics; wines from uth Africa; fine crystal and laces from Czechoslovakia. re was a conglomerate of every product imaginable — a itable storehouse of goods.

The promoters of such a scheme must have suffered numerable headaches in transportation, allotting of ace and satisfaction of customers. Now that the tumult rrounding their efforts has decreased, we congratulate em.

100,000 documents of the Old League of Nations have en formally turned over to the United Nations. The cere- ny took place this week when the full record of the ague was formally turned over by the Woodrow Wilson undation at New York, Secretary General Trygve Lie of e United Nations accepting the 16,000-volume Woodrow lson Memorial Library in a brief ceremony at head- arters on 65th Street. In the acceptance, Mr. Lie under- ored the similarity of the viewpoint of the late President lson and that of the present World Organization which me out of the Second World War, by quoting a passage Mr. Wilson's written in May, 1916, "The world is even w on the eve of a great consummation, when some com- n force will be brought into existence which shall safe- ard right as the first and most fundamental interest of peoples and governments when coercion shall be sum- oned not to the service of political ambition, but to the rvice of a common order, a common justice and a com- n peace."

Mr. Lie pointed out that knowledge of what the ague of Nations accomplished and wherein it failed is w often the study of delegates and of the Secretariat.

THE SUBVERSIVE

e talks with lies upon his lips
And cunning in his mind.
retense is at his finger tips;
His coat for theft designed.

e has been tutored to betray,
Deception to employ,
work in every traitorous way destroy.
Man's freedom to

As loyal man he will appear,
Well garbed and fair to see,
But since he has no God to fear
A dangerous man is he.

Be watchful for him, and beware
His subtle, whispered lies,
For he's the foe of all that's fair
And everything we prize.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

One of the reasons for being unable to remember people's names may be that nowadays there are too many names to remember.

It is not only we old codgers who complain of being unable to remember names. Hardly a day goes by that you do not see some young people caught in that most distressing of predicaments.

The young ones, however, seem to think nothing of it. They pass it off very casually. Where we middle-aged folk are confused and embarrassed whenever we are trapped in a situation where the name of an acquaintance eludes us, the young fry merely enquire, blandly; "Hey, what's your name again?" Nobody seems offended.

For one thing, everybody has a much wider acquaintance than was the case only the one generation ago. The motor car has made the average social contact about ten times larger than it was in the horse and buggy days. Then came the movies to crowd our memories with dozens and scores of names of actors and actreses to be remembered. Prior to the movies, a sportsman and a gentleman only had to store his mind with a dozen names of the current stars. Then came the radio to pack our little storage cells of memory with another hundred names, not to mention all the world-wide characters of politics and action with which the radio pelts us, day and night in the news.

The human memory was probably never meant to accommodate more than forty of fifty names. There is a lot of evidence to hand that we are growing different-shaped brains than formerly. Maybe these teen agers are developing new expanses of memory cells in their heads; at the expense of something else, eh?

Soldiers long ago solved the problem in their own way. They call everybody "chum". It is good to be a soldier. You can call anybody, male or female, chum, and get away with it.

Senate Charges Legislation On Home 'Bungled'

Ottawa, June 15 (CP)— The Senate would like to see some changes made in government legislation establishing an official residence for Prime Ministers of Canada.

For one thing, Senators indicated Wednesday, a clause providing for a $5,000 annual payment by Prime Ministers for "food and lodging" should be eliminated.

This clause brought sharp criticism in yesterday's debate on the bill. It was described as "an affront to good taste" and "cheap" and Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia) said if he was not in order moving that it be struck out on the spot, then he would move the whole matter get a careful review in committee.

Other Senators indicated they thought the Prime Minister should get more than his $23,000 a year, and that there had been "bungling" in acquiring a former mansion on the Ottawa River, now being renovated as an official residence.

Given Second Reading

The bill was finally given second reading, then hustled off to the Banking and Commerce Committee for further study.

The Senate gave second and third reading to amendments to the Prairie Farm Assistance Act and an act amending Canada's militia pensions legislation. It heard from Senator Reid an expression of bewilderment at the number of international connections Canada was making.
